As the Lord is most mercifull vnto his Church, and doth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their own miseries, & be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the world & aspire vnto the heauen: so after that he had visited the Iewes, and kept them vnto bondage fourscore yeres in a strange countrey among infidels and idolaters, he remembered his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them up a deliverer, & moued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pise them, and also by him punished such, which had kept them in seruitude. Herewith standing left they should growe into a contempt of Gods great benefite, he kept them still in euill: & raised domesticall enemies, which endur'd as much as they can to hinder their most worris enterprise: yet by the exhortation of the Prophets they went forward by little & little till their worke was finished. The author of this booke was: Ezra, who was Priest, and Secretary of the Law, as chap. 7. 6. He returned to Ierusalem the first yeere of Darius, who succeeded Cyrus, that is, about fiftie yeeres after the returne of the first under Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. Hea brought with him a great compaignie, and much treasures, with letters to the Kings officers for all such things as should be necessary for the Temple: and as his coming he desired that which was amiss, and set the things in good order.

the Lord God of Israel: he is the God, which is in Jerusalem.

And every one that remaineth in any place (where he fourmeth) * let the men of his place rejoyce him with silver & with gold, and with substances, & with cattell, * and with a willing offering, for the house of God that is in Jerusalem.

Then the chiefe fathers of Iudah and Benjamin, & the Priests & Levites rose vp, with all them whose spirit God had raised to goe vp, to build the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem.

And all they that were about them, strengthened their hands with vessels of silver, with gold, with substance and with cattell, and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offered.

Also the King Cyrus brought forth the vessels of the house of the Lord, * which Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of Jerusalem, and had put them in the house of his god.

Even then did Cyrus King of Persia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them unto * Sheshbazzar the Prince of Iudah.

And this is the number of them, thirtie basins of gold, a thousand basins of silver, nine and twentie kintnes.

Thirtie boules of golde, and of silver boules of the second sort, foure hundred and ten, and of other vessels, a thousand.

All the vessels of golde and silver were foure thousand & foure hundred. Sheshbazzar brought vp all * with them of the captivitie that came vp from Babel to Ierusalem,

With the vessels that had beene kept espies in Babylon.

So called, because they were given to the Temple, to cut wood and beare water for the use of the sacrificers, and came of the Gibeonites which were appointed to this use by Iehua, 1oth. p. 23.

BUT the adversaries of Iudah and Benjamin heard, that the children of the captiuitie builded the Temple vnto the Lord God of Israel.

And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and sayd vnto them, We will build with you: for we seeke the Lord your God as yee do, and we haue sacrificed vnto him since the time of Efar Haddon king of Asibur, which brought vs vp hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Iefhua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel, Gaye vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to builde the house vnto our God: B for we our selues together will builde it vnto the Lorde God of Israel, asking Cyrus the king of Persia hath commanded vs,

4 Wherefore the people of the land † discouraged the people of Iudah, and troubled them in building.

5 And they hired counsellors against them, to hinder their deuise, all the dayes of Cyrus King of Persia, euen vntill the reigne of Darius King of Persia.

6 And in the reigne of ^d Ahashuerus (in the beginning of his reigne) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Iudah and Ierusalem.

7 And in the dayes of Atrahilhalthe Mithredath, Tabeel, and the rest of their companions wrote when it was peace, vnto Atrahilhalthe King of Persia, and the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, and the thing declared was in the language of the Aramies.

8 Rehum the chamberlour, and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artah-shaste the King in this sort.

9 Then were Rehum the chauncellour, and Shimshai the scribe, and their companions¹ Dinaie, and Apharsathcaie, Tarpelshie, Apharsaie, Archeusie, Bablaie, Shushanchaie, Dehane, Elmaie,

10 And the rest of the people whom the great and noble Asnappar brought ouer, and set in the cities of Samaria, and other that are beyonde the Riuer: and i Cheeneth.

11 ¶ This is the copie of the letter that they sent vnto King Asitahhahite, THY SER- VANTS the men beyond the River and Cheeneh. Salute thee.

12 Be it knowen vnto the King that the Jewes, which came vp from thee to vs, are come vnto Ierusalem (a city rebellious and wicked) & build, and lay the foundations of the walles, and haue ioyned the foundations.

13 Be it knowne nowe vnto the King, that if this citie be built, & the foundations of the wallles layed, they wil not giue tolle, tribute, nor custome:
so shalt thou hinder the Kings tribute.

14 Nowe therefore because fwee haue bene brought vp in the Kings palace, it was not meette for vs to see the Kings dishonour: for this cause haue we sent and certified the King.

19. That one may searche in the booke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt finde in the booke of the Chronicles, & perceiue that this citie is rebellious: and noifome vnto Kings & prouinces, and that they haue moued fedition of olde time, for the which cause this citie was destroyed.

16 We certifie the King therefore, that if this citie be buylded, and the foundation of the walles layd, by this means the portion beyond the Riuer shall not be thine.

17 ¶ The King sent an answer vnto Rehūm the Chaucellour, and Shiſhai the Scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and vnto the other beyond the Riuer, ¹ Shelam and ^m Checch.

18 ¶ The letter which yee sent vnto vs, hath bene or only read before me, 19 And I haue commanded & they haue searched, and founde, that this cite of olde time hath made insurrection against kings, and hath rebelled and rebellion hath bene committed therein.

30 There haue bene mightie kings a fo ouer Ierusalem, which haue ruled ouer all beyonde the Riuer, and tolle, tribute and custome was giuen vnto them.

31 Make ye now a decree, that those men may cease and that the citie be not built, till I haue giuen another commandement.

33 Take heed now that yee fayle not to do this: why should damage growe to hurt the King?

23 When the copie of king Artababastes letter was reade before Rehum and Shimshai the scribe, and their companions, they went vp in all the haste to Ierusalem vnto the Jewes, and caused them to cease by force and power.

24. Thenⁿ ceased the worke of the house of God, which was in Ierusalem, & did stay vnto the second yere of Darius King of Persia.

I Hen ¶ Haggaï a Prophet, & Zechariah, the sonne of Iddo a Prophet prophesied vnto the Iewes that were in Iudah, and Ierusalem, in the name of the God of Israel, even vnto them.

2. Then Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehua the sonne of Iozadak arose, and began to builde the house of God at Ierusalem, and with them ~~were~~ the Prophets of God, which helped them.

3: ¶ At the same time came to them Tarnai, which was capitaine beyonde the Riner, and Shether-boznai and their companions, and Gayde thus vnto them, Who hath given you commande-ment to builde this houle, and to lay the founda- tions of these walles?

4 ^bThen sayde we vnto them after this maner,
What are the names of the men that buylde this building?

5 But the e^e eye of their God was vpon the Elders of the Iewes, that they coule not cause them to cease, till the matter came to Darus: and then they answered by letter therunto.

6 The copie of the letter, that Tatnai captain beyond the River, and Shether-boznai and his companions, Apharschaie, (which were beyond the river) sent vnto King Darius.

7 They sent a letter vnto him; whereto it was written thus, V N T O D A R I V S the King, all peace.

8 Be it known vnto the King, that wee went into the prouince of Iudea, to the house of J great God, which is builded with great stones. & beames are layde in the walles, and this worke is wrought speedily and prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and sayde vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you comm. ndement to build this house, and to lay the foundation of these walles?

10 We asked their names also that wee might ceruifie thee, and that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But they answered vs thus and said, We are the seruants of the God of heauen and earth, and builde the house that was built of olde and many yeeres agoe, which a great King of Israel * builded, and founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath, * hee gaue them ouer into the hand of Nabuchadnezzar King of Babel the Caldean, & he destroyed this house, and caryed the people away captiue vnto Babel.

13 But in the first yeere of Cyrus King of Babel, King Cyrus made a decree to buyde this house of God.

14 And the vessels of golde and siluer of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar tooke out of the Temple that was in Ierusalem, & brought them into the Temple of Babel, those did Cyrus the king take out of the Temple of Babel, & they gaue them vnto one * Shethbazzar by his name, whom he had made captiue.

15 And hee sayde vnto him, Take these vessels and goe thy way, and put them in the Temple that is in Ierusalem, and let the house of God be buylt in his place.

16 Then came the same Shethbazzar and layd the foundation of the house of God, which is in Ierusalem, and since that time euen vntill now, hath ierene in buylding, yet is it not finished.

17 Now therefore if it please the King, let there be search made in the house of the kings treasures, which is there in Babel, whether a decree hath bene made by King Cyrus, to build this house of God in Ierusalem, and let the King send his minde concerning this.

C H A P. VI.

At the commaundment of Darius King of Persia, after the Temple was builded and consecrated, the children of Israel kept the feast of unleaued bread.

Then * King Darius gaue commaundment, and they made search in the * librie of the treasures, which were there layd vp in Babel.

2 And there was found in a * coffer (in the palace that was in the prouince of the Medes) a volume, and therein was it thus written, as a memoriall,

3 IN THE FIRST yeere of King Cyrus, King Cyrus made a decree for the house of God in Ierusalem, Let the house be buylt, euen the place where they offered sacrifices, and let the walles thereof be ioyned together: let the height thereof be three foor cubites, and the breadth thereof three foor cubites, 4 Three borders of great stones, and one order of timber, and let the expences be giuen of the Kings house.

5 And also let them render the vessels of the house of God (of golde and siluer, which Nebuchadnezzar tooke out of the Temple, which was in Ierusalem, and brought vnto Babel) & let him goe vnto the Temple that is in Ierusalem to his place, and put them in the house of God.

6 Therefore Tattai captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shethar Boznai, and their companions Apharscaie, which are beyonde the Riuer, be ye farre * from thence.

7 Suffer yee the worke of this house of God, that the captaine of the Iewes and the Elders of the Iewes may builde this house of God in his place.

8 For I haue giuen a commaundment what ye shall doe to the Elders of these Iewes, for the building of this house of God, that of the reuenues of the King, which is of the tribute beyonde the Riuer, there bee incontinently expences giuen vnto these men that they * cease not.

9 And that which they shall haue neede of, let it be giuen vnto them day by day, whether it be yong bullockes, or rannimes, or lambs for the burnt offerings of the God of heauen, wheat, salt, wine and oyle, according to the appointment of the Priests that are in Ierusalem, that there be no fault.

10 That they may haue to offer sweet odours vnto the God of heauen, and pray for the Kings life, and for his sonnes.

11 And I haue made a decree, that whosoever shall alter this sentence, the wood shall be pulled downe from his house, and (shall be set vp, and he shall be hanged thereon, and his house shall be made a dunghill for this.

12 And the God that hath caused his Name to dwell there, destroy all Kings and people that put to their hand to alter and to destroy this house of God, which is in Ierusalem. I Darius haue made a decree, let it be done with speede.

13 ¶ Then Tattai the captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shethar Boznai and their companions, according to that which Darius had sent, so they did speedily.

14 So the Elders of the Iewes builded, & they prospered by the prophesying of Haggaitie Prophet, and Zechariah the sonne of Iddo, and they builded and finished it, by the appointment of the God of Israel, and by the commaundment of Cyrus and Darius, and Artahastate King of Persia.

15 And this house was finished the thirde day of the monthes Adar, which was the sixt yeere of the reigne of King Darius.

16 ¶ And the children of Israel, the Priests, and the Leuites, and the residue of the children of the captiuitie kept the dedication of this house of God with ioy, 17 And offered at the dedication of this house of God an hundred bullockes, two hundred rams, foure hundred lambs, and twelue goates, for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the tribes of Israel.

18 And they set the Priests in their order, and the Leuites in their courses ouer the seruice of God in Ierusalem, as it is written in the * booke of Moses.

19 And the children of the captiuitie kept the Passouer on the fourteenth day of the first month, (For the Priests and the Leuites were purified altogether) and they killed the Passouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for themselves.

20 So the children of Israel which were come againe out of captiuitie, and all such as had separated their selues vnto them, from the slithines of the Heathen of the land to seeke the Lord God of Israel, did eate, 21 And they kept the feast of vnleaued bread seuen dayes with ioy: for the Lord hath made them glad, and turned the heart of the King of Asshur vnto them, to encourage them in the worke of the house of God, vnto the God of Israel.

C H A P. VII.

1 By the commandment of the King, Ezra and his companions came to Jerusalem. 27 He giueth thanks to God.

Now after these things, in the reigne of ^a Artahashaste King of Persia, was Ezra the sonne of Seraiah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Hilkiiah,

2 The sonne of Shallum, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Ahitub,

3 The sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Meraiach,

4 The sonne of Zerahiah, the sonne of Vzzi, the sonne of Bukki,

5 The sonne of Abishua, the sonne of Phinehas, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron, the chiefe Priest.

6 This Ezra came vp from Babel, and was a scribe prompt in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had giuen, and the King gaue him all his request according to the hand of the Lord his God, which was vpon him.

7 And there went vp certain of the children of Israel, and of the Priests, and the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims vnto Jerusalem, in the seuenth yere of King Artahashaste.

8 And he came to Ierusalem in the 5th first month, which was in the seuenth yere of the King.

9 For vpon the first day of the first month began he to goe vp from Babel, and on the first day of the first month came he to Ierusalem, according to the good hand of his God that was vpon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seeke the Law of the Lord, and to doe it, and to teach the precepts and iudgements in Israel.

11 ¶ And this is the copie of the letter that King Artahashaste gaue vnto Ezra the Priest and scribe, even a writer of the words of the commandments of the Lord, & of his statutes ouer Israel.

12 ARTAHASHASTE King of Kings, to Ezra the Priest and perfite scribe of the Lawe of the God of heauen, and to Cheeneth.

13 I haue giuen commandment, that euery one, that is willing in my kingdome of the people of Israel, and of the Priests, and Leuites sto goe to Ierusalem with thee, shall goe.

14 Therefore art thou sent of the King and his seuen counsellors, to enquire in Iudah and Ierusalem according to the law of thy God, which is in mine hand,

15 And to cary the silver and the gold, which the King & his counsellors willingly offer vnto the God of Israel (whose habitation is in Ierusalem)

16 And all the silver and gold that thou canst finde in all the prouince of Babel, with the free offering of the people, and that which the Priests offer willingly to the house of their God which is in Ierusalem, 17 That thou mayest lay speedily with this silver, bullockes, rammes, lambs, with their meate offerings and their drinke offerings: and thou shalt offer them vpon the altar of the house of your God, which is in Ierusalem.

18 And whatsoever it pleaseth thee and thy brethren to doe with the rest of the silver, & gold, doe ye it according to the will of your God.

19 And the vessels that are giuen thee for the seruice of the house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God in Ierusalem.

20 And the residue that shall be needefull for the house of thy God, which shall be meete for thee to bestowe, thou shalt bestowe it out of the Kings treasure house.

21 And I King Artahashaste haue giuen commandment to all the treasurers which are beyond the Riuer, that whatsoever Ezra the Priest and Scribe of the Law of the God of heauen shall require of you, that it be done incontinently, 22 Vnto an hundred talents of silver, vnto an hundred measures of wheat, and vnto an hundred baths of wine, & vnto an hundred baths of oyle, and salt without writing.

23 Whatsoever is by the commandment of the God of heauen, let it be done speedily for the house of the God of heauen: for why should he be wroth against the realme of the King, and his children?

24 And we certifie you, that vpon any of the Priests, Leuites, singers, porters, Nethinims, or Ministers in this house of God, there shall no gouernour lay vpon them tolle, tribute nor custome.

25 And thou Ezra (after the wisdome of thy God, that is in thine hand) set iudges and arbiters, which may iudge all the people that is beyond the Riuer, even all that know the Law of thy God, and teach ye them that know it not.

26 And whosoever will not doe the Lawe of thy God, and the Kings law, let him haue iudgement without delay, whether it be vnto death, or to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment.

27 Blessed be the Lord God of our fathers, which so hath put in the Kings heart, to beautifie the house of the Lord that is in Ierusalem.

28 And hath enclined mercy toward me, before the King and his counsellors, and before all the Kings rightie Princes: and I was comforted by the hand of the Lord my God which was vpon me, and I gathered the chiefe of Israel to goe vp with me.

NEHEMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

God doeth by all ages and at all times set up worthie persons for the commoditie and profite of his Church, as nowe within the compasse of fewe years he raised up diuers excellent men for the preservation of his people, after their returne from Babylon, as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah, VVhereof the first was their captain to bring them home, and provided that the Temple was builded: the second reformed their manners: and planted religion: and the third builded up the wallies, deliuered the people from oppression, and provided that the Lawe of God was put in execution among them. Hee was a godly man and in great authority with the king, so that the king fauoured him greatly, and gaue him most ample leuies for the accomplishment of all things which he could desire. This booke is also called of the Latines the second of Ezra, because he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

Nehemiah breuieth the calamitie of Ierusalem. 9 He confesse the finnes of the people, and prayeth God for them.

He wordes of Nehemiah the son of Hachabiah. In the twentieth yee, as I was in the palace of Shulhan, Came Hanani, one of my brethren, hee and the men of Iudah, and I asked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

And they saide vnto me, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the prouince, are in great affliction and in reproch, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

And when I heard these wordes, I sate down and wept, and mourned certaine daies, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen,

And saide, O Lord God of heauen, the great & terrible God, that keepeth couenant and mercie for them that loue him, and obserue his commandements,

I pray thee, let thine eares be attente, & thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruic, which I pray before thee daily, day & night for the childre of Israel thy seruants, & confesse the finnes of the children of Israel, which we haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned.

We haue grievously sinned against thee, and haue not kept the commandements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements, which thou commandedst thy seruic Moses.

I beseech thee, remember the worde that thou commandedst thy seruic Moses, saying, Yee will transgresse, and I will scatter you abroad, among the people.

But if ye turne vnto me, and keep my commandements, & do them, though your scattering were to the vttermost part of the heauen, yet will I gather you fro thence, & will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen to place my Name there.

Now these are thy seruants and thy people, whome thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mighty hand.

O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eare now hearken to the prayer of thy seruic, and to the prayer of thy seruants, who desire to feare thy Name, & I pray thee, cause thy seruic to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of this man: for I was the Kings butler.

CHAP. II.

After Nehemiah had desired letters of Artaxerxes, 21 he came to Ierusalem, 27 and builded the wall.

Nowe in the moneth Nisan in the twentieth yee of king Artaxerxes, the wine flood before him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the King. Nowe I was not beforetime sad in his presence.

And the king said vnto me, Why is thy countenance sadde, seeing thou art not sick? this is nothing, but sorow of heart. Then was I sore afraid.

And I said to the King, God saue the King for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when the citie and house of the sepulchres of my fathers lieth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

And the King said vnto me, For what thing dost thou require? Then I prayed to the God of heauen, i I desired God to mine heart to prosper mine enterprise.

5 And sayd vnto the King, If it please the King, and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight, I desire that thou wouldest send me to Iudah vnto the cite of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.

6 And the King sayd vnto me, (the Queene also sitting by him) How long shall thy journey be and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the King, and he sent me, and I set him a time.

7 And I sayd vnto the King, If it please the King, let them giue me letters to the capitaines beyond the Riuer, that they may conuey me ouer, till I come into Iudah.

8 And letters vnto Asaph the keeper of the Kings parkes, that he may giue me timber to build the gates of the palace (which apperteyned to the house) and for the walles of the cite, and for the house that I shall enter into. And the King gaue me according to the good hand of my God vpon me.

9 Then came I to the capitaines beyond the Riuer, and gaue them the Kings letters. And the Kings had sent capitaines of the armie and horsemen with me.

10 But Samballat the Horonite, and Tobiah a seruant an Ammonite heard it, and it grieved them fore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Ierusalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I rose in the night, I, and a few men with me: for I told no man, what God had put in mine heart to do at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with me, save the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before the dragon well, and to the dung port, and viewed the walles of Ierusalem, how they were broken downe, and the ports thereof deuoured with the fire.

14 Then I went south vnto the gate of the foutaine, and to the Kings sill-pool, and there was no rowme for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

15 Then went I vp in the night by the brooke, and viewed the wall, and turned backe, and coming backe, I entered by the gate of the valley and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I said vnto them, Ye see the miserie that we are in, how Ierusalem lyeth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come let vs build the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more a reproch.

18 Then I told them of the hand of my God, (which was good ouer me) and also of the Kings words that he had spoken vnto me. And they said, Let vs rise, and build. So they strengthened their hand to good.

19 But when Samballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs and despised vs, and said, What a thing is this that ye doe? Will ye rebell against the King?

20 Then answered I them, and sayd to them, The God of heaven, he will prosper vs, and we his seruants will liue vp and build; but as for you, ye haue no portion, nor right, nor memorial in Ierusalem.

Then of God (to whom he hath appointed this cite only) neither did any of your predecessors euer leave God.

CHAP. III.

The number of them that builded the walles.

Then arose Eliashib the high Priest with his brethren the Priests, and they built the sheepgate: they repayed it, and set vp the doores thereof: euen vnto the tower of Meah repayed they it, and vnto the tower of Hanneel.

2 And next vnto him builded the men of Iericho, and beside him Zaccur the sonne of Imri.

3 But the fifth port did the sonnes of Senaah build, which also layd the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto them fortified Meremoth, the sonne of Vrijah, the sonne of Hakkoz: and next vnto them fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Melchizedek: and next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana:

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekoites: but the great men of them put not their necks to the worke of their lords.

6 And the gate of the old sill-pool fortified Ichobada the sonne of Paseah, and Meshullam the sonne of Besodai: they laid the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, and the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

7 Next vnto them also fortified Melatiah the Gibeonite, & Iadon the Meronothite, men of Gibeon, and of Mizpah, vnto the throne of the Duke, which was beyond the Riuer.

8 Next vnto him fortified Vzzai the sonne of Harib: and the goldsmithes: next vnto him also fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Harak-kahim, and they repayed Ierusalem vnto the broad wall.

9 Also next vnto them fortified Rephaiah, the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem.

10 And next vnto him fortified Iedaiah the sonne of Harumaph, euen ouer against his house: and next vnto him fortified Harshai, the sonne of Hashbani.

11 Malchijah the sonne of Harim, and Hassub the sonne of Pahath Moab fortified the second portion, and the tower of the fornaes.

12 Next vnto him also fortified Shallum, the sonne of Halloeth, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem, he, and his daughters.

13 The valley gate fortified Hanan, and the inhabitants of Zenuah: they built it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, euen a thousand cubites on the wal vnto the dung port.

14 But the dung port fortified Malchiah, the sonne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth part of Beth-haccarem: he built it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

15 But the gate of the foutaine fortified Shallum, the sonne of Col-hozai, the ruler of the fourth part of Mizpah: he builded it, and reuered it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the walls

12 And at the ſame time ſaide I vnto the people, Let euery one with his ſeruant lodge within Ieruſalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

13 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my ſeruants, nor the men of the ward, (which followed me) none of vs did put off our clothes, ſaue euery one put them off for walking.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are afflicted in multitude. 2 Nehemiah remembred it. 3 He took not the portion of rulers that had vnto before, he ſhould giue the people.

NOWE there was a great crie of the people, and of their wiues againſt their brethren the Iewes.

2 For there were that ſayd, We, our ſonnes and our daughters are many, therefore wee take vp come, that we may eate and liue.

3 And there were that ſayd, We muſt gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houſes, and take vp come for the ſame.

4 There were alſo that ſayd, We haue borrowed money for the kings tribute vpon our lands and our vineyards.

5 And nowe our fleſh is as the fleſh of our brethren, and our ſonnes as their ſonnes: and loe, we bring into ſubiection our ſonnes & our daughters, as ſeruants, and there be of our daughters now in ſubiection, and there is no power in our hands: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.

6 Then was I very angry when I heard their crie and theſe words.

7 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the princes, and the rulers, and ſayde vnto them, You ſay I burthen euery one vpon his brethren: and I ſet a great aſſembly againſt them,

8 And I ſayd vnto them, Wee (according to our ability) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were ſolde vnto the heathen: and will you ſell your brethren againe, or ſhall they be ſolde vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not anſwere.

9 I ſaid alſo, That which ye do, is not good, Ought yee not to walke in the feare of our God, for the reproch of the heathen our enemies?

10 For euery I, my brethren, and my ſeruants do lend them money and come: I pray you, let vs leaue off this burden.

11 Reſtore, I pray you, vnto them this day their lands, their vineyards, their oliues, and their houſes, and reſtore the hundredth part of the ſiluer and of the come, of the wine, and of the oyle that ye exact of them.

12 Then ſayd they, We will reſtore it, and will not require it of them: wee will doe as thou haſt ſayd. Then called the Prieſtes, and cauſed them to ſwear, that they ſhould do according to this promiſe.

13 So I ſhook my lappe, and ſaid, So let God ſhake out euery man that will not performe this promiſe from his houſe, and from his labour: euery ſuch let him be ſhaken out, and emptied. And all the Congregation ſaid, Amen, & praized the Lord: and the people did according to this promiſe, 14 And from the time that the King gaue me charge to be gouernour in the land of Iudah, fro the twentieth yeere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yeere of King Artahhaſnet, that is, twelue yere, I, & my brethren haue not eaten the bread of the gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before me, had bene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, & beſides fourette ſhekels of ſiluer: yea, and their ſeruants bare rule ouer the people: but ſo did not I, becauſe of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wal, and we bought no land, and all my ſeruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreover there were at my table an hundred and fifty of the Iewes, and rulers, which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared daily an ox, and fixe choſen ſheepe, and birds were prepared for me, and within ten daies wine for all in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grievous vnto this people.

19 Remember me, O my God, in goodneſſe, according to all that I haue done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

8 Nehemiah anſwereth with great wiſdom, and ſaith to his aduerſaries. 11 He is not diſcouraged by the falſe Prophets.

AND when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geſhem the Arabian, and the reſt of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, & that there were no mo breaches therein, (though at that time I had not ſet vp the doores vpon the gates)

2 Then ſent Sanballat, and Geſhem vnto me, ſaying, Come thou that we may meete together in the villages in the plaine of Ono: & they thought to do me euill.

3 Therefore I ſent meſſengers vnto them, ſaying, I haue a great worke to do, & I can not come downe: why ſhould the worke ceaſe, while I leave it and come downe to you?

4 Yet they ſent vnto me ſoure times after this ſort, And I answered them after the ſame manner.

5 Then ſent Sanballat his ſeruant after this ſort vnto me the ſixt time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and among Gaſſimu hath ſayd it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebel, for the which cauſe thou buildſt a wall, and thou wilt be their King according to theſe words.

7 Thou haſt alſo ordeined the Prophets to preach of thee at Ieruſalem, ſaying, There is a King in Iudah: and now according to theſe wordes it ſhall come to the Kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counſel together.

8 Then I ſent vnto him, ſaying, It is not done according to theſe wordes that thou ſayeſt: for thou ſeiſeſt them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they aſſayed vs, ſaying, Their handes ſhalbe weakened from the worke, and it ſhal not be done: now therefore encourage thou me.

10 ¶ And I came to the houſe of Sheſhaith the ſonne of Delaiah the ſonne of Meheabeel, and he was ſhut vp, and he ſayd, Let vs come together into the houſe of God in the middes of the Temple, and ſhut the doores of the Temple:

71 And some of the chiefe fathers gaue vnto the treasure of the worke, twenty thousand drams of gold, and two thousand and two hundredth pieces of siluer.

72 And the rest of the people gaue twenty thousand drammes of gold, and two thousand pieces of siluer, and threescore and seven Priests garments.

73 And the Priests, and the Leuites, and the porters and the fingers and the rest of the people and the Nehinims, and all Israel dwelt in their cities: and when the Iewenish month came, the children of Israel were in their cities.

CHAP. VII.

¶ Ezra gathered together the people, and readeth to them the Law. 12 They reioyce in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God: 15 They kepe the feasts of Tabernacles at beautes.

¶ And all the people assembled themselves together in the streete that was before the watergate, and they spake vnto Ezra the Scribe, that he would bring the booke of the Lawe of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that could heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seuenth month,

3 And he read therein in the streete that was before the watergate (from the morning vntill the midday) before men and women, and them that vnderstood it, and the eares of all the people were turned vnto the booke of the Lawe.

4 And Ezra the Scribe stood vpon a pulpit of wood which he had made for the preaching, and beside him stood Mattheiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Uriah, and Hilkiah, and Maasiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Pedaiah, and Mishael, and Malchiah, & Hashum, and Hashbada, Zechariah, and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for he was aboute all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stood vp.

6 And Ezra prayed the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their hands: and they bowed themselves, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Ieshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maasiah, Kelai, Azariah, Iozabad, Hanan, Peliah, and the Leuites caused the people to vnderstand the lawe, and the people stood in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the Lawe of God distinctly, and gaue the sense, & caused them to vnderstand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and Scribe, and the Leuites that instructed the people, sayd vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lord your God: mourne not, neither weepe: for all the people wept, when they heard the wordes of the Lawe.

10 He did also vnto them, Go, and eate of the fat, and drinke the sweete, & send part vnto them, for whome none is prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not sorry therefore: for the the joy of the Lord is your strength.

11 And the Levites made silence throughout all the people, saying, Hold ye your peace: for the day is holy, be not sad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eat and to drinke, and to send away paine, and to make great joy, because they had understood the words that they had taught them.

13 And on the second day the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priests, and the Levites were gathered vnto Ezra the scribe, that hee also might instruct them in the words of the Lawe.

14 And they found written in the Lawe, (that the Lord had commaunded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwell in boothes in the feast of the seventh moeth.

15 And that they should cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Ierusalem, saying, Goe forth vnto the mount, and bring olive branches, and pine branches, and branches of myrtus, and palmie branches, and branches of thicke trees, to make boothes, as it is written.

16 So the people went forth & brought them, & made them boothes, euery one vpon the roof of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the streete by the watergate, and in the streete of the gate of Ephraim.

17 And all the Congregation of them that were come againe out of the captiuitie made boothes, and late vnder the boothes: for since the time of Ieshua the sonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great joy.

18 And hee read in the booke of the Lawe of God euery day, from the first day vnto the last day. And they kept the feast seven dayes, and on the eighth day a solemne assemblie, according vnto the maner.

P S A L M.

1 The people repunt, and forsake their strange wives. 2 The Levites exhort them to praise God. 3 Describing his wonders. 4 And their ingratitude. 5 And Gods great mercie toward them.

IN the foure and twentieth day of this month the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, and with sackcloth, and earch vpon them.

2 (And they thus were of the seede of Israel were separated from all the strangers) and they stood and confessed their finnes and the iniquities of their fathers.

3 And they stood vp in their place and read in the booke of the Lawe of the Lord their God foure times on the day, and they confessed and worshipped the Lord their God foure times.

4 Then stood vp vpon the staires of the Levites, Ieshua, and Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani, and cryed with a loud voyce vnto the Lord their God.

5 And the Levites sayd, euen Ieshua and Kadmiel, Bani, Halhabiniah, Sherebiah, Hodiiah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, Stand vp, and praye the Lord your God for euer, and euer, and let them praise thy glorious Name, O God, which excelleth aboute all thanksgiving and praise.

6 Thou art Lord alone: thou hast made heauen, and the heauen of all heauens, with thy hoste, the earth, and all things that are therein, the sea, and all that are therein, & thou preferrest them all, and the hoste of the heauen worshippeth thee.

7 Thou art, O Lord, the God, that hast chosen Abram, and broughtest him out of Ur in Caldee, and madest his name Abraham.

8 And foundest his heart faithfull before thee, and madest a covenant with him, to giue vnto his seede in lande of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, and Perizzites, and Ietuzites, and Gergashites, and hast performed thy words, because thou art iust.

9 Thou hast also considered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their cry by the red Sea.

10 And shewed tokens & wonders vpon Pharaoh, and on all his seruants, and on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudly against thee: therefore thou madest thee a Name, as appeareth this day.

11 For thou diddest beseeke vs by the Sea before them, and they went through the mids of the Sea on dry land: and those that pursued them, hast thou cast into the bottomes as a stone, in the mightie waters.

12 And thou diddest them in the day with a pillar of a cloude, and in the night with a pillar of fire to giue them light in the way that they went.

13 Thou camest downe also vpon mount Sinai, and spakest vnto them from heauen, and gauest them right iudgements, and true lawes, ordinances and good commandements, 14 And clearest vnto them shine holy Sabbath, and commaunded them precepts, and ordinances, and lawes, by the hande of Moses thy seruant.

15 And gauest them bread from heauen for their hunger, and broughtest forth water for them out of the rocke for their thirst: and promisedst them that they should goe in, and take possession of the land, for the which thou haddest lift vp thine hand for to giue them.

16 But they and our fathers behaued themselves proudly, and hardened their necke, so that they hearkened not vnto thy commandements, 17 But refused to obey, and would not remember thy marvellous works that thou haddest done for them, but hardened their neckes, and had in their heads to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou, O God of mercies, gracious and full of compassion, of long suffering and of great mercie, yet forsookest them not.

18 Moreover, when they made them a molten calfe (and sayd, This is thy God that brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt) and committed great blasphemies, 19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forsookest them not in the wilderness: the pillar of the cloude departed not from them by day to leade them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night, to shewe them light, and the way whereby they should goe.

20 Thou gauest also thy good Spirit to instruct them, and withholdest not thy M A N from their mouth, & gauest them water for their thirst.

21 Thou diddest also feede them forty yeeres in the wilderness: they lacked nothing: their clothes waxed not old, & their feete swelld not.

22 And thou gauest them kingdomes and people, and scatteredst them into corners: so they possessed the land of Sihon & the land of King of Hethlon, and the land of Og King of Baithan

31 And thou diddest multiply their children, like the flocks of the heaven, and broughtest them into the land, whereof thou haddest spoken vnto their fathers, that they should goe, and possesse it.

32 So the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subdaedst before them the inhabitants of the lande, even the Canaanites, and gauest them into their handes, with their Kings and the people of the lande, that they might doe with them what they would.

33 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyards, and oliues, and trees for food in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, & liued in pleasure through thy great goodnesse.

34 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy Law behinde their backs, and flew thy Prophets (which * protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

35 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hande of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them saviours, who saved them out of the hand of their aduersaries.

36 But when they had rest, they returned to doe euill before thee: therefore ledest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted & cried vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times.

37 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy Lawe: but they behated them selues proudly, and hearkened not vnto thy commandements, but sinned against thy iudgements (* which a man should doe and liue in them) and * pulled away the shoulder, and were stiffnecked, and would not heare.

38 Yet thou * diddest forbear them many yeres, and protestedst among them by thy Spirit, even by the hande of thy Prophets, but they would not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

39 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not confirmed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

40 Nowe therefore our God, * thou great God, mightie and terrible, that keepest count and * mercie, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seeme a litle before thee, rebat it, to our Kings, to our princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people since the time of the Kings of * Aslur vnto this day.

41 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou * hast dealt truly, but we haue done wickedly.

42 And our Kings and our princes, our Priests and our fathers haue not done thy Lawe, nor regarded thy commandments nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast * protested among them.

43 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodness: for that thou gwest vnto them, and in the large and fat lande which thou diddest set before them, and haue not conuerted from their euill works.

44 Beholde, wee are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our fathers, to eate the fruit thereof, & the goodnesse thereof, behold, we are seruants therein.

45 And it yeeldeth much fruite vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies and ouer our cattell at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

46 Nowe because of all this we make * a sure covenant, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites and our Priests scale vnto it.

CHAP. X.

The names of them that sealed the covenant betweene God and the people.

Nowe they that sealed, were Nehemiah the Tirshatha the sonne of Hachaliah, and Zidkijah, 38 And the Priest, the sonne of Aaron shall be with the Leuites, when the Leuites take tithes, and the Leuites shall * bring vnto the tenth part of the tithes vnto the house of our God, vnto the chambers of the treasure house.

39 For the children of Israel, and the children of Leui shall bring vp the offerings of the corne, of the wine, and of the oyle, vnto the chambers: and there shall be the vessels of the Sanctuary, and the Priests that minister, and the porters, and the singers, and * we will not forsake the house of our God.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who dwelt in Ierusalem after it was builded, as and who in the cities of Iudah,

And the rulers of the people dwell in Ierusalem: the other people also cast lots, to bring one out often to dwell in Ierusalem the holy citie, and nine parts to be in the cities.

2 And the people thanked all the men that were willing to dwell in Ierusalem.

3 These now are the chiefe of the prouince, that dwell in Ierusalem, but in the cities of Iudah, euery one dwelt in his owne possession in their cities of Israel, the Priests and the Leuites, and the Nethinims, and the sonnes of Salomons seruants.

4 And in Ierusalem dwell certaine of the children of Iudah, and of the children of Benjamin: Of the sonnes of Iudah, Athaiah, the sonne of Uziah, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Shephatiah, the sonne of Mahaleel, of the sonnes of h Perez, 5 And Masieiah the sonne of Baruch, the sonne of Col Hozeh, the sonne of Hazaiah, the sonne of Adaiiah, the sonne of Ioiahir, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of y Shiloni.

6 All the sonnes of Perez that dwell in Ierusalem, were foure hundredth, threescore and eight valiant men.

7 These also are the sonnes of Benjamin, Salu, the sonne of Melchiam, the sonne of Ioed, the sonne of Pedaiiah, the sonne of Kolaiah, the sonne of Masieiah, the sonne of Idchiel, the sonne of Iosnaiah.

8 And after him Gabai, Sillai, nine hundredth and twentie and eight.

9 And Ioel the sonne of Zichri was gouernour ouer them: and Iudah, the sonne of Senuah was the second ouer the citie:

10 Of the Priests, Iedaiiah, the sonne of Ioiahir, Iachin.

11 Seraiah, the sonne of Hilkiyah, the sonne of Melchiam, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Meraioth, the sonne of Ahub: was chiefe of the house of God.

12 And their brethren that did the worke in the Temple, were eight hundredth, twentie and two: and Adaiiah, the sonne of Ieroham, the sonne of Pelaiiah, the sonne of Amzi, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Passhur, the sonne of Mahchiah:

13 And his brethren, chiefe of the fathers, two hundredth and two and fourtie: and Amassai the sonne of Azareel, the sonne of Ahazi, the sonne of Melchilloth, the sonne of Immer:

14 And their brethren valiant men, an hundredth and eight & twentie: and their ouerchief was Zabdai the sonne || of Hagedolim.

15 And of the Leuites, Shemaiah, the sonne of Halhu, the sonne of Azrikam, the sonne of Halabiah, the sonne of Bunni.

16 And Shalbethai, and Iozabab of the chiefe of the Leuites were our: the workes of the house of God without.

17 And Mattaniah, the sonne of Micha, the sonne of Zabdai, the sonne of Afaph was the chiefe to begin the thanksgiving & prayers: and Bakkubiah the second of his brethren, and Abda, the sonne of Shammai, the sonne of Galal, the sonne of Ieduthun.

18 All the Leuites in the holy citie were two hundredth fourescore and foure.

19 And the porters Akkub, Talmon and their brethren that kept the 6 gates, were an hundredth and twentie and two.

20 And the residue of Israel, of the Priests, and of the Leuites dwell in all the cities of Iudah, euery one in his inheritance.

21 And the Nethinims dwell in the fortresses, & Joseph Zitta, and Gissa was ouer the Nethinims.

22 And the ouerchief of the Leuites in Ierusalem was Uzzi the sonne of Bani, the sonne of Asnahiah, the sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Micha: of the sonnes of Afaph fingers were ouer the worke of the house of God, 23 For it was the Kings commandement concerning them, that faithfull promise should be for the fingers euery day.

24 And Pethahiah the sonne of Meshachel, of the sonnes of Zerah, the sonne of Iudah was at the Kings hande in all matters concerning the people.

25 And in the villages in their landes, some of the children of Iudah dwell in Kiriath-aba, and in the villages thereof, and in Dibon, and in the villages thereof, and in Iekabzeel, &

CHAP. XII.

1 The Priests and Leuites which came with Zerubbabel unto Jerusalem, are numbered, 27 and the wall is dedicated.

These also are the Prieftes and the Leuites
1 That ^a went vp with Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel, and Ieshua: ^{to wit}, Seraiah, Ieremiah, Extra,

2 Amariah, Mal'uch, Hattush,

3 Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth,

4 Iddo, Ginnetho, Abiah,

5 Miamin, Maadiah, Bilgah,

6 Shemiah, and Ioarib, Iedaiah,

7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, Iedaiah: these were the chiefe of the Prieftes, and of their brethren in the dayes of Ieshua.

8 And the Leuites, Ieshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Iudah, Mattaniah: ^c were ouer the thanksgings, sic, and his brethren.

9 And Bakkukiah and Vnni, and their brethren were about them in the ^d watches.

10 And Ieshua begate Ioiakim: Ioiakim also begate Eliahshib, Eliahshib begate Ioiaida, 11 And Ioiaida begate Jonathan, and Jonathan begate Iaddua, 12 And in the dayes of Ioiakim were ^e these the chiefe fathers of the Prieftes: vnder ^f Seraiah was Meraiah, vnder Ieremiah, Hananiah,

13 Vnder Ezra, Meshullam, vnder Amariah, Iehohanan,

14 Vnder Melicui, Jonathan, vnder Shebaniah, Ioseph, 15 Vnder Harim, Adna, vnder Meraioth, Helkai,

16 Vnder Iddo, Zechariah, vnder Ginnethon, Meshullam,

17 Vnder ^g Abiah, Zichri, vnder Miamin, and vnder Moadiah, Piltai, 18 Vnder Bilgah, Shamrua, vnder Shemiah, Iehonathan,

19 Vnder Ioarib, Mattenai, vnder Iedaiah, Vzzi,

20 Vnder Sallai, Kallai, vnder Amok, Eber,

21 Vnder Hilkiah, Hahabiah, vnder Iedaiah, Nehaneel,

22 In the dayes of Eliahshib, Ioiaida, and Iohanan and Iaddua were the chiefe fathers of the Leuites written, and the Prieftes in the reigne of Darius the Persian.

23 The sonnes of Levi, the chiefe fathers were written in the booke of the Chronicles euen unto the dayes of Iohanan the sonne of Eliashib.

24 And the chiefe of the Leuites were Hahabiah, Sherebiah, and Ieshua the sonne of Kadmiel, and their brethren about them to giue praise and thanks, according to the ordinance of Dauid the man of God, ward ouer ^h against ward, 25 Mattaniah and Bakkukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon and Akkub were porters keeping the warde at the threholdes of the gates.

26 These were in the dayes of Ioiakim, the sonne of Ieshua, the sonne of Iozadak, and in the dayes of Nehemiah the captaine, and of Ezra the Pricit and Scribe.

27 And in the dedication of the wall at Ierusalem they fought the Leuites out of all their places to bring them to Ierusalem to keepe the dedication and gladnesse, both with thanksgings and with songs, cymbales, viols and with harpes,

28 Then the ⁱ fingers gathered themselves together both from the plaine country about Ierusalem, and from the villages of ^k Netophathi, 29 And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreys of Geba, and Azmaveth: for the fingers had built them villages round about Ierusalem.

30 And the Prieftes and Leuites were purified, and clesed the people, and the gates, & the wall.

31 And ^l I brought vp the princes of Iudah vpon the wall, and appointed two great companies to giue thanks, and the ^m one went on the right hand of the wall toward the dung gate.

32 And after them went Hothaiah, and halfe of the princes of Iudah, 33 And Azariah, Ezra and Meshullam,

34 Iudah, Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Ieremiah,

35 And of the Prieftes sonnes with trumpets, Zechariah the sonne of Jonathan, the sonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Michaiah, the sonne of Zaccur, the sonne of Asaph.

36 And ⁿ his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azareel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, and Iudah, Hanani, with the muscicall instruments of Dauid the man of God: and Ezra the scribe went before them.

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ouer against them went they vp by ^o the staires of the cite of Dauid, at the going vp of the wall beyond the house of Dauid, euen vnto the water gate Eastward.

38 And the second companie of them that gaue thanks, went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, and vpon the towre of the furnaces euen vnto the broad wall.

39 And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the olde gate, and vpon the filthgate, and the towre of Hananeel, and the towre of Meah, euen vnto the shepegate: and they stood in the gate of the warde.

40 So stood the two companies of them that gaue thanks, in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 The Prieftes also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Eljoezer, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets, 42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Vzzi, and Iehohanan, and Malchiah, and Elam, Neh. 13. 1.*

6 But in all this time was not I in Ierusalem:
for in the two and thirtieth yere of Artaxastres King of Babil, came I vnto the King, and after certaine daies I obtained of the King.

7 And when I was come to Ierusalem, I vn-derstood the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

8 And it grieved me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleanse the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate offering and the incense.

10 And I perceived that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his land, * even the Leuites and fingers that executed the worke.

11 Then reprooued I the rulers and sayd, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Iudah the tithes of come and of wine, and of oyle vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the scribe, and of the Leuites, Pedaiash, and vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithful, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, herin, and wipe not out my kindness that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the officers thereof.

15 In those dayes saue I in Iudah them, that trode wine presses on the Sabbath, & that brought in sheaves, and which laded assis also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burdens, and brought them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and I protested to them in the day that they sold viesles.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish and all wares, and sold on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Ierusalem.

17 Then reprooued I the rulers of Iudah, and sayde vnto them, What euill thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this city? yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.

19 And when the gates of Ierusalem began to be dark before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged, that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants sit I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the children and merchants of all marchandise remained once or twice all night without Ierusalem.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you: from that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 And I sayde vnto the Leuites, that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should come and keep the gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me according to thy great mercy.

23 In those dayes also I saw Iewes that married wives of Asdod, of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speech of Asdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and accorded to the language of the one people, and of the other people.

25 Then I reprobued them, and * cursed them, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their haire, and tooke an oath of them by God, Ye shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor Ioy your filices.

26 * That Salomon the King of Israel sinne by these things? yet among many nations was there no King like him: for he was * beloued of his God, and God had made him King ouer Israel:
* yet strange women caused him to sinne.

27 Shall we then obey vnto you, to doe all this great euill, and to transgresse against our God, euen to many strange wives?

28 And

38 And one of the sonnes of Joiada the sonne of Eliabib the hie Priest was the sonne in lawe of Sathballat the Horonite: but I chafed him frō me.
39 Remember then, O my God, that I defile the Priesthoode, and the cōuenant of the Priesthoode, and of the Leuites, 40 Then cleansed I them from all strangers, and appointed the wardes of the Priestes and of the Leuites, euery one in his office, 41 And for the offering of the wood at times appoynted, & for the first fruits. Remember me, O my God, in goodnesse.

o That is, to show
marcie vnto me.

THE ARGVMENT.

Because of the diuersitie of names, whereby they vsed to name their Kings, and the supposition of yerres wherein the Hebrewes, and the Grecians doe vary, diuers authors write diuersly as touching this Ahasuerus; thus is forewarned Daniel 6.1 & 9.1. that he was Darius King of the Medes, and sonne of Astyages, called also Ahasuerus, which was a name of honour, and signified great and sheweth these beautes. Heron is declared the great mercies of God toward his Church: who neuer faileth them in their greatest dangers; but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, hee ever stirreth up some, by whom hee sendeth comfort, and deliverance. Heron also is described the ambition, pride and crueltie of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their sudden fall when they are at height: and howe God preferreth and proferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and love toward their brethren.

CHAP. I.

1 King Ahasuerus maketh a royall feate, 20 whereunto the Queene Vasthi will not come, 19 for which cause she is discomfited, 20 The Kings decrees touching the pretence of man.

N the dayes of Ahasuerus (this is Ahasuerus that reigned frō India euē vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred, & fouen and twentie prouinces)

2 In those dayes when King Ahasuerus state on his throne, which was in the palace of Shushan,

3 In the third yeere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes and seruantes, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaynes and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That he might shewe the riches and glorie of his kingdom, and the honour of his great magnificence many dayes, euen an hundred and fourescore dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the king made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushan, both vnto great & small, feare daies, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,

6 Under an hanging of white, greene, and blue clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linen and purple in siluer rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of gold and of siluer vpon a pavement of porphyre, and marble & alabaster, and blue colour.

7 And they gave them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed vessel after vessel, and toyall wine in abundance according to the power of the king.

8 And the drinking was by an order, none might compell: for so the King had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they should doe according to euery mans pleasure.

9 For the Queene Vasthi made a feast also for the women in the royall house of King Ahasuerus.

10 Vpon the seuenth day when the King was merie with wine, he commanded Methusan, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the fouen eunuchs, that serued in the presence of King Ahasuerus, 11 To bring Queene Vasthi before the King with the crowne royall, that he might shewe the people and the princes her beautes: for soe was sayre to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vasthi refused to come at the Kings worde, for which he had giuen in charge to the eunuchs: therefore the king was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the King sayde to the wise men, that knew the times (for so was the kings manner towards all that knew the lawe and the iudgement:

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marfena, and Memucan the fouen princes of Persia, and Media, which saw the Kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome)

15 What shall we doe vnto the Queene Vasthi according to the lawe, because she did not according to the word of the King Ahasuerus by the commission of the eunuchs?

16 Then Memucan answered before the King & the Princes, The Queene Vasthi hath not only done euill against the King, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the Prouinces of King Ahasuerus.

17 For the sake of the Queene shall come a broode vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, & shall say, The King Ahasuerus commanded Vasthi the Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 So shall the princesses of Persia, and Media this day say vnto all the Kings Princes, when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus shall there be much despising and wrath.

19 If it please the King, let a royall decree proceede from him, and let be it written among the statutes of Persia, & Media, (and let it not be transgressed) that Vasthi come no more before King Ahasuerus: and let the King giue her royall estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

20 And when the decree of the King which shall be made, shall be published throughout all his kingdome (though it be great) all the women shall giue their husbands honour, both great and small.

21 And this saying pleased the King and the princes, and the King did according to the worde of Memucan.

22 For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the King, into euery prouince according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their language, h That had experience of things as they had learned by diligent making in continuance of time.

† That which was in the hand of the eunuchs.

i Which were his chiefes counsellors, that might haue alwayes access to him.

k By her disobedience the king giue an example to all women to doe the like to their husbands, i That is, her disobedience.

m Meaning, that they would take first occasion hereafter to doe the like, & that the rest of women would by continuance doe the same.

n Let her be divorced & another made Queene.

o For he had vnder him an hundred twentie and seven countries.

a That is, that the wife should be subject to the husband, and at his commandment.

language, that every man should beare rule in his quene house, and that hee should publish it in the language of that same people.

CHAP. II.

b After this, the King's servants, certain young maydes are brought to the King. 17 Ester, daughter the King, and is wely puruey. 22 Mordecai discov'ed unto the King those things that would betray him.

AFTER these things, when the wrath of King Ahashuerus was appeased, hee remembered Valhti, and what he had done, and what was decreed against her.

1 And the Kings servants that ministered vnto him, sayd, Let them seeke for the King beautiful young virgins.

2 And let the King appoint officers through all the provinces of his Kingdome, and let them gather all the beautiful young virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women, vnder the hand of Hege the Kings eunuche-keeper of the women, to give them their things for purification.

3 And the mayde that shall please the King, let her reigne in the steade of Valhti. And this pleased the King, and he did so.

4 In the citie of Shushan, there was a certaine Iewe, whose name was Mordecai the sonne of Iair, the sonne Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Iemini.

5 Which had bene carried away from Ierusalem with the captiuitie that was carryed away with Iechoniah King of Iudah (whom Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel had carryed away)

6 And hee nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vnckle daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the mayde was faire, and beautiful to looke on: and after the death of her father, and her mother, Mordecai took her for his own daughter.

7 And when the Kings commandment, and his decree was published, and many maydes were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the Kings house vnder the hand of Hege the keeper of the women.

8 And the mayde pleased him, and shee found fauour in his sight: therefore he caused her things for purification to be given her speedily, and her state, and seuen comely maydes to be given her out of the Kings house, and hee gaue change to her and to her maydes of the best in the house of the women.

9 But Ester shewed not her people and her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her that shee should not tell it.

10 And Mordecai walked euerie day before the court of the womens house, to knowe if Ester did well and what should be done with her.

11 And when the course of euerie mayde came to go in to King Ahashuerus, after that shee had bene twelue moneths according to the manner of the women (for so were the daies of their purification accomplished, fixe monethes withoute of myrrhe, and fixe monethes with sweete odours and in the purifying of the women:

12 And thus went the maydes vnto the King) whatsoever she required, was given her to goe without of the womens house vnto the Kings house.

13 In the euenng the went, and on the morrow she returned into the second house of the women vnder the hand of Shashgaz the Kings eunuch, which kept the concubines: shee came in to the King no more, except shee pleased the King, and that she were called by name.

14 Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihai the vnckle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that shee should go in to the King, she desired nothing, but what shee sawe the Kings eunuche the keeper of the womens house: and Ester found fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

15 So Ester was taken vnto King Ahashuerus the sixteenth day of the iulie royall in the tenth moneth, which is the month Tebeth, in the fiftieth yere of his reigne.

16 And the King leued Ester aboute all the women, and shee found grace and fauour in his sight more than all the virgins: so that hee set the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Queene in stead of Valhti.

17 Then the King made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his servants, which was the feast of Ester, and gaue rest vnto the provinces, and gaue gifts according to the power of a King.

18 And when the virgins were gathered to the second time, then Mordecai gate in the Kings gate.

19 Ester had not yet shewed her kindred nor her people: as Mordecai had charged her for Ester did after the worde of Mordecai, as when she was nourished with him.

20 In those daies when Mordecai gate in the Kings gate, two of the Kings eunuches, Bigthan and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the King Ahashuerus.

21 And the thing was knowne to Mordecai, and he tolde it vnto Queene Ester, and Ester certified the King thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the Chronicles before the King.

CHAP. III.

2 Haman, after hee was exalted obtained of the King that altho the Iewes should bee put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

AFTER these things did King Ahashuerus promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seat above all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the Kings seruantes that were at the Kings gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the King had so commaunded concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the Kings seruantes which were at the Kings gate, sayd vnto Mordecai, Why transgresseth thou the Kings commandment?

4 And albeit they spake daily vnto him, yet hee would not heate them: therefore they told Haman, that they might see how Mordecai matters would stande: for he had tolde them, that he was a Iewe.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Nowe he thought it too little to lay hands on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes, that were throughout the whole Kingdome of Ahashuerus, as was the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first month (that is the month of Nisan) in the twelfth yeere of King Ahasuerus, they cast Pur (that is a lot) before Haman, from day to day, and from month to month, unto the twelfth month, that is the month of Adar.

8 Then Haman layd vnto King Ahasuerus, There is a people scattered, and disperd among the people in all the provinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the Kings lawes: therefore it is not the Kings profite to suffer them.

9 If it please the King, let it be written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver by the handes of them that haue the charge of this businesse to bring it into the Kings treasure.

10 Then the King tooke the ring from his hand, and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Haman, that the Agagite the Iewes aduerfarie.

11 And the King sayd vnto Haman, Let the fluer be thine, and the people to doe with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the Kings scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first month, and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the Kings officers, and to the capitaines that were ouer euery province, and to the rulers of euey people, and to euery province, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of King Ahasuerus it was written, and sealed with the kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent by postes into all the Kings provinces, to roote out, to kill and to destroy all the Iewes, both yong and olde, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, (which is the month of Adar), and to spoyle them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there should be given a commandement in all provinces, and published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day.

15 And the postes compelled by the Kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was given in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman sat drinking, but the scribe of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. XVII.

Mordecai giueth the Queene knowledge of the true knowledge of the King against the Iewes. 16. How Mordecai was the first to pray for her.

Now when Mordecai perceived all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth, and ashes, and went out into the middes of the citie, and cryed with a great crye, and a biter.

2 And he came vnto before the Kings gate, but he might not enter within the Kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in euery province, and place, whither the Kings charge and his commission came, there was great sorowe among the Iewes, and fasting, and weeping and mourning, and many lay in sackcloth and in ashes.

4 ¶ Then Esther praydes and her eunuchs came and tolde it her: therefore the Queene was very heauie, and the first payment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but he receiued it not.

5 Then called Esther Hatach one of the Kings stewards, whom he had appointed to see her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai vnto the streete of the city, which was before the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai tolde him of all that which had come vnto him, and of the summe of the fluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the Kings treasures, because of the Iewes, for to destroy them.

8 Also he gaue him the copie of the writing and commission that was giuen at Shushan, to destroy them, that he might shew it vnto Esther and declare it vnto her, and to charge her that shee should goe into the King, and make petition and supplication before him for her people.

9 ¶ So when Hatach came, he tolde Esther the wories of Mordecai.

10 Then Esther sayde vnto Hatach, and commaunded him to say vnto Mordecai, 11 All the Kings seruants and the people of the Kings provinces doe know, that whosoever man or woman, that cometh to the King into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that he shall die, except him to whom the King holdeth out the golden rodde, that he may liue. Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the King these thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esthers wordes.

13 And Mordecai sayd, that they should answer Esther thus, Thinke not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the Kings house, more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdst thy peace at this time, comfort and deliuerance shall appere to the Iewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for such a time?

15 Then Esther commaunded to answer Mordecai,

16 Goe, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and eate not, nor drinke, in three dayes, day nor night, I also and my maydes will fast likewise, and so will I goe in to the King, which is not according to the law: and if I perish, I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Esther had commaunded him.

CHAP. XVIII.

Esther entreats in to the King, and sheweth him and Haman to Asch. 14. Haman prepares a gallie for Mordecai.

ANJ on the third day Esther put on her royall apparell, and stood in the court of the Kings palace within, ouer against the Kings house: and the King fate vpon his royall throne in the Kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And when the King fate the Queene standing in the court, he found fauour in his sight: and the King helde out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Esther drew neere, and touched the top of the scepter.

3 Then sayd the King vnto her, What wilt thou, Queene Esther? and what is thy request? it shall be euen giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 Then said Esther, If it please the King, let the King and Haman come this day vnto the banquet, that I haue prepared for him.

And the King sayd, Cause Haman to make haste that he may doe as Ester hath sayd. So the King and Haman came vnto the banquet that Ester had prepared.

6 And the King sayde vnto Ester at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? it shall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdom.

7 Then answered Ester, and sayde, My petition and my request is,

8 If I haue found fauour in the sight of the King, and if it please the King to giue me my petition, and to performe my request, let the King and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will doe to morrow according to the Kings saying.

9 Then went Haman forth the same day ioyfull and with a glad heart. But when Haman saw Mordecai in the Kings gate, that hee stood not vp, nor mooued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertheless Haman refrained himselfe: and when he came home, hee sent, and called for his friends, and Zereh his wife.

11 And Haman tolde them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the King had promoted him, and how that he had set him aboue the princes and seruants of the King.

12 Haman sayde moreover, Yea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the King to the banquet that she had prepared, saue me: and to morrow am I bidden vnto her also with the King.

13 But all this doth nothing auaille me, as long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the Kings gate.

14 Then sayde Zereh his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie cubites high, and to morrow speake thou vnto the King, that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfully with the King vnto the banquet. And the thing pleased Haman, and he caused to make the tree.

CHAP. VI.

The King turneth out the Choroicity, and finisheth the fable of Mordecai, so and commendeth Haman to cause Mordecai to be hanged in honour.

That same night the King slept not, & he commanded to bring the booke of records, and the chronicles: & they were read before the King.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai had tolde of Bigtana, and Zereh two of the Kings eunuches keepers of the dore, who sought to lay hands on the King Ahasuerus.

3 Then the King said, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the Kings seruants that ministered vnto him, sayd, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the King sayd, Who is in the court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the Kings house, that hee might speake vnto the King to hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the Kings seruants said vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the King sayd, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the King sayd vnto him, What shalbe done vnto y man, whom the King will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the King doe honour more then to me?

7 And Haman answered the King, The man whom the King would honour,

8 Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the King useth to weare, and the horse that the King useth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be set vpon his head.

9 And let the rayment and the horse be deliuered by the hand of one of the Kings most noble princes, and let them apparell the man (whom the King will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse thorow the streete of the cite, and proclaime before him, Thus shall it be done vnto the man, whom the King will honour.

10 Then the King sayd to Haman, Make haste, take the rayment and the horse as thou hast sayd, and doe so vnto Mordecai the Jew, that sitteth at the Kings gate: let nothing fayle of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman tooke the rayment & the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horsebacke thorow the streete of the cite, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the King will honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to the Kings gate, but Haman halted home mourning and his head couered.

13 And Haman tolde Zereh his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then said his wife men, and Zereh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the seede of the Iewes, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not preuaile against him, but shalt surely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the Kings eunuches and halted to bring Haman vnto the banquet that Ester had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

The Queene biddeth the King and Haman againe, and prayeth for her selfe and her people. She accuseth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallows, which he had prepared for Mordecai.

So the King and Haman came to banquet with the Queene Ester.

2 And the King said againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? It shall be euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdom.

3 And Ester the Queene answered, and sayd, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O King, as if it please the King, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request.

4 For we are Iewes, and my people, to be destroyed, to be slaine and to perish: but if we were folde for seruantes, and for handmaides, I would haue held my tongue: although the aduersarie could not recompence the Kings losse.

5 Then King Ahasuerus answered, and said vnto the Queene Ester, Who is he? and wher is he that I presume to doe thus?

6 And Ester said, The aduersarie and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraide before the King and the Queene.

7 And the King arose from the banquet of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stood vp, to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for he saw that there was a mischief prepared for him of the King.

8 And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was fallen vpon the bed where b Haman could not so much pray for the King by this means, as he should have done by the sake of the King, and the nation which he had of them.

c His intention did accuse the King, who had caused the death of many eunuches, as the presence of God might see upon him for the same. d He did not on the bed where he was now, as he had made ready where.

whereon Ester saie: therefore the king saide, Will he force the Queene alfo before me in the house? As was the word went out of the Kings mouth, they covered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches, said in the presence of the King, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fiftie cubites hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake good for the King. Then the King saide, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree, that he had prepared for Mordecai: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted, 12 Combined to be hanged and sent unto the Jewes.

The same day did king Ahashuerus giue the house of Haman the aduersarie of the Jewes unto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai came before the king: for Ester tolde what hee was vnto her.

2 And the King tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that hee would put away the wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his deuice that hee had imagined against the Jewes.

4 And the King held out the golden scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the King.

5 And said, If it please the King, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing bee acceptable before the King, and I please him, let it bee written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called againe, which hee wrote to destroy the Jewes, that are in all the Kings prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the euill, that shall come vnto my people? Or how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kinred?

7 And the King Ahashuerus saide vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iewe, Behold, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whome they haue hanged vpon the tree, because he laid hand vpon the Jewes.

8 Write yee also for the Jewes, as it liketh you in the Kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring, (for the writings written in the Kings name, and sealed, with the Kings ring, may no man reuoke)

9 Then were the Kings Scribes called at the same time, euen in the thirde month, that is the month of Sijon, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commanded, vnto the Jewes and to the princes, and captaines and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces, vnto every prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their speech, and to the Jewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

10 And hee wrote in the King Ahashuerus name, and sealed it with the Kings ring: and hee sent letters by postes on horsebacke, and that rode on beasts of price, as dromedaries and colices of 11 Wherein the King granted the Jewes (in what cities fouer they were) to gather themselves together, and to stand for their life, and to root out, to slay & to destroy all the power of the people & of the prouince that vexed them, both children and women, and to spoile their goods.

12 Vpon one day in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerus, euen in the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar.

13 The copie of the writing was, howe there should be a commandement giuen in all & every prouince, published among all the people, & that the Jewes should be ready against that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.

14 So the postes rode vpon beasts of price, and dromedaries, & went forth with speede, to execute the Kings commandement; and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the King in royall apparell of blewe, and white, and with a great crowne of golde, and with a garment of fine linen and purple, and the citie of Shushan reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Jewes was come light and Joy and gladnes, and honour.

17 Also in all and every prouince, & in all and every citie & place, where the Kings commandement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnes to the Jewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Jewes: for the feare of the Jewes fell vpon them.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commandment of the King the Jewes put their ad-uersaries to death 12 The ten iouers of Haman are hanged. 13
The Jewes kept a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

So in the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree drew neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Jewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it turned contrary: for the Jewes had rule ouer them that hated them)

2 The Jewes gathered themselves together into their cities throughout all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerus, to lay hande on such as sought their hurt, and no man coulde withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the King exalted the Jewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai was great and greater.

5 Thus the Jewes smote all their enemies with strokes of the sword and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would vnto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushan the palace slewe the Jewes and destroyed 4 hie hundred men.

7 And Parthandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha,

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aisatho,

9 And Parmasata, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaizatha,

10 The ten kennes of Haman, & sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersarie of the Jewes slew they: but they laid not their hands on the spoile.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slain, vnto the palace of Shulhan before the King.

13 And the King saide vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slaine in Shulhan the palace and destroyed siue hundred men, & the ten sonnes of Haman: what hate they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy request moreover, that it may be performed?

14 Then said Ester, If it please the King, let it be granted also to morow to the Iewes that are in Shulhan, to do according f vnto this daies decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans tenne sonnes.

15 And the King charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shulhan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

16 ¶ So the Iewes that were in Shulhan, assembled themselves vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, & slew three hundred men in Shulhan, but on the spoile they laid not their hand.

17 And the rest of the Iewes that were in the kings prouinces assembled themselves, and stood for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of them that hated them, ^b seventy & siue thousand: but they laid not their hand on ^c spoile.

18 This they did on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 But the Iewes that were in Shulhan assembled themselves on the thirteenth day, and on the fourth ent thereof, & they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

20 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwall towne, ^a kept the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, ^b as a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

21 ¶ And Mordecai wrote ^c these wordes, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the king Abasueros, ^d both neere and farre.

22 Inioyning them that they shoulde keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fifteenth day of the same, euery yere.

23 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorow to ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting, and ioy, and ^e to send presents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

24 And the Iewes promised to do as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written vnto them,

25 Because Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite al the Iewes aduerarie, had imagined against the Iewes, to destroy them, and had ^f cast Pur (that is a lot) to confound and destroy them.

26 And when ^g the came before the King, hee commanded by letters, Let his wicked ^h deuile (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree.

27 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the wordes of this letter, and of that which they had seen besides this, and of that which had come vnto them.

28 The Iewes also ordained, and promised for them and for their seede, and for all that ioyued vnto them, that they would not ⁱ faile to observe those ^j two dayes euery yere, according to their writing, and according to their feason.

29 And that these dayes shoulde bee remembered, and kept throughout euery generation and euery familie, and euery prouince, and euery city: euen these daies of Purim shoulde not faile among the Iewes, and the memoriall of them shoulde not perish from their seede.

30 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail & Mordecai the Iew wrote with all ^k authority to confirme this letter of Purim ^l second time.

31 And he sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundred and siuen and twenty prouinces of the kingdom of Abasueros, with ^m words of peace and mirth.

32 To confirme these daies of Purim according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Iew and I ster the Queene had appointed them, & as they had promised for them ⁿ selves and for their seed with ^o fasting and prayer.

33 And the decree of Ester confirmed these wordes of Purim, and was written in the booke.

CHAP. X.

1 The estimation and worth vnto of Mordecai. And the King Abasueros laide a tribute vpon the land, and vpon the yles of the sea.

2 And all the actes of his power, and of his might, and the declaration of the dignity of Mordecai, wherewith the King magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Media and Persia?

3 For Mordecai the Iew was the second vnto King Abasueros, and great among the Iewes, and ^p accepted among the multitude of his brethren, who procured the welfare of his people, and spake peaceably to all his seede.

I O B.

THE ARGVMENT.

In this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outward things, and in his body, but also in his minde and conscience, by the sharpe temptations of his wife, and chiefe friends: which by their vehement words, and subtill disputations brought him almost to despair: for they set forth God as a seuerer Iudge, and mortall enemy vnto him, which had cast him off, therefore in vaine he should seek for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding he did constantly resist them, & at length had good success. In this story we haue to marke that Iob withstanding a good cause, but handlet it out: against his aduersaries him an euil master, but they defied it craftily. For Iob held that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secret iudgements, wherof men knew not the cause, and so therefore man could not reason against God thereon, but he should be contented. Moreover, he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments, and affliction he brasteth forth into many incontinencies both of wordes and sentences, being an innocent? or where were the vpight destroyed?

8 As I haue scene, they that e plow iniquitie, and sowe wickednesse, reape the same.

9 With the b'ls of God they peris'h, and with the breath of his nostrils are they consumed.

10 The roaring of the Lion, and the voice of the Lionesse, and the teeth of the Lions whelpes are broken, 11 The Lion perissheth for lacke of pray, and the Lions whelpes are scattered abroad.

12 But athing was brought to me a feretie, and mine eare hath receiued a litle thereof.

13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe filleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, & dread which made all my bones to tremble.

15 And the wicked puffed before me, and made the haire of my flesh to stand vp.

16 Then stoode ouer, and I knewe not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in silence heard I a voyce, saying, 17 Shall man bee more iust then God? or shall a man bee more pure then his maker?

18 Beholde, hee founde no stedfastnesse in his seruants, and layd folly vpon his Angels, 19 Howe much more in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moeth?

20 They be destroyed from o the morning vnto the eueniug: they perish for cuer, p without regard.

21 Doth not their dignitie go away with them? do they not die, and that without i wisdom?

22 In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is euer a correction, saying, that the authoritie thereof might be had in greater reuerence.

23 When all things were quiet, or when the seare was somewhat slacke, God appeared to Eliak, King 19. 13. I he p'proueth that if God did p'act the moment the creature should be more iust then the Creator, which was not so.

24 If God finde imperfection in his Angels, when they are not corrected by his power, how much more shall he lay folie to more charge, when he findeth imperfection in his seruants?

CHAP. V.

1. A difference between the children of God and the wicked. 2. The fall of the wicked. 3. Gods power who destroyeth the wicked, and abhorreth him.

Call nowe, if any will answer thee, and to which of the Saints wilt thou turne?

2 Doubtlesse a anger killeth the foolishly, and smiteth the idiot.

3 I haue scene the foolishly well rooted, and suddenly I a cursed his habitation, saying,

4 His children shall be farre from saluation, and they shall be destroyed in the f gate, and none shall deliuer them.

5 The hungry shall eate vp his harvest: yea, they shall take it from among the g thornes, and the thirly shall drinke vp their substaunce.

6 For miserie cometh not forth of the dust, neither doeth affliction spring out of the earth.

7 But man is borne vnto t rauell, as the sparks flie vppward.

8 Though God sometime suffer the fathers to p'act in this world, yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked children.

9 If by any means they shall be condemned, and none shall p'itue them, g Though there be two or three eales left in the hedges, yet these shall bee taken from him. h That is, the earth is not the cause of barrennesse and many miseries, but his own fault. i Which declareth that miserie is euer in our corrupt nature: for before this it was not subiect to paine and affliction.

8 But I would inquire at God, and turne my talke vnto God:

9 Which I doeth great things and vnsearchable, and manudellous things without number.

10 He w' giueth raine vpon the earth, and poureth water vpon the f'ieetees, 11 And stretcht vp on him them that be lowly, that the forsworn may be exalted to saluation.

12 He scattereth the deuilis of the craftie: so that their handes can not accomplis'h that which they doe enterprise.

13 He taketh the wife in their craftinesse, and the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.

14 They meete with darkness in the day time, and grope at noone day in the night.

15 But he saucth the p'poe: from the sword, from their smouth, and from the hand of the violent man, 16 So that the poore hath b' hope, but iniquitie shall stopper mouth.

17 Beholde, blessed is the man whome God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almighty.

18 For hee maketh the wound, and bindeth it vp: he smiteth, and his hands make whole.

19 He shall deliuer thee in fixe troubles, and in the seventh the euill shall not touch thee.

20 In famine he shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.

21 Thou shalt bee hid from the scourge of the tongue, and thou shalt not bee afraid of destruction when it cometh.

22 But thou shalt laugh at destruction and death, and shalt not bee afraid of the beast of the earth.

23 For the stones of the fieldle a shall bee in league with thee, and the beasts of the field shall e at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt knowe, that peace shall be in thy tabernacle, and thou shalt visite thine habitation, and thou shalt not a finne.

25 Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy feede shall be great, and thy posteritie as the graffe of the earth.

26 Thou shalt goe to thy graue in y a full age, as a ricke of cornes cometh in due season into the barnes.

27 Lo, e thus haue we inquired of it, and so it is: heare this and know it for thy selfe.

CHAP. VI.

1 Job answereth, that his paine is more grievous than his fault. 2 He complaineth of his friends.

But Iob answered and sayd,

2 Oh that my griefe were well weighed, and my miseries were layed together in the a balance!

3 For it would bee nowe heauier then the sand of the sea: therefore my wordes are b swallowed vp.

4 For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me, the venime whereof doth drinke vp my spirit, and the terrors of God c fight against me.

5 Wounded in conscience, which is the greatest battell that the f'ie shall can haue,

1 I suffered as thou dost, I would f'eeke vnto God.

2 He counteth him to be humble himselfe vnto God, to whom all creatures are ioh'ed, and who for workes declare that man is inexcusable, except he glorifie God in all his workes.

3 Hee heareth by part, vnto the workes of God.

4 In things paine and euill, they the miseries of the world in stead of wife men.

5 This declareth that God punisheth the world y wife as hee threatned, Deut. 32. 18.

6 That is, that he humbleth himselfe before God.

7 Hee comprehendeth the slander of the wicked to sharpe swords.

8 If the wicked be compelled at Gods works to stopper their mouths, much more they that professe God.

9 Hee will tread vnto the dust, so that his children may not for one time but continually trust in him. but they shall haue a comfortable issue, euen in the gretest and the last, which is here called the fourth.

10 Whereas the wicked lament in their troubles, thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce.

11 When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures shall serue vs. x God shall blesse thee, that thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to bee offended.

12 Though the children of God haue not alwayes this promise performed, yet God doth recompense it otherwise to their advantage.

13 We haue learned these points by experience, that God punissheth not the innocent, that man can not compare in sinne with him, that the hypocrites shall not prosper, and that the affliction which man suffereth, cometh for his owne sinne.

14 To knowe whether I complain without iust cause.

15 My griefe is so great, that I leaue words to expresse it.

16 Which declareth that hee was not merely afflicted in body, but wounded in conscience, which is the greatest battell that the f'ie shall can haue.

27 Doe ye imagine to reprove a wordes, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the winde?
28 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fa therlesse, and dig a pit for your friend.
29 Now therefore be content to looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face.
30 Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniqui tie: returne, I say, and ye shall see yet my righte ousnes in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tongue? doeth not my mouth feele sorrow?

CHAP. VII.

Job sheweth the shortnes and miserie of mans life.

1 Is there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an hireling?

as Wish not as hi red servant thou shalt enter therein as my continual tor ment I am worse than an hireling.

2 As a servant longeth for the shadow, and as an hireling looketh for the end of his worke, 3 So haue I had as an inheritance the mo pointed vnto me.

4 If I layed me downe, I sayde, When shall I rise? and measuring the euening I am cu full with tolling to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.
5 My flesh is clothed with wormes and fil thines of the dust: my skin is rent, and become horrible.
6 My dayes are swifter then a weauers flit

7 Remember that my life is but a winde, and that mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.
8 The eye that hath seene mee, shall see mee no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shall be no

6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely he will awake vp vnto thee, and he will make the habitation of thy righteoufnesse prosperous.
7 And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly encrease.
8 Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.
9 (For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow)
10 Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and vtter the wordes of their heart?
11 Can a rush grow without myre? or can the grass grow without water?
12 Though it were in greene and not cutte downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.
13 So are the piths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites shall perish.
14 His confidence also shall be cut off, and his trust shall be as the house of a builder.
15 He shall lean vpon his house, but it shall not stand: he shall holde him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.
16 The ierce is greene before the sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof.
17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, & are falden about the house of stones.
18 If any plucke it from his place, and it denie, saying, I haue not seene thee, 19 Behold, it will reioyce by this meanes, that it may grow in another molde.
20 Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand, 21 Till he haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lips with ioy.
22 They that hate thee, shall bee clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.
1 To be planted in another place, where it may grow in plaine. 2 If thou be goodly, hee will giue thee occasion to reioyce, and if thou art afflicted thou shalt increase.

CHAP. IX.

1 Job declareth the mightie power of God, and that mans righteoufnes is nothing.

Then Job answered, and said,
2 I know verily that it is so: for howe should man compared to God be justified?
3 If he would dispute with him, he would not answer him one thing of a thousand.
4 He is wise in heart, & mighty in strength: who hath bene fierce against him and hath prospered?
5 He remoueth the mountaines, and they feele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.
6 He remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.
7 He commandeth the sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet.
8 He himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.
9 He maketh the stormes, Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South.
10 Hee doth great things, and vnsearchable: yea marvellous things without number.
11 Lo, when he goeth by me, I feele him not:

and when he passeth by, I perceiue him not.
12 Beholde, when he taketh a pray, & who can make him to reioyce? who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?
13 God will not withdrawe his anger, and the most mightie helpe doeth trouble vnder him.
14 How much lesse shall I answer him? or how should I find out my word with him?
15 For though I were silent, yet could I not answer, but I would make supplication to my Iudge.
16 If I cry, and he answer me not, yet would I not beleeue, that he heard my voyce.
17 For hee deftroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me without cause.
18 He will not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitterness.
19 If I speake of strength, behold, hee is strong: if I speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to plead?
20 If I would iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne me: if I would be persite, he shall iudge me wicked.
21 Though I were persite, yet I know not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.
22 This is one point: therefore I said, He deftroyeth the perfect and the wicked.
23 If the scourge should suddenly slay, should God laugh at the punishment of the innocent?
24 The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: hee fcoureth the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where is he? or who is he?
25 My daies haue bene more swift then a post: they haue fled, and haue: hence no good thing.
26 They are repaid as with the most swift thips, and as the Eagle that flieth to the pray.
27 If I say, I will forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort me, 28 Then I am afraid of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.
29 If I be wicked, why labour I thus in vain?
30 If I vvaile my selfe with snowe water, and purge mine hands most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the pit, and mine owne clothes shall make me filthy.
32 For he is not a man as I am, that I should answer him, if we come together to iudgement.
33 Neither is there any vnpire that might lay his hand vpon vs both.
34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare astonish me:
35 Then will I speake, and feare him not: because I am not so, I hold me still.
that are counted persite so them that are wicked. 9 To wit, the wicked. 10 This is spoken according to our apprehension, as though he would say, If God deftroy the wicked, as Chap 5. why should hee suffer the innocent to be so long tormented by them? 11 That they cannot see to doe iustice. 12 That can thewe the contrary? 13 I thinke not to fall into these afflictions, but my sorowes bring me to these manifold infirmities, and my confidence cometh me. 14 Why doth not God deftroy me as onerthens he speaketh according to the infirmities of the flesh. 15 Though I seeme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption, because so much more. 16 A Whilomight make an accord betwene God and me, speaking of impietie, and yet confounding God to bee iust in punishing him. 17 Signifying that Gods iudgement keeps him in awe.

CHAP. X.

1 Job is wearie of his life, and letteth out his frailty before God. 2 He despatch him to flay his hand. 3 A description of death.

My soule is cut off: though I liue: I will lette as a dead man my complaint vpon my selfe, & will speake liues, & I will make an ample declaration of my torments, according to my life and not God.

If he therein that when God doth execute his power he doth it iustly, & iustly as it comes can controlle him. 2 God will not beate downe in his heart that as can lay for himselfe for his iustification. 3 That is, all the reasons that men can lay to approve their cause. 4 How could I be able to answer him by eloquence? whereby he is not his friends, that albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart, & which they spake. 5 Meaning in his own opinion, signifying that man will sometimes flatter himselfe to be righteous, which before God is abomination. 6 Whiles I am in my paine, I cannot but brail forth into many inuocative noises, although I know full that God is iust. 7 I am not able to seele my finnes so great, as I feele the weight of his plagues: and this hee speaketh to condemne his selfe, and to iustifie God. 8 After he hath accused his owne weakness, hee continues to iustifie God & his power. 9 If I would King in mine owne defence, yet God hath iust cause to condemne me: if he examine mine hart & conscience, p If God punish according to his iustice, he will deftroy all them that are iust. 10 This is spoken according to our apprehension, as though he would say, If God deftroy the wicked, as Chap 5. why should hee suffer the innocent to be so long tormented by them? 11 That they cannot see to doe iustice. 12 That can thewe the contrary? 13 I thinke not to fall into these afflictions, but my sorowes bring me to these manifold infirmities, and my confidence cometh me. 14 Why doth not God deftroy me as onerthens he speaketh according to the infirmities of the flesh. 15 Though I seeme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption, because so much more. 16 A Whilomight make an accord betwene God and me, speaking of impietie, and yet confounding God to bee iust in punishing him. 17 Signifying that Gods iudgement keeps him in awe.

He would not that God should procede against him by his rebution, but by the ordinarie means that he pouseth others.

It is agreeable to thy iustice to doe me wrong?
Wilt thou be without compassion?

Wilt thou gra-tifie the wicked and conuinc me?
Dost thou thin of ignorance?

Art thou inenstant and chiege-able, as the times, to day a friend, tomorrow an enemy?

Thou dost not keep it me as in a pylon, and re-strainest me from doing euill, neither can any set me at libertie.

In these eight verses following he describeth the mercie of God in the wonderfull creation of man, and thereon grouneth that God should not thin himself rigorous against him.

As brittle as a pot of clay, is that is reason and vnderstanding, and many other giftes, whereby man excelleth all earthly creatures.

That is, thy fatherly care and providence whereby thou preferrest me, and without the which I should perish in the way.

Though I be not fully able to comprehend these things, yet I must needs confesse that it is so.

I will alway waile in feare and humilitie, knowing that none is just before thee. I Job being afflicted in all his battell betweene the flesh and the spirit, is willing rather than dayes then long paine.

That is, diuer-sities of diseases and in great abundantly: shewing that God hath infinite meates to punish man.

Hee witheth that God would leave off his afflic-tion, considering his great miserie and the breui-tie of his life.

Hee speaketh
thus in the prison of a sinner, that is to someone with passions and with the feeling of Gods indgements, and therefore cannot apprehend in that state the mercies of God and comfort of the resurrection.

No diffinition betweene light and darkenesse, but where all is very dark as it is selfe.

in the bitteresse of my soule.

I will say vnto God, & Condemne me not: shewe me, wherefore thou contendest with me.

Thinkest thou it good to oppress me, and to cast off the labour of thine hande, and to fauour the counsel of the wicked?

Hast thou carnall eyes? or dost thou see as man seeth?

Are thy dayes as mans dayes? or thy yerres, as the time of man?

That thou inquest of mine iniquitie, and searcest out my sinne?

Thou knowest that I cannot do wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

Thine hands haue made me, and fashioned me wholly rounde about, and wilt thou destroy me?

Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

Hast thou not powdered me out as milke? and turned me to cluds like cheefe?

Thou hast clothed mee with skin and flesh, and joynted mee together with bones & sinewes.

Thou hast giuen me life, and grace:
and thy visitation hath preferred my spirit.

Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I knowe that it is so with thee.

If I haue sinned, then thou wilt streightly looke vnto me, and wilt not hold me guiltlesse of mine iniquitie.

If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto me: if I haue done righteously, I will not lye vpon mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne and shew thyselfe mauculous vpon me.

Thou renewest thy plagues against me: and thou increasest thy wrath against mee: & changes and armies off browes are against me.

Wherefore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had sene me!

And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the wombe to the grauel!

Are not my dayes fewe? let him cease, and leaue off from me, that I may take a litle comfort.

Before I go, and shall not returne, cuen to the land of darkenesse and shadow of death:

Into a land, I say, darke as darkenesse it selfe, and into the shadow of death, where is none order, but the light is there as darkenesse.

CHAP. XI.

Job is triumphantly reproached of Zophar.
God is incomprehensible. He is mercifull to the repentant, 18. Thine ordinance that hath gently.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,

Should not the multitude of words be answered? or should a great talker be justified?

Should men hold their peace at thy lies? and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee

ashamed?

For thou hast said, My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

But, oh that God would speake and open his lippes against thee!

That he might shewe thee the secrets of wisdom, how thou hast deserted double, according to right:
know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.

Canst thou find out the Almighty by searching? canst thou find out the Almighty by his periscopi?

The heauens are his, what canst thou doe? it is deeper then hell, how canst thou know it?

The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.

If thou cutt off and shutt vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.

Yet vaine man would be wise though man newe borne is like a wild asse & colic.

If thou prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him?

If iniquitie be in thine hand, put it farre away, and let not wickednesse dwell in thy tabernacle.

Then truly shalt thou lift vp thy face without spot, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare.

But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember as waters that are past.

Thine age also shall appeare more cleere then the noone day:
thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

And thou shalt be bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt diggipittes, and shalt lye downe safely.

For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid:
yea, many shall make suite vnto thee.

But the eyes of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shall be without minde.

owae will worke, and see that they offend not God: or whom thou hast helped. I see declare what quietnesse of conscience and iustitie in all things hast thou haue, which turne to God by true repentance. * Lem. 26. 4. & 6.
He that declareth contrary things shall come vnto thee that doe not repent.

CHAP. XII.

Job accuseth his friends of ignorance.
Hee declareth the might and power of God. And how hee changeth the course of things.

Then Job answered, and said,

In deede because that ye are the people onely, a wife doome must dye with you.

But I haue vnderstanding as well as you, and am not in ferious vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and hee heareth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorne.

Hee that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safetie, that prouoke God, whome God hath enriched with his hand.

Aske now the beasts, and they shall teach thee: then in deede they had, and the other, that is dead of true collocation, shall despise their friend in his aduersitie. & The which neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods favour, but hee that heareth all things that hee desireth.

As the rich esteeme not a light or a torch, so hee that is despised shall fall from prosperitie to aduersitie. I deare God hath brought in with his hand. & Hee declareth to thee that dost despise him, that their wisdom is common to all: and such as the very beasts shall dayly teach.

thee,

10 He speaketh and heave as though he had not hope of the immortali-tie but as a man in extreme paine, whereas I am occasionally disconsolate and confused.

11 But the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and drieth vp.

12 So man sleepe and rise not: for he shall not wake againe, nor be raised from his sleepe till the heauen be no more.

13 Oh that thou wouldest hide mee in the grave, and keepe me secret, vntill thy wrath were past, and wouldest giue me termes, & remember me.

14 If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I waite, till I my changing shall come.

15 Thou shalt call me, and I shall answer thee: thou shalt heare the worke of mine owne hands.

16 But now thou numbrest my steps, and dost not delay my finnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed vp, as in a bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednesse.

18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth, cometh to nought, and the rocke that is removed from his place.

19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou overthrustest the things which growe in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou callest him away.

21 And hee knoweth not if his finnes shall bee honourable, neither shall he vnderstand concerning them, whether they shall be of low degree.

22 But while his strength is vpon him, he shall be forsworn, and while his soule is in him, it shall moue.

23 Yet while he liueth, he shall be in paine and miserie.

CHAPTER XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Job, because he speaketh wisdom, and purporteth to himselfe, 16 He rebuketh Job, because that he talketh out the wick, & rebuketh Job to be content with his substance.

1 Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,

2 Shall a wife man speake words of y^e wind, and fill his belly with the East wind?

3 Shall he dispute with wordes not comelie? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou hast cast off feare, and restrainest prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seeing thou hast choiset the tongue of the crafty.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips testifie against thee.

7 Art thou the first man, that was borne? and wast thou made before the hills?

8 Hast thou heard the secret counsell of God, and dost thou restrain wisdom? to thee?

9 What knowest thou that we know not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are both ancient & very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seemeth the consolations of God small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?

12 Why doeth thine heart take thee away, and what doeth mine eyes meane,

13 *That thou answeredst to God at thy pleasure, and bringest such words out of thy mouth? will not be comforted by God, nor by thy counsell: h Why dost thou stand in thine owne conceits? *Job in thy spirit.

14 What is this, that he thought he should be, and be that is borne of woman, that he should be just?

15 Beholde, he found no stedfastnesse in his Saintes: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

16 How much more is man abominable, and filthy, which drinketh iniquitie like water?

17 I will tell thee, hearme me, and I will declare that which I haue seene:

18 Which wife men haue tolde, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

19 To whom alone the land was giuen and no stranger passed through them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that travelleth of child, and the number of yeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A found of feare is in his cares, and in his prosperity the destroyr shall come vpon him.

22 He beleueth not to returne out of darknesse: for he seeth the sword before him.

23 He wandreth to and fro for bread where he may: he knoweth that the day of darknesse is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and anguill shall make him afraid: they that preuaile against him as a King reade to the battell.

25 For he hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almighty.

26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, & vpon his necke, and against the moit thicke part of his shield.

27 Because he hath couered his face with his sinne, and hath colliours in his necke.

28 Though he dwell in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, 29 He shall bee rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the perfection thereof in the earth.

30 He shall neuer depart out of darknesse: the flame shall drie vp his branches, and he shall go away with the breath of his mouth.

31 He beleueth not that he errect in vanitie: therefore vanitie shall be his change.

32 His branch shall not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day.

33 God shall destroy him as the vine her sower grapes, and shall cast him off, as the olive death her flowre.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shall be desolate, and fire shall deuoure the house of bribes.

35 For they conceiue mischief and bring forth vanitie, and their belly hath prepared decay.

36 As the Banders, so in his owne conceit, that he will be good counsell, therefore his owne pride shall bring him to destruction. As a man that gathereth grapes before they be ripe, X Which were better to be reaped by pulling and bringing, y And therefore all their vaine desires shall be their owne destruction.

CHAPTER XVI.

1 Job answered by the importunacie of his friends, 7 Counteth in what extremities he is, 19 And taketh God to witnesse of his innocencie.

1 Vnto Job answered, and sayd,
2 I haue oftentimes heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall there bee none end of words of a winde?

1 His purpose is to shew that he is not content with the consolation of his friends, but that he is content with the consolation of God.
2 Who by their words do not comfort him, but rather increase his paine.
3 Which words are but words of wind, and do not come to the heart.
4 Who by their words do not comfort him, but rather increase his paine.
5 Who by their words do not comfort him, but rather increase his paine.

1. What of what maketh thee bold to be answered?
 2. I could also speake as ye doe: (but would God your soules were in my soules stead) I could keepe you company in speaking, and could shake mine head at you.

3. But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips could assuage your sorrows.

4. Though I speake, my sorrows I cannot be alleviated: though I cease, what release have I?
 5. But now I hearken me to the voice of the Lord.

6. And hath made me full of wrinkles which is a witness thereof, and my leanness riseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face.

7. His wrath hath tormented me, and hee hateth me, and enalbeth vpon me with his teeth: mine enemies hath sharpened his eyes against me.

8. They haue opened their mouths vpon me, and spit upon me on the cheek in reproch: they gathered themselves together against me.

9. God hath deliuered me to the vnjust, and hath made mee to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked.

10. I was in wealth, but hee hath brought me to nought: he hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set me as a mark for himselfe.

11. His arrows compass me round about, he curseth my reines, and doth not spare, and powereth my gall vpon the ground.

12. He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a giant.

13. I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skinne, and in me abased mine yfome vnto the dust.

14. My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death vpon mine eyes.

15. Though there be no wickednesse in mine hands, and my prayer is begone.

16. O earth, couer not thou my blood, and let my crying haue no place.

17. For loe, now my witness is in the heauen, and my record is on his.

18. My friends speake eloquently against me:
 but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

19. Oh that a man might plead with God as man with his neighbour!

20. For the yeeres accounted come, and I shall goe the way, whence I shall not returne.

CHAP. XVII.

1. What sayeth that hee is vnworthy to pray, and yet doth passionately aske
 2. to his brethren his friends to rependence, 12. showing
 13. that hee looketh out for death.

My breath is corrupt: my dayes are cut off, and the grave asseades for me.

2. There are none but mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in their bitterness.

3. Lay downe now, and put me in suretie for thee: who is he, that will touch mine hand?

4. For thou hast hid thine heart from vnder-standing: therefore shalt thou not see them vpon the way.

5. Therefore with God is a man better than his strength: to bring to light. 6. And answer for thee: 7. That their mine shall be brought to light, though man know not the cause.

1. For the eyes of his children shall faile, that speake flattery to his friends.

2. Hee hath also made me a byword of the people, and I am as a Ta. rex before them.

3. Mine eye therefore is dimme for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadow.

4. The righteous shall be alioned at this, and the innocent shall be moued against the hypocrite.

5. But the righteous will hold his way, and his whole hands are pure, shall increase his strength.

6. All I you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shall not find one with me on my way.

7. My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart.

8. Haue changed the night for the day, and the light that approached, for darkenesse.

9. Though I hope, yet the graine shall bee mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke.

10. I shall fly to corruption, Thou art my father, and to the womne, Thou art my mother and my sister.

11. Where is then now mine hope, for who shall consider the thing that I hoped for?

12. They shall goe downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shall lie together in the dust, to them that came to comfort him. 13. That is, haue brought me from in stead of comfort. 14. Though I shoulde hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie as your discourse pretereth. 15. I have no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for the dull and womes shall bee to me in stead of father. 16. All worldly hope, and prosperitie faile, which you say, are only figures of Gods favour: but seeing that these things perill, I set mine hope in God, and in the life everlasting.

CHAP. XVIII.

1. What sayeth that hee is vnworthy to pray, and yet doth passionately aske
 2. to his brethren his friends to rependence, 12. showing
 13. that hee looketh out for death.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayde,
 1. When will ye come an end of your wordes? 2. Cause vs to vnderstand, and then wee will speake.

3. Wherefore are wee counted as beasts, and are vile in your sight?

4. Thus are we as one that teareth his foale with anger. Shall the strength be forsaken for thy sake, or the rocke remooued out of his place?

5. Yea, the light of the wicked shall be quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.

6. The lighte shall be darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.

7. The steps of his strength shall be refrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe.

8. For hee is taken in the net by his feete, and he walketh vpon the snares.

9. The grenne shall take him by the heele, and the theefe shall come vpon him.

10. A snare is layd for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.

11. Fearfulnesse shall make him afraid on euery side, and shall drine him to his feete.

12. His strength shall be famined: and destruction shall be ready at his side.

13. It shall denouere the inner partes of his skinne, and the first borne of death shall deuoure his strength.

14. His hope shall be rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the King of feare.

15. Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not his,) and brimstone shall be scattered vpon his habitation.

16. His rootes shall be dried vp beneath, and about, shall his branch be cut downe.

17. His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete.

a He shall fall from prosperity to adversity.

a When they shall see what came unto him.

a That is, many times, Neh. 4. 13.

b That is, I say still shall you find that I, or you have not yet consumed it.

c He breatheth out againe into his passions, & declaimeth still that his affliction cometh of God, though he be not able to finde it.

d Meaning, out of his afflictions.

e Meaning, his children, & what father was deare unto him in this world.

f Which is plucked up, & hath no more hope to growe.

g His manifold afflictions.

h Mine householde seruants, & all these Ioffes Iob sheweth that touch ing the flesh hee had great occasion to be moued.

i Which were hers and mine.

k Besides these great Ioffes and most cruel vniuersal afflictions, he was toucht in his own person as followeth.

l All my flesh was consumed.

m Seeing I have these Ioffes canst to complaine, & to denie me not as an in-pacifick.

n I am pacifick, specially ye which should comfort me.

o It is not ynough that God doth punish me, except you be in iudgement to accuse me.

p To see my body punished, except ye trouble my minde.

q He protesteth that notwithstanding his fore passion his religion is persi, and that he is not a blasphemous, as they iudged him.

r I doe not so indigne my selfe before the world, but I know that I shall come before the great iudge, who shall be my deliuerer and Saviour.

18 They shall drive him out of the world into darkenesse, and chafe him out of the world.

19 Hee shall neither haue home nor neyghbere among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

20 The posteritie shall be ashamed at his day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

22 Job reprehendeth his friends, and reciteth his miseries and grievous paines. 23 Hee afflueth himselfe of the general resurrection.

B Vt Iob answered, and sayd,

1 How long will yee vex my soule, and torment me with words?

2 Ye haue now ten times reproched me, and are not ashamed: ye are impudent toward me.

3 And though I had in deede erred, mine error remaineth with me.

4 But in deede if yee will aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproch,

5 Know nowe, that God hath outdrowen me, and hath compassed me with his net.

6 Beholde, I crye out of violence, but I haue none answer: I crye, but there is no iudgement.

7 Hee hath bedged vpon my way that I cannot passe, and he hath set darkenesse in my pathes.

8 Hee hath spoyled me of mine honour, and taken it & crowne away from mine head.

9 Hee hath destroyed me on euery side, and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like a tree.

10 And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

11 His armies came together, and made their way vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle.

12 He hath remoued my brethren farre from mee, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.

13 My neighbours haue forsaken mee, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

14 They that dwell in mine house, and my maydes tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.

15 I called my seruant, but hee would not answer, though I prayed him with my mouth.

16 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine iowne body.

17 The wicked also despised mee, and when I rose, they spake against me.

18 All my secret friends abhorred me, and they whom I loued, are turned against me.

19 My bone cleaueth to my skinned, and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the skinne of my teeth.

20 Haue pitié vpon me: haue pitié vpon me, (O yee my friends) for the hand of God hath toucht me.

21 Why doe ye persecute me, as God? and are not satisfied with my flesh?

22 Oh that my wordes were now written! oh that they were written euen in a booke.

23 And grauen with an yron pen in lead, or in stone for euer!

24 For I am sure that my redeemer liueth, and he shall stand the last on the earth.

25 And though after my skin wormes destroy my body, yet shall I see God: in my flesh,

26 Whom I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall beholde, and none other for me, though my reines are consumed within me.

27 But yee sayde, Why is hee persecuted? And there was a deepe matter in me.

28 Be yee afraide of the sword: for the sword will bee attegned of wickednesse, that yee may know that there is a iudgement.

29 But persecuted of God for his finnes, yet hee declareth that there was no corruption in him, with the result of his faith and patience, and so to be an example to others, & God will be reuenged of his haire indignation, whereby you come to me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth what the wicked and the courteous shall haue a storme, 2, 3 though for a time they flourish.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite and said,

2 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause mee to answer, and therefore I make haste.

3 I haue heard the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answer.

4 Knowest thou not this of olde? and since God placed man vpon the earth,

5 That the reioicing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment?

6 Though his excellencie mount vpon to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the cloudes, 7 Yet shall hee perish for euer, like his dung, and they which haue seene him, shall say, Where is hee?

8 He shall flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night,

9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall do so no more, and his place shall see him no more.

10 His children shall flatter the poore, and his hands shall restore his substance.

11 His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and it shall lie downe with him in the dust.

12 When wickednesse I was sweeter in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue, 13 And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth,

14 Then his meate in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the middes of him, 15 He hath deuoured substance, and hee shall vomite it: for God shall draw it out of his bellie.

16 He shall sucke the gall of Aspes, and the vipers tongue shall slay him.

17 He shall not see the riuers, nor the floodes, and streames of honie and butter.

18 Hee shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: euen according to the substance shall be his exchange, and he shall enioy it no more.

19 For he hath vndone many: he hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoyled houses which hee builded not.

20 Surely he shall feele no quietnes in his body, neither shall hee referue of that which hee desired.

21 There shall none of his meate bee left, therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When hee shall be filled with his abundance, hee shall be in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall afflict him.

23 Truly come to, and therefore God did plague him firstly for the sinne, & then God gine to all other abundance of his blessings, yet hee shall haue no part in it: that in these manner and spoylers of the poore shall enioy their time: for after God will take it from them and cause them to come thither, that it is but an exchange. & Hee shall leaue speaking to his posteritie. I shall shed shall neuer bein rest: for one wicked man shall reche to deliuey

a He shall fall from prosperity to adversity.
b That is, I say still shall you find that I, or you have not yet consumed it.
c He breatheth out againe into his passions, & declaimeth still that his affliction cometh of God, though he be not able to finde it.

p To see my body punished, except ye trouble my minde.
q He protesteth that notwithstanding his fore passion his religion is persi, and that he is not a blasphemous, as they iudged him.
r I doe not so indigne my selfe before the world, but I know that I shall come before the great iudge, who shall be my deliuerer and Saviour.

23 He shall be about to fill his belly, but God shall send upon him his secret wrath, and shall cause to reign upon him, scilicet upon his mate.
24 He shall see from the weapons, and the bows of steel shall strike him through.
25 The arrow is drawn out, and cometh forth of the body, and shinde of his gall, so fear cometh upon him.
26 All darkness shall be hid in his secret place: the fire that is not blown shall consume him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shall be destroyed.
27 The heauen shall declare his wickednesse, and the earth shall rise vp against him.
28 The increase of his house shall go away: it shall flow away in the day of his wrath.
29 This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage scilicet he shall haue of God, for his wordes.

CHAP. XXI.

7 Job declareth how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proud, 15 In so much that they blaspheme God, 16 Their destruction is at hand, 22 Neuer ought to be iudged wicked for afflictions which good for profitum.

BUt Job answered, and sayd,
2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this shall be in stead of your consolations.
3 Suffer mee, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.
4 Doe I desire my talke to man? If it be wete so, how should not my print be troubled?
5 Marke mee, and bee asham'd, and lay your hand vpon your mouth.
6 Euen when I remember, I am afraide, and feare taketh hold on my flesh.
7 Wherefore doe the wicked dilue, and waxe olde, and grow in wealth?
8 Their feede is established in the right with them, and their generation before their eyes.
9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.
10 Their bullocke genderth, and faileth not: their cow calueth, and calueth nor her calfe.
11 They send forth their children like sheepe, and their fennes daunce.
12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the found of the organs.
13 They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly they goe downe to the graue.
14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not thy knowledge of thy wayes.
15 Who is the Almighty, that we should feare him? and what profite shoulde wee haue, if we should pray vnto him?
16 Lo, their wealth is not in their hands: therefore let y^e counsel of the wicked be farre from me.
17 How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he will deuide their liues in his wrath.
18 They shall bee as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme carrieth away.
19 God will lay vp the sorow of the father for his children: when hee rewardeth him, hee shall know it.
20 His eyes shall see his destruction, and hee shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his monthes is cut off?
22 Shall any teach God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things?
23 One dyeth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.
24 His treasures are full of milke, and his bones runne full of marrow.
25 And another dyeth in the bitterness of his soule, and neuer catcheth with pleasure.
26 They shall sleepe both in the dust, and the wormes shall couer them.
27 Beholde, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises wherewith ye doe me wrong.
28 For ye say, Where is the princes house? and where is the tabernacle of the wicked dwelling?
29 May wee not q^{ue}stion them that goe by the way? and ye cannot deny their signes.
30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of destruction, and they shall be brought forth to the day of wrath.
31 Who shall declare his way to his face? and who shall reward him for that hee hath done?
32 Yet shall hee be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.
33 The slime valley shall be sweete vnto him, and every man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.
34 How then comfort ye me in vaine, seeing in your answers there remaine but lyes?

CHAP. XXII.

2 Eliphaz affirmeth that Job is punished for his sinnes, 4 Hee accuseth him of vniuersality, 13 And that hee desired Gods presence, 21 Hee exhorteth him to repentance.

THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and sayde,
2 May a man be profitable vnto God, as hee that is wise may be profitable to himselfe?
3 Is it any thing vnto the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes vp right?
4 Is it for feare of thee that hee will accuse thee? or go with thee into iudgement?
5 Is not thy wickednesse great, and thine iniquities innumerable?
6 For thou hast taken the pledge of thy brother for nought, & spoiled thy clothes of the naked.
7 To such as were wearie, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawn bread from the hungry.
8 But the mighty man had the earth, and he that was in authority, dwelt in it.
9 Thou hast cast out widows empty, and the armes of the fatherlesse were broken.
10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee:
11 Or darkest thou that thou shouldest not see, and abundance of waters shall couer thee.
12 Is not God on a hic in the heauen? and behold the height of the firmament howe high they are, 13 But thou sayest, Howe should God know? can hee iudge through the darke cloudes?

1 Who tendereth to the wicked prosperitie, a punishment the godly. 2 To witte the godly. 3 As concerning their bodies: and this hee speaketh according to the common iudgement. 4 Then they called Iobs house a delusion, concluding that it was destroyed because he was wicked. 5 Which through long trauelling had experience & tokens thereof, to wit, that the wicked do prosper, and the godly live in affliction. 6 Though the wicked be liueth here, yet God will punish him in the last day. 7 Though men doe flatter him, and none dare reprove him in this world, yet death is a token, that God will bring him to an account. 8 He shall be glad to lye in a slime pitte, which before could not be content with a royall palace. 9 Saying, that the hell in this world haue prosperitie and the wicked a delusion. 10 Though man were iust, yet God could haue no fear of this his iustification: therefore when hee punisheth him, hee hath no regard to his iustice but to his sinne. 11 Chap. 27. 12 Least thou shouldest reprove or hate him? 13 Then hee hope of euill and without charytie, and would doo nothing for the poore, but for thine owne aduantage. 14 When thou wast in power & authority, thou didst not iustice but wrong. 15 Thou hast not only not shewed pittie, but appearedst them. 16 Then hee said vnto him. 17 Hee censured Iob of impiety & contempt of God: as though he would say, I haue pittie for him, but I cannot consider his height of Gods maiesty. 18 That so much the more by that excellent work thou mayst feare God, and reuerence him. 19 He reproveth Iob as though hee desired Gods presence, and that hee could not see the things that were done in this world.

k How God hath punished them from the beginning!

l He proreth Gods providence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to pass.

m He answereth to that, which Job had said, Chap. 21. 7. that the wicked have prospered in this world: desiring that he might not be partaker of the like.

n The just rejoice at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first, because God thereby humbly judges of the world, and by this means continueth his honour and glory: secondly, because God thereby sheweth that he hath care even in this that he punisheth their enemies.

o That is, the state and prebention of the godly is kind under Gods wings p Meaning, of the wicked.

q He exhorth Lob to repentance and to returne

r God will restore into thee all thy substance. f Which shall be in abundance like gold. t That is, the favour of God. u God will deliver his when the wicked are destroyed: and about them, as in the flood and in Sodom. x God will deliver a whole country from perill, even for the least mans sake.

14 The cloudes hild him that he can not see, and he walketh in the circle of heaven.

15 Hail hath marked the way of the world, k wherein wicked men have walked?

16 Which were I cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a siuer that overflowed?

17 Which sayde vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almighty could doe for them.

18 Yet hee * filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be larre from me.

19 The righteous shall see them and shall reioyce, and the innocent shall laugh them to scorn.

20 Surely, o our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, q with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt have prosperitie.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the law of his mouth, and lay vp his wordes in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt * be built vp, & thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay vp golde for dust, and the gold of Ophir, as the finities of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt have plentie of silver.

26 And thou shalt then desire in the Almighty, and lift vp thy face vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, & he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shall establish it vnto thee, and the light shall shine vpon thy wayes.

29 * When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person.

30 The innocent shall deliuer the * yland, & it shall be preferred by the purenesse of thine hands,

10. But he knoweth my way, and trieth me, and I shall come forth like the gold.

11 My spouse hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.

12 Neither haue I departed from the commandment of his lippes, and I haue * effected the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed foode.

13 Yet he is in one minde, and who can burne him? yea, he doeth what his minde desireth.

14 For he will performe that which is decreed of me, and I many low things are with him.

15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him.

16 For God hath softened mine heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me.

17 For I am not cut off in * darkenesse, but hee hath hid the darkenesse from my face.

a good ende: i In many pointes man is not able to attaine to Gods iudgement. k That should not be without fearre. l He sheweth the cause of the way which is, that he being in trouble, seeth none end, neither yet knoweth the end.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Job describeth the wickednes of others, and sheweth what cusp longeth to the wicked. 12. How all things are gouerned by Gods providence. 17. And the destruction of the wicked.

H Owe shouldst not thou be as a be hid from the Almighty, seeing that they which knowe him, see not his * dayes?

2 Some remoueth the land marks, that rob the flockes and feede thereof.

3 They leade away the asse of the fatherlesse, and take the widows oxe to pledge.

4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselves * together.

5 Beholde, others at wilde asses in the wilderness, goe soorth to their businesse, and * rise early for a pray: the wilde mede * giueth him and his children foode.

6 They reape h the prouision in the fildes, but they gather the late * vintage of the wicked.

7 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the colde.

8 They are wet with the shewes of the mountaynes, and they embrace the rocke for want of a couering.

9 They plucke the fatherlies i from the breast, and take the pledge of k the poore.

10 They cause him to goe naked without clothing, and take the pleading from the hungry.

11 They that make oyle l betwene their wallies, and tread their wine presses, suffer thirst.

12 Men * cry out of the cite, and the foules of the flaine * cry out: yet God doth * not charge them with follie.

13 There are they, that abhorre the flight: they knowenot the wayes thereof, nor continue in the pathes thereof.

14 The murderer riseth early, and killeth the poore and the needie: and in the night hee is as a * theefe.

15 The eye also of the adulterer watcheth for the twilight, and faith, None eye shall see me; and disguiseth his face.

16 They digge through houses in the darke, they marked for themselves in the day:

meaning that those that labour for wicked, are pined for hunger, in the dayes of oppression & extortion. a Cry out: call for vengeance. o God doth denounce the wicked, but it is not so possi oner by his long silence. p That is, the word, because they are reprobated thereby. q By these particular vices in the life of the wicked, he would proue that God punisheth not the wicked & reprobates.

CHAP. XXIII.

a Job affirmeth that he both knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the iudge. 10 And that he is not punished early for his sinnes.

B Vt Job answered, and sayd,

2 Though my talke be this day in a * litternesse, and my plague greater then my groning,

3 Would God yet I knew howe to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.

4 I would pleade the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I would knowe the wordes, that he would answer me, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me.

6 Would he * pleade against me with his great power? No, but he would * put strength in me.

7 There the righteous might reason with him, so I should be deliuered for euer from my Iudge.

8 Beholde, if I goe to the East, there is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:

9 If to the North where hee worketh, yet I cannot see him: hee will hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot behold him.

q He sheweth the last cause of his mourning, and ascending that Eliaph hath encouraged him to returne to God, Chap. 19. 21 he declareth that he desireth nothing more, but that serued that God would not be found of him. b Vnto his absolute power, and saying, because I am God, I may doe what I will.

c Of his mercie he would giue me power to auerue him.

d When hee of his mercie hath giuen strength to maintain his cause. e Meaning, that if hee could see Gods iudice, he is not able to comprehend his iudgement on what side or part I am, he turneth him selfe.

they know not the light.

17 But the morning is euen to them as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death.

18 He is swift vpon the waters: their foundation shall be turned in the earth: he will not behold the way of the vineyards.

19 He shall tread the dry ground and heate confume the frowe waters, & shall graue the sinners.

20 The pitfull man shall forget him: the worme shall feede his sweetnesse: he shall be no more remembered, and the wicked shall be broken like a peece.

21 Hee doeth euill to intreate the barren that doeth not beare, neither doeth hee good to the widow.

22 He draweth alwaies the mightie by his power, and when hee riseth vp, none is sure of life.

23 Though men giue him assurance to be in safetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.

24 They are exalted for a litle, but they are gone, & are brought low as all others: they are destroyed, & cut off as the top of an earle of corn.

25 But if he be not so, where is he? or who will proue me a liar, & make my wordes of no value?

CHAP. XXV.

1 Bildad proueth that no man is strait nor without fault before God.

2 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd, 3 Power and feare is with him: that maketh peace in his high places.

4 Is there any number in his armies? and vpon whom shall not his light arise?

5 And how may a man be iustified with God? or how can hee cleane that is borne of a woman?

6 Behold, hee will giue no light to the moone, and the starres are violence in his sight.

7 How much more man, which is but a worme, euen the sonne of man, which is but a worme?

8 What flow his power, the moone and starres cannot haue that light, which little can man haue any excellencie, but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Job sheweth that man can not helpe God, and proueth it by his miracles.

2 B V Job answered, and sayde,

3 a Whom helpest thou? him that hath no power? sucest thou the arme? hath no strength?

4 b Whome couldest thou? him that hath no wisdom? thou shewest right well as the thing is.

5 To whom dost thou declare these wordes? of whose spirit? commeth out of thee?

6 The dead things are formed vnder the waters, and neere vnto them.

7 The graue is naked before him, and there is no couering for destruction.

8 He stretcheth out the North our the emptie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.

9 He bindeth the waters in his cloudes, and the cloud is not broken vnder them.

10 Hee holdeth backe the face of his throne: there is nothing hid in the bottomes of the earth, but hee seeth it. Meaning, the graue wherein things lie hid, which hee can see to turne about the North pole.

and spreadeth his cloudes vpon it.

10 He hath set bounds about the waters, vntill the day and night come to an end.

11 The pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.

12 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding, and he smiteth the pride thereof.

13 His Spirit hath garnished the heauens, and his hand hath formed the crooked serpent.

14 Lo, these are part of his wayes: but how litle a portion heare we of him? and who can vnderstand his fearefull power?

15 Which is a figure of Barres fashioned like a serpent, because of the crookednesse. In these few things, which we see daily with our eyes, declare his great power and providence, how much more would they appeare, if we were able to comprehend all his wayes?

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The confessions and penitencie of Iob. 2 The reward of the righteous.

1 M Oouer loth proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 The liuing God hath tak away my iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitterness.

3 Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrils, 4 My lips surely shall speake no wickednesse, and my tongue shall vtter no deceit.

5 God forbid, that I should iustifie you: vntill I die, I will neuer take away mine innocencie from my selfe.

6 I will keepe my righteousness, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reprocue mee of my dayes.

7 Mine enemy shall be as the wicked, and he that is fifth against me, as the vnrighteous.

8 For what I hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule?

9 Will God hate his cry, when trouble cometh vpon him?

10 Will hee set his delight on the Almighty? will he call vpon God at all times?

11 I will teache you what is in the hand of God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almighty.

12 Behold, all yee your selues haue scene it: why then doe you thus vanish in vanitie?

13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, to whom they shall receiue of the Almighty.

14 If his children bee in great number, the sword shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.

15 His remnant shall be buried in death, and his widowes I shall not weepe.

16 Though hee should heape vp silver as the dust, and prepare payment as the clay, 17 Hee may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall diuide the silver.

18 Hee buildeth his house as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

19 When the rich man sleepe, he shall not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

20 Terrors shall take him as waters, & a tempest shall carry him away by night.

21 The East winde shall take him away, & he shall depart: & it shall hurle him out of his place.

22 And God shall call vpon him & not spare, though hee would faine flee out of his hand, h That is, he desireth the heauen, which is called i So long as he would liue candidly, k Not that heauen hath pillars to uphold it, but hee speaketh by a similitude, l How should he would liue, the heauen is so full, it is so able to abide his reproofe.

m Which is a figure of Barres fashioned like a serpent, because of the crookednesse.

n In these few things, which we see daily with our eyes, declare his great power and providence, how much more would they appeare, if we were able to comprehend all his wayes?

o We haue so fore afflicted me, yea can not iudge of mine vnrightnesse for they iudge only by outward signes.

p How forest me iudge of me, yea will I not speake contrary to that, which I haue sayd, and so doe wickedly in betraying the truth.

q Which condemne mee as a wicked man, because the hand of God is vpon me.

r I will not confesse that God doeth: but I will me for my sinnes.

s Of my life past, I will aduertise hath the difference to the former neuer so much, feare hee shall lose his owne soule.

t That is, when God reuoketh his life, & whereof hee giueth us the knowledge to all.

u This is, these few iudgements of God, and yet doe not vnderstand them.

v Why maintain you then this course?

w Thus will God order the wicked, and punish him, euen vnto his posteritie.

x None shall loose him, which breache in another mans possession is as garment, but is sooner shaken out.

y He meaneth that the wicked tyrants shall not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honourably.

23 Every man shall clap their hands at him, and hisle at him out of their place.

C H A P. XXVIII.

Job sheweth that the wisdom of God is unsearchable.

a His purpose is to declare that no man may attain to the wisdom of God. b There is nothing but it is compassed within certain limits, and hath an end, but Gods wisdom is infinite. c Meaning him that dwelleth thereby. d Which a man cannot wade thorow. e That is, corne, and vnderneath it is brimstone or cole, which easily concealeth fire. f He alludeth to the mines and secrets of nature, which are vnder the earth, whereunto neither fowles nor beastes can enter. g After that hee hath declared the wisdom of God in the secrets of nature, he describeth his power. h Though Gods power and wisdom may be vnderstood in earthly things, yet his heavenly wisdom cannot be attained vnto. i It is too high a thing for man to stand vnto in this world. k It can neither be bought for gold nor precious stones, but is only the gift of God. l Which is thought to be a kind of precious stone. m Meaning, that there is no natural means, whereby man might attain to the heavenly wisdom: which he commends by the fowles that hee calleth. n He maketh God onely the author of this wisdom, and the giver thereof. ^o Psalm 111. 1. 2. He declareth that man hath but much of this heavenly wisdom, as he sheweth by fearing God, and departing from euill.

THE silver surely hath his vein, and the gold his place, where they take it.

2 Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasse is smolten out of the stone.

3 God putteth an end to darkness, and he trieth the perfection of all things: hee stretcheth a bond of darkness, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the inhabitant, and the waters are forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the same earth commeth bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place of saphires, and the dust of it is golde.

7 There is a path which no foule hath known, neither hath the kites eye scene it.

8 The Lyons whelpes haue not walked in, nor the Lyon palleth thereby.

9 He putteth his hand vpon the s rocks, and ouerthroweth the mountaines by the rootes.

10 He breaketh riues in the rocks, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 He binleth the floods, that they doe not overflowe, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.

12 But where is wisdom found? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth sayeth, It is not in me: the sea also sayeth, It is not with me.

15 Golde shall not be giuen for it, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not be valued with the wedge of golde of Ophir, nor with the precious Onix, nor the saphire.

17 The golde nor the chrysell shall be equall vnto it, nor the exchange shall for plate of fine golde.

18 No mention shall be made of corall, nor of the gabih: for wisdom is more precious then pearls.

19 The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure golde.

20 Whence then commeth wisdom? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hid from the foules of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.

23 But God vnderstandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdeh the endes of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen.

25 To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the wat: as by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lightning of the thunders, 27 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it, and also considered it.

28 And vnto man he said, Behold, the feare of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from euill is vnderstanding.

C H A P. XXIX.

Job complaineth of the prosperitie of the wicked. 2. At his answere, 23. Justice and equity.

Job proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

1 On that I were as in times past, when God preferred me!

2 When his light shined vpon mine head: and when by his light I walked thorow the darkness.

3 As I was in the dayes of my youth: when Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

4 When the almightie was yet with me, and my children round about me:

5 When I washed my pathes with butter, and when the rocke powred mee out riues of oyle:

6 When I went out to the gate, even to the iudgement seate, and when I caused them to prepare my seate in the freer.

7 The young men saw mee, and the hid themselves, and the aged arose, and stood vp.

8 The princes stayed talke, and layde their hand on their mouth.

9 The voyce of princes was hid, and their tongue cleaued to the roefe of their mouth.

10 And when the se heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye saw me, it gaue witness to me.

11 For I deliuered the poore that cryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

12 The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon mee, and I caused the widows heart to reioyce.

13 I put on iustice, and it couered mee: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

14 I was the eyes to the blinde, and I was the feete to the lame.

15 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knew not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

16 I brake alow the lawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the pray out of his teeth.

17 Then I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the fane.

18 For my roote is spread out by the water, and the dew shall lye vpon my branch.

19 My glory shall renew toward me, and my bowe shall be restored in mine hand.

20 Vnto me men gaue care, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsell.

21 After my wordes they replied not, and my talke dropped vpon them.

22 And they waited for me, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth as for the latter raine.

23 If I laughed on them, they beleued it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance to fall.

24 I appointed out their way, and did fit as chiefe, and dwelt as a King in the armie, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

C H A P. XXX.

Job complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 21. 22. because of his miserie and affliction. 23 Death is the boote of all this.

BEVT now they that are yonger then I, mocke me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to fet with the dogges of my flockes.

men were glad to doe me reuerence, they now contemne me. I being able to be my shepherde, as to keepe my dogges.

1 For whereto shoulde the strength of their hands haue serued me, seeing age c perished in them?

2 For poverty and famine they were solitary; fleeing into y wilderness, which is darke, desolate and waste.

3 They cut vp y i[n]edies by the bushes, & the humper rootes they were their meate.

4 They were d chafed forth fro among men:
they flouted at them, as at a thiefe.

5 Therefore they dwelt in y clefts of rocks, in the holes of the earth and rocks.

6 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselves.

7 They were the children of fooles and the children of villaines, which were more vile the earth.

8 And now am I their c song, and I am their taunt.

9 To they abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

10 Because that *g*od hath loofed my c corde and humbled me, s they haue loofed the bridle before me.

11 The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue put my feet, and haue trode on me as on the b paths of their destruction.

12 They haue destroyed my paths: they took pleasure at my calamitie they had none helpe.

13 They came as a great breach of waters, & vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

14 Fears is turned vpon mee, and they pursue my soule as the wind, and mine health passeth away as a cloude.

15 Therefore my soule is now I powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on me.

16 It pearceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.

17 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as y color of my coate.

18 He hath cast me into the myre, and I am become like ashes and dust.

19 Whe I cry vnto thee, thou dost not heare me, neither regardst me, when I stand vp.

20 Thou turnest thy selfe cruelly against me, and art enemie vnto mee with the strength of thine hand.

21 Thou takest me vp and causdest me to ride vpon therwinde, & makest my strength to faile.

22 Surely I know that thou wilt bring mee to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.

23 Doublelesse none can stretch his hand *v*nto the grape, though they cry in his distraction.

24 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heavinesse for the poore?

25 Yet when I looked for good, & euil came vnto me, & when I waited for light, there came darkenesse.

26 My bowels did boyle without rest, for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.

27 I went mourning i without sunne: I stood in the congregation t and cryed.

28 I am a brother to the u Dragons, and a companion to the Offriches.

29 My skinne is blacke vpon mee, and my bones are burnt with x heate.

30 Therefore made harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Job reuiveth the innocency of his living, & number of his ver-ties, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithful.

1 Made a covenant with mine e eyes: why then
I should I thinke on b a mayde?

2 For what portion should I have of God from aboute? and what inheritance of the almightie from on high?

3 Is not destruction to the wicked & strange punishment to the workers of iniquitie?

4 Doeth not hee beholde my wayes and tell all my steps?

5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haft to deceive,

6 Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know mine *v*prights.

7 If my stepe hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath *w*alked after mine eye, or if a ny blot hath cleaued to mine hands.

8 Let me sow and let another *e*ate: yea; let my plants be rooted out.

9 If mine heart hath bene deceived by a woman, or if I haue layd wayte at the doore of my neighbour,

10 Let my wife s grinde vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her:

11 For this is a wickednes, and iniquitie to be condemned:

12 Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure h to destruction, & which shall roote out all my increase.

13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my mayde, when they i did contend with me,

14 What then shall I do when *g*od standeth vp? & when he shall visit me, what shall I answer?

15 He that hath made me in the wombe, hath not made i him: hath not hee alone fashioned vs in the wombe?

16 If I restrained the poore of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow to faile.

17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, and the fatherlesse hath not eaten thereof.

18 (For from my youth hee hath grown vp with me as with a father, and from my mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her.)

19 If I haue feared any perill for want of clothing, or any poore without covering.

20 If his loynes haue not blessed mee, because he was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe,

21 If I haue life v mine hande against the fatherlesse, when I saw that I might helpe him in the gate,

22 Let mine a arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone.

23 For Gods punishment was a fearefull vnto me, & I could not be *d*elivered from his highnes.

24 If I made golde mine hope, or haue laid to the wedde of Gold, Then are my confidence,

25 If I reioiced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much,

and the griefe of his bones is sore,

30 So that his life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule dainty meate.

31 His flesh faileth that it cannot be seene, and his bones which were not seene, clatter.

32 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life to the buriers.

33 If there be a messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand, to declare vnto him his righteousness, 34 Then will he haue mercie vpon him, and will say, Deliver him, that he go not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

35 Then shall his flesh be as fresh as a child, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.

36 He shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy: for he will tender vnto man his righteousness.

37 He looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and perueried righteousness, and it did not profite me.

38 He will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.

39 All these things will God worke twice or thrise with a man, 40 That hee may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.

31 Marke well, O Iob, and heare mee: keepe silence, and I will speake.

32 If there be matter, and were mee, and I speake: for I desire to iustifie thee.

33 If thou hast not, heare mee: holde thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

34 I will restore him to health of body, which is a token of his blessing: and of all things his finnes and atteries him as well. I will therefore protest fauour. a Meaning, at times, turne as wilt as mine: doeth repent. y If thou doubt of any thing, or see occasion to speake against it. z That I desire thee, when thou shalt in all conscience.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Elihu charged Iob, that he calla himselfe righteous, as he sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God displaibeth his might. 30 Iob him the hypocrite reuereth.

Moreouer Elihu answered and sayd,

2 Heare my words, yee a wise men, and hearken vnto me, ye that haue knowledge.

3 For the careteth the words, as the mouth tasteth meate.

4 Let vs seeke iudgement among vs, and let vs know among our selues what is good.

5 For Iob hath sayd, I am righteous, & God hath taken away my iudgement.

6 Should I lye in my right? my wound of the arrowes is grievous without my sinne.

7 What man is like Iob, that dinketh (confulentlike) like water?

8 Which goeth in the companie of them that worke iniquitie, and walketh with wicked men?

9 For he hath sayd, It profiteth a man nothing that he should walke with God.

10 Therefore hearken vnto mee, yee men of wisdom, God forbid that wickednes should bee in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty.

11 For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way.

12 And certainly God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almighty peruert iudgement.

13 Whom hath he appointed out the earth beside himselfe? or who hath placed the whole world?

14 If he set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit, and his breath, 15 All flesh shall perishe together, and man shall returne vnto dust:

16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this and hearken to the voyce of my words.

17 Shall he that hateth iudgement, gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a king, Thou art a wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly?

19 How much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, & regardeth not the rich, more then the poore? for they bee all the worke of his hands.

20 They shall die suddenly, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and they shall perishe forth and take away the mightie without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his doings.

22 There is no darknesse nor shadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.

23 For hee will not lay on man so much, that he should enter into iudgement with God.

24 He shall breake the mightie without seeking, and shall set vp other in their stead.

25 Therefore shall he declare their works: he shall turne their night, and they shall be destroyed:

26 He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the seers.

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes:

28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto him, and he hath heard the cry of the afflicted.

29 And when he giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it bee vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?

30 Because the hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are flattered.

31 Surely it appertaineth vnto God to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

32 But if I see not, teach thou mee: if I haue done wickedly I will doe no more.

33 Will he performe the thing through thee? for thou hast reproued it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I now please, what thou knowest.

34 Let men of vnderstanding tell me, and let a wife man hearken vnto me.

35 Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his words according to wisdom.

36 I define that Iob may be d tyred vnto the ende, touching the answers for wicked men.

37 For hee addeth rebellion vnto his sinnes: he clappeth his hands among vs, and multiplieth his words against God.

c Thus he speaketh in the person of God, as though Iob should chuse and refuse affliction at his pleasure. d That he may speake as much as he can, that we may onewere him and all the wicked that shall use such arguments. e Hee standeth flabundantly in the maintenance of his cause.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Neither doth hee will profit, nor vngodlines hurt God, Iob saith. 13 The wicked cry vnto God and are not heard.

Elihu spake moreouer, and sayd,

2 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast said, I am a more righteous then God?

3 For thou hast sayd, What profiteth it thee & what auaileth it me, to purge me from my sinne?

med as though he would say, that God tormented him without iust cause.

4 Therefore k To destroy him. l The breath of a life which he gaue man.

m If God were not iust, how could he gouerne the world?

n If man of nature feare to speake out of feare as haue power, then much more ought he to be afraid to speake out of feare.

o When they looke not for it.

p The necessities or visitation that God shall send.

q God doeth not adiuice man about measure, for that he should haue occasion to contend with him.

r For all his creatures are at hand to reuise him, so that he neuer hath any other a my.

s Make them manifest that they are wicked.

t Declare the things that were hid.

u Meaning, openly in the sight of all men.

x By this cruelty and extortion.

y In the thorne of iudice which vnder pretence of executing iustice are but hypocrites and oppressors the people, it is a signe that God hath drawen backe his countenance and fauour from that place.

z Only it belongeth to God to moderate his correction and not vnto man.

a Thus Elihu speaketh in the person of God, as if were mocking Iob because hee would be wiser then God.

b Will God vise thy counsell in doing his workes?

c Thus he speaketh in the person of God, as though Iob should chuse and refuse affliction at his pleasure.

d That he may speake as much as he can, that we may onewere him and all the wicked that shall use such arguments.

e Hee standeth flabundantly in the maintenance of his cause.

f Iob neuer spoke these words: but because he maintained his innocencie, it seemed as though he would say, that God tormented him without iust cause.

g Therefore

b Such as are in the lake aronne.

c If thou canst not control the clouds, with thou presume to instruct God? d Neither doest thou sinne hurt God, nor thy justice prove him for he will be glorified with out thee, e The wicked may hurt man and cause him to cry, who if he could so God which scattereth comfort, should be delinquit.

f Because they pray not in faith, as feeling Gods merces.

g God is iust, howsoever thou iudgeth of him, h For if he did punish where as thou deservest, thou shouldst not be able to open thy mouth.

i He sheweth that when we speake of God, we must lift up our spirits more high, then our mortall flesh is able to reach, k Thon shalt perceive that I am a faithful in strength, and that I speake to thee in the name of God, l Strong and constant and of understanding, for these are the gifts of God, & he loveth them in man, but foras much as God punished now Iob, it is a signe that these are not all him, d Therefore I will say precious the words that I say to the humble and afflicted heart he will shew grace, f The prefereth the goodly to honour, g He will moune their hearts to seele their sinnes that they may repentance as he did Mannaiah.

h These, in their folly or obstination, do thusse cause of their owne destruction, i Which are uncharitably bent against God and flatter themselves in their vices, j When they are in iudgement they seeke not to God for succour as Aia. 2. Chro. 16. 12. Neue. 26. 11. k They die of foule vile death and that before they come to age, l If thou hadst bene obedient to God, he would haue brought thee to liueth and wealth, 4 Therefore wilt I answer thee, and thy companions with thee.

5 Look vnto the heauen, and see and behold the clouds which are hier then thou.

6 If thou findest, what doest thou against him, yea, when thy finnes bee many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what recuiereth he at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednes may hurt a man as thou art: & thy righteousnesses may profite the sonne of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed, to cry, which cry out for the violence of the mighty.

10 But none sayeth, Where is God that made me, which giueh teach in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beastes of the earth, and giueh vs more wisdom then the fowles of the heauen.

12 Then they cry because of the violence of the wicked, but I hee answereth not.

13 Surely God will not heare vanitie, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.

15 But now because his anger hath not vided, nor called to count the iust with great extremities.

16 Therefore Iob openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth words without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

2 Ikin sheweth the power of God, 4 And his iustice, 5 And wherefore he punisheth, 12 The properties of the wicked.

E Lihai also proceeded and sayd, 2 Suffer me a litle, and I will instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.

3 I will teach * my knowledge a farre off, and will attribute righteousnesse vnto my Maker.

4 For truly my words shall not be false, and he that is perfect in knowledge, speaketh with me.

5 Behold, the mighty God casteth away none that is mighty and valiant of courage.

6 Hee maintaineth not the wicked, but hee giueh iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are wick kings in the throne, wher he placeth them for euerties they are exalted.

8 And if they bee bounde in fetters and tyed with the cords of affliction, 9 Then will he shew them their worke and their finnes, because they haue bene proud.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, & commandeth them that they renurne from iniquity.

11 If they obey and serue him, they shall end their daies in prosperitie, & their yeeres in pleasures.

12 But if they will not obey, they shall passe by the sword, and perih without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites of heart increale the wrath: for they call not when he benideth them.

14 Their soule dieth in youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

15 Hee deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare to trouble.

16 Euen so would hee haue taken thee out of the strait place into a broad place, and not shipe vp beneath and I that which relecth vpon thy tongue.

ble, had bene full of far:

17 But thou art full of the iudgement of the wicked, which iudgement and equitie maintaine all things.

18 For Gods wrath is, least he should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of giftes can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regard thy riches? he regardeth not gold, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 Be not careless in the night, howe he destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heede: looke not to the iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.

22 Beholde God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wisely?

24 Remember that thou magnific his worke, which men behold.

25 All men see it, and men beholde it farre off.

26 Behold, God is excellent, and we know him not, neither can the number of his yeeres be searched out.

27 When hee restraineth the drops of water, the raine is powred downe by the vapour thereof.

28 Which raine the cloudes doe drop and fall abundantly vpon man.

29 Who can know the diffusions of the cloudes and the thunders of his Tabernacle?

30 Beholde, he spreadeth his light vpon it, and conereth the bottome of the sea.

31 For thereby he iudgeth the people, and giueh meate abundantly.

32 He couereth the light with the cloudes, and commandeth them to goe against it.

33 His compassion sheweth him thereof, and there is anger in rising vp.

hath double vnto the one that it declareth Gods iudgements, when it doth and flowe any places, and the other that it maketh the land fruitful, i That the cloudes to dale against another, a The colde vapour sheweth him that a, b cloudes of the hore exhalation, which being taken in the cold cloud mounty toward the place were the fire is, and so anger is ingendered: thus, a great thunder clappes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Ikin proueth that the unsearchable wisdom of Gods manifest by his words, 4 As by the thunder, 6 The soune, 9 The whirlewind, 11 And the raine.

A T this also mine heart is astonied, and is removed out of his place.

2 Heare the found of his voice, and the noise that goeth out his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.

4 After it a noyse foundeth: hee thundereth with the voyce of his maiestie, and hee will not stay them when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundereth maruclously with his voyce, bee worketh great things which we know not.

6 For he saith to the snowe, Be thou vpon the earth: likewise to the small rayne and to the great rayne of his power.

7 With the force thereof hee scattereth vnto euery man, that all men may know his worke.

8 Then the beastes goe into the denne, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirlewind cometh out of the south, and the cold from the North wind.

10 By rines and thunders God causeth men to heepe thunders, their houses, I in Ebrewe it is called the scattering wind, beca it away the clouds and purgeth the ayre.

10 At the breath of God the frost is giuen, and the breadth of the waters is made narrow.
11 He maketh alke the cloudes to labour, to water the earth, and scattereth the cloudes of this light.

12 And it is turned about by his gouernement, that they may doe whatsoever hee commaundeth them vpon the whole world.

13 Whether it be for punishment, or for his land, or of mercie, he catcheth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Iob: stand and consider the wonderous workes of God.

15 Diddest thou knowe when God disposed them? and caused the light of his cloud to shine?

16 Hast thou knowen the varietie of the cloudes, and the wonderous workes of him, that is perfit in knowledge?

17 Or howe thy clothes are warme, when hee maketh the earth quiet through the South-winde?

18 Hast thou stretched out the heauens, which are strong, and as a molten glasse?

19 Tell vs what we shall say vnto him: for we cannot dispose any matter because of his darknesse.

20 Shall it be? tolde him when I speake? or shall man speake when hee shalbe destroyed?

21 And now we see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes, but the winde passeth and cleareth them.

22 The brightnesse cometh out of the North: the praise thereof is to God, which is terrible.

23 It is the Almighty: we cannot finde him out: he is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iustice: he is affrighted not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: for hee will not regarde any that are wise in their owne conceite.

25 If God would deliuer a man, should hee repine? The cloudes stoppeth the shining of the sunne, that man may see it till the winde haue chace away the cloudes: and if man be not able to vnderstand the knowledge of these things: how much lesse of Gods iudgement? Is there, golde: meaning faire weather and cleare as golde a meaning, without conke.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God speaketh to Iob, and declareth the weaknesse of man in the consideration of his creatours, by whose excellencie the power, iustice, and providence of the Creator is knowne.

Then answered the Lorde vnto Iob out of the whirlwinde, and sayd,

1 Who is this that darkeneth the counsell by wordes without knowledge?

2 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demand of thee and declare thou vnto me.

3 Where wast thou when I layd the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou hast vnderstanding.

4 Who hath layd the measures thereof, if thou knowest, or who hath stretched the line ouer it?

5 Whereupon are the foundations thereof set: or who hath layd the corner stone thereof?

6 When the starres of the morning e prayed together, and all the children of God reioyced:

7 Or who hath shut vp the Sea with doores, when it issued and came forth as out of the wombe?

8 Or who hath shut vp the Sea with doores, when it issued and came forth as out of the wombe?

9 When I made the clouds as a covering thereof, and darkened the sea with swaling bandes thereof:

10 When I stablished my commandment vpon it, and set baies and doores, 11 And said, Hierto shalt thou come, but no further, and here shall it stay thy proud vaunt.

12 Hast thou commanded the morning since thy dayes: hast thou caused the morning to knowe his place?

13 That it might take holde of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be shaken out of it?

14 It is turned as clay to fashion, and all stand vp as a garment.

15 And from the wicked their light shalbe taken away, and the hic arme shall be broken.

16 Hast thou entered into the bottomes of the sea? or hast thou walked to seeke out the depth?

17 Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto thee? or hast thou seene the gate of the shadowe of death?

18 Hast thou perceived the breadth of the earth? tell if thou knowest all this.

19 Where is the way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darknesse, 20 That thou shouldst receiue it in the bounds thereof, and that thou shouldst know the paths to the house thereof?

21 Knewest thou it, because thou wast then borne, and because the number of thy dayes is great?

22 Hast thou entered into the treasures of the snow? or hast thou seene the treasures of the haile, 23 Which I haue hidde against the time of trouble, against the day of warre and battell?

24 By what way is the light parted, which scattereth the East winde vpon the earth?

25 Who hath diuided the founts for the raine? or the way for the lightning of the thunders, 26 To cause it to raine on the earth where no man is, and in the wilderness where there is no man?

27 To fulfill the wilde and wast place, and to cause the bud of the herbe to spring forth?

28 Who is the father of the raine, or who hath begotten the droppes of the dew?

29 Out of whose wombe came the yce? who hath ingendered the frost of the heauen?

30 The waters are hid as with a stone: and the face of the depth is frozen.

31 Canst thou refrain the sweete influences of the Placides? or loose the bands of Orion?

32 Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in their time? canst thou also guide Arcuus with his sonnes?

33 Knowest thou the course of heauen, or canst thou see the rule thereof in the earth?

34 Canst thou lift vp thy voyce to the cloudes that the abundance of water may couer thee?

35 Canst thou sende the lightnings that they may walke, and say vnto thee, Loc, heere we are?

36 Who hath put wisdom in the reines? or who hath giuen the heart vnderstanding?

37 Who can number cloudes by wisdom? or who can cause the stars to botell of heauen, 38 When the earth groweth into hardenesse, and the clottes are fast together?

As though the great sea were but as a little babe in the hands of God, so turns to and fro.

That is, Gods decree and commandment, as verse 10.

For we rise, rise, since thou hast borne?

Who hailing in the night bring down to wickednesse, can not abide the light, but hide themselves.

The earth which seemed in the night to have no form, by the rising of the sunne it is as it were created anew, and all things therein clad with new beauty.

If thou art not able to seeke out the depth of the sea, howe much less art thou able to comprehend the counsell of God?

That thou mightest appaie his way and limits.

To punish mine enemies with them.

Exod. 9. 18.

Thou sayest, I will see thee.

Thy creature, it is as though it were paired with him.

Which flames arise when the sunne is in Taurus, which is the spring time, and bring flowers.

Which Paro bringeth in winter.

Corinthe flares to call it flame: thinker they were the twelve signes.

The North flares with those that are about him.

Canst thou raise the heavenly bodies to have any power ouer the earthly bodies?

In the secret places.

That is, the clouds wherein the water is contained as in bottles.

For when God doth open their bottels the earth cometh to his income, since.

C H A P. XXXIX.

The beauty and providence of Gods, which extendeth vnto the young ravens, giueth man full occasion to put his confidence in God. Job comforted and humbled himself.

a After he had declared Gods wonders in the heauen, he sheweth how wilful and proud denie in earthmen toward the beaſte brail. b Rende Plal. 347.9.

c He chiefly maketh mention of wilde geestes and hawks, becauſe they bring vnto their young with moell difficulties. d That is how long they goe with young. e They being ſo with great difficulties.

f That is, the barren ground where no good fruit is growen.

g Is it poſſible to make the vnicorne tame ſignifying that if man cannot tame a creature, that it is much more impoſſible that he ſhould apprehend the wiſedoms of Gods, whereby he goeuerneſhall the world.

h They write that ſo ſoftly couereth her egges in the ſand, and becauſe the curuatur is hore and the ſame ſhall beareth them. warme they are hatched. i It ſhould take care for them. k That is to haue a care, a natural affection toward his young.

l When the young oſtrich is grown vp, he outstretcheth the hoſte. m That is giueth him courage? which is meant by nying & ſhaking his manes for with his becke he couereth his necke. n He beareth with his hoſte. o He ſo riddeth the ground, that it is ſweete as the gander him.

Will it choſe hunt the pray for the lion? or fill the appetite of the lions whelps,

1 When they couch in their places, and remaine in the court to lie in wait?

2 Who prepareth for the rauen his meate, when his birdes ſerie vnto God, wandering for lacke of meate?

3 Knoweſt thou the time when the wilde goates bring forth yong? or doeſt thou marke when the hindes doe calue?

4 Canſt thou number the monthes that they fulfil? or knoweſt thou the time when they bring forth?

5 They bowe themſelues: they bruise their yong, and caſt out their forwores.

6 They ſee their yong waite faſt, and growe vp with corne: they goe forth and returne not vnto them.

7 Who hath fed the wilde aſſe at libertie? or who hath looſed the bonds of the wilde aſſe?

8 It is I which haue made the wilde craſſe his houſe, and the ſilene places his dwelling.

9 He derideth the multitude of the ciue: he heareth not the crie of the driuer.

10 Hee ſeeketh out the mountaine for his paſture, and ſearcheth after every greene thing.

11 Will the vnicorne ſerue thee? or will he tary by thy cribbe?

12 Canſt thou binde the vnicorne with his band to labour in the furrow? or will he plow the valleys after thee?

13 Wilt thou truſt in him, becauſe his ſtrength is great, and caſt off thy labour vnto him?

14 Wilt thou beleue him, that he will bring home thy ſeede, and gather it vnto thy barn?

15 Haft thou ſeene the pleaſant wings vnto the peacocks? or wings and feathers vnto the oſtrich?

16 Which leaueth his egges in the earth, and maketh them hore in the duſt.

17 And forgetteth that the foote mi: he ſtatter them, or that the wilde beaſt might break them.

18 He ſheweth himſelfe cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he travelled in vaine.

19 For God hath deprived him of wiſedome, and hath giuen him no part of vnderſtanding.

20 When time is, he mounteth on high: he mocketh the hore and his rider.

21 Haft thou giuen the hore ſtrength, or couered his necke with mneyng?

22 Haft thou made him aſſayde as the graſhopper? his ſtrong nying is fearefull.

23 He diggeth in the valley, and reioyceeth in his ſtrength: he goeth forth to meete the harneſt man.

24 He mocketh at feare, and is not afraid, and turneth not backe from the ſiue.

25 Though the quier rattle againſt him, the glittering ſpeare and the ſhield.

26 He ſwalloweth the ground for fierceneſſe and rage, and he beleueth not that it is the noyſe of the trumpet.

27 He layth among the trumpets, Ha, ha: hee ſmellth the ſtreat all aſſare off, and the noyſe of the captaints, and the ſhout.

39 Shall the hawke lie by thy wiſedome, ſtretching out his wings toward the ſouth?

40 Doeth the eagle mount vp at thy commandment, or make his neſt on high?

41 Three abideth and remaineth in the rocke, euen vpon the top of the rocke, and the tower.

42 From thence the ſpithil for meate, and her eyes beholde aſſare off.

43 His yong ones alſo ſucke vp blood: and where the flaine are, there is hee.

44 Morouer the Lord ſpake vnto Job, & ſaid,

45 Is this to lerne, to ſtrive with the Almighty? hee that reprooueth God, let him anſwere to it.

46 ¶ Then Job anſwered the Lord, ſaying,

47 Beholde, I am vile: what ſhall I anſwere thee? I will ſay mine hamle vnto my mouth.

48 Once haue I ſpoken, but I will anſwere no more, yea, twiſe, but I will proceede no further.

C H A P. XL.

a Nowe weake mannes power is, being compared to the weaknes of Gods: Whole power appeareth in increaſing, and ſourning of the great heaues.

A Gaine the Lord anſwered Job out of the ſtormie whirle winde, and ſayd, 1 Girde vp nowe thy loynes like a man: I will demaund of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

2 Wilt thou diſanul? my iudgement? or wilt thou conſummie mee, that thou muſt be iuſtified?

3 Or haſt thou an arme like Gods? or doſt thou thunder with a voyce like his?

4 Decke thy ſelfe nowe with maiſtie and excellencie, and aray thy ſelfe with beaucie and glorie.

5 Caſt abroad the indignation of thy wrath, & beholde euery one that is proud, and a ſcolding.

6 Look on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him lowe: and deſtroy the wicked in their place.

7 Hide them in the duſt together, and binde their faces in a ſecret place.

8 Then will I confeſſe vnto thee alſo, that thy right hand can ſaue thee.

9 Beholde now & Behemoth (whom I made with thee) which cateth graſſe as an oxe.

10 Beholde nowe, his ſtrength is in his loynes, and his force is in the naill of his bellie.

11 When hee taketh pleaſure, his taile is like a cedar: the finewes of his ſtones are wrapt together.

12 His bones are like ſlaues of braſſe, and his ſmall bones like ſlaues of yron.

13 He is the chiefe of the wayes of Gods: hee that made him, will make his ſword to approach vnto him.

14 Surely the mountaines bring him ſooth graſſe, where all the beaſtes of the ſilde play.

15 Leth he vnder the trees in the court of the reede and fenne?

16 Can the trees couer him with their ſhadow? or canne the willowes of the euert conpaſſe him about?

17 Behold, he ſpoileth the riuier, & haſteth not: he truſteth that he can drawe vp Iordan into his mouth.

18 He taketh it with his eyes, and thruſteth his noſt through whatſoeuer meeteth him.

19 ¶ What thou draw out I Iuiuah with an hooke, & with a line which thou ſhalt caſt downe vnto his tongue?

20 Canſt thou caſt an hooke into his noſt?

21 Canſt thou caſt an hooke into his noſt?

g Is this the way for a man that ſtrive with the Almighty? hee that reprooueth God, let him anſwere to it. h Whereby he ſheweth that hee reſpecteth not the ſtrength of his hand.

canst thou pierce his iawes with an angle?

22 Will hee make many ^m prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire?

23 Will hee make a couenant with thee? and wilthout take, ^m him as a ſervant for euer?

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou binde him for thy maides?

25 Shall the companions banquet with him? ſhall they diuide him among the marchants?

26 Canſt thou fill the bakket with his ſkinne? or the filth-panier with his head?

27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember ^o the battell, and doe no more ſo.

28 Beholde, ^p his hope is in vaine: for ſhall not one periſh euen at the ſight of him?

CHAP. XLII.

1 By the greatneſſe of this monſter Iudaſan God ſheweth his greatneſſe: and he power, which nothing can reſiſt.

N One is ^o to feerce that dare ſtirre him vp. Who is he then that can ſtand ^b before me?

2 Who hath prevented me that I ſhould ^b make an ende? All vnder heauen is mine.

3 I will not keepe ſilence ^c concerning ^c his partes, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.

4 Who can diſcouer the face ^d of his garment? or who ſhall come to him with a double ^e bridle?

5 Who ſhall ^e open the doores of his face? his teeth are ſcarefull round about.

6 The maiſtie of his ſcales is like ſtrong ſhields, and are ſure ſentell.

7 One is ſet to another, that no winde can come betweene them.

8 One is ioyned to another: they ſtick together, that they cannot be ſundered.

9 His ſmellings ^g make the light to ſhine, and his eyes are like the cyckles of the morning.

10 Out of his mouth goe lampes, and ſparkes of fire leape out.

11 Out of his noſtreils commeth our ſmoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron.

12 His breath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.

13 In his necke remaineth ſtrength, and ^b labour is reſiected before his face.

14 The members of his body are ioyned: they are ſtrong in themſelves, and cannot be moued.

15 His heart is as ſtrong as a ſtone, and as hard as the necher millſtone.

16 The mightie are afraid of his maiſtie, and forſake they faint in themſelves.

17 When the word dooth touch him, he will not riſe vp, nor for the ſpeare, dart nor habergeon.

18 He effeemeth iron as ſtrawe, and braſſe as rotten wood.

19 The teacher cannot make him flee: the ſtones of the ſling are turned into ſtubble vnto him.

20 The darts are counted as ſtrawe: and hee laugheth at the ſhaking of the ſpeare.

21 Sharpe ſtones ⁱ are vnder him, and he ſpreadeth ſharpe things vpon the myre.

22 He maketh the depth to ^k boyle like a pot, and maketh the ſea like a ^k pot of oynment.

23 He maketh a path to ^k thine after him, one would thinke the depth as an hoare head.

24 In the earth there is none like him: he is made without ſeare.

25 Hee beholdeth ^m all his things: he is a King ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

8 The repentance of Iob. 9 He prayeth for his friends. 10 His goods are reſtored double vnto him. 11 His children, age and death.

Then Iob answered the Lord, and ſayd,

1 I knowe that thou canſt doe all things, and that there is no ^a thought hidde from thee.

2 Who is hee that hideth counſell without ^b knowledge? therefore haue I ſpoken that I vnderſtood not, ^c euen things too wonderfull for me, and which I knew not.

3 Heare, I beſeech thee, and I will ſpeake: I will demand of thee, ^d & declare thou vnto me.

4 I haue ^e heard of thee by the hearing of the care, but now mine eye ſeeeth thee.

5 Therefore I abhorre ^f my ſelfe, and repent in duſt and aſhes.

6 ¶ Now after that the Lord had ſpoken theſe words vnto Iob, the Lord alſo ſaid vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled againſt thee, & againſt thy two friends: for ye haue not ſpoken of me the thing that is ^g right, like my ſervant Iob.

7 Therefore take vnto you nowe ſeven bullockes, and ſeven rammes, and goe to my ſervant Iob, and offer vp for your felues a burnt offering, and my ſervant Iob ſhall ^h pray for you: for I will accept him, leſt I ſhould put you to ſhame, becauſe ye haue not ſpoken of me the thing which is right, like my ſervant Iob.

8 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite, went, and did according as the Lord had ſaid vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

9 ¶ Then the Lord turned the ⁱ captiuitie of Iob, when hee prayed for his friends: alſo the Lord gaue Iob twice ſo much as hee had before.

10 Then came vnto him all his ^k brethren, and all his ſifters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eate bread with him in his houſe, and had compaſſion of him, & comforted him for all the euill, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and eury man gaue him a ſpeece of money, and eury one an earring of golde.

11 So the Lord bleſſed the laſt dayes of Iob more then the firſt: for hee had ^l fourteene thouſand ſheepe, and fixe thouſand camels, and a thouſand yoke of oxen, and a thouſand ſittie aſſes.

12 Hee had alſo ſeven ſonnes, & three daughters.

13 And hee called the name of one ^m Iemimah, and the name of the ſecond ⁿ Keziah, and the name of the third ^o Keren-happuch.

14 In all the land were no women found ſo faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

15 And after this Iud Iob an hundredth and fourtie yeeres, and ſawe his ſonnes, and his ſonnes ſonnes, euen foure generations.

16 So Iob died, being old, and full of dayes.

a No thought ſe creter, but thou doſt ſee it, nor any thing I thou thinkeſt, but thou canſt bring it to paſſe.

b Is there any but Iſ for the ſeruant Iob ſayd to his charge.

c Chap. 38.2.

d I confeſſe herein mine ignorance, & that I ſpake I will not what.

e I for the ſeruant Iob ſayd to his charge.

f Chap. 38.2.

g I knowe thee only before by hearing: but now when hee cauſed me to ſee thee, thou art to me, that I may reſigne my ſelfe ouer vnto thee.

h You tooke in hand an euill cauſe, in that you demanded him by his onward afflictions and not comforted him with my mercies.

i Who had a good cauſe, but handled it euill.

k When you haue reconciled your ſelues to him for the faults that you haue committed againſt him, hee ſhall pray for you, and I will heare him.

l Hee deliuered him out of the affliction wherein he was.

m That is, all his kindred, reade Chap. 19. 13.

n For Iemimah was ſo named.

o I God made him twice ſuch in wealth, as he was afore, and gaue him as many childre, as he had taken from him.

p That is of long life, or beautifull as the day.

q A ſeruant of Iob ſayd, as hee ſpake.

r That is, the home of beaſting.

THE PSALMES OF DAVID.

THE ARGVMENT.

T His booke of Psalmes is set forth unto vs by the holy Ghost to be esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things are contained that appertaine to true felicitie, as well in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, and heavenly wisdom, are here set open for vs, to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great and high maiesty of God, here we may see the brightnesse thereof shine most clerely. If we would seeke his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schoole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his insestimable bountie, & approach thereunto, and fill our hearts with that treasure, here we may haue a most lively & comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, and how to attaine to life euerslasting, here is Christ our onely redeemer, and mediator most evidently described. The rich man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may finde full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall know the true way, and how to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppress'd, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how they ought to praise God when he sendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecutors of the children of God shall see how the hand of God is ouer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he breideth them, inasmuch as they cannot touch an haire of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, here we may haue most present remedies against all sensations and troubles of minde and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, line in the true feare, and loue of God, and as length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is layd up for all them that leaue the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

PSAL. I.

Whether it was Edom, or any other that gathered the Psalmes in as a booke, it is worth heate, yet this Psalm first is the way of a pious life, to exhort a goodly youth to study & meditate the heavenly wisdom. For the text hereof is, 1. That they be blessed, which giue themselves wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures: and that the wicked consumers of God, though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable affliction.

Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornfull.

2 But his delight is in the law of the Lord, and in his law doth he meditate day & night.

3 For he shall be like a tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruit in due season: whose leaf shall not fade: so whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper.

4 The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the winde drieth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the judgement, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

7 Though the wicked seeme to beare the iuving in this world, yet the Lord drieth them downe that they shall not rise nor stand in the company of the righteous. 8 But remember when they reele Gods wrath. I Dost you see and peep, like as not to know, is to reprove and reie.

PSAL. II.

1 The Prophet David reioyceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdom for euer, and aduance it unto the end of the world, 20 and therefore exhorteth kings & rulers, that they would humbly submit themselves unto the God of heauen, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herein is figured Christ the king.

Why do the heathen rage, and the people murmur, in vaine?

* Acts 4.15.

2 The Kings of the earth band themselves, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

3 Let vs breake their bandes, and cast their cordes from vs.

4 But he that dwelleth in the heauen, shall laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision.

5 Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, and vexe them in his sore displeasure.

6 Euen I haue set my king vpon Zion mine holy mountaine.

7 I will declare the decree: that is, the Lord hath said vnto me, Thou art my sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aske of mee, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the ends of the earth for thy possession.

9 Thou shalt crush them with a scepter of yron, and breake them in pieces like a potters vessel.

10 Be wise now therefore, ye kings: be learned ye Iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling.

12 Kisse the Sonnet, lest hee be angry, and ye perish in the way, when his wrath shall suddenly burne, blessed are all that trust in him.

* Rev. 2.27. g He exhorteth all rulers to repent in time. h In signe of homage. i When the wicked shall say, Peace and rest, seeing yet to be but in the mid way of their purpose, then shall destruction suddenly come in. 1. The 23.

PSAL. III.

1 David being forth of his kingdom, was greatly persecuted in his life for his sin against God: 4 And therefore callest vpon God, and waileth bolde through his promise against the great railing, and terror of his enemies, yet, against death itselfe, which he saw present before his eyes. 7 Finally, he reioyceth for the good success, that God gave him, and all the Church.

Ar 2 5 A Psalm.

a This was a token of his stable faith, that for all his troubles hee had his recourse to God.

b Solals here signifies a lifting vp of the voice, to cante vs to consider the sentence, as a thing of great importance.

c When he considered the trust of Gods promise, and tried the faith, his faith encreased miraculously.

d Be the dangers neuer so great or many, yet God hath true means to deliver his.

a Among the that were appointed to sing the Psalms, and to play on the instruments, one was appointed chiefly to set the tone, and to begin.

b To him that was the charge, because he was most excellent, and he began this Psalm on the instrument called Neginoth, or in a tone is called.

c Then that are the defender of my iniquity cause.

d Both of minde and body.

e Yet that thinke your selues noble in this world.

f Though your enterprises please you neuer so much, yet God will bring them to nought.

g Asking that walketh in his vocation.

h Serue God purely and not with outward ceremonies.

i The multitude seeke worldly wealth, but David setteth his felicitie in Gods favour.

k This word in Ebrew may be referred to God, as it here translated, or to David, signifying that he should dwell as ingenuously alone, as if he had many about him, because the Lord is with him.

l For, a musical instrument, or tone.

a That is, my vehement prayer and secret complaint and sighings.

b With patience and trust till I be heard.

c Seeing that God of nature hath wickednesse, he must needs punish the wicked and save the godly.

d Which name most ingenuously after their small afflictions.

A Psalm of David, when he fled from his sonne Absalom.

Lord, howe are mine aduersaries increased? How many life against me?

1 Many lay to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God. b Selah.

2 But thou Lord art a buckler for me, my glory, and the lifter vp of mine head.

3 I did call vnto the Lord with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy Mountaine. Selah.

4 I layde me downe and slept, and droste vp againe: for the Lord sustained me.

5 I will not be afraid for a tenne thousand of the people, that should beset me round about.

6 O Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheek bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

7 Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing vpon thy people. Selah.

P S A L M.

When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting much assuredly in his promise, and therfore boldly reproached his enemies, who wilfully resisted his downe, and finally preferred the favour of God before all worldly treasures.

a To him that excelleth on Neginoth.

Hear me when I call, O God of my rightehousnesse: thou hast set me at libertie, when I was in distresse: thou haue mercy vpon me, and hearken vnto my prayer.

1 O ye dionnes of men, how long wil ye turne my glory into shame, louing vanitie, and seeking lies? Selah.

2 For be ye sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.

3 Tremble, & sinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be still. Selah.

4 Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and trust in the Lord.

5 Many say, Who wil shew vs any good? but the Lord lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.

6 Thou hast giuen me more ioy of heart, then they haue had, when their wheat and their wine did abound.

7 I will lay me downe, & also sleepe in peace: for thou, Lord, onely makest me dwell in safetie.

8 For feare of Gods iudgement. b Cease your rage. i Serue God purely and not with outward ceremonies. k The multitude seeke worldly wealth, but David setteth his felicitie in Gods favour. l This word in Ebrew may be referred to God, as it here translated, or to David, signifying that he should dwell as ingenuously alone, as if he had many about him, because the Lord is with him.

P S A L M.

David oppressed with the crueltie of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, addresseth to God for succour, shewing how requisite it is that God should punish the wicked of his aduersaries. After being offered of prosperous success hee concealeth comfort, concluding that when God shall deliver him, others also shall be partakers of the same mercies.

a To him that excelleth vpon Neginoth.

Hear me words, O Lord: vnderstand my meditation.

1 Harken vnto the voice of my cry, my king and my God: for vnto thee do I pray.

2 Hear me voice in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct me vnto thee, and I will b wait.

3 For thou art not a God that loueth wickednesse, neither shall euill dwell with thee.

4 The foolish shall not stand in thy sight:

for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceitful.

7 But I will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.

8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousness, because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.

9 For no constancy is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their throat is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God, let them e fall from their counsels: call them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt perfect the righteous, and with fauour wilt compass him, as with a shield.

P S A L M.

When David by his flames had provoked Gods wrath, and now sits not onely his hand against him, but also concerneth the horrors of death enuincing, he deserveth forgiveness. He calling that if God took him away in his indignation, he should haue occasion to praise him as he was wont to doe whilst he was among men. He then judiciously feeling Gods wrath, he sheweth reuerence to his enemies that reuenge in his affliction.

a To him that excelleth on Neginoth vpon the eight tone.

Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

1 Haue mercy vpon mee, O Lord, for I am weak: O Lord heale me, for my bones are vexed.

2 My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay?

3 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: fauour me for thy mercies sake.

4 For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shall praise thee?

5 I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed eury night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares.

6 Mine eye is dimmed for despayre, & sunke in because of all mine enemies.

7 Away from me all ye workers of iniquity: for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping.

8 The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will recurre my prayer.

9 All mine enemies shall be confounded and fore vexed: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame suddenly.

10 When I thought that the godly shall perish, God deliuered me from death, and destroyed thine enemies.

P S A L M.

Being fully assured by Christs and of Sauts testimony, he calleth to God to be his defender, 3 to whom he commendeth his innocency, 5 first shewing that his confidence did not arise from any merit towards God: 10 Next that it toucheth Gods glory to award sentence against the wicked, 12 And so ending into the consideration of Gods mercies and promises, he magnifies the deuitie the wane enterprise of his enemies, 14 shewing that it shall be their own necke which they haue prepared for others.

a Shigaion of David, which he sang vnto the Lord, concerning the words of Christs sonne of Iemins.

O Lord my God, in thee I put my trust: sue me from all that persecute me, and deliuer me.

1 Left a decaure my soule like a lion, and teare it in pieces, while there is none to helpe.

3 O Lord

a In the depth of his weakness hee prays his full confidence in God.

b Because thine iust, therefore haue me out of the grasp of mine enemies.

O Lord my God, if I have done this thing, if there be any wickednesse in mine hands, if I have rewarded euill vnto him that had peace with mee, (yea I haue deliuered him that vowed me without cause)

Then let mine enemy persecute my soule and take it: yea, let him treade my life downe vpon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah.

Arise, O Lord, in thy wrath, and lift vp thy selfe against the rage of mine enemies, and awake for mee according to the iudgement that thou hast appointed.

So shall the Congregation of the people compasse thee about: for their fakes therefore I returne on hie.

The Lord shall iudge the people: iudge thou me, O Lord, according to my righteousness, and according to mine innocencie, that is in me.

O he! the malice of the wicked come to an ende: but guide thou the iust: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins.

My defence is in God, who preferreth the vpright in heart.

God iudgeth the righteous, and him that condemneth God: euery day.

Except he turne, he hath whet his sword: he hath bent his bow and made it ready.

Hee hath also prepared him deadly weapons: hee will ordeine his arrows for them that persecute me.

Behold, he shall trauaile with wickednesse: for he hath conceived mischief; but he shall bring forth a lye.

He hath made a pit and digged it, and is fallen in the pit: but he made.

His mischief shall returne vpon his owne head, & his cruelty shall fall vpon his owne pace.

I will praye the Lord according to his righteousness, and will sing praise to the Name of the Lord most high.

PSAL. IIIII.

The Prophet considering the excellent liberality and fatherly prouidence of God towards him, whom hee waileth, as if were a god ouer all his works, doth not onely giue great thanks, but is afflicted with the admiration of the same, as one working vnto himselfe such great mercies.

To him that excelleth vpon his Gittirih.

A Psalm of David.

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world: which hath thy glory above the heauens.

Out of the mouth of babes & sucklings hast thou ordered strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest still the enemy and the anger.

When I behold thine heauens, even the works of thy fingers, the moone and the starres which thou hast ordered.

What is man, for thou art minded him? and the sonne of man, that thou visitest him?

For thou hast made him a little lower then God, and crowned him with glory and worship.

Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the works of thine hande: thou hast put all things vnder his feete.

All cheepe and oxe: yea, and the beasts of the field:

The foules of the ayre, and the fish of the sea, and that which passeth through the paths of the sea.

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world.

PSAL. IX.

After he had giuen thanks to God for the sundry vittories that he had giuen him against his enemies, and also praised by manifold experiences, how ready God was attuned in all his troubles.

To him that excelleth vpon his Mount Liban.

A Psalm of David.

I will praye the Lord with my whole heart: I will speake of all thy marueilous workes.

I will be glad, and reioyce in thee: I will sing praise to thy Name, O most high.

For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shall fall and perish at thy presence.

For thou hast maintained my right and my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudgeth right.

Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer.

O enemy, defractions are come to a perpetuall ende, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memoriall is perished with them.

But the Lord shall sit for euer: hee hath prepared his throne for iudgement.

For he shall iudge the world in righteousness, and shall iudge the people with equitie.

The Lord also will bee a refuge for the poore, a refuge in due time, euen in affliction.

And they that knowe thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed them that seeke thee.

Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: when the people his workes.

For when hee maketh iniquification for blood, he remembereth it, and forgetteth not the complaint of the poore.

Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord: consider my trouble which I suffer of them that hate mee, thou that liftest me vp from the gates of death.

That I may shew all thy praises within the gates of the daughter of Zion, and reioyce in thy saluation.

The heathen are sunken downe in the pit: they made: in the net that they hid, is their foote taken.

The Lord is known by executing iudgement: the wicked is snared in the worke of his owne hands. Higgaion. Selah.

The wicked shall turne into hell, and all nations that forget God.

For the poore shall not be alway forgotten: the hope of the afflicted shall not perish for euer.

Vp Lord: let not man perauaile: let the heathen be iudged in thy light.

Put them in feare, O Lord, that the heathen may know that they are but men. Selah.

PSAL. X.

Hee complaineth of the pride, rapine, tyrannie, and all kinde of wrong, which worldly men vsue: offering the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as he were drunken with worldly prosperitie, and therefore sitting apart all fiere, and reuerence toward God: thence they saye all things without controuersing.

Therefore hee calleth vpon God to frise forth remembrance against these desperate euils, and at length comforteth himselfe with hope of deliuerance.

PSAL. XI.

WBg

The nature of the wicked.

1 So loose as we enter into affliction, we think God should help us, but this is not always his due time. 2 The wicked man rejoiceth in his own lust: he boasteth when he hath that he would: he braggeth of his wit and wealth, and blesteth himself, and thus blasphemeth the Lord. 3 For, as the Lord saith, For I will be moved because he was wiser in evil.

4 The will shall not touch me, In. 18. 7. say els he speaketh thus, because he neuer felt evil. 5 He sheweth that he wickedly hath many means to hide his craft, and therefore ought more to be feared. 6 By the hypocrites of them that have authority, the poore are deceived. 7 He calleth to God for help, because wickedness is so false overgrown, that God must now help against it.

8 Therefore thou must needs pay with this their blasphemy. 9 To judge between the right and the wrong. 10 For thou hast utterly destroyed him. 11 The hypocrites, or such as live not after Gods Lawe, shall be destroyed. 12 I God helpe when man helpe ceaseth. For, as the Lord saith, I will be moved because he was wiser in evil.

13 Therefore thou must needs pay with this their blasphemy. 14 To judge between the right and the wrong. 15 For thou hast utterly destroyed him. 16 The hypocrites, or such as live not after Gods Lawe, shall be destroyed. 17 I God helpe when man helpe ceaseth. For, as the Lord saith, I will be moved because he was wiser in evil.

18 This is the wicked counsell of his enemies to him and his companions to drine him from the hope of Gods promise. 19 All hope of favour is taken away. 20 Yet am I innocent, and my cause good. 21 Though all things in earth be out of order, yet God will excuse judgement from heaven.

Why standest thou far off, O Lord, and hidest thee in a due time, even in affliction?

3 The wicked with pride doth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the crafts that they have imagined.

4 For the wicked hath made boast of his own hearts desire, and the courteous blesteth himself: he contemneth the Lord.

5 The wicked is so proud, that he seeketh not for God: he thinketh always, There is no God.

6 His wayes alway prosper: thy judgements are hid above his sight: therefore he despiseth all his enemies.

7 He saith in his heart, I shall never be moved, nor be in danger.

8 His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquity.

9 He lieth in wait in the villages: in the secret places doth he murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

10 He lieth in wait secretly, as a lyon in his denne: he lyeth in wait to spoyle the poore: he doth spoyle the poore, when he draweth him into his net.

11 He croucheth & boweth: therefore heapes of the poore doe fall by his might.

12 He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth away his face, and will neuer see.

13 Arise, O Lord God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

14 Wherefore doth the wicked contemne God? he faith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

15 Yet thou hast seen it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou mayest take it into thine hands: the poore committeth himself unto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.

16 Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: search his wickednesse, and thou shalt finde it none.

17 The Lord is king for ever and ever: the heathen are destroyed forth of his land.

18 Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou benedict thine care to them.

19 To judge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man is cause to feare no more.

PSAL. XI.

1 This Psalm containeth two parts. In the first David sheweth howe hard assaults of temptation he suffered, and in howe great anguish of mind he was, when Saul did persecute him. 2 Then next he rejoiceth that God sent him succour in his necessities, declaring his justice affected in governing the good, and the wicked man, as the whole world.

3 To him that excelleth, A Psalm of David.

1 In the Lord put I my trust: how say ye then to my soule, Flee to your mountaine as a bird?

2 For loe, the wicked bend their bowe, and make ready their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shooote at them, which are vpright in heart.

3 For the foundations are cast downe: what hath the righteous done?

4 The Lord is in his holy palace: the Lords throne is in the heauen: his eyes shall confound the eye lids will trie the children of men.

Palme.

1 The Lord will trie the righteous: but the wicked and him that loneth iniquity, doth his soule hare.

2 Vpon the wicked he shall raine snares, & fire, and brimstone, and stormie tempest: this is the portion of their cup.

3 For the righteous Lord righteously iudgeth: his countenance doth behold the iull.

PSAL. XII.

1 The Prophet lamenting the misery that is of the people, and the decay of all good order, doth pray God speedily to send succour to his children. 2 When comforting his comforters with the assurance of Gods helpe, hee commendereth the constant veritie that God obserueth in keeping his promises.

3 To him that excelleth vpon the right tune. A Psalm of David.

1 Helpe Lord, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are sayled from among the children of men.

2 They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbour, & flattering with their lips, and speake with a double heart.

3 The Lord cut off all flattering lippes, and the tongue that speaketh proud things:

4 Which haue sayde, With our tongue will we preuaile: our lips are our owne: who is Lord ouer vs?

5 Now for the oppression of the needy, and for the sighes of the poore, I will vp, sayth the Lord, and will set at libertie him, whom the wicked hath snared.

6 The wordes of the Lord are pure wordes, as the silver, tried in a fornaice of earth, finel seuen fold.

7 Thou wilt keepe them, O Lord: thou wilt preferre him from this generation for cuer.

8 The wicked walke on cury side: when they are exalted, it is as a shame for the sonnes of men. 9 For this wicked generation, I thinke, is that which the poore is on this wicked generation. I thinke, is that which the poore is on this wicked generation.

PSAL. XIII.

1 David as it were ournes with sundry and new afflictions, flieth to God as his onely refuge. 2 And so as the length bring encouraged through Gods promises, hee consciouly saith first confidence against the extremities of calamities.

3 To him that excelleth, A Psalm of David.

1 How long wilt thou forget me, O Lord? 2 How long? howe long wilt thou hide thy face from me?

3 How long shall I take counsell within my selfe, having wearinesse dayly in mine heart: how long shall mine enemy be exalted about me?

4 Beholde, and heare me, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, that I sleepe not in death:

5 Left mine enemy say, I haue preuailed against him: and they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide.

6 But I trust in thy mercy: mine heart shall reioyce in thy saluation: I will sing to the Lord, because he hath dealt lovingly with me.

PSAL. XIII.

1 Hee describeth the peruerse nature of men, which were so growne to licentiousness, that God was brought to utter contempt. 2 For the which thing although hee was greatly grieved, yet being persuaded that God would send some great remedy, he comforteth himself and others.

3 To him that excelleth, A Psalm of David.

1 The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God: they haue corrupted, & done an abominable worke: there is none that doth good, to forget God. 2 There is nothing but disorder and wickedness among men.

3 As in the old traditions of Solomon. 4 Which they shall drink water to the dregs, Eccl. 1. 2.

5 Which dare allured the church, and there were to be offered. 6 He matcheth the bitterness of the calyx which both more with their compassions with their weapons. 7 They thinke themselves able to persevere in their hardness. 8 The Lord is moved with the complaints of his, and delivereth in the end from all.

9 Because the Lords word and promise is true, and he will performe it, and preuene the 10 He declarer that his affliction lasted a long time, and that hee had desired.

11 Changing thy purpote unto God, as thou didst place.

12 Which might cause in God to be angry with him, as hee did not desire him.

13 The words of God is the word of his promise, as hee did not desire him.

14 Hee declarer that his affliction lasted a long time, and that hee had desired.

15 Changing thy purpote unto God, as thou didst place.

16 Which might cause in God to be angry with him, as hee did not desire him.

17 The words of God is the word of his promise, as hee did not desire him.

18 Hee declarer that his affliction lasted a long time, and that hee had desired.

19 Changing thy purpote unto God, as thou didst place.

20 Which might cause in God to be angry with him, as hee did not desire him.

3 The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and seeke God.

3 All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

4 Do not all the workers of iniquitie know that they eate vp my people, as they eate bread? they call not vpon the Lord.

5 4 There they shall be taken with feare, because God is in the generation of the iust.

6 You haue made a mocke at the counsell of the poore, because the Lord is his trust.

7 Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iakob shall reioyce, and Israel shall be glad.

Note that of this 14. Psalm, the 5. 6. and 7. verses which are put into the common translation, may seeme vnto some to be left out of the same Psalm in the Hebrew text, but are rather put in more fully to expresse the manner of the wicked, and are gathered out of the 5. 14. and 16. Psalmes: the 19. of the Prophet Isaiah, and the 28. Psalm, and are alleged by Saint Paul, and placed together in the 130. the Romanes.

PSAL. XV.

1 This Psalm teacheth vs what condition God did chuse the iustes for his peculiar people, and wherefore hee placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by being vprightly and godly, might witness that they were his speciall and holy people.

A Psalm of David.

Lord, who shall dwell in thy tabernacle? who shall rest in thy holy Mountain?

2 Hee that walketh vprightly and worketh righteousness, & speaketh the truth in his heart.

3 He that slandereth not with his tongue, nor doeth euill to his neighbour, nor receiue a false report against his neighbour.

4 In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but hee honoureth them that feare the Lord: hee that sweareth to his owne hinderance and changeth not.

5 He that is giueth not his money vnto vsurie, nor taketh reward against the innocent: he that doeth these things, shall neuer be mooued.

A Psalm of David.

Referre mee, O God: for in thee doe I trust.

2 O my soule, thou hast said vnto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my b. w. doing extendeth not to thee.

3 But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delight is in them.

4 The c. forowes of them, that offer to an other god, shall be multiplied: d. their offerings of blood will I not offer, neither make e. mention of their names with my lips.

5 The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cuppe: thou shalt mainteine my lot.

6 The c. lines are fallen vnto mee in pleasant places: yea. I haue a faire heritage.

7 I will praise the Lord, who hath giurn mee counsell: my f. reimes also teach mee in the nights.

8 God teacheth me vocationally by senses inspiration.

8 I haue set the Lord alwayes before mee: for he is at my right hand: therefore I shall not slide.

9 Wherefore mine heart is glad and my tongue reioyceth: my flesh also doth rest in hope.

10 For thou wilt not leaue my soule in the graue: neither wilt thou suffer thine holy one to see corruption.

11 Thou wilt shew me the path of life in thy p. fence is the fullnesse of ioy: and at thy right hand there are pleasures for euermore.

The prayer of David.

Hearc. the night, O Lord, consider my crye: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfaile.

2 Let my b. sentence come forth from thy presence, and let thine eyes behold equitie.

3 Thou hast p.roued and visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tried me, and foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my d. mouth should not offend.

4 Concerning the workes of men, by the e. wordes of thy lips I kept mee from the paths of the cruell man.

5 Stay my steps in thy paths, that my feete do not slide.

6 I haue called vpon thee: surely thou wilt heare me, O God: incline thine g To him that setteth. A Psalm of David the servant of the Lord, which spake unto the Lord the words of this song (In the day that the Lord delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul) and said,

I Will loue thee dearly, O Lord my strength.
2 The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and he that delivereth me, my God and my strength: in him will I trust; my shield, the horn also of my saluation, and my refuge.

3 I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthy to bee praised: so shall I be safe from mine enemies.

4 The sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednesse made me afraid.

5 The sorowes of the graue haue compassed me about: the snares of death ouertooke me.

6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my cry did come before him, euen into his cares.

7 Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the foundations also of the mountaines mooued and shooke, because he was angrie.

8 Smoke went out at his nostrils, and a consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled therat.

9 He bowed the heauen also and came downe, and darkness was vnder his feete.

10 And hee rode vpon Cherub, and did flie, and came flying vpon the wings of the winde.

11 He made darkness his secreete place, and his pavilion round about him, euen darkness of waters, and cloudes of the ayre.

12 At the brightnesse of his presence his cloudes passed, hailestones and coles of fire.

13 The Lord also thundered in the heauen, and the Higheest gaue i his voyce, hailestones and coales of fire.

14 Then he sent out his arrowes and scattered them, and hee increased lightnings and destroyed them.

15 And the chanelles of waters were scene, and the foundations of the world were discouered at thy rebulking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrils.

16 Hee hath sent downe from aboue and taken mee: hee hath drawen mee out of many waters.

17 Hee hath deliuered me from my strong enemy, and from them which hate me: for they were too strong for me.

18 They preuented me in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He brought me forth also into a large place: he deliuered me because hee sauoured me.

20 The Lord rewarded mee according to my righteousness: according to the purenesse of mine hands he recompened me:

21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

22 For all his lawes were before mee, and I did not cast away his commandements from mee.

23 I was vpriight also with him, and haue kept me from wickednesse.

24 Therefore the Lord rewarded mee according to my righteousness, and according to the purenesse of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the vpright man thou wilt shewe thy selfe vpright.

26 With the pure thou wilt shewe thy selfe pure, and with the frowarde thou wilt shewe thy selfe froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt cast downe the proude lookes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will lighten my darkenes.

29 For by thee I haue broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The way of God is vncrooked: the yorde of the Lord is tryed in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way vpright.

33 He maketh my feete like hinds feete, and setteth me vpon mine high places.

34 He teacheth mine handes to fight: so that a bowe of i brasse is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen me thy shield of thy saluation, & thy right hand hath slayed me, and thy louing kindnes hath caused me to encrease.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder mee, and my heeles haue not slid.

37 I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feete.

39 For thou hast girded mee with strength to battell: them that rose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast giuen mee the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They cried, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but hee answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did treade them flat as the clay in the streetes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made mee the head of the se heathen: a people, whome I haue not knowne, shall serue me.

44 As soone as they heare, they shall obey me: the strangers shall be in subiection to me.

45 Strangers shall shrink away, and feare in their priuie chambers.

46 Let the Lord liue, and blessed bee my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted.

47 It is God that giueth me power to auenge mee, and subdueth the people vnder me.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set me vp from them that rose against mee: thou hast deliuered mee from the cruell man.

49 Therefore I will praise thee, O Lord, among the nations, and will sing vnto thy Name.

50 Great deliuerances giueth hee vnto his king, and sheweth mercie to his appointed, euen to David, and to his seede for euer.

PSAL. XIX.

1 The heavens be mightie as the firmament to a deeper consideration of Gods glory, he stretcheth before their eyes the most exquisite wayes of his beautie with their propriety and ornament. 2 And afterwards calleth them to the Law, wherein God hath revealed himselfe more familiarly to his chosen people. The which peculiar grace by commanding the Law to the firsts first men as large.

g To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

He * heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth the work of his hands.

3 Day vnto day uttereth the fame, & night vnto night teacheth knowledge.

4 There is no speech nor language, where their voyce is not heard.

5 Their line is gone forth through all the earth, and their words into the ends of the world: in them hath he set a tabernacle for the sunne.

6 Which commeth forth as a bridegrome out of his chamber, and reioyeth like a mightie man to run his race.

7 His going out is from the ende of the heauen, & his compass is vnto the ends of the same, and none is hid from the heate thereof.

8 The Law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soule: the testimony of the Lord is sure, and giueth wisedome vnto the simple.

9 The statutes of the Lorde are right, and reioyce the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes.

10 The feare of the Lord is cleane, and endureth for euer: the iudgements of the Lorde are truth: they are righteous altogether.

11 And more to be desired then golde, yea, then much fine golde: sweeter also then honye and the hony combe.

12 Moreover by them is thy seruant made circumped, and in keeping of them there is great reward.

13 Who can vnderstand his faultes? cleanse me from secret fautes.

14 Keepe thy seruant alfo from presumptuous finnes: let them not reigne ouer me: so shal I be vpright, and made cleane from much wickednesse.

15 Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of mine heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord my strength, and my redeemer.

16 For God accepteth our indowment though it be heauenly. 17 Then there is no reward of dustie, but of grace: for where dustie is, there is the reward. 18 Which are done purposely and of malice, as if they thought my wicked actions by thine holy spirit. 19 That I may obey the law, word and deed.

PSAL. XX.

A prayer of the people vnto God, that it would please him to heare the King and receive his sacrifice, which he offered before he went to battell against the Amorrhites.

g To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

He * Lorde heare thee in the day of trouble: the name of God of Iakob defend thee:

2 Send thee helpe from the Sanctuary, and strengthen thee out of Zion.

3 Let him remember all thine offerings, and turne thy burnt offerings into ashes, Selah:

4 And graunt thee according to thine heart, and fulfill all thy purpose:

5 Thus we may reioyce in thy saluation, and set vp the banner in the Name of our God, when the Lord shall performe all thy petitions.

6 Now know I that the Lord will helpe his anointed, and will heare him from his Sanctuary.

7 And the visible Sanctuary Gods familiaritie appeared toward him, as if he himselfe were present, and his power and maiesty.

rie, by the mightie helpe of his right hand.

7 Some warre in chariots, & some in horses: but we will remember the Name of our Lord our God.

8 They are brought downe and fallen, but we are risen, and stand vpright.

9 Saue Lord: let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

PSAL. XXI.

David in the person of the people prayeth God for the victory which he had obtained in the conquest of Iamou. Whence the holy Ghost denoteth the steadfastness in Christ, who is the perfection of the kingdom.

g To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

He * King shall reioyce in thy strength, O Lord: yea how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation!

2 Thou hast giuen him his hearts desire, and hast not denyed him the request of his lips. Selah.

3 For thou hast not denied him with liberal blessings, and diddest set a crowne of pure golde vpon his head.

4 He asked life of thee, and thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer.

5 His glory is great in thy saluation: dignitie and honour hast thou laid vpon him.

6 For thou hast set him as blessings for euer: thou hast made him glade with the ioy of thy countenance.

7 Because the king trusteth in the Lord, and in the merde of the most High, he shall not faile.

8 Thine hand shall find out all thine enemies, & thy right hand shall find out them that hate thee.

9 Thou shalt make them like a scorie oven in time of thine anger: the Lord shall destroy them in his wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them.

10 Their fruite shalt thou destroy from the earth, and their seede from the children of men.

11 For they intended euill against thee, and imagined mischief, as they shall not preuaile.

12 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

13 I Bee thou exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing and praise thy power.

14 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

15 I Bee thou exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing and praise thy power.

16 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

17 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

18 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

19 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

20 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

21 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

22 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

23 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

24 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

25 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

26 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

27 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

28 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

29 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

30 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

31 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

32 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

33 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

34 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

4 Shew mee thy wayes, O Lord, and teache me thy pathes.

5 Lead me forth in thy truth, and teache me for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee doe I trust 4 all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bene for euer, 7 Remember not the 6 sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou me, euē for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord.

8 Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will he teach sinners in the way.

9 Them that he mecke, will bee 6 guide in iudgement, and teach the humble his way.

10 All the paths of the Lorde are mercie and truth vnto such as keepe his couenant and his testimonties.

11 For thy 1 Names sake, O Lord, be merciful vnto mine iniquities, for it is great.

12 What 1 man is hee that feareth the Lord? him will he teach the way that he shall 1 chuse.

13 His soule shall dwell at 1 ease, and his feede shall inherit the land.

14 The 1 me secrete of the Lorde is reuelled to them, that feare him: and his couenant to giue them vnderstanding.

15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for he will bring my feede out of the net.

16 Turne thy face vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: for I am desolate and poore.

17 The forowes of mine heart 1 are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.

18 Look vpon mine affliction and my trael, and forgive all my sinnes.

19 Behold mine 1 enemies, for they are many, and they hate me with cruel hatred.

20 Keepe my soule, and deliuer me: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee.

21 Let 1 mine vprightnes and equitie pteferue me: for mine hope is in thee.

22 Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

23 For as much as I haue behaued my selfe vprightly toward thee, know that thou art the defender of my iust cause.

PSAL. XXV.

1 David oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the world, called for aide from God: and assured of his intercession toward Saul, desired God to be his iudge, and to direct his innocencie. 6 Finally hee moeth mention of his sacrifice, which he will offer for his deliuerance, and desireth to be in the company of the faithfull in the Congregation of God, whereto he was banished by Saul, promising integrity of life, and open prayer, and thanksgiving.

¶ A Psalm of Dauid.

1 Vdge me, 1 O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide.

2 Prouoe me, O Lord, and trie me: examine my 1 reines, and mine heart.

3 For thy 1 louing kindnesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy truth.

4 I haue not 1 hated with vaine persons, neither kept company with the dissemblers.

5 I haue hated the assembly of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked.

6 Therefore shall they not walke in simplicitie before God, that delite in the company of the wicked.

6 I will 1 wash mine hands in innocentie, O Lord, and compass mine altar.

7 That I may declare with the voyce of thanksgiving, and set forth all thy wonderful works.

8 O Lord, I haue loved the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 1 Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloodie men:

10 In whose hands 6 is wickednesse, and their right hand is full of bribes.

11 But I will walke in mine innocencie: redecme me therefore, and be mercifull vnto me.

12 My foote standeth in 1 vprightnesse: I will praise thee, O Lord, in the Congregations.

PSAL. XXVII.

1 David maketh this Psalm being deliuered from great perils as appeareth by the prayer and thanksgiving answered: 6 Wherem we may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of all his enemies. 7 And also the end whereto hee aspired to be that hee should partly be worthy God in his Congregation.

¶ A Psalm of Dauid.

THE Lord 1 is my light & my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lord 1 is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraide?

2 When the wicked, euē mine enemies, and my foes came vpon mee to eate vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoste pitched against me, mine heart should not be afraid: though warre be raised against me, I will trust in 1 this.

4 1 One thing haue I desired of the Lorde, that I will require, euē that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to behold the beautie of the Lorde, and to visite his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble hee shall hide mee in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pavilion shall he hide me, and set me vp vpon a rocke.

6 And now hee lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I will sing and prayse the Lord.

7 Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lorde, when I crye: haue mercie also vpon mee and heare me.

8 When thou 1 sydest, 1 Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lorde, I will seeke thy face.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from mee, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 1 Though my father and my mother should forsake mee, yet the Lorde will gather me vp.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and leade mee in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Giue me not vnto the 6 lust of mine adversaries: for there are false witnessers risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelly.

13 1 Should haue fainted, except I had beleued to see the goodnesse of the 1 Lord in the land of the liuing.

14 Hope in the Lord: be strong, and he shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

PSAL.

1 I will firme the with a ptefferation, and with the golly that 6 crines vnto thee.

1 I desire me not in the ouerthrow of the wicked.

1 Whole cruell handes doe exco: the malicious daniel of their scatis.

1 I am preferred from mine enemies by the power of God, and therefore will praise him openly.

1 Because hee was assured of good success in all his dangers, and that his saluation was sorely layde vp in God, hee feared not the tyranny of his enemies.

1 That God will deliuer me, and my faith the victorie.

1 The love of country, wife, and all worldly commodities grieueth me not in respect of this one thing that I may not paye thy Name in the middes of the congregation.

1 David assured himselfe by the Spirit of prophesie that he should overcome his enemies, & serue God in his Tabernacle.

1 Hee groundeth vpon Gods promise, and sheweth that he is most willing to obey his commandment.

1 He magnifieth Gods love towards him, which fauor paceth the most tender loss of parents towards their children.

1 But either paceth their wrath, or beards their rage, in this present life before I die, as 1sa 38.11.

1 He exhorteth himselfe to depend on the Lord, being he neuer failed in his promises.

5 Into thine hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of truth.

6 I haue hated them that giue themselves to deceitfull vanities: for I trust in the Lord.

7 I will be glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou hast seene my trouble: thou hast known my soule in aduersities,

8 And thou hast not that me vp in the hand of the enemy, but hast set my feet a large.

9 Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord: for I am in trouble: mine eye, my soule and my bellie are consumed with griefe.

10 For my life is wasted with heauinesse, and my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, and my bones are consumed.

11 I was a reproch among all mine enemies, but specially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, who seeing mee in the street, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessell.

13 For I haue hearde the railing of great men: feare was on every side, while they conspired together against me, and consulted to take my life.

14 But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my God.

15 My times are in thine hand: deliuer mee from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruauit, and saue me through thy mercie.

17 Let me not be confounded, O Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked bee put to confusion, and to silence in the graue.

18 Let the lying lip be made dumbe, which cruelly, proudly, and spitefully speake against the righteous.

19 How great is thy goodnesse, which thou hast laid vp for them, that feare thee! and done to them that trust in thee, euen before the sonnes of men!

20 Thou dost hide them + priuily in thy presence from the pride of men: thou keepst them secretly in thy Tabernacle from the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be the Lord: for hee hath shewed his marvellous kindnesse toward mee in a strong citie.

22 Though I said in mine haste, I am cast out of thy sight, yet thou heardest the voyce of my prayer, when I cried vnto thee.

23 Loue ye the Lord all his Saints: for the Lord prefermeth the faithfull, and rewardeth abundantly the proud doer.

24 All ye that trust in the Lord, be strong, and he shall establish your heart.

25 And by my righteous and iudiciall defence to haue bene forsaken. I Or, resist my enemies, be constant in your vocation, and God will confirme me in my strength.

PSAL. XXXII.

David praised with gracious strokes for his sinnes, conuict them blissfully to whom God doth not impute their transgressions.
And after that he had confessed his sinnes, and obtained pardon, he exhorted the wicked men to haue godly, and the good to reioyce.

A Psalm of David to giue instruction.

Blessed is he whose wickednesse is forgiven, and whose sinne is couered.

To be inhibited by faith, is to haue our sinnes freely remitted, and forgotten, Rom. 4. 6.

2 Blessed is the man, vnto whom the Lord im-puteth not iniquitie, and in whose spirit there is no guile.

3 When I held my tongue, my bones confused, or when I roared all the day,

4 (For thine hand is heauy vpon me, day and night: my moisture is turned into the drought of Summer, Selah.)

5 Then I acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, neither hid I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednesse vnto the Lord, and thou forgavest the punishment of my sinne, Selah.

6 Therefore shall euerie one, that is godlie, make his prayer vnto thee in a f time, when thou mayest be found: surely in the flood of great waters they shall not come nere him.

7 Thou art my secret place: thou preseruest me from trouble: thou compassedst me about with ioyfull deliuerance, Selah.

8 I will instruct thee, and teach thee in the way that thou shalt go, and I will guide thee with mine eye.

9 Beye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstande not: whose i mouths thou dost binde with bitte and bridle, lest they come neere thee.

10 Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but he, that trusteth in the Lord, mercie shall compasse him.

11 Be glad ye righteous, and reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all ye, that are vpright in heart.

12 If men can rule brute beasts, think they that God will not bridle and tame their rages! 13 Hee sheweth that peace and ioy of conscience in the holy Ghost, is the fruit of faith.

PSAL. XXXIII.

He exhorted good men to praise God for that he hath not only created all things, and by his providence governeth the same, but also is faithful in his promises, so he understandeth mans heart, and scattereth the counsel of the wicked, so that no man can be preiured by any creature or mans strength: but they, that put their confidence in his mercie, shall bee preiured from all asserpsion.

Reioyce in the Lord, O ye righteous: for it becometh vp-right men to be thankfull.

2 Praise the Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with viole and instrument of ten strings.

3 Sing vnto him a new song: sing cheerefully with a loud voyce.

4 For the word of the Lord is righteous, and all his workes are faithful.

5 Hee loneth righteousness and iudgement:
the earth is full of the goodnesse of the Lord.

6 By the word of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth.

7 He gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and layeth vp the depthes in his treasures.

8 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all them that dwell in the world, feare him.

9 For he spake, and it was done: hee commaunded, and it stood.

10 The Lord breaketh the counsel of the heathen, and bringeth to nought the deuices of the people.

11 By the creation of the heauens and beautiful ornament, with the gathering also of the waters, he sheweth forth the power of God, that all creatures might feare him. 1 Or, was created. 2 No counsell can preuaile against God, but hee defeateth it, and it shall haue null success.

and my prayer was turned vpon my bosome.
12 I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning, as one that bewaileth his mother.

13 But in mine ^a aduersitie they reioyced, and gathered themselves together: the abjects, assembled themselves against mee, and I knewe not: they tare ^a me and ceased not.

16 With the false skiffers at ^a bankers, gnawing their teeth against me.

17 Lord, how long wilt thou beholke this? deliuer my soule from their tumult, ^a even my delate soule from the lions.

18 So will I gve thee thanks in a great Congregation: I will praise thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies, vnjustly reioyce ouer mee, neither let them ^a winkle with the eye, that hate me without a cause.

20 For they speake not as friends: but they imagined deceitfull wordes against the ^a quiet of the land.

21 And they gaped on me with their mouthes, saying, Aha, aha, y our eye hath scene.

22 Thou hast scene it, O Lord: keepe not silence: be not farre from me, O Lord.

23 Arise and wake to my iudgement, ^a euen to my cause, my God, and my Lord.

24 Iudge mee, O Lord my God, according to thy righteounesse, and let them not reioyce ouer me.

25 Let them not say in their hearts, ^a O our soulerioyer: neither let them say, Wee haue deuoured him.

26 Let them be confounded, and put to shame together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them be clothed ^a with confusion and shame, that lift vp themselves against me.

27 But let them bee ioyfull and glad, ^a that loue my righteounesse: yea, let them say alway, Let the Lord bee magnified, which loueth the prosperitie of his seruant.

28 And my tongue shall vtter thy righteounesse, and thy praise every day.

29 He exhortheth the Church to praise God for the deliuerance of his seruants, and for the destruction of his aduersaries.

PSAL. XXXVI.

1 The Prophet grievously vexed by the wicked, doeth complaints of their malicious wickednesse. 6 Then hee surmish to confesse the unspottableness of God towards all creatures. 9 But specially towards his children, that by the faith sheweth how they be comforted and assured of his deliuerance by this vniuersal course of Gods worke. 13 Who in the end deliuereth the wicked and Ianseth the iust.

2 To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, who serueth of the Lord.

3 Ickeledness faith to the wicked man, ^a euen in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes.

4 For he ^a flattereth himselfe in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is found worthy to be hated.

5 The wordes of his mouth are iniquitie and deceit: he hath left off to vnderstand and to doe good.

6 He ^a imagineth mischief vpon his bed: he stretcheth himselfe vpon a way, that is not good, and doeth not abhorre euill.

7 Hee correcteth the impatience of our nature, which cannot abide till the fullnesse of Gods time bee come. 8 Math. 1. 1 The godly are assured that the power and craft of the wicked shall not preuaile against them, fall on their owne neckes, and therefore ought patiently to abide Gods time, and in the meane while bewaile their finnes, and offer vp their teares as a sacrifice of their obedience.

9 Thy ^a mercy, O Lord, ^a speaketh vnto the heauens, and thy faithfullnesse vnto the cloudes.

10 Thy righteounesse is like the 7 mightie mountains: thy iudgements are like a great deepe: thou, Lord, doest saue man and beast.

11 How excellent is thy mercy, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadowe of thy wings.

12 They shall be satisfied with the farnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuier of thy pleasures.

13 For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light.

14 Extend thy louing kindenesse vnto them that knowe thee, and thy righteounesse vnto them that are vpright in heart.

15 Let not the ^a foote of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked man moue me.

16 There they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise, and the life to come.

17 Hee sheweth who are Gods children, to wit, they that knowe him, and leaue their lawes vprightly. 1 Let not the proud advance himselfe against me, neither the power of the wicked drive me away. 8 That is, in their pride wherein they flatter themselves.

PSAL. XXXVII.

1 This Psalm containeth exhortation and consolation for the wicked, that are grieved at the prosperitie of the wicked, and the affliction of the godly. 7 For some prosperously fauour the wicked doe but for the time, hee doeth assure their fauour to be vaine and transitorie, because they are not in the favour of God, but in the rage they are destroyed as by carnets. 11 And how miserably they the righteous stretch in time in the world, yet his ende is peace, and hee is in the favour of God, hee is deliuered from the wicked and persecuted.

A Psalm of David.

1 Ret not ^a thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euill doers.

2 For they shall soone bee ^a cut downe like grasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe.

3 Trust thou in the Lord and doe good: dwell in the land, and thou shalt be fed assuredly.

4 And delite thy selfe in the Lord, and hee shall giue thee thine hearts desire.

5 Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe.

6 And hee shall bring forth thy righteounesse as the light, and thy ^a iudgement as the noone day.

7 Waite patiently vpon the Lord, and hope in him: fret not thy selfe for him ^a which prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe.

8 Cease from anger, and leaue off wrath: fret not thy selfe ^a also to doe euill.

9 For euill doers shall be cut off, and they that waite vpon the Lord, they shall inherit the land.

10 Therefore yet a litle while and the wicked shall not appeare and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found.

11 But ^a meeke men shall possesse the earth, and shall haue their delight in the multitude of peace.

12 The wicked practiseth against the iust, and gnaweth his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shall laugh him to scorne: for hee hath that day is coming.

14 The wicked haue drawn their sword and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe

To the excellent musician. A Psalm of David.

I thought, I will take heed to my wayes, that I sinne not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my sight.

1 I was dumme & spake nothing: I kept silence even from good; & my sorow was more flirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was musing, the fire kindled, and I spake with my tongue, saying,

4 Lord, let me know mine end, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let me know how I have to live.

5 Behold, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breache, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely every man in his best state is altogether vannie, Selah.

6 Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadow, and disquieteth him selfe in vaine: he heapech vp ribbes, and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And nowe Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer me from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the foolish.

9 I should haue bene dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, because I thou didst it.

10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand.

11 When thou with rebukes dost chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a moth^h makest his beauty to consume: surely every man is vannie, Selah.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, & hearken vnto my cry: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger & thee, & a sojourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger from me, that I may recover my strength, before I go hence and be not, light nor euermore upon thee, yet thy secret curse continually flieth. The word signifieth all that he desireth, as health, force, strength, redemption in whatsoever he hath deliue, so that heard of God taketh away all that he desireth in this world. k For his sorow caused him to thinke that God would deliuer him vnto; whereby we see how hard it is for the very Saints to be patient in their wordes, when death and despaire affaile them.

P S A L. XLI.

David departed from great danger, doth magnifie and praise the graces of God for his petyance, and commendeth his promise towards all men. 1 Then doth hee promise to give thine life wholy to God, and for thyselfe thou shalt be truly worshipped. 2 Afterward hee giueth thanks and praiseth God, and hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage hee callith for ayde and succour.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. Waited patiently for the Lord, and hee inclined vnto me, and heard my cry.

2 Hee brought me also out of the horrible pit, out of the myerie clay, and set my feet vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hath put in my mouth^h a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it & feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, and regardeth not the proud, nor such as turne aside to lies.

5 O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderful works so many, that none can counte in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare, & speake of them, but they are more then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou didst not desire: but sacrifice is the heart, and conserueth that his heart towards vs: as we see in our reason: we cannot so much as tell them in order,

(for mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offering and sinne offering hath thou not required.

7 Then said I, Lo, I come: for in the rolle of theooke it is written of me,

8 I desired to doe thy good wyl, O my God: yea, thy Law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousness in the great Congregation: loe, I will not reframe my lippes: O Lord, thou knowest.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousness within mine heart, but I haue declared thy truth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy truth from the great Congregation.

11 Withdrowe not thou thy tender mercie from me, O Lord: let thy mercie and thy truth alway preferre me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed me: my finnes haue taken such hold vpon mee, that I am not able to looke vpon yea, they are more in number then the haire of mine head: therefore mine heart hath failed me.

13 Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer me, make halfe, O Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them bee I confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto me, Ah, aha.

16 Let all them that seeke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee: and let them that loue thy saluation, say alway, The Lord be praised.

17 Though I be poore and needy, the Lord thinketh on mee: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no taryng.

A Psalm to giue instruction, committed to the sinners of Kerab.

WE haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue told vs the workes, that thou hast done in their dayes, in the olde time:

How thou hast driuen out the heathen with thine hand, & planted them: how thou hast destroyed the people, & caused them to grow. For they inherited not the land by their owne sword, neither did their owne arme save them: but thy right hand, and thine arme, and the light of thy countenance, because thou didst fauour them.

Thou art my King, O God: I send helpe vnto Sion.

Through thee haue we thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy Name haue we troden downe them that rose vp against vs.

For I doe not trust in my bow, neither can my sword save me.

But thou hast saved vs from our aduersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.

Therefore will we praise God continually, and will confesse thy Name for euer, Selah.

But now thou art farre off, and putteth vs to confusion, and goest not forth with our armies.

Thou makest vs to turne backe fro the aduersary, & they, which hate vs, spoyle vs for theifels.

Thou giuest vs as a sheepe to bee eaten, and dost scatter vs among the nations.

Thou sellest thy people without gaine, and dost not increase their price.

Thou makest vs a reproch to our neighbours, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.

Thou makest vs a proverbe among the nations, & a nodding of the head among people.

My confusion is daily before me, and the shame of my face hath couered me.

For the voyce of the slanderer and rebuker, for the enemy and senger.

All this is come vpon vs, yet doe we not forget thee, neither deale we falsely concerning thy covenant.

Our heart is not turned backe: neither our steps gone out of thy paths.

Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of dragons, and couered vs with the shadow of death.

If we haue forgotten the Name of our God, & holden vp our hands to a strange god, shall not God search this out? for hee knoweth the secrets of the heart.

a Meaning, the proud and cruel tyrant. b They boast out of their tures, but declare that they tell vpon God in the midst of their afflictions, who promised not now their finnes, but by hard afflictions called them to the remembrance of the heavenly ioyes. c Or, what is meaning the testimony that we beare vs for the power of faith, which can be ouercome by no perill. d They haue God to witnesse that they were vpright to him and.

a This Psalm is meant to haue beene written by some of the better sort, for the use of day people, when the Church was in extreme misery, as from Babylon, under a ruler as cruel as in such like affliction. b That is, the Chanaanites. c To wit, the heathen. d Of Canaan. e Gods fury was kindled in the day of the Chanaanites, because they had forsaken the Lord their God, and had served other gods. f That is, the Chanaanites. g That is, the Chanaanites. h That is, the Chanaanites. i That is, the Chanaanites. k That is, the Chanaanites. l That is, the Chanaanites. m That is, the Chanaanites. n That is, the Chanaanites. o That is, the Chanaanites. p That is, the Chanaanites. q That is, the Chanaanites. r That is, the Chanaanites. s That is, the Chanaanites. t That is, the Chanaanites. u That is, the Chanaanites. v That is, the Chanaanites. w That is, the Chanaanites. x That is, the Chanaanites. y That is, the Chanaanites. z That is, the Chanaanites.

22 Surely for thy sake we are slain continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.
23 Vpwy sleepst thou, O Lord awake, be not farr off for ever.
24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face? and forgettest our miserie and our affliction?
25 For our soule is beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.
26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy mercies sake.

Which is the only sufficient ranfome to deliuer both body and soule from all kind of sinne and miserie.

PSAL XLV.

1 The maistie of Salomon, his honour, strength, beautie, riches, and power are praised, and also his marriage with the Egyptian king as heauen woman is figured, 10 If that shee can reuenge her people and the loss of her country, and give her selfe wholly to her husband. Under the which figure, the most dreadfull maxime and increase of the kingdomes of Christ and the Church his spouse were taken of the Gentiles is described.

¶ To him that excelleth as a Shabassim a song of praise to give instruction, committed to the tunes of Korah.

My heart will bring forth a good matter: I will intreate in my workes of the King: my tongue is as the pen of a swift writer.

2 Thou art fairer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for ever.

3 Gird thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mightie, to win thy worship and thy glory.

4 And prosper with thy glory: ride vpon the word of truth and of meeknesse and of righteousness: so thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.

5 Thine arrowes are sharpe to pierce the heart of the Kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee.

6 Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: the scepter of thy kingdom, is a scepter of righteousness.

7 Thou louest righteousness, and hatest wickednesse, because God, even thy God hath fanyoned thee with the oyle of gladnesse about thy fellows.

8 All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and cassia, when thou comest out of the yuorie palaces, where they haue made thee glad.

9 Kings daughters were among thee honorable wives: vpon thy right hand did stand the Queene in a vesture of gold of Ophir.

10 Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people and thy fathers house.

11 So shall the king haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lord, and reverence thou him.

12 And the daughter of Tyre with the rich of the people shall doe homage before thy face with presents.

13 The Kings daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of broyded golde.

14 Shee shall be brought vnto the King in rayment of needle worke: the virgins that follow after her, and her companions shall be brought vnto thee.

15 With ioy & gladnesse shall they be brought, which signifyeth that diuines of them that be rich, shall be benefactors to the Church, albeit they give not perfect obedience to the Church. For, as the Church is not hypocritical, but she is glorious both within and without, and because the Church hath not at all times this outward glory, she is to be imaged onely to their imitators.

and shall enter into the Kings palace.

16 In stead of thy fathers shall thy children be: thou shalt make them princes through all the earth.

17 I will make thy Name to be remembered through all generations: therefore shall the people giue thanks vnto thee world without end.

¶ This must early be referred to Christ and not to Salomon.

They shall have greater graces then their fathers.

He figuratiueth the great compass of Christs kingdom, which shall PSAL XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thanksgiving for the deliuerance of Ierusalem, after Sennacherib with his armie was driven away, or some other like sudden and marvellous deliuerance by the mightie hand of God. 8 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefit, doth exhort the faithful to give themselves wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that under his protection they shall be safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because this is his desire to overcome the rage of the wicked, when they are most bent against the just.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon a Alamoth, a song committed to the tunes of Korah.

God is our hope and strength, and helpe in troubles, ready to be found.

2 Therefore will not we feare, though the earth be moued, and though the mountains fall into the middes of the sea.

3 Though the waters thereof rage and bee troubled, and the mountains shake at the surges of the same. Selah.

4 Yet there is a River, whose streame shall make glad the Citie of God: euen the Sanctuary of the Tabernacles of the most High.

5 God is in the middes of it: therefore shall it not be moued: God shall helpe it very euer.

6 When the nations raged, and the kingdomes were moued, God thundered, and the earth melted.

7 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iakob is our refuge. Selah.

8 Come, and behold the works of the Lord, what desolations he hath made in the earth.

9 He maketh warre to cease vnto the ends of the world: he breaketh the bowe and cutteth the speare, and burneth the chariots with fire.

10 Bee it still and know that I am God, I will be exalted among the heathen, and I will be exalted in the earth.

11 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iakob is our refuge. Selah.

¶ To wit, how old he hath destroyed his enemies and deliuered his people. 1 He warreth them that persecute the Church, to craie their cruciety: for as they shall feele that God is too strong for them against whom they fight.

Which was then their musical instrument or a solemn tune, vnto the which this Psalm was sung.

In all manner of troubles God sweeth his sweet mercie and power in declining his.

That is, we will not be overcome with feare.

Though the afflictions rage vnto so much, yet the rivers of Gods mercies bring sufficient comfort to him.

The river of Shiloh, which passed through Ierusalem meaning, though the danger seems neuer so small, yet if God haue apoynted it, it is sufficient.

Always when neede requieth, hee gaue his voice.

They are assured that God can and will defend his Church from all dangers and enemies.

To wit, how old he hath destroyed his enemies and deliuered his people. 1 He warreth them that persecute the Church, to craie their cruciety: for as they shall feele that God is too strong for them against whom they fight.

PSAL XLVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all people to the worship of the true and suruiuing God, commending the mercie of God toward the posterity of Iakob: 9 And after prophesying of the kingdom of Christ in this time of the Gospell.

¶ To him that excelleth, A Psalm committed to the tunes of Korah.

All people clap your hands: sing loude vnto God with a ioyfull voyce.

2 For the Lord is high, and terrible: a great King ouerall the earth.

3 Hee hath subdued the people vnder vs, and the nations vnder our feete.

4 Hee hath chosen our inheritance for vs: euen the glory of Iakob whom he loued. Selah.

¶ The Law and Prophets, schoolmasters to the Gentiles, that they should with gladnesse obey them. God hath chosen vs above all other nations to enjoy a most glorious inheritance.

Hee is figured Christ, vnto whom all his should giue willing obedience, and who would shew himselfe terrible to the wicked.

Hee hath made the Iewes, who were the teachers of the Law and Prophets, schoolmasters to the Gentiles, that they should with gladnesse obey them.

God hath chosen vs above all other nations to enjoy a most glorious inheritance.

3 Out of Zion, which is the perfection of beauty, hath God shined.
 3 Our God shall come, and shall not keep silence: a fire shall devour before him, & a mighty tempest shall be moued round about him.
 4 He shall call the heauen above, and the earth to iudge the people.
 5 Gather my Saints together vnto me, those that make a covenant with me with a sacrifice.
 6 And the heauens shall declare his righteousness: for God is iudge himselfe. Selah.
 7 Heare, O my people, & I will speake: heare, O Israel, & I will tell vnto thee: for I am God, even thy God.
 8 I will not b reprove thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offerings, which haue not bene continually before me.
 9 I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goates out of thy folds.
 10 For all the beasts of the forest are mine, and the beasts on a thousand mountains.
 11 I know all the foules on the mountaines: and the wild beastes of the field are mine.
 12 If I be hungry, I will not tell thee: for the world is mine, and all that therein is.
 13 Will I eate the flesh of bulles? or drinke the blood of goates?
 14 Offer vnto God praye, and I pay thy vowes vnto the most High.
 15 And call vpon me in the day of trouble: so will I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie me.
 16 But vnto the wicked said God, What hast thou to do to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldst take my covenant in thy mouth, 17 Seeing thou hatest a to be reformed, and hast cast my words behind thee?
 18 For when thou seest a thiefe, o thou runnest with him, & thou art partaker with the adulterers.
 19 Thou giuest thy mouth to euil, and with thy tongue thou forgett deceite.
 20 Thou p fittest, and *s*peakest against thy brother, and slanderest thy mothers fondne.
 21 These things hast thou done, and I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reprove thee, and I set them in order before thee.
 22 Oh consider this, ye forget God, lest I teare you in pieces, & there be none y can deliuer you.
 23 He that offereth p praise, shall glorifie me: and to him, that s disposeth his way aright, will I shew the saluation of God.

PSAL. LI.

When David was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan, for his great offence, he did not only acknowledge the same: to God with protestation of his naturall corruption and iniquitie, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posteritie. 7 Therefore first he desired God to forgive his sinnes, 10 And as vnto sin himselfe he prayeth, 12 With promise that he will not be wauersome of these great graces. 16 Finally shewing that God would punish the whole Church for his sin, he requirerth that he would rather increase his graces to reach the same.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, when the Prophet Nathan came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath Sheba.

And mercy vpon me, O God, according to thy louing kinde: according to the multi-ty of thy mercies. As his sinnes were manifold, and great, so he requirerth that God would shew him the feeling of his excellent and abundant mercies.

tude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities, and cleanse me from my sinne.
 3 For I know mine iniquities, and my sinne is euer before me.

Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, and done euill in thy sight, that thou mayest be iust when thou *s*peakest, and pure when thou iudgest.

Beholde, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hath my mother conceiued me.

Beholde, then *l*ouest truth in the inward affections: therefore hast thou taught mee wisdom in the secret of mine heart.

Purge me with hyssope & I shall be cleane: wash me, and I shall be whiter then snow.

Make me to heare s joy and gladnesse, that the *b*ones, which thou hast broken, may reioyce.

Hide thy face from my sinnes, and put away all mine iniquities.

Create in mee a cleane heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me.

Cast me not away from thy presence, and take not thine holy Spirit from me.

Restore to me the ioy of thy saluation, and stablish me with thy free Spirit.

Then shall I teach thy wayes vnto the wicked, and sinners shall be conuerted vnto thee.

Deliuer me from blood, O God, which art the God of my saluation, and my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousness.

Open thou my lippes, O Lorde, and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.

For thou desirest no sacrifice, though I would giue it: thou deliest not in burnt offering.

The sacrifices of God are a contrite spirit: a contrite and a broken heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

Be fauourable vnto p Zion for thy good pleasure: build the walles of Ierusalem.

Then shall thou accept y sacrifices of righteousness, even the burnt offering and oblation: then shall they offer calves vpon thine altar.

PSAL. LII.

David describeth the arrogant tyrannie of his aduersarie Doeg, who by false surmisings, caused Achimelech with the rest of the Priests to be slaine. 5 David prophesieth his destruction, 6 And encourageth the faithful to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are unsearchable against his aduersaries. 10 And finally he rendereth thanks to God for his deliuerance. To the Psalmist is thus set forth the kingdoms of Antichrist. ¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David to giue instruction. When Doeg the Edomite came, and shewed Saul, and said to him, David is come to the house of Achimelech.

Why boastest thou thy selfe in thy wickednesse, O a man of power? the louing kinde of God endureth daily.

Thy tongue imagineth m mischief, and is like a sharpe raor, that cutteth deceitfully.

Thou dost loue euil more then good, and lies more then to speake the truth. Selah.

Thou lovest all wordes that may destroy: O deceitfull tongue!

So shall God c destroy thee for euil: be thou innocent. y Abhorrest innocents. e Though God spare for a time, yet at length he will recompense thy falsehood.

My sinnes sicken to fall in me, that I haue neede of some singular kind of washing.

My conscience accuseth mee, so that I can haue no rest, till I be reconciled.

3 God looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, & seeke God.

4 Every one is gone back: they are altogether corrupt: there is none that doth good, no not one.

5 Doe not the workers of iniquitie knowe that they eate vp my people as they eate bread?
they call not vpon God.

selfe from my supplication.

2 Hearken vnto mee, & answer me: I moume in my prayer, and make a noyse.

3 For the voice of the enemy, and for the vexation of the wicked, because they haue brought iniquitie vpon me, and furiously hate me.

4 Mine heart trembleth within mee, and the terrors of death are fallen vpon me.

5 Feare and trembling are come vpon mee, and an horrible feare hath covered me.

6 And I said, Oh that I had wings like a dove:
then would I flee away and rest.

7 Beholde, I would take my right farre off, and lodge in the wilderness, Selah.

8 Hee would make haste for my deliuerance from the stormie wind and tempest.

9 Destroy, O Lord, and diuide their tongues:
for I haue seene cruelitie and strife in the citie.

10 Day and night they goe about it vpon the walles thereof: both in iniquitie and mischief are in the middes of it.

11 Wickednesse is in the middes thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her streets.

12 Surely mine enemy did not defame me:
for I could haue borne it: neither did mine aduer-sarie exalt himselfe against me: for I would haue hidde me from him.

13 But is was thou, O man, euen my companion, my guide and familiar:

went into the house of God as companions.

15 Let death cease vpon them: let them be downe quick into the graue: for wickednesse is in their dwellings, euen in the middes of them.

16 But I will call vnto God, and the Lord will haue me.

battel, that was against me: for many were mine enemies.

19 God shall heare and afflict them, euen hee that reigneth of olde, Selah: because they haue no changes, therefore they feare not God.

20 Hee layd his hand vpon such, as bee at peace with him, and he brake his covenant.

21 The wordes of his mouth were softer then butter, yet warre was in his heart: his words were more gentle then oyle, yet they were swords.

22 Castily turden vpon the Lord, and hee shall nourish thee: he will not suffer the righteous to fall for a euill.

23 And thou, O God, shalt bring them downe into the pitte of corruption: the bloodie, and de-ceitfull men shall not liue: half the dayes: but I will trust in thee.

24 I did not speake him, but was at peace with him, yet he made warre against me. 10, 11 to wit, which then wonder that God should giue thee. 9 Though farre from 6 They gather together, and keepe themselves close: they marke my steps, because they waite for my foule.

7 They thinke they shall escape by iniquitie: O God, cast these people downe in thine anger.

8 Thou hast counted my wanderings: put my steares into thy bottell: are they not in thy register?

9 When I cry, then mine enemies shall turne backe: this I know, for God is with me.

10 I will reioyce in God because of his word: in the Lord will I reioyce because of his word.

11 In God will I trust: I will not be afraid what man can doe vnto me.

David bring in the desert of Ziph, where the inhabitants did betray him, and at length in the same came with Saul, a Callee most cruelly vnto God with full confidence, that he will performe his promise, and make his cause in hand: 5 Also that he will shewe his glory in the heauens, and the earth against his cruel enemies. 9 Therefore he will render laude and praise.

To him that excelleth. A Defroy not. A Psalme of David on Michtam. VVhen he fled from Saul in the cave.

HAUE mercie vpon me, O God, haue mercy vpon me: for my soule trusteth in thee, and in the shadow of thy wings will I Iustill, till these afflictions ouerpasse.

2 I will call vnto the most high God, euen to the God, y^e performeth his promise toward me.

3 Hee will send from heauen, and saue me from the reproofe of him that would swallowe me, Selah. God will send his mercie, and his trueth.

4 My soule is among liues: I lie among the children of men, that are set on fire: whose teeth are as speares & arrows, and their tongue a sharpe sword.

5 Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboute the heauen, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

6 They haue laid a net for my steps: my soule is pressed downe: they haue digged a pit before me, and are fallen into the mids of it. Selah.

7 Mine heart is prepared, O God, mine heart is prepared: I will sing and giue praise.

8 Awake my tongue, awake viose and harpe: I will awake early.

9 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

10 I, that is, wholly bent to glasse praise for my deliuerance. I see that he hath his heart that praise God, and his tongue shall confesse him, and he will reioyce other men to prouoke himselfe forward to the same.

5 My soule shall be satisfied, as with marrow and fatnesse, and my mouth shall praye thee with ioyfull lips,

6 When I remember thee on my bedde, and when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches.

7 Because thou hast bene mine helper, therefore vnder the shadow of thy wings will I reioice.

8 My soule cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me.

9 Therefore they that seeke my soule to destroy it, they shall goe into the lowest partes of the earth.

10 They shall cast him downe with the edge of the sword, and they shall bea portion for foxes.

11 But the King shall reioyce in God, and all that sware by him shall reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lyes, shall be stopped.

12 All that haue by God sight, or professe him, shall reioyce in this worthy king.

PSAL. LXIII.

1 David prayeth against the furie and false reports of his enemies. 7 He declareth their punishment and destruction. 10 To the comfort of the iust and the glory of God.

g To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, BARE my voice, O God, in my prayer: preserue my life from feare of the enemye.

2 Hide me from the conspiracie of the wicked, and from the rage of workers of iniquity.

3 Which haue whetted their tongue like a sword, and shor for their arrowes bitter words:

4 To shoote at the vpright in secretre: they shoote at him suddenly and feare not.

5 They encourage themselves in a wicked purpose: they commune together to lay snares privily, and say, Who shall see them?

6 They haue fought out iniquities, and haue accomplished that which they fought out, euen eury one a his secret thoughts, and the depth of his heart.

7 There cometh the wicked for Gods children in miserie, more bold and impudent in theyr iniquities. 8 There is no way to seuerie and subtilty for him, which they imagined not for his destruction.

7 But God will shoote an arrowe at them suddenly: their strokes shall be as enes.

8 They shall curse their owne tongue to fall vpon them: and whosoever shall see them, shall flee away.

9 And all men shall see it, and declare the worke of God, and they shall vnderstand, what he hath wrought.

10 But the righteous shall be glad in the Lord, and trust in him: and all that are vpright of heart, shall reioyce.

PSAL. LXV.

1 A praise and thanksgiving vnto God by the fruitfull water, as signified by Zion. 9 For the chusing preservation and government of iherusalem. 10 For the plentiful blessings poured forth vpon all the earth, but specially towards his Church.

g To him that excelleth. A Psalm or song of David.

O God, praye waiteth for thee in Zion, and vnto thee shall the vow be performed.

2 Because thou hearest the prayer, vnto thee shall all b flesh come.

3 Wicked deeds haue preuailed against me: but thou wilt be mercifull vnto our transgressions.

4 Blessed is he, whoso thou chusest and causest to come to thee: he shall dwell in thy courts, and we shall be satisfied with the pleasures of thine House, euen of thine holy Temple.

5 O God of our saluation, thou wilt answer vs with fearful signs in thy righteousness.

6 Thou shal the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farr off in the sea.

7 He shall lieth the mountains by his power: and is girded about with strength.

8 He appeareth the noise of yfices, and noise of the waves thereof, and the tumults of the people.

9 They also that dwell in the vntermost parts of the earth, shall be afraid of thy signes: thou shalt make the East and the West to reioyce.

10 Thou g visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou makest it very rich: the river of God is full of water: thou preparest them corn for so thou appointest it.

11 Thou waterest abundantly the furrower thereof: thou causest the raine to descende into the vallicies thereof: thou makest it soft with showres, and bleisest the bad thereof.

12 Thou crownest the yere with thy goodnes, and thy steppes droppe fatnesse.

13 They drop vpon the pastures of the wilderness: and the hills shall be compassed with gladnes.

14 The pastures are clad with sheepe: the vallicies also shall be covered with corn: therefore they shoute for ioy, and sing.

15 By this description he sheweth that all the order of nature is a testimony of Gods love towards us who canst all creatures to forme our necessities. 1 That is, the dunce creatures that not onely reioyce for stime for Gods benefites, but shall continually sing.

PSAL. LXVI.

1 He promoueth all men to praye the Lord and to confesse his workes. 6 He sheweth forth the power of God to affray the rebels. 10 And sheweth how God hath diuersed Israel &c great bondage and afflictions. 12 He promoueth againe iherusalem. 16 And promoueth all men to heart what God hath done for him and to praye to his Name.

y There is no sacrifice, which God more effectually, then thanksgiving for his benefits.
a For as he deliuered his seruant David, so will he doe all that are in distress, and call vpon him.
e Vnder the temporary promise of the land of Canaan he comprehended the promise of life everlasting to the faithfull and their posteritie.

let them not come into thy righteousness.

28 Let them be put out of the booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous.
29 When I am poore and in heauinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.
30 I will praise the Name of God with a song, and magnific him with thanksgiving.
31 This also shall please the Lord better then a yong bullocke, that hath hornes and hooves.
32 The humble shall see this, and they that seeke God, shall be glad, and your heart shall liue.
33 For the Lord heareth the poore, and delieth not his prisoners.
34 Let heauen and earth praise him: the seas and all that moueth in them.
35 For God will saue Zion, and build the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there and haue it in possession.
36 The seede also of his seruants shall inherit it: and they that loue his name, shall dwell therein.

O God, b haste thee to deliuer mee: make haste to helpe me, O Lord.

2 Let them be confounded & put to shame, that seeke my soule: let them be turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

3 Let them be turned backe for a reward of their shame, which said, Aha, aha.

4 But let all those that seeke thee, be ioyfull and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwayes, God be praised.

5 Now I am poore and needie: O God, make haste to mee: thou art mine helper, and my deliuerer: O Lord, make no tarrying.

6 Because he had felt Gods helpe before, he groundeth on experience and boldly seeketh vnto him for succour.

PSAL. LXXI.

1 My prayer is in faith, established by the words of the promise. 2 And confirmed by the works of God from his youth. 3 Hee complaineth of the crueltie of his enemies. 4 And desireth God to continue his graces toward him. 5 Promising to be wonderful and thankfull for the same.

a Psalm. lxxi.

b He prayeth to God with full assurance of faith, that he will deliue him from his aduersaries.

c By declaring thy selfe true of promise.

d Thou hast infinite mercie, and all creatures are at thy commandment: therefore shew some signe, whereby I shall be deliuered.

e That is, from Abisalon, Achisophel and that conspiracy.

f He strengtheneth his faith by the experience of Gods benefites, who did not only preserue him in his mothers belly, but tooke him thence and euer since hath preserued him. g All the world wondereth at me because of my miseries, as well they in authority as the common people, yet being assured of thy fauour, I am not dismayed.

N a thee, O Lord, I trust: let me neuer be ashamed.

2 Refuse me not. I deliuer me in thy righteousness: incline thine eare vnto me and saue me.

3 Be thou my strong rock, whereunto I may alway resort: thou shalt giue me commandment to saue me: for thou art my rock, & my fortress.

4 Deliuer me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked: out of the hand of the euill and cruel man.

5 For thou art mine hope, O Lord God, when I trust for thee.

6 Vpon thee haue I bene stayed from the womb: thou art he that tooke me out of my mothers bowels: my prayer shall be alwayes of thee.

7 I am become as it were a monster vnto many: but thou art my sure trust.

Psalmes.

A prayer of the faithfull.

8 Let my mouth be filled with thy prayse, and with thy glory euer day.

9 Call me not off in the time of rage: forsake me not when my strength faileth.

10 For mine enemies speake of me, & they that lay wait for my soule, take their coustell together.

11 Saying, A God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him, for there is none to deliue him.

12 Go not farre from me, O God: i my God, haste thee to helpe me.

13 Let he be confounded and consumed that are against my soule: let them be couered with reprofe and confusion, that seeke mine hurt.

14 But I will waite continually, and will praise thee more and more.

15 My mouth shall dayly rehearse thy righteousness, and thy saluation: for I knowe thee the number.

16 I will goe forward in the strength of the Lord God, and will make mention of thy righteousness, euen of thine only.

17 O God, thou hast taught mee from my yowen euen vntill now: therefore will I tell of thy wonderous workes.

18 Yea, euen vnto mine olde age and gray head, O God: for thou wilt returne, and wilt come againe, and take mee vp from the depth of the earth.

19 And thy righteousness, O God, I will exalt on high: for thou hast done great things: O God, who is like vnto thee!

20 Which hast shewed me great troubles and aduersities, but thou wilt returne, and reuie me, and wilt come againe, and take mee vp from the depth of the earth.

21 Thou wilt increase mine honour, & returne and comfort me.

22 Therefore will I praise thee, for thy faithfulness, O God, vpon instrument and viol: vnto thee will I sing vpon the harpe, O Holy one of Israel.

23 My lippes will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my tongue, which thou hast deliuered.

24 My tongue also shall talke of thy righteousness dayly: for they are confounded and brought vnto shame, that seeke mine hurt.

that his long tariance was well recompensed, when God performed his promise.
2 For there is no true praying of God, except it come from the heart, therefore he prometh to deliue in nothing but when God may be glorified.

THE END THE prayers of David, the sonne of Iliai.

THESE PRAYERS OF DAVID, THE SONNE OF ILIAI, ARE NOW TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH.

CONCERNING HIS SONNE SALEM.

P A A L. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example that neither the world, hypocrisie of the tongue, nor yet the affliction of the body ought to discourage Gods children: but rather ought to moue vs to consider our Fathers prescience, and to cause vs to reuerence Gods iudgement, so first as when the wicked wauay away, and the gilty enter into life everlasting, so in hope whereof he refresheth himselfe into Gods hands.

2 A Psalm committed to Asaph.

Y E R God is good to Israel: euen, to the pure in heart.

2 As for me, my feete were almost gone: my sleps had well nere slept.

3 For I fretted at the foolish, when I saw the prosperitie of the wicked.

4 For there are no bonds in their death, but they are lustie and strong.

5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with rebukes.

6 Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them, and enuie couereth them as an argument.

7 Their eyes stand out for fumes: † they haue more then heart can with.

8 They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously.

9 They say in their hearts as some doe in their chains, and in exiles, as some say in glory, † they saye thus the first of the beare.

9 They set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh thorow the earth.

10 Therefore his people turne him: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.

11 And they say, How doth God knowe if there is knowledge in the most High?

12 Lo, these ate the wicked; yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches.

13 Certainly I haue cleansed mine heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie.

14 For dayly I haue bene punished, and chastened euerie morning.

15 If I say, I will iudge thus, behold the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed.

16 Then thought I to know this, but it was too painfull for me.

17 Vntill I went into the Sanctuary of God: then vnderstood I their end.

18 Surely thou hast fet them in slippery places, and castest them downe into desolation.

19 How suddenly are they destroyed, perished and horribly consumed.

20 As a dream when one awaketh! O Lord, when thou raisest vs vp, thou shalt make their image desisted.

21 Certainly mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reins:

22 So foolish was I & ignorant: I was a beast before thee.

23 Yet I was alway with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou wilt guide me by thy counsell, and afterward recieue me to glory.

25 Whom haue I in heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.

26 My flesh faileth and mine heart also: but Gods strength of mine heart, and my portion for euer.

27 For loe, they that withdraw themselves from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that p goe a whoring from thee.

28 As for mee, it is good for mee to draw nere to God: therefore haue I put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy works.

reason to seeke out Gods iudgements, the more dooth he declare himselfe a beast. m By faith I was assured that thy providence did watch alwayes ouer me to preserue me. n He sought neither helpe nor comfort of any man for any of Gods only. o He teacheth vs to denie our felicitie, so haue God our whole sufficiency, and onely contentment. p That is, forsake thee to seeke others. q Though all the world shrinke from God, yet he promitteth to trust in him, and to magnifie his works.

P S A L. LXXIII.

1 The faithful complaint of the destruction of the Church and treachery, 2 Under the name of Zion, and the temple destroyed, 3 And the king in the night and the morning of Gods, 4 by his countenance, 5 they require helpe & succour for the glory of Gods holy Name, for the iudgement of his people afflicted seruants, 6 and the confusion of his proud enemies.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

O God, why hast thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled against the sheepe of thy pasture?

2 Thinke vpon thy congregation, which thou hast possessed of old, and on the rod of thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed, and on this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift vp thy strokes, that thou mayest for euer destroy euery enemy that doth euill to the Sanctuary.

4 The Church of God being oppressed by the tyrannie either of the Babylonians, or of the Antiochs, prayer to God by whose hand this yoke was layed vpon them for their finnes.

They blaspheme God, and leave not his power, but asle upon men, because they esteeme themselves above all others.

6 Not only the reprobate, but also the people of God often times fall backe, seeing the prosperous estate of the wicked, and are ouerwhelmed with sorrow, thinking that God confideth not might the statutes the godly.

7 Thus the flesh mouth euen the godly to dispute with God concerning their poore estate and the prosperitie of the wicked.

8 If I giue place to this wicked thought, I offend against thy providence, seeing thou disposdest all things most wisely, and preferrest thy children in their greatest dangers.

9 Vntill I entered into thy schoole and learned by thy word and holy Spirit, that thou orderdest all things most wisely, and iustly.

In the day of my trouble I fought the Lord: my fore ranne and ceased not in the night: my soule refused comfort.

I did thinke vpon God, and was troubled: I prayed, and my spirit was full of anguish. Selah.

Thou keepst mine eyes: waking: I was astonished, and could not sleepe.

Then I considered the dayes of olde: and the yeeres of ancient time.

I called to remembrance my long in the night: I communed with mine owne heart, and my spirit searched diligently.

Will the Lord absent himselfe for euer? and will he shew no more fauour?

Is his mercie gone for euer? doeth his promise faile for euermore?

Hath God forgotten to be mercifull? hath he thus vp his tender mercies in displeasure? Selah.

And I said, This is my death: yet I remembered the yeeres of the right hand of y^e most High.

I remembered the workes of the Lord: certainly I remembered thy wonders of olde.

I did also meditate all thy workes, and did deuise of thine actes, saying,

Thy way, O God, is in the Sanctuary: who is so great a God as our God!

Thou art the God that doest wonders: thou hast declared thy power among the people.

Thou hast redeemed thy people with thine arme, even the sonnes of Isakob & Ioseph. Selah.

The waters saw thee, O God: the waters saw thee, and were affraide: yea, the depths trembled.

The cloudes poured out water: the heauens gaue a sound: yea, thine arrowes went abroad.

The voyce of thy thunder was round about: the lightnings lightened the world: the earth trembled and shooke.

Thy way is in the sea, and thy paths in the great waters: thy footstepps are not known.

Thou diddest leade thy people like sheepe by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

Thou hast delivered the Israelites through the red Sea. I That is, thoudelivered them from when thou haddest brought ouer thy people, the way was not known, and the enemies that thought to haue followed them, were not able to follow. Exod. 14. 28, 29.

PSALM LXXVIII.

He sheweth how God of his mercie clothe his Church of the posteritie of Abraham. 8. Reproaching the stubborn rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not only understand, at That God of his free mercie made his covenant with their ancestors, 17 But also firing them to malicious and peruerse thoughts be ashamed, and to seeke wholly to God. In the Psalm the holy Ghost hath comprehended, as it were, the summe of all Gods benefits, to the intent the ignorant and grasse people might see in few words the effect of the whole testimony of the Bible.

A Psalm to giue a instruction, committed to Asaph.

Hear my doctrine, O my people: incline your eares vnto the wordes of my mouth. I will open my mouth in a parable: I will declare his sentences of olde.

Which we haue heard and known, and our fathers haue told vs.

We will not hide them from their children, but to the generation to come we will shew the praises of the Lord, his power also, and his wonderfull workes that he hath done:

How he established a testimony in Isakob, and ordeined a Law in Israhel, which he commanded our fathers, that they should teach their children:

That the posteritie might knowe it, and the children, which should be borne, should stand vp, and declare it to their children:

That they might set their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God, but keepe his commandments:

And not to be as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithfull vnto God.

The children of Ephraim being armed and shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battell.

They kept not the covenant of God, but refused to walke in his Law,

And forgate his Actes, and his wonderfull workes that he had shewed them.

Hee did malicious things in the fight of their fathers in the lande of Egypt: even in the field of Zoan.

He diuided the Sea, & led them through: he made also the waters to stand as an heape.

In the day time also hee led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fire.

He claued the rocks in the wilderness, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

He brought floods also out of the stonie rockes, so that he made the waters to descend like the riuers.

Yet they sinned still against him, and provoked the Highest in the wilderness,

And tempted God in their hearts in requiring meate for their lust.

They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wilderness?

Behold, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can he giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?

Therefore the Lord heard and was angry, and the fire was kindled in Isakob, & also wrath came vpon Israhel,

Because they beleeted not in God, and trusted not in his helpe.

Yet he had commanded the cloudes about, and had opened the doores of heauen,

And had rained downe Manna vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen.

Man did eate the bread of Angels: hee sent them meate yough.

Hee caused the Eastwinde to passe in the heauen, and through his power he brought in the Southwinde.

Hee rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea.

And hee made it fall in the middes of their campe, even round about their habitations.

So they did eate and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire.

They were not turned from their lust, but the meate was yet in their mouthes,

When the wrath of God came euen vpon them.

So that they had that, which was necessary and sufficient: but their lust made them to eate that which they knew God had denied them. 1. Iob 3. 1. 1. cor. 10. 3. p God giued the meates of the winde to reach them, that all elements were at his commandment, and that no distance of place could let his working. q Such is the nature of concupiscence, that the more it hath, the more it longeth.

He sheweth wherein the children should be like their fathers: that in maintaining Gods pure religion.

He sheweth wherein the children of this doctrine find death: in faith, in the meditation of Gods benefits, and in obedience.

Though these fathers were the seed of Abraham and y^e chosen people, yet be sheweth by their rebellion, pronocation, and disobedience, that the children ought also to follow their fathers.

By Ephraim he meaneth also the rest of the tribes, because they were most in number: whose punishment declared that they were vnsittiall to God, & by their multitude and ambition had corrupted all others.

He groweth that not only the posteritie, but also their fathers were wicked and rebellious to God.

1 Though power was not spar'd, yet did they behold which tried in their strength against God.

2 These sinners by dominance and riches men infinitable so that by no plagues they can be answered.

3 Such was their hypocisie, y they sought vnto God for lease of punishment, though in their heart they loved him not.

4 Whatloues

the pure fountain of our hearts, is hypocisie.

5 Because he would euer have some remnant of a Church to praise
his Name in earth,
he suffered not their sin to consume his mercy.

6 That is, they tempted him ofttimes.

7 As they all doe that measure the power of God by their capacities.

them, and slew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

33 For all this, they sinned still and beleued not his wondrous workes.

34 Therefore their dayes did he consume in vanitie, and their yeeres halfly.

35 And when he slew them, they fought him; and they returned, and fought God early.

36 And they remembered that God was their strength, and the most high God their redeemer.

37 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

38 For their heart was not vp-right with him:
neither were they faithfull in his covenant.

39 Yet he being merciful, forgave their in-iquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft-times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

40 For he remembred that they were flesh, yea, a winde that passeth and commeth not againe.

41 How oft did they prouoke him in the wil-dernesse? and grieve him in the desert?

42 Yea, they returned, & tempted God, and limited the Holy one of Israel.

43 They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemye.

44 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan.

45 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods; that they could not drinke.

46 He sent a fwarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and frogs, which destroyed
them.

47 He gaue also their fruites vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the grasshopper.

48 He destroyed their vines with haile, and their wilde figge trees with the hallelueth.

49 He gaue their cattell al to the haile, and their flockes to the thunderboltes.

50 He call vpon them the fiercenesse of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of 4 euil Angels.

51 He made a way to his anger: he spared not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the perilence.

52 And smote al the first borne in Egypt, when the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham.

53 But hee made his people to proe out like sheepe, & led them in the wilderness like a flocke.

54 Yea, hee caried them out safely, and they feared not, and the Sea couered their enemies.

55 And he brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuarie: even to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchased.

56 He callt out the heathen al before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance; and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles.

57 Yer they tempted, and prouoked the most high God, and kept not his self monies.

58 But turned backe, & dealt falsly like their fathers: they turned like a deerefull bow.

59 And they prouoked him to anger with their high places, and moued him to wrath with their grauen images.

60 But they both longed at our miseries. 1. 61. 1. 62. 1. 63. 1. 64. 1. 65. 1. 66. 1. 67. 1. 68. 1. 69. 1. 70. 1. 71. 1. 72. 1. 73. 1. 74. 1. 75. 1. 76. 1. 77. 1. 78. 1. 79. 1. 80. 1. 81. 1. 82. 1. 83. 1. 84. 1. 85. 1. 86. 1. 87. 1. 88. 1. 89. 1. 90. 1. 91. 1. 92. 1. 93. 1. 94. 1. 95. 1. 96. 1. 97. 1. 98. 1. 99. 1. 100. 1.

God heard this and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel.

60 So that he forsooke the habitation of Shilo, even the Tabernacle where hee dwelt among men.

61 And deliuered his power into captivity, and his beautie into the enemies hand.

62 And hee gaue vp his people to the sword, and was angrie with his inheritance.

63 The fire deuoured their chosen men, and their maidens were not praised.

64 Their Priests fell by the sword, and their widowes lamented nor.

65 But the Lord awaked as one out of sleepe, as a strong man that after his wine crieth out,

66 And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetuall shame.

67 Yer hee refused the tabernacle of Joseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:

68 But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which hee loved.

69 And he built his Sanctuarie as an high palace, like the earth, which hee habiliteth for euer.

70 He chose Dauid also his seruant, and tooke him from the sheepefolds.

71 Buen from behinde the ewes with young brought he him to feede his people in Iakob, and his inheritance in Israel.

72 So he fed them according to the simpli-citie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.

73 Shewing that he spared not altogether the hatred he punished their enemies. 1. By building the Temple & establishing done, he declared it at the signes of his favour were among them. 2. By with in a kings charge Raderth do, with, to provide himselfe to guide them by counsel and delereth them by power.

1 The Threniter commeth to God for the great calamitie and oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies. 2 And confessing their sinnes, first to Gods mercies with his best mercies, the Threniter their calamities were caused by the contempt of his Name. 3 For the which they pray to be reuenged.

2 A Psalm committed to Asaph.

God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they defiled, and made Ierusalem heapes of stones.

3 The dead bodies of thy seruants haue they giuen to be meat vnto foules of y heauen: & the flesh of thy Saints vnto the beastes of the earth.

4 Their blood haue they shed like waters round about Ierusalem, and there was none to burie them.

5 We are a reproch to our neighbours, euen a scoeme and derision vnto them that are round about vs.

6 Lord, how long wilt thou be angry, for e-uer? shall thy ielousie burne like fire?

7 Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen that haue not knowne thee, & vpon the king-domes that haue not called vpon thy Name.

8 For they haue deuoured Iakob, and made his dwelling place desolate.

10 Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? Let him bee known among the heathen in our fight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruants that is shed.

11 Let the fighting of the prisoners come before thee: according to thy mightie arme preferre the children of death.

12 And render to our neighbours seven fold into their bosome their reproch, wherewith they haue reproched thee, O Lord.

13 So wee thy people, and sheepe of thy pasture that praise thee for euer: and from generation to generation we will set forth thy prayse.

P S A L. LXXX.

1 A lamentable prayer to God to helpe the miseries of his Church, 8 Desiring him to confesse their first estate, when his favour shined vpon them, so that the manner that was begun, that was to which he had begun.

9 To him that excelleth on Shophannim Eduth.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

1 I Heare O thou Shepherd of Israel, thou that hearest Ioseph like sheepe: shew thy brightness, thou that sittest betwene the Cherubims.

2 Before Ephraim & Benjamin and Manasse stirre vp thy strength, and come to helpe vs.

3 Turne vs againe, O God, and cause thy face to shine that we may be saved.

4 O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou be angry against the prayer of thy people?

5 Thou hast fedde them with the bread of teares, and giuen them teares to drinke with great measure.

6 Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themselves.

7 Turne vs againe, O God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saved.

8 Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.

9 Thou madest roome for it, & diddest cause it to take roote, and it filled the land.

10 The mountaines were covered with the shadowe of it, and the boughes thereof were like the goodly cedars.

11 She stretched out her branches vnto the Sea, and her boughes vnto the River.

12 Why hast thou then broken downe her hedges, so that all they, which passe by the way, haue plucked her?

13 The wilde bore out of the wood hath destroyed it, and the wilde beastes of the field haue eaten it vp.

14 Returne we beseech thee, O God of hostes: looke downe from heauen and behold and visite this vine.

15 And the vineyard, that thy right hand hath planted, and the yong vine, which thou madest strong for thy selfe.

16 It is burnt with fire and cut downe: and they perishe at the rebuke of thy countenance.

17 Let thine hand be vpon the man of thy right hand, and vpon the sonne of man, whome thou madest strong for thine owne selfe.

18 It is burnt with fire and cut downe: and they perishe at the rebuke of thy countenance.

19 Let thine hand be vpon the man of thy right hand, and vpon the sonne of man, whome thou madest strong for thine owne selfe.

1 An exhortation to praise God both in heart and voyce for his benefits, 8 And to worship him only. 12 God conuinceth their ingratitude, 13 And forsooth what great benefit they haue left through their owne malice.

2 To him that excelleth vpon a Gittib. A Psalm committed to Asaph.

1 Sing joyfully vnto God our strength: sing sloude vnto the God of Iacob.

2 Take the song and bring forth the timbrel, the pleasant harpe with the viole.

3 Blowe the trumpet in the newe moone, euen in the time appoynted, at our feast day.

4 For this is a statute for Israel, and a Law of the God of Iacob.

5 Hee set this in Ioseph for a testimonie, when he came out of the land of Egypt: where I heard a language, that I vnderstood not.

6 I haue withdrawn his shoulder from the burden, and his hands haue left the pots.

7 Thou callest in affliction and I deliuered thee, and answered thee in the secreete of the thunder: I proued thee at the waters of Meribah Selah.

8 Heare, O my people, and I will protest vnto thee: O Israel, if thou wilt hearken vnto me, 9 And wilt haue no strange god in thee, neither worship any strange god.

10 For I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt: open thy mouth wide, and I will fill it.)

11 But my people would not heare my voyce, and Israel would none of me.

12 So I gaue them vp vnto the hardnes of their heart, & they haue walked in their own counsels.

13 Oh that my people had hearkened vnto me, and Israel had walked in my wayes!

14 I would haue humbled their enemies, and turned mine hand against their aduersaries.

15 The haters of the Lord should haue bene subiect vnto him, and their time should haue endured for euer.

16 And God would haue fedde them with the frute of wheate, and with bonie out of the rocke would I haue sufficed thee.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

a The people of Israel pray vnto the Lord to deliuer them from their enemies both at home and farre off, which imagined nothing but their destruction. 9 And they desire that all such wicked people may, according as God was accustomed, bee broken with the furious tempest of Gods wrath. 10 That they may knowe that the Lord is most high vpon the earth.

11 A song, or Psalm committed to Asaph.

Bepe not thou silence, O God: be not still, and cease not, O God.

2 For lo, thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee, haue lifted vp the head.

3 They haue taken craftie counsell against thy people, and haue consulted against thy secret ones.

4 They haue said, Come and let vs cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.

5 For they haue consulted together in heart, and haue made a league against thee:

6 The tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims:

7 Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistines with the inhabitants of Tyre:

8 Ashtur also is ioynd with them: they haue bene an arme to the children of Lot Seba.

9 Doe thou to them as vnto the Midianites: as to Sifera and as to Iabin at the riuer of Kishon.

10 They perished at En-dor, and were I dung for the earth.

11 Make them as their princes like Oreb and like Zeeb: yea, all their princes like Zebah and like Zalmana.

12 Which haue sayd, Let vs take for our possession the habitations of God.

13 O my God, make them like vnto a wheele, and as the stubble before the wind.

14 As the fire burneth the forest, and as the flame setteth the mountains on fire:

15 So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them afraid with thy storme.

16 Fill their faces with shame, that they may see thy Name, O Lord.

17 Let them be confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish.

18 That they may knowe that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, vnto the most High ouer all the earth,

PSAL. LXXXIII.

David driven forth of his country, as desirous most earnestly to come againe to the tabernacle of the Lord, and the assistance of the Saints to praye for God, 4 Promising them blessing that may followe. 6 Then he prayeth for the courage of the people, that they may stand against the wickedness of the enemies in Zion. 10 Finally with prayer of this matter and confidence of Gods goodness he testifies the Psalm.

To him that excelleth vpon Githith. A Psalm committed to the Singers of Korah.

O Lord of hostes, howe amiable are thy Tabernacles!

2 My soule longeth yea, and fainteth for the courts of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God.

3 Yea, the sparrow hath found her an house, and the swallow a nest for her, where she may lay her yong: euen by thine altars, O Lord of hostes, my King and my God.

4 Blessed are they that dwell in thine house: they will euer praye thee, Selah.

5 Blessed is the man whose strength is in thee, and in whose heart are thy ways.

6 They going through the vale of Baca, make welles therein: the raine also couereth the pooles.

7 They goe from strength to strength, till euerie one appeare before God in Zion.

8 O Lord God of hostes, heare my prayer: hearken, O God of Iakob, Selah.

9 Beholde, O God, our shield, and looke vpon the face of thine Anointed.

10 For a day in thy courtes is better then a thousand other where: I had rather bee a doore keeper in the House of my God, then to dwell in the Tabernacles of wickednesse.

11 For the Lord God is the sunne and shield: vnto vs: the Lord will giue grace and glory, and no good thing will he withhold from them that walke vprightly.

12 O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee, they come to Gods house. 13 That is, for Christs sake, whose figure I represent. He would witte to live but rather in Gods Church, then a thousand among the worldlings. 14 One will from time to time increase his blessings towards his more and more.

PSAL. LXXXV.

David's God withdrew not his roote from his Church after their returne from Babilon, first they put him in name of their deliuerance, so the intent that he should not loose the worke of his grace vpon vs. 4 Next they complaine of their long afflictions: 5 And sheweth they reioyce in hope of thine promise. 9 For their deliuerance was a figure of Christs kingdom, vnder the which should be perfect blessing.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the Singers of Korah.

Order, thou hast bene a fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iakob.

2 Thou hast forgiven the iniquitie of thy people, and couered all their finnes, Selah.

3 Thou hast withdrawn all thine anger, and hast turned back fro the fiercenes of thy wrath.

4 Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and release thine anger towards vs.

5 Wilt thou beiegarie with vs for euer? wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another?

6 Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee?

7 Shewe vs thy mercie, O Lord, and graunt vs thy saluation.

8 I will hearken what the Lord God will say: for he will speake peace vnto his people, and to his Saints, that they turne not againe to folly.

9 Surely his saluation is neere to them that God, that according to his nature he would be mercifull vnto them, a He re- fecteth that our saluation consisteth onely of Gods mercie. 10 He will not prosperitie to his Church, when he hath sufficiently corrected them by his discipline: although the faithful shal learne to beware that they returne not to sinne.

a David complaine that he cannot haue access into the Church of the Lord, to make profession of his faith, and to praise in religious. For none but the Priests could enter into the Sanctuary, and the rest of the people into the court. c So that the poore herds had more liberty then I. d Who trusteth nothing in himselfe, but in thee. e Only and leaues of these to take his life. f That is, and heere returne was a barren place so that they which passed through, mult digge pits for water: signifying that no lesse as Iudas then that are fully bent to come to Christs Church, neither yet that God will euer faile them. g They are neuer weary, but increase in strength and courage. h That is, for Christs sake, whose figure I represent. He would witte to live but rather in Gods Church, then a thousand among the worldlings. 14 One will from time to time increase his blessings towards his more and more.

10 Mercie and truth shall meete, righteousness and peace shall kisse one another.
11 A Truth shall bud out of the earth, and righteousness shall looke downe from heauen.
12 Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increase.
13 Righteousnesse shall goe before him, and shall set her steps in the way.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

David first afflicted and forgiuen of all, prayeth for mercie, and sometimes the mercies received, 11 Desiring also to be comforted of the Lord, that he may fauour him and glorifie his Name, 14 His complaint also of his aduersaries, and request to be deliuered from them.

A prayer of David.

1 Ncline ^a thine care, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needie.
2 Prefere thou my soule, for I am ^b mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant, & trusteth in thee.
3 Be mercifull vnto mee, O Lord: for I cry vpon thee continually.
4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule.
5 For thou, Lord, art good and ^c mercifull, and of great kindeesse vnto all them that call vpon thee.
6 Giue care, Lord, vnto my prayer, and ^d hearken to the voyce of my supplication.
7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.
8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there ^e is none that can doe like thy works.
9 All nations whom thou hast made, shall come and ^f worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.
10 For thou art great and doest wonderful things: thou art God alone.
11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy truth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.
12 I will praise thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy Name for ever.
13 For great is thy mercy toward me, & thou hast deliuered my soule from ^g the lowest graue.
14 O God, the proud are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue ^h fought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.
15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slowe to anger, and great in kindeesse and truth.
16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the soule of thine handmaid.
17 Shew a token of thy goodnesse toward me, for they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen mee and comforted me.

PSAL. LXXXVII.

The holy Ghost testifieth that the conversion of the Church, which was in miserie after the captiuitie of Babylon, should be signified by great excellencies, 4 So that there should be nothing more comfortable, then to be numbered among the number of the living.

A Psalm or Song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

God layde his foundations vnder the holy mountaine.
2 The Lordet loueth the gates of Zion aboute all the habitations of Isaakob.
3 ^a Glorious things are spoken of thee, O citie of God, Selah.
4 I will make mention of ^b Rahab and Babel among them that knowe me: beholde Palestina and Tyrus with Ethiopia, 4 There is he borne.
5 And of Zion it shall be sayde, ^c Many are borne in her: and he, ^d even the most High shall stablish her.
6 The Lord shall count, when he ^e writeth the people, He was borne there, Selah.
7 Awell the fingers as the players on instruments, shall praise thee: all my springs are in thee, to the Church, that he is as one that was borne in the Church. ^f Out of all quarters shall they come into the Church, whom he had clef and written in his booke. ^g The Prophet setteth his whole affections and comfort in the Church.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

A grievous complaint of the faithfull, sore afflicted by sickness, wife, persecutions and aduersities, 7 Being as it were left of God without any consolation: 13 Yet he calleth on God by faith and firmer against desperation, 18 Complaining himselfe to be forsaken of all earthly helpe.

A Song or Psalm of Heman the Ezrahite to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth upon Maalaib.

O Lord God of my saluation, I cry day and night ^a before thee.
2 Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine care vnto my cry.
3 For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth neere to the graue.
4 I am counted among them that goe downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength:
5 Free among the dead, like the flaying lying in the graue, whom thou rememberest no more, and they are cut off from thine ^b hand.
6 Thou hast laid me in the lowest pit, in darkness, and in the deepe.
7 Thine indignation lyeth vpon mee: and thou hast vexed me with all thy ^c waues, Selah.
8 Thou hast put away mine ^d acquaintance farre from me, and made mee to be abhorred of them: I am shut vp, and cannot get forth.
9 Mine eye is forerewill through mine affliction: Lorde, I call dayly vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee.
10 Wilt thou shewe: a miracle to the dead? or shall the dead rise and praye thee? Selah.
11 Shall thy louing kindeesse be declared in the graue? or thy faithfulness in destruction?
12 Shall thy wonderful workes be known in the darke? and thy righteousness in the land ^e of obliuion?
13 But vnto thee haue I cryed, O Lord, and scarcely shall my prayer come before thee.
14 Lorde, why doest thou reiect my soule, and hidest thy face from me?
15 I am afflicted and at the point of death:

^a God did chuse that place among the hills to establish Ierusalem, and his Temple, ^b Though thy glorious estate doe not yet appeare, yet waite with patience, and God will accomplish his promise, ^c That is, Egypt and the other countries shall come to the knowledge of God, ^d It shall be said of him that is regenerate & come to the Church, ^e Out of all quarters shall they come into the Church, whom he had clef and written in his booke, ^f The Prophet setteth his whole affections and comfort in the Church, ^g King 4. 21. ^h That is, to humble him, it was the beginning of a song by the tune whereof this Psalm was sung, ⁱ Though many cry in their sorrow, yet they cry not earnestly to God for remedy as he did whom he considered to be the author of his saluation, ^j For he that is dead is free from all cares and businesse of this life: and thus he saith, because he was profitable for all matters concerning mans life, and as it were cut off from this world, ^k That is, for thy providence and care, which is meant according to the iudgement of the floure of thy wrath haue ouerwhelmed me, ^l He attributeth the losse and displeasure of his friend to Gods Providence, whereby he partly punisheth, and partly tryeth him, ^m I see none end of my sorowes, ⁿ Mine eyes and mine heart are continually set on God to helpe, ^o When thou call vnto him in their dangers, then to tary till they be dead, and then with them vp againe, ^p That is, in the graue, where only the body lyeth without all sense and remembrance.

Here is described in what assurance he leueth that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himself wholly to his protection in all tribulations. 14. A promise of God to those that love him, to know him and trust in him, to deliver them, and give them immortality of glory.

WHo so dwelleth in the a secret of the most High, shall abide in the shadow of the Almighty.

2 b I will say vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortress: he is my God, in him will I trust.

3 Surely he will deliuer thee from the c snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pefillence.

4 Hee will couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his d trust shall be thy shield and buckler.

5 c Thou shalt not be affraide of the feare of the night, nor of the arrowe that flyeth by day:

6 Nor of the pefillence that walketh in the darknesse: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and tenne thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee.

8 Doubtlesse with thine f eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

9 For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou shalt see the most High for thy refuge.

11 s For hee hath giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee in all thy wayes.

12 They shall beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy foote against a stone.

13 Thou shalt walke vpon the lyon and aspe: the c hyong lyon and the dragon shalt thou treade vnder feete.

14 i Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because hee hath known my Name.

15 He shall call vpon me, and I will heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.

P S A L. XCII.

This Psalm was made to be sung on the Sabbath, to stirre up the people to acknowledge God and to praise him in his work: the Prophet receiueh herein. d. But the wicked is not able to confesse that the vngodly, when hee is most flourishing, shall most sorely perishe. In the end is described the felicity of the ingrafted in the house of God to praise the Lord.

A Psalm or song for the Sabbath day.

1 It is a good thing to praise the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most High,

2 To declare thy louing kindnesse in the morning, and thy truth in the night,

3 Vpon an c instrument of tenne strings, and vpon the viol with the song vpon the harpe:

4 For thou, Lord, hast made mee glad by thy d workes, and I will reioyce in the workes of thine hands.

5 O Lord, how glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughts are very deepe.

6 An c vnwise man knoweth it not, and a Christes coming abolished. d. Hee sheweth what is the vie of the Sabbath day: to wit, to meditate Gods workes. e. That is, the wicked consider not Gods workes, nor his iudgements against them, and therefore most iustly perishe.

Moses in his prayer sitteth before vs the eternal fauour of Godward and b. Who are neither admonished by the remembrance of their life, nor by his plague to bee thankfull, 12. Therefore Moses prayeth God to iunior their hearts and continue his mercies toward them, and their posteritie for euer.

A prayer of Moses, the c man of God.

1 Lord, thou hast bene our b habitation from generation to generation.

2 Before the c mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the worlde, euen from eueralting to eueralting, thou art our God.

3 Thou d turnest man to destruction: againe thou sayest, I Returne, y. I come of Adam.

4 e For a thousand yeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, f and as a watch in y night.

5 Thou hast f ouerflowed them: they are as a sleepe in the morning he groweth like the grasse:

6 In the morning it flourisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.

7 For we s are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger, and we haue b spent our yeres as a thought.

10 The time of our life is three score yeres and ten, and if they be of strength, i four score yeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorowe: for it is cut off quickly, and we flee away.

11 k Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger.

12 Teach vs fo to number our dayes, that we may apply our hearts vnto l wisdom.

13 Returne (O Lord, m how long?) and bee i pacified toward thy seruants.

14 Fill vs with thy mercie in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes.

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeres that we haue seene euil.

16 n Let thy worke be seene toward thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their c children.

17 And let the p beautie of the Lord our God be vnto vs, and i direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our hands.

in thy name, which feare thee, onely know. i. Which is, by considering the shortnes of our life, and by meditating the heavenly ioy. m. Meaning, who knoweth? Iohannes comfort vs by his seruants. n. Euen thy mercie which is thy kindest worke. o. As Gods promises perceived as well to their posteritie as to them. In Moses prayeth for the posteritie. p. Meaning that it was ordained when he cometh to doe good in his Church. q. For except thou giude vs what thou holdest dear, our eyes might be had no good successe.

f Thy iudgements are most constant against the wicked, and palle our reach.

g Thou wilt strengthen them with al power, and blisse them with all felicitie.

h Though the faithfull seeme to wander and be downe by the wicked yet they shall grow againe and flourish in the Church of God as the cedars doe in mount Lebanon.

i The children of God shall have a power above nature, and their age shall bring forth moost fruitfulnes.

a As God by his power and wisdom hath made the world: so must the same be our defence against all enemies and dangers.

b Wherein thou livest and governeest the world.

c Gods power appeareth in ruling the furious waters.

d Besides Gods power and wisdom in creating and governing, his great mercie also appeareth in that hee hath given his people his word and covenant.

a Whose office it is to take vengeance on the wicked.

b Shew by effect that thou art Iudge of the world to punish the wicked.

c That is, bragge of their crueltie and oppression: or else of themselves above all other.

d Seeing the Church was then so fore oppressed, it ought not to seeme strange to vs, if we see it so now, and therefore we must call to God, so take our ease in hand.

e He sheweth that they are desperate in malice, forasmuch as they feared not God, but gave themselves wholly to doe wickedly. f He sheweth that it is impossible, but God should heare, see and understand their wickedness. g If God punish whole nations for their sinnes, it is meere folly for one man, or els a few to thinke that God will spare them.

foole doeth not vnderstand this,

7 (When the wicked grow as the grasse, and all the workers of wickednesse doe flourish) that they shall be destroyed for cuer.

8 But thou, O Lord, art most High for euermore.

9 For loe, thine enemies, O Lorde: for loe, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of iniquitie shall be destroyed.

10 But thou shalt exalt mine borne, like the vicornes, and I shall be anointed with fresh oyle.

11 Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my wish against the wicked, that rise vp against me.

12 The righteous shall flourish like a palme tree, and shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 Such as bee planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the courtes of our God.

14 They shall still bring forth fruite in their age: they shall be fat and flourishing.

15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

PSAL. XCIII.

a His praish the power of Gods creation of the world, and searcheth downe all people which lift vp against his maiestie. b And praisheth his confider his promise.

The Lord reigneth, and is clothed with maiestie: the Lord is clothed, and girded with power: the world also shall be established, that it can not be moued.

1 Thy throne is established of olde: thou art from euertlasting.

2 The floods haue lifted vp, O Lord: the floods haue lifted vp their voice: the floods lift vp their waues.

4 The waues of the sea are maruileous through the noife of many waters, yet the Lorde on High is more mightie.

5 Thy testimonies are very sure: holinesse becometh thine House, O Lord, for cuer.

PSAL. XCIII.

a He praisheth vnto God against the violence and arrogancie of tyrants, to warning them of Gods iudgement. b Thou darst be comforted by the good will of thy seruants, as he sits in his iudgement, and is not in others, and by the vaile of the wicked, by whom the Lord will destroy.

O Lord God the auenger, O God the auenger, shew thy selfe b clearly.

2 Exalt thy selfe, O Iudge of the world, and render a reward to the proud.

3 Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph?

4 They prate and speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vaunt themselves.

5 They d smite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage.

6 They slay the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherlesse.

7 Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Iacob regard it.

8 Vnderstand, ye vnwise among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wise?

9 Hee that planted the eare, shall hee not heare: or he that formed the eye, shall hee not see?

10 Or he that chastiseth the nations, shall hee not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, shall hee not know?

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanitie.

12 Blessed is the man whom thou chastisest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Law, 13 That thou mayest giue him rest from the dayes of euill, whilst the pice is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lorde will not faile his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 For iudgement shall returne to iustice, and all the upright in heart shall follow after it.

16 Who will rise vp with me against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquitie?

17 If the Lord had not holpen me, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I sayd, My foot slideth, thy mercy, O Lord, stayed me.

19 In the multitude of my thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioyced my soule.

20 Hath the throne of iniquitie fellowship with thee, which forgeh wrong for a Law?

21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood.

22 But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the wicked of mine hope.

23 And he will recompense them their wickednes, and destroy them in their owne malice, yet, the Lord our God shall destroy them.

It is a great token of Gods iudgement, when the purpose of the wicked is broken, but most when they are destroyed in their owne malice.

An exhortation back to the Iſrael and Gentiles to praise God for his mercie. And how ſpecially ought to be referred to the kingdom of Chriſt.

Sing vnto the Lord a new ſong: ſing vnto the Lord all the earth.

1 Sing vnto the Lord, and praiſe his Name: declare his ſaluation from day to day.

2 Declare his glory among all nations, and his wonders among all people.

3 For the Lord is great and much to be praiſed: he is to be feared above all gods.

4 For all the gods of the people are *i*dolles: but the Lord made the heauens.

5 Strength and glory are before him: power and beautie are in his Sanctuary.

6 Give vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: give vnto the Lord glory and power.

7 Give vnto the Lord the glory of his Name: bring an offering, and enter into his courts.

8 Worſhip the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary: tremble before him all the earth.

9 Say among the nations, The Lord reigneth: ſurely ſhall he be ſtable, and not moue, and he ſhall iudge the people in righteouſneſſe.

10 Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the ſea roare, and all that therein is.

11 Let the field be ioyfull, and all that is in it: let all the trees of the wood then reioyce.

12 Let the ſea before the Lord, and all that therein is: let the Lord be feared, for he commeth, for he cometh to iudge the earth: he will iudge the world with righteouſneſſe, and the people in his truth.

13 Before the Lord, for he commeth, for he cometh to iudge the earth: he will iudge the world with righteouſneſſe, and the people in his truth.

14 Hee prophesieth that the Gentiles ſhall be taken with the lawes of Gods promiſe. b He ſhall regenerate them with his Spirit, and reſtore them to the image of God. i If the Gentiles obey, ſhall haue caſe to reioyce, when God appeareth, much more ſhall they haue taken malediction and finne.

The Prophet exhorteth all to reioyce for the coming of the kingdom of Chriſt. 7 Dreadfull to the rebels and idolaters.

8 And ioyfull to ſuch, whom hee exhorteth to innocencie, 10 To reioycing and thankſgiving.

The Lord reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the multitude of the yles be glad.

2 Cloudes and darkeneſſe are round about him: righteouſneſſe and iudgement are the foundation of his throne.

3 There ſhall goe a fire before him, and burne vp his enemies round about.

4 His lightnings gaue light vnto the world: the earth ſaw it, and was afraid.

5 The mountaines melted like waxe at the preſence of the Lord, at the preſence of the Lord of the whole earth.

6 The beaues declare his righteouſneſſe, and all the people ſee his glory.

7 Confounded be all they that ſerue grauen images, and that glory in idoles: worſhip him ſhall ye gods.

8 Zion heard of it, and was glad: and the daughters of Iudah reioycied, becauſe of thy iudgements, O Lord.

9 For thou, O Lord, art moſt High above all the earth: thou art much exalted above all gods.

10 Yee that loue the Lord, hate euill: hee preferreth the ſoules of his Saints: he will deliuer them from the hand of the wicked.

11 Light is ſown for the righteous, and ioy for the ioyfull in heart.

12 Hee requirerth two things of his children: the one that they deſtroy vice, the other, that they put their truſt in God for their deliuerance. i Though Gods deliquencie appeare not to them, yet he will iudge them.

12 Reioyce yee righteous in the Lord, and giue thanks for his holy remembrance.

¶ A Psalm.

Sing vnto the Lord a new ſong: for he hath done marvellous things: his right hand, and his holy arme haue gotten him the victorie.

2 The Lord declared his ſaluation: his righteouſneſſe hath he reucaled in the ſight of the nations.

3 Hee hath remembered his mercie and his truth toward the houſe of Iſrael: all the ends of the earth haue ſene the ſaluation of our God.

4 All the earth, ſing ye loud vnto the Lord: reioyce and reioyce, and ſing praifes.

5 Sing praife to the Lord vpon the harpe, even vpon the harpe with a ſinging voyce.

6 With ¶ ſhalmes and found of trumpets ſing loud before the Lord the King.

7 Let the ſea roare, and all that therein is, the world, and they that dwell therein.

8 Let the floods clap their hands, and let the mountaines reioyce together.

9 Before the Lord: for he is cometo iudge the earth: with righteouſneſſe ſhall he iudge the world, and the people with equitie.

10 Hee ſaith that the world is neuer able to praise God ſufficiently for their deliuerance.

P.S.A.L. XCIX.

He commendeth the power, equitie, and excellencie of the kingdome of God by his ſervants the Iſrael and Gentiles. 9 And prauiſh them to magnifie the name and to ſerve the Lord.

10 Following the example of the ancient Patriarchs, Moſes, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

The Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: let the earth be moued.

2 The Lord is great in Zion, and hee is high about all the people.

3 They ſhall praiſe thy great and fearefull Name (for it is holy)

4 And the kings power, that loueth iudgement: for thou haſt prepared equitie: thou haſt executed iudgement and iuſtice in Iſaakob.

5 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his footſtoole: for he is holy.

6 Moſes and Aaron were among his Priests, and Samuel among ſuch as call vpon his Name: theſe called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.

7 He ſpake vnto them in the cloude pillar: they kept his teſtimonies, and the Lawe ſhall hee gaue them.

8 Thou heardeſt them, O Lord our God: thou waſt a fauourable God vnto them, though thou diſt take vengeance for their intentions.

9 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his holy Mountaine: for the Lord our God is holy.

10 For the more liberally that God dealeth with his people, the more doeth he puniſh them that abſolve his benefites.

P.S.A.L. C.

He exhorteth all to ſerve the Lord, 9 Who haſt chaſtiſed vs and preferred vs, 4 And to enter into his affirmations to praiſe his Name.

¶ A Psalm of praise.

Sing ye loud vnto the Lord, all the earth.

2 Serue the Lord with gladneſſe: come before him with ioyfullneſſe.

3 Hee ſaith that they ſhall haue wonderful occaſion to praise his mercie and reioyce.

5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy youth is renewed like the eagles.

6 The Lord executeth righteousness and judgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his wayes known vnto ^e Moses, and his workes vnto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is full of compassion and mercie, slow to anger and of great kindehe.

9 He will not alwaye chide, neither keepe his anger for euer.

10 He hath not dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is aboue the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As farre as ^e the East is from the West: so farre hath he remooued our sinnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lorde compassion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: hee remembereth that we are but dust.

15 The dayes of ^e man are as grass: as a flowre of the field, so flourisheth he.

16 For the wind goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall know it no more.

17 But the louing kindehe of the Lord endureth for euer: and euer vpon them that feare him, and ^e his righteousnesse vpon childrens children.

19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his Kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Praise the Lord, ye ^e his Angels, that excel in strength, that doe his commandment in obeying the voyce of his word.

21 Praise the Lord all yee his hoſts, ye his seruantes that doe his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord all yee his works, in all places of his dominion: my soule, praye thou the Lorde.

23 Now to praise God, exhort the Angels, which willingly do it, slow to consider: our doerie, and awake out of our sluggishnesse.

PSALM CIII.

1 An excellent Psalm to praye God for the creation of the world, and the governance of the same by his maruailous providence. 25 Wherein the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasion that God diminisheth his blessings.

My soule, praye thou the Lord: O Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art clothed with glorie and honour.

2 Which couereth himselfe with light, as with a garment, and spreadeth the beaueus like a curtain.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the wind.

4 Which ^e maketh her spirites his messengers, and a flaming fire his ministers.

5 Hee set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer moue.

6 Thou couldest it with the deepe as with a garment: the 4 waters would stande about the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voyce of thy thunder they haſte away.

8 And the mountaines ascend, and the vallies defend to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bounde, which they may not passe, so that they may not come into the north. 4 If by thy power thou diddest not bridle the rage of the storme, it were not possible, but the whole world should be destroyed.

they shall not passe: they shall not returne to conquer the earth.

10 Hee fendeth the springs into the vallics, which runne betwene the mountaines.

11 They shall giue drinke to all the ^e beasts of the feld, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.

12 By these ^e springs shall the soules of the heathen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 Hee watereth the mountaines from his ^e chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to growe for the cattell, and herbe for the vse of ^e man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth.

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make the face to shine, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted, 17 That the birds may make their nestes there: the stork dwelleth in the firs trees.

18 The high mountaines are for the shee goates: the rockes are a refuge for the conies.

19 He appointed the moone for certaine seasons: ^e the sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darkenesse, and it is night, wherein all the beasts of the forest creepe forth.

21 The Lyons roare after their pray, and feeke their meate ^e at God.

22 When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their dens.

23 ^e Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntill the euening.

24 O Lord, how ^e manifold are thy workes! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is this sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beastes and great.

26 There goe the ships, yea that ^e Leviathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 All these waite vpon thee, that thou maist giue them food in due season.

28 Thou giuest it to them, and they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things.

29 But if thou ^e hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they dye and returne to their dust.

30 Again if thou ^e send forth thy spirit, they are created, ^e thou renewest the face of the earth.

31 Glory be to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.

32 He looketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they ^e smoke.

33 I will find vnto the Lord all my life: I will praye my God, while I liue.

34 Let my wordes be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

36 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

37 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

38 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

39 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

40 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

41 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

42 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

43 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

44 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

45 Let the sinners be ^e consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praye thou the Lord. Praye ye the Lord.

if God provide for the very beasts, much more will he extend his prouident care to man.

There is no part of the world so barren whereof no evident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.

From the cloudes.

He describeth Gods prouident care ouer man, who doeth not onely provide necessaries things for him as herbes and other meate, but also things to reioyce him at wine and oyle or ornament.

For doct, fere, and iuch like.

As to separate the night from the day, and to note dayes, moones the and yeeres.

That is, by his count, either fere or mere, it noteth summer, winter and other seasons.

That is, they onely find meate according to Gods prouidence, who careth euen for the brute beasts.

To wit, when the day springeth for the lights as it were a shield to defend man against the tyrannie and seruicelle of beastes.

He conſidereth that no tongue is able to expresse Gods workes, not meane to comprehend them.

For vvhels.

God is a most nourishing Father, who prouideth for all creatures their daily foodes.

As they preſence all things haue life: if they should withdraw thy blessings, they all perih.

As the death of creatures leueth that we are nothing of our felicitie: for their generations cleaueh that we reuele all things of our Creator.

Gods mercifull face giueth strength vnto the earth, but his ſeuere countenance burneth the mountaines.

Who inſect the world, and to caſt God that he cannot reioyce in his workes.

P A L. C V.

He prayeth the singular grace of God, who hath of all the people of the world choſen a peculiar people to himselfe, and hauing choſen them, neuer caſteth to doe them good, euen for his prouident sake.

d For as much as the Israelites were exempted from the common condemnation of the world, and were elected to be Gods people, the Prophet willith them to shew themselves unfeeling by thanksgiving b By the strength of his mouth, and face, he meath the Ake where God declared his power and his presence. c Which he hath wrought in the deliverance of his people. d Because his power was there by as lively declared, as if he should have declared it by mouth. e The promise which God made to Abraham to be his God, and the God of his seeds after him, he repeated and repeated it again to his people after him. f He sheweth that they should not enjoy the land of Canaan by any other means, but by reason of his covenant made with their fathers. g Thus is the King of Egypt and the King of Gen. Gen. 12. 17. and 30. 3. h Those whom I have sanctified to be my people. i Meaning the old fathers, to whom God shewed himself plainly, and who were fitters forth of his word. k Byther by sending scarie, or by taking away the strength had mouthment thereof. l So long he suffered adversity as God had appointed, and till he had tried sufficiently his patience. m That every prince of their country should be at Josephs commandment and learne wisdom at him. n So it is in God, either to moove the hearts of the wicked to love or to hate Gods children. o Meaning Moses and Aaron. Exod. 7. 20. * See 8. 6. p So that this vermine came not by fortune, as God had appointed, and his Prophet Moses spake. q It was strange so to see raine in Egypt, much more so to see hail.

Praise the Lord, and call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people.
 2 Sing vnto him; sing praye vnto him, and talke of all his wonderous workes.
 3 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the heart of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.
 4 Seeke the Lord and his strength: seeke his face continually.
 5 Remember his marvellous workes, that he hath done, his wonders, and the iudgements of his mouth.
 6 Ye seede of Abraham his seruant, yee children of Iakob, which are his elect.
 7 Hee is the Lord our God: his iudgements are through all the earth.
 8 Hee hath alway remembered his covenant, and promise, that he made to a thousand generations.
 9 Euen that which hee made with Abraham, and his oth vnto Izhak:
 10 And since hath confirmed it to Iakob for a lawe, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant.
 11 Saying, Vnto thee will I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance.
 12 Albeit they were few in number, yea very few and strangers in the land, 13 And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdom to another people, 14 For he suffered he no man to do them wrong, but reprobroued 8 Kings for their fakes, saying, 15 Touch not mine anointed, and doe my Prophets no harme.
 16 Moreover, he called a famine vpon the land, and vtterly brake the staffe of bread.
 17 But he sent a man before them: Ioseph was sold for a slaue.
 18 They held his feete in the stocks, and he was laide in yrons, 19 Vntill his appointed time came, and the counsell of the Lord had tryed him.
 20 The king sent and loosed him: euen the Ruler of the people, deliuered him.
 21 He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance, 22 That he shoulde binde his princes vnto his will, and teache his Ancients wisdom.
 23 Then Israel came to Egypt, and Iakob was a stranger in the land of Ham.
 24 And he increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours.
 25 He turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants, 26 Then sent he Moses his seruant, and Aaron whom he had chosen.
 27 They shewed among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham.
 28 He sent darkenesse, and made it dark: and they were not disobedient vnto his commission.
 29 He turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.
 30 Their land brought forth frogs, euen in their kings chambers.
 31 He spake, and there came swarmes of flies and lice in all their quarters.
 32 He gaue them hail for raine, and flames of fire in their land.
 33 Hee smote their vines also, and their figges trees, and brake downe the trees in their coastes.

 34 Hee spake and the grasshoppers came, and caterpillars innumerable.
 35 And did eate vp all the grasse in their land, and deuoured the fruit of their ground.
 36 Hee smote also all the first borne in their land, euen the beginning of all their strength.
 37 He brought them forth also with silver and gold, and there was none feeble among their tribes.
 38 Egypt was glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them.
 39 He spake a cloud to be a couering, and fire to geue light in the night.
 40 They asked, and he brought quails, and he filled them with the bread of heauen.
 41 He opened the rocke and the waters flowed out, and raine in the dry places like a riuier.
 42 For he remembered his holy promise to Abraham his seruant, 43 And hee brought forth his people with ioy, and his chosen with gladnesse.
 44 And gaue them the lands of the heathen, and they tooke the labours of the people in possession.
 45 That they might keepe his statutes, and obseue his Lawes. Praise ye the Lord.
 gypsians lamented and were destroyed. x This is the end, wher God promised his Church, because they should worship and call vpon him in this world.
PSAL. CVI.
 1 The people dispersed vnder Antiochus did magnify the goodness of God among the iust and reuerent. 2 A desire to be brought againe into the land by Gods mercifull assistance. 3 And after the manifesti on of Gods wrath to the people deliuered from the hands of Egypt, and the great impietie of the people reuerend, 4 They doe pray and desire to be gathered from among the heathen, to the house that they may praise the Name of the Lord of Israel.
Y Praise ye the Lord.
Praise ye the Lord because he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer.
 2 Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lord, or shewe forth all his praye?
 3 Blessed are they that keepe iudgement, and doe righteousnesse at all times.
 4 Remember me, O Lord, with the fauour of thy people: visite me with thy saluacion.
 5 That I may see the felicitie of thy chosen, and reioyce in the ioy of thy people, and glory with thine inheritance.
 6 Wee haue sinned with our fathers: wee haue committed iniquities, and done wickedly.
 7 Our fathers vnderstoode not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembered they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euen at the red Sea.
 8 Neuertheless hee saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be known.
 9 And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dried vp, and he led them in the deepe, as in the wilderness.
 10 And he saued them from y aduersariess hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enemy.
 11 * And y waters couered their oppressours: not one of them was left.
 12 Then bleued they his wordes, and sang praye vnto him.
 13 But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his counsel, this, that he would change the order of nature, rather then his people should be deliuered, although they were wicked. * Exod. 14. 30. * That they should be deliuered from the hands of Egypt, and the great impietie of the people reuerend, 4 They doe pray and desire to be gathered from among the heathen, to the house that they may praise the Name of the Lord of Israel.

14 But lifted with confidence in the wilderness, and tempted God in the desert.

15 Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent leanne into their soule.

16 They enuied Moses alio in the tents, and Aaron the holy one of the Lord.

17 Therefore the earth opened & swallowed vp Dathan, and couered the company of Abiram.

18 And the fire was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt vp the wicked.

19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.

20 Thus they turned their glory into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.

21 They forgate God their Sauour, which had done great things in Egypt.

22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, and fearefull things by the red Sea.

23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had not Moses his chosen friend in the breach before him to turn away his wrath, lest hee should destroy them.

24 Also they contemned that pleasant land, and beleued not his worle.

25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkened not vnto the voyce of the Lord.

26 Therefore hee lifted vp his hand against them, to destroy them in the wilderness, 27 And to destroy their feede among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countreys.

28 They ioyned themselues also vnto Balaam, and did eate the offerings of the dead.

29 Thus they prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.

30 But Phineas floode vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was staid.

31 And it was imputed vnto him for righteousness from generation to generation for euer.

32 They angered him alio at the waters of Meribah, so that Moses was punished for their sakes.

33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that hee spake vnadvisedly with his lippes.

34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them, 35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.

37 Yes, they offered their sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, 38 And shed innocent blood, when the blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the lande was defiled with blood.

39 Thus were they stayned with their owne workes, and went a whoring with their owne inuentions.

40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and hee abhorred his owne inheritance.

41 And hee gaue them into the hand of the heathen and they that hated them, were lordes ouer them.

42 Their enemies alio oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.

43 Many a time did hee deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.

44 Yet hee saw when they were in affliction, and he heard their cry.

45 And he remembered his couenant toward them, & repented according to the multitude of his mercies.

46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.

47 Saue vs, O Lorde our God, and gather vs from among y^e heathen, that we may praise thine holy Name, and glory in thy prayse.

48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

vs confidence vnder the crosse, that with one consent we may all praye these.

P S A L C V I I.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lorde, and gathered vnto him, to give thanks. 2 For the mercifull prouidence of God, governing all things at his good pleasure. 3 Studying good and euill, prosperitie and aduersitie to bring men vnto him. 4 Therefore as the righteous sheweth reioyce, so shall the wicked haue their measure stopped.

Praise to the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Let them, which haue bene redeemed of the Lord, shew how he hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppressour,

3 And gathered them out of the lands, from the East and from the West, from the North and from the South.

4 Vnto when they wandered in the desert and wilderness out of the way, and found no citie to dwell in,

5 Both hungry and thirstie, their soule fainted in them.

6 Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse,

7 And led them forth by the right way, that they might goe to a citie of habitation.

8 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

9 For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungry soule with goodnesse.

10 They that dwell in darkenesse and in the shadow of death, being bound in miserie and yron,

11 Because they rebelled against the words of the Lorde, and despised the counsell of the most High, 12 When he humbled their heart with heauines, then they fel downe and there was no helper.

13 Then they cryed vnto the Lorde in their trouble, & he deliuered them from their distresse.

14 He brought them out of darknesse, and out of the shadow of death, and brake their bandes asunder.

15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lorde his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

16 For hee hath broken the gates of brass, and braut the barres of yron asunder,

17 & Fooles by reason of their transgression,

1 The Prophet sheweth that neither by meances, nor promises we can come to God, except we be altogether newly reformed, and that his meace ouercome and hide our malice.

2 Not that God is changeable in his feel, but that this be seemeth to vs to repent, when he altereth his punishment, and forgiveness vs.

3 Gather thy Church, which is dispersed, and give

4 This notable sentence was in the beginning vsed, as the focus or centre of the song, which was oftentimes repeated.

5 As this was true in the leues, so is there none of Gods elect, that leue not his helpe in their necessitie.

6 For, from the fear meaneing the red sea, which is in the South part of the land.

7 Here sheweth that there is none affliction so grievous, out of which which God will not deliuer his, and also exhorteth them that are distressed, to be meaneed of the great & beneficent.

8 Then the true way to obey God, is to follow his expresse commandment: also here by all are exhorted to descend into themselves, inasmuch as none are punished but for their finnes.

9 Here sheweth that because why God doeth punish vs extremely, is because we can be brought vnto him by none other meases.

10 When there cometh to mans iudgement no reuerie, but all things are brought to despair, then God chiefly sheweth his mightie power.

11 They that have no feare of God, by his sharpe rodde are brought to call vpon him, and to finde mercie.

12 And

16 Because he remembered not to shew mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorrowfull hearted to slay him.

17 As he loued cursing, so shall it come vnto him, and as hee loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him.

18 As hee clothed himselfe with cursing like a rayment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he shall be alwaye girded.

20 Let this bee the reward of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of them, that speake euill against my foule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good)

22 Because I am poore and needie, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I depart like the shadowe that declineth, and am shaken off as the grasshopper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fatnesse.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heads.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: fauour me according to thy mercie.

27 And they shall know, that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it.

28 Though they curse, yet thou wilt bleesse: they shall arise and be confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersaries bee clothed with shame, and let them couer themselves with their confusion, as with a cloke.

30 I will giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly w my mouth, and praise him among the multitude.

31 For he will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that would condemne his soule.

32 Hereby he sheweth that he had not to do with the power, but with the iudges & princes of the world.

PSAL. CX.

1 David prophesieth of the power and curstness king Doms gins in Christ, 4. And of his Priesthood, which should put an end to the Priesthood of Levi.

2 As the Psalm of David.

3 The Lord sayd vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntill I make thine enemies thy footstool.

4 The Lord shall send the rod of thy power out of Zion: be thou ruler in the middes of thine enemies.

5 Thy people shall come willingly at the time of assembling: thine armie in holy beautie: the youth of thy wombe shall be the morning dewe.

6 The Lorde fware and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer after the order of Melchizedek.

7 The Lord, that is at thy right hand, shall wound Kings in the day of his wrath.

8 He shall be iudge among the heathen: hee shall fill all with dead bodies, and smite the head our great enemies.

9 He shall drinke of the brooke in the way: therefore shall he lift vp his head.

10 As Melchizedek the figure of Christ was both King and Priest, so the Church cannot be accomplished in any king faue only in Christ.

11 No power shall be able to resist him. Vnder this similitude of God vpon his children hath come the wicked to die for enimie.

12 As Melchizedek the figure of Christ was both King and Priest, so the Church cannot be accomplished in any king faue only in Christ.

13 No power shall be able to resist him. Vnder this similitude of God vpon his children hath come the wicked to die for enimie.

19 No power shall be able to resist him. Vnder this similitude of God vpon his children hath come the wicked to die for enimie.

20 As Melchizedek the figure of Christ was both King and Priest, so the Church cannot be accomplished in any king faue only in Christ.

12 He giueth thanks to the Lord for his mercifull workes toward his Church, 16. And declareth wherein true wifedome and right knowledge consisteth.

PSAL. CXI.

1 Trasse ye the Lord.

2 I will praise the Lord with my whole heart in the assemblie and Congregation of the iust.

3 The workes of the Lord are great, and ought to be sought out of all them that loue them.

4 His worke is beautifull and glorious, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.

5 He hath made his wonderfull workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is mercifull and full of compassion.

6 He hath giuen a portion vnto them that feare him: hee will euer be mindful of his covenant.

7 He hath shewed to his people his power of his workes in giuing vnto them his heritage of his heath.

8 The workes of his hands are truth and iudgement: all his statutes are true.

9 They are stablished for euer and euer, and are done in truth and equitie.

10 Hee sent redemption vnto his people: hee hath commanded his covenant for euer: holy and fearefull is his Name.

11 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

12 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

13 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

14 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

15 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

16 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

17 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

18 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

19 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

20 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

21 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

22 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

23 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

24 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

25 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

26 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

27 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

28 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

29 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

30 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

31 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

32 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

33 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

34 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

35 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

36 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

37 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

38 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

39 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

40 The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

a The prophet declareth that he will praise God both privately and openly, and that from the heart, as he that consecrate himselfe wholly and ouerly vnto God.

b He sheweth that God's workes are sufficient cause, wherefore we should praise him, but chiefly his benefits toward his Church.

c God hath giuen to his people all that was necessary for them, and will doe still euen for his covenants sake and in this sense the Hebrew word is taken.

d The beginning of wifedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue it, shall have good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

e They only are wise, that feare God & none haue vnderstanding, but they that obey his word. I To wit, his commandments, as vers 7.

f He meaneth that reuerent feare, which is in the children of God, which causeth them to desire only in the word of God.

g The godly shall haue abundance and contentment, because their heart is satisfied in God only.

h The faithfull in all their aduersities know that all shall goe well with them: for God will be mercifull and iust.

i He sheweth what is the feare of mercie, to lead freely and not for gaine, and so to measure his doings, that he may be able to helpe where neede seasoneth, and not to bestow all on himselfe.

k The godly pinch not niggardly, but distribute liberally, as the necessitie of the poore requireth, and as his power is able.

l His power & prosperous estate.

m The blessings of God vpon his children shall come the wicked to die for enimie.

P S A L. CXVII.

1 He exhorteth the Gentiles to praise God, because he hath accomplished a sword to them as to the tower, the promise of life according to his Christ.

11 Nations, praise ye the Lord: all yee people, praise him.

For his louing kindnesse is great toward vs, and the truth of the Lorde endureth for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

P S A L. CXVIII.

1 David rested of Saul and of the people, at the time appointed obtained the kingdom. 4 For the which hee biddeth all them, that feare the Lord, to be thankfull. And vnder his person in all this was Christ himselfe, who should be of his people rested.

Praise ye the Lorde, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

3 Let Israel now say, That his mercie endureth for euer.

3 Let the house of Aaron now say, That his mercie endureth for euer.

4 Let them that feare the Lorde, now say, That his mercie endureth for euer.

5 I called vpon the Lord in trouble, & the Lord heard me, and set me at large.

6 The Lord is with mee: therefore I will not feare what man can doe vnto me.

7 The Lord is wth me among them that helpe me: therefore shall I see my desire vpon mine enemies.

8 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in man.

9 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in princes.

10 All nations haue compassed me: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.

11 They haue compassed mee, yea, they haue compassed mee: but in the Name of the Lorde I shall destroy them.

12 They came about mee like bees, but they were quenched as a fire of thornes: for in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

13 Thou hast thrust fore at me, that I might fall: but the Lord hath holpen me.

14 The Lord is my strength and song: for he hath bene my deliuerance.

15 The g voyce of ioy and deliuerance shall be in the tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

17 I shall not die, but liue, and declare the workes of the Lord.

18 The Lord hath chastened me sore, but hee hath not deliuered me to death.

19 Open ye vnto me the gates of righteousness, that I may go into them, & praise the Lor. I.

20 This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it.

21 I will praise thee: for thou hast heard me, and hast bene my deliuerance.

22 The stone, which the builders refused, is the head of the corner.

23 This was the Lordes doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

24 This is the 1 day, which the Lorde hath made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it.

25 O Lord, I pray thee, saue now: O Lord, I pray thee now giue prosperitie.

26 Blessed be he, that cometh in the Name of the Lord: wee haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord.

27 The Lord is mightie, and hath giuen vs light: binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I will praise thee, O my God: therefore I will exalt thee.

29 Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

P S A L. CXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the children of God to frame their liues according to his holy wordes. 123 Alto hee liues eth wherem the true service of God standeth: that is, wherem hee serues him according to the word, and not after our owne fantasies.

A L P H.

Blessed are those that are vpright in their way, and walke in the Law of the Lord.

3 Blessed are they that keepe his testimonies, and seeke him with their whole heart.

3 Surely they worke none iniquitie, but walke in his wayes.

4 Thou hast commaunded to keepe thy precepts diligently.

5 O that my wayes were directed to keepe thy statutes!

6 Then should I not bee confounded, when I haue respect vnto all thy commandments.

7 I will praise thee, with an vpright heart, when I shall learne the iudgements of thy righteousness.

8 I will keepe thy statutes: forsake mee not for euill.

9 Be conformable to Gods worde. 4 For true religion standeth in learning Gods will, without hypocrite. 6 That is, by precepts, which containe perfect righteousness. 8 He refuseth not to be tried by temptations, but hee searcheth to faint, if God succour not his iniquitie in time.

B E T A.

9 Wherewith shall a young man redresse his way? in taking heede thereto according to thy worde.

10 With my whole heart haue I sought thee: let me not wander from thy commandments.

11 I haue hid thy promise in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee.

12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teache me thy statutes.

13 With my lippes haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.

14 I haue had as great delight in the way of thy testimonies, as in riches.

15 I wil meditate in thy precepts, and consider thy wayes.

16 I will delite in thy statutes, and I will not forget thy worde.

example for others to followe Gods worde and leaue worldly vanities.

G I M E L.

17 Be beneficiall vnto thy seruant, that I may liue and keepe thy word.

18 Open mine eyes, that I may see the wonders of thy Lawe.

19 I am a stranger vpon earth: hidie not thy commandments from me.

20 Mine heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements alway.

21 Seeing mans life in this world is but a passage, what should become of him, if thy worde were not his guide?

In the people prayeth for prosperitie of Dauid kingdoms, who was the figure of Christ.

Which are the Priests, and haue charge thereof, as Num. 4.35.

Because hee hath restored vs from darkness to light, we will offer sacrifices and prayes vnto him.

Here they are not called blessed, which thinke themselves with in their owne iudgement, nor which imagine to themselves a certaine holinesse, but they whose conseruation is without hypocrite.

For they are ruled by Gods Spirit and embrace no doctrine but his.

David acknowledgeth his impfection, desiring God to relesse him.

For his life may be conformable to Gods worde.

For true religion standeth in learning Gods will, without hypocrite.

That is, by precepts, which containe perfect righteousness.

He refuseth not to be tried by temptations, but hee searcheth to faint, if God succour not his iniquitie in time.

Because youth is most given to incontinencie, he chiefly wanneeth them to frame their liues betwixt to Gods worde.

If Gods worde be grauen in our hearts, we shall be more able to resist the assaults of Satan: and therefore the Prophet desireth God to instruct him dayly more and more therein.

The Prophet doeth not boast of his venture, but setteth forth an example for others to followe Gods worde and leaue worldly vanities.

He sheweth that we ought not to be so loue but to serue God, and that we can not serue him aright, except hee open our eyes and minde.

Seeing mans life in this world is but a passage, what should become of him, if thy worde were not his guide?

a In all ages thou hast plagued all flesh, which unclonely and contemptuously depart from thy wrath.
d When the powers of the world lose false testimony against me, thy wrath be to comfort me.

a That is, it is almost brought to the grave, & with thy words I cannot live.
b I have confessed mine offences, and now depend wholly on thee.
c If God did not maintain vs by his word, our life would drop away like water.
d Instruct me in thy words, whereby my minde may be purged from vanitie, and taught to obey thy will.
e By this hee sheweth that wee can neither chuse good, cleane to Gods word, nor runne forward in his way, except hee make our hearts large to receive his grace, and willing to obey.

a He sheweth that he cannot follow on to the end, except God teach him oftentimes, and leade him forward.
b Not onely in outward correction, but also with inward affliction.
c Hereby meaning all other vices, because that countenances is the roote of all euill.
d Meaning, all his sinnes.
e Let me not fall to thy dishonour, but let mine heart continue in thy word euen to the end.

a Hee sheweth that Gods mercy and love is the first cause of our saluation.
b By trusting in Gods worde hee siluereth himselfe to be able to confute the blunders of his adversaries.
c They that simply walke after Gods worde, haue no letsoe in tangle them, where as they that doe contrary, are curre in fetters and snares.
d Hee sheweth that the children of God ought not to suffer their fathers glory to be obscured by the vaine pompe of Princes, 21 Thou hast destroyed the proude: cursed are they that doe erre from thy commandments.

22 Remove from mee shame and contempt: for I haue kept thy testimonies.
23 O Princes also did sit, and speake against me: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.
24 Also thy testimonies are my delight, and my counsellors.

D A L T H.

25 My soule cleaueth to the dust: quicken me according to thy worde.
26 I haue declared my wayes, and thou heardest me: teache me thy statutes.
27 Make mee to vnderstand thy way of thy precepts, & I wil meditate in thy wonderful workes.
28 My soule melteth for heavynesse: raise me vp according vnto thy worde.
29 Take from mee the way of lying, and graunt me graciously thy Law.
30 I haue chosen the way of truth, and thy iudgements haue I laide before me.
31 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confound me not.
32 I will runne the way of thy commandments, when thou shalt enlarge mine heart.

H.

33 Teache me, O Lord, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the end.
34 Giue mee vnderstanding, and I will keepe thy Law: yea, I wil keepe it with my whole heart.
35 Direct me in the path of thy commandments: for therein is my delight.
36 Incline mine eare vnto thy testimonies: and not to couetousnesse.
37 Turne away mine eyes from regarding vanitie, and quicken me in thy way.
38 Stablish thy promise to thy seruant, because hee seareth thee.
39 Take away my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.
40 Beholde, I desire thy commandments: quicken me in thy righteousness, still deliue in thy gracious wordes, I giue mee strength to continue in thy word euen to the end.

V A V.

41 And let thy louing kindeste come vnto mee, O Lord, and thy saluation according to thy promise.
42 So shall I make answer vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy worde.
43 And take not the worde of truth verily out of my mouth: for I waite for thy iudgements.
44 So shall I alway keepe thy Lawe for euer and euer.
45 And I will walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts.
46 I wil speake also of thy testimonies before Kings, and will not be ashamed.
47 And my delight shall be in thy commandments, which I haue loued.
48 Mine handes also will I lift vp vnto thy commandments, which I haue loued, and I wil meditate in thy statutes.

49 Remember: the promise made to thy seruant, wherein thou hast caused me to trust.
50 It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promise hath quickened me.
51 The proude haue had me exceedingly in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Law.
52 I remembered thy iudgements of olde, O Lord, and haue bene comforted.
53 Feare is come vpon mee for the wicked, that forsake thy Law.
54 Thy statutes haue bene my songs in the house of my pilgrimage.
55 I haue remembered thy Name, O Lorde, in the night, and haue kept thy Law.
56 This I had because I kept thy precepts.

glory, and indignation against the wicked. In the court of this world to fall exile. f Euen when other sleepe. g That is, all their business.

C H E T H.

57 O Lord, thou art my portion, I haue determined to keepe thy wordes.
58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be mercifull vnto mee according to thy promise.
59 I haue considered my wayes, and turned my feete into thy testimonies.
60 I made haste and delayed not to keepe thy commandments.
61 The bandes of the wicked haue robbed mee: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.
62 At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.
63 I am a companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts.
64 The earth, O Lorde, is full of thy mercie: teach me thy statutes.

T E T H.

65 O Lorde, thou hast delt graciously with thy seruant according to thy word.
66 Teach me good iudgement & knowledge: for I haue beleued thy commandments.
67 Before I was afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy worde.
68 Thou art good and gracious: teach me thy statutes.
69 The proude haue imagined a lie against me: but I wil keepe thy precepts with my whole heart.
70 Their heart is fatte as greafe: but my delight is in thy Law.
71 It is good for me that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes.
72 The Law of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thousands of gold and silver.

and vaine estimation of themselves. d Hee confesteth that before that he was chastened, he was rebellious, as man by nature is.

I O D.

73 Thine handes haue made me and fashioned me: giue me vnderstanding therefore, that I may learne thy commandments.
74 So that thou shalt feare thee, seeing mee, shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy word.
75 I know, O Lord, that thy iudgements are right, and that thou hast afflicted me justly.
76 I pray thee that thy mercie may comfort me according to thy promise vnto thy seruant.
77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto me, that I may liue: for thy Law is my delight.
78 Let the proude be ashamed: for they haue declared, that when hee felt not Gods mercies, he was proud.

a Though hee feeleth Gods kindeste will to be in his eyes, yet hee will not be comforted, because hee hath forgotten his Law.
b Meaning that the wicked, which countenance Gods wordes and teach his religious false footes.
c That hee haue thought, because of those delusions, to be in the lap of the world.
d That hee haue not aske to be instructed in the Law of God.
e I am persuaded that to keep the Law is to keep the grace and giue glory to God.
f Hee sheweth that hee can not keepe the word of God except hee be instructed in the Law.
g They that haue chosen to cleaue into their cleane, but are not instructed in the Law, are not instructed in the Law.
h For the Law is the rule of life, and the way of life.

105 Thy worde is a lanterne vnto my feete, and a light vnto my path.

106 I haue b sworn and will performe it, that I will not faile.

107 So all the faithfull ought to blode themselves so, that they may be able to stand vpon the word of God, and so to shine vnto the world.

I will keepe thy righteous iudgements.

107 I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me according to thy word.

108 O Lord, I beseech thee accept the free offerings of my mouth, and teach mee thy iudgements.

109 My soule is continually in thine hand: yet doe I not forget thy Law.

110 The wicked haue layde a snare for mee: but I swarued not from thy precepts.

111 Thy testimonies haue I taken as an heritage, for cure: for they are the ioy of mine heart.

112 I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, vnto the ende.

2 Our feete shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem.

3 Ierusalem is builded as a citie, that is c compassed together in it selfe.

4 Whereunto the Tribes, (even the Tribes of the Lord) goe vp according to the testimonie of Israel, to praise the Name of the Lord.

5 For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of David.

P.S.A.L. CXXVI.

This Psalm was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and sheweth that the means of their deliuerance was wondrous, full after the fourty years of captiuitie suffered by Jeremie. Chap. xxi. and xxii.

A Song of degrees, or Psalm of David.

1 When the Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, we were like them: a dreame.

2 Then was our mouth b filled with laughter, and our tongue with ioy: then sayde they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them.

3 The Lord hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce.

4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the driuers in the South.

5 They that sowe in teares, shall reape in ioy.

6 They went weeping, and caried precious seede: but they shall reume with ioy, and bring their sheaues.

P.S.A.L. CXXVII.

He sheweth that the whole state of the world is full of iustice and politick standeth by Gods mercie and blessing. 3. And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especial grace and gift of God.

A Song of degrees, or Psalm of Salomon.

1 Keep the Lord a:ild the house, thy labour in vaine that build it: excepte the Lord keepe the citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine.

2 It is in vaine for you to rise early, and to liue downe late, and eate the bread of sorrow: but he will surely giue s: rest to his beloued.

3 Behold, children are the inheritance of the Lord, and the fruite of the wombe his reward.

4 As are the atones in the hand of the strong man: so are the children of youth.

5 Blessed is the man that hath his quiver full of them: for they shall not be ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

He saith, and made it a figure of Christes kingdom. f The fauour of God prospereth both within and without. g Not onely for mine owne sake, but for all the faithful.

6 Not exempting them from labour, but making their labour more comfortable, and as it were a rest. f That is, indured with faste and vigils, and other such things.

7 Such children shall be able to stoppe their adversaries mouths, when their godly life is maliciously accused before iudges.

4 For the wicked did not onely forsake the way against s: faithful, but cruelly imagined to destroy them.

5 Though the world be filled with iniquities, yet the people of God shall stand sure and be defended by Gods providence.

6 Though God suffer, it shall be under the cross, lest they should imagine wickednesse.

7 These crosses shall not be rest vpon them, but that it should draw them from hope.

8 Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible, & therefore tookes a way all euill of ingratitude.

9 He sheweth how the godly ought to reioyce, when God gathereth his Church or deliuereth it.

22 He sheweth that the whole state of the world is full of iustice and politick standeth by Gods mercie and blessing.

23 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especial grace and gift of God.

24 He sheweth that the whole state of the world is full of iustice and politick standeth by Gods mercie and blessing.

25 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especial grace and gift of God.

26 He sheweth that the whole state of the world is full of iustice and politick standeth by Gods mercie and blessing.

27 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especial grace and gift of God.

28 He sheweth that the whole state of the world is full of iustice and politick standeth by Gods mercie and blessing.

29 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especial grace and gift of God.

30 He sheweth that the whole state of the world is full of iustice and politick standeth by Gods mercie and blessing.

31 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especial grace and gift of God.

32 He sheweth that the whole state of the world is full of iustice and politick standeth by Gods mercie and blessing.

33 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especial grace and gift of God.

34 He sheweth that the whole state of the world is full of iustice and politick standeth by Gods mercie and blessing.

35 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especial grace and gift of God.

36 He sheweth that the whole state of the world is full of iustice and politick standeth by Gods mercie and blessing.

37 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especial grace and gift of God.

PSAL CXXVIII.

He sheweth that his great appointment was to be victorious, but to them only that fear the Lord, and walk in his ways.

A Song of degrees.

Blessed is every one that feareth the Lord, and walketh in his ways.

1 When thou eatest the labours of thine hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall be well with thee.

2 Thy wife shall be as the fruitful vine on the sides of thine house, and thy children like the olive plants round about thy table.

3 Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord.

4 The Lord out of Zion shall bless thee, and thou shalt see the wealth of Jerusalem all the days of thy life.

5 Yes, thou shalt see thy childrens children, and peace upon Israel.

Because of the children, he promises to enrich the faithful with this gift. d Because of the spiritual blessing which God hath made to his Church, these temporal things shall be granted. e For except God blessed his Church publicly, this private blessing were nothing.

PSAL CXXIX.

He sheweth how the Church is persecuted, though it be afflicted, for by the persecution of the Lord is his Church delivered, and thus the example for all their glorious story, that finally be destroyed.

A Song of degrees.

They have often times afflicted mee from my youth (may Israel now say)

1 They have often times afflicted me from my youth: but they could not prevail against me.

2 The plowers plowed upon my backe, and made long furrows.

3 But the righteous Lord hath cut the cords of the wicked.

4 They that hate Zion, shall be all ashamed and turned backward.

5 They that shall be as the grass on the house tops, which withereth afore it cometh forth.

7 Whereof the plowman filtheth not his hand, neither the plainer his lap:

8 Neither they which goe by, say, The blessing of the Lord be upon you, or, We bless you in the Name of the Lord.

a The Church now afflicted, sought to remember how her condition hath ever been such: no to be molested most grievously by the wicked yet in time it hath ever been delivered. b Because God is righteous, he can not but plague his adversaries, and deliver his own out of the plague. c The enemies that lift themselves most high, and as it were approach neere to the sunne, are consumed with the heat of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godly humilitie. d That is the wicked shall perish, and none shall passe for them.

PSAL CXXX.

The people of God from their bottomless miseries do cry unto God, and are heard. e They confesse their sinnes, and set up to Gods merits.

A Song of degrees.

Out of the deepe places have I called vnto thee, O Lord.

1 Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to the voyce of my prayers.

2 If thou, O Lord, straightly markest iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand?

3 But mercy is with thee, that thou c mayest be feared.

4 I have waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I have trusted in his word.

5 My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning.

7 Let Israel waite on the Lord: for with the Lord is mercie, and with him is great redemption.

8 And hee shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

a He declareth that he cannot be shut before God, but by forgiveness of sinnes. b Because of mercy thou art merciful: therefore the faithful remembrance thee. c He sheweth to whom the mercy of God death appertains: to him that is in the Church and not to the reprobate.

PSAL CXXXI.

David charged with sinnes and greatly desire to reign, prayeth his humilitie and modestie before Gods and humbled all men about him.

A Song of degrees or Psalm of David.

Lord, a mine heart is not haucie, neither are mine eyes loftie, neither have I walked in great matters and hid from me.

2 Surely I have behaved my selfe, like one wained from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is wained.

3 Let Israel waite on the Lord from henceforth and for ever.

PSAL CXXXII.

The faithful grounding on Gods promise made unto David, desire that he would establish the same, both as touching his posterity, and the building of the Temple, as pray there as was foretold, David's kins.

A Song of degrees.

Lord, remember David with all his affliction.

2 Who swore vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mighty God of Iakob, saying,

3 I will not enter into the Tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pillow or bed,

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eyelids to slumber.

5 Vntill I find out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mighty God of Iakob.

6 Lo, we heard of it in Ephrathah, and found it in the fields of the forest.

7 We will enter into his Tabernacles, and worship before his footstool.

8 Arise, O Lord, to come into thy rest, thou, and the Ark of thy strength.

9 Let thy Priests be clothed with righteousness, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy servant Dauides sake refuse not the face of thine Anoynted.

11 The Lord hath sworn in truth vnto David, and he will not shrinke from it, saying, Of the fruite of thy body will I set vpon thy throne.

12 If thy sonnes keepe my covenant, and my testimonies, that I shall teach them, their sonnes also shall sit vpon thy throne for ever.

13 For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and loued to dwell in it, saying, 14 This is my rest for euer: here will I dwell, for I haue a delight therein.

15 I will surely bless her vitales, and will satiate her poore with bread, 16 And will clothe her Priests with salvation, and her Saints that hour for joy.

17 There will I make ye a home of David to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anoynted.

18 His enemies will I clothe with shame, but on him his crowne shall flourish.

a David promises to David, so cometh to it his posterity, that whatsoever they had while hee lived, it should be theirs. b Because this cannot be accomplished but in Christ, it followeth that the promise was spiritual. c Meaning, for his owne sake, and not for the plentifulness of the place: for he promised to build it, declaring before, that it was barren. d Thus it, with my protection, whereby they shall be safe. e I Though his force for a time seemed to be broken, yet he promised to restore it.

PSAL CXXXIII.

This Psalm containeth the commendations of brotherly unity among the servants of God.

A Song of degrees or Psalm of David.

Behold, how good and how comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euery one together.

a David, though some frowned him, yet when hee was establishing his Church, they joyed all together like brethren, and therefore he sheweth it as a commendation of brotherly love.

b To wit, of that country.
c The Babylonians (like those in mocking vs, as though by our silence we should figure that we hoped no more in God.)
d Albeit the faithful are touched with their particular griefes, yet the common sorrow of the Church is much grievous vnto them, and is such as they cannot but remember and lament. e The decay of Gods religion in their conuersion was so grievous, that no joy could make them glad, except it were shewed.

in the middes thereof.

3 Then they that ledde vs captiues, required vs of songs and mirth: when wee had hanged vp our harpes, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion.

4 How shall we sing, said wee, a song of the Lord in a strange land?

5 If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play.

6 If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my tongue cleaue to the roofof my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my chiefie ioy.

7 Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Ierusalem, which said, Kale it, rase it to the foundation thereof.

8 O daughter of Babel, worthis to be destroyed, blessed shall be he that rewardeth thee, as thou hast sinned vs.

9 Blessed shall be he that taketh and dasheth thy children against the stones.

f According as Ezechiel 49. 7. verse prophesied: and Obadias, verse 10. sheweth that the Edomites, which came of Esau, conspired with the Babylonians against their brethren and kinsfolke.
g When thou didst rase Ierusalem. h He alludeth to Isaiah prophetic, Chapter 13. and 46. versis, promising good successe to Cyrus and Darius, whose ambitious moued to fight against Babylon: but God vied them as his tools to punish his enemies.

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

a David with great courage praised the goodness of God to ward him, which is so great, a. That it is known to Ierem. Primer, who shall praise the Lord together with him. d And he is assured to haue like comfort of God in the same future, as he hath had heretofore.

A Psalm of David.

I will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the gods will I praise thee.

2 I will worship toward thine holy Temple and praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindness and for thy truth: for thou hast magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy word.

3 When I called, then thou heardest me, and hast increased strength in my soule.

4 All the Kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they haue heard thy words of thy mouth.

5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord is great.

6 For the Lord is high: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proud he knoweth a farre off.

7 Though I walke in the middes of trouble, yet wilt thou retriue me: thou wilt stretch forth thine hand vpon the wrach of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue me.

8 The Lord will performe his works toward me: O Lord, thy mercie endureth for euer: forsake not the works of thy hands.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

a David cleaues his heart from all hypocrisy, sheweth that there is nothing he hid, which God hath seen, 13. Which hee confesseth by the creation of man, 24. After declaring his griefe and feare of Gods punishmēt to be worthy to tell them that contemne God.

b To him that exelleth. A Psalm of David.

O Lord, thou hast tried me and known me.

2 Thou knowest my sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought a farre off.

3 Thou hast compassed my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes.

4 For there is not a word in my tongue, but thou knowest it wholly, O Lord.

5 So that they are euidently knowne to thee. 6. Then knowest my meaning before I speake.

7 Thou holdest mee strait behinde and before, and layest thine hand vpon me.

8 Thy knowledge is as high as thou wonderful for mee: it is so high, that I cannot attaine vnto it.

9 Whither shall I goe from thee? Spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?

10 If I ascend into heauen, thou art there: if I flye downe in bill, thou art there.

11 Let me take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the vttermoost parts of the sea:

12 Yet thither shall thine hand lead me, and thy right hand hold me.

13 If I say, Yet the darkenes shall hide me, euen the night shall be a light about me.

14 Yea, the darkenes hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darkenes and light are both alike.

15 For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe.

16 I will praise thee, for I am a fearfully and wonderfully made: marueilous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well.

17 My bones are not hid from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and fashioned beneath in the earth.

18 Thine eyes did see me, when I was without forme: I for in thy booke were all things written, which in continuance were fashioned, when there was none of them before.

19 Howe I came therefore are thy thoughts vnto me, O God! how great is thy summe of them!

20 If I should count them, they are more then the sand: when I awake, I am fill with thee.

21 Oh that thou wouldest flay, O God, the wicked & bloody men: so wouldest thou depart ye from me.

22 Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine.

23 Doe not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee: and doe not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee?

24 I hate them with an vnfeigned hatred, as they were mine vnfeigned enemies.

25 Tria me, O God, and know mine heart: proue me and know my thoughts, 26 And consider if there be any way of wickednesse in me, and lead me in the way for cuer.

friendship of the world, when they would let vs to serue God sincerely. It yet was hee not given to wickednesse and to prouoke God by rebellion. q. Th is, continue thy knownto wards me to the ende.

PSAL. CXL.

a David complaineth of the crueltie, falsehood and iniurie of his enemies. b. Against which hee is prouoked with the Lords, and offereth himselfe to his helpe and succour. 13. Wherefore hee promoueth his helpe to praise the Lord, and so to assure himselfe of his iustice.

c To him that exelleth. A Psalm of David.

Deliver me, O Lord, from the euill man: pre-ferre me from the cruel man:

2 Which imagine euill things in rebell heart, and make warre continually.

3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: c adders poyson is vnder their lips. Selah.

4 Keepe mee, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked: preferre mee from the euill man, which purposeth to cause my steps to slide.

5 The proude haue layd a snare for mee, and spread a nette with cordes in my pathway, and set gennes for me. Selah.

6 Therefore I said vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voyce of my prayer:

7 O Lord

d Thou shouldst see this man, that I am in to worship thee, thou shouldst see me. e Promisely proue and knowest me. f The power of his faith holdeth me, that I cannot by my own strength be brought downe from thee. g Though death itselfe be in his hands, as many fight with him, yet his eyes are as well as the light. h Thou hast led me in all parts, and therefore I need not haue any. i Considering thy wonderful workes in forming a man, cannot but praise thee, and from thy might, power. k That in my mothers wombe which hee composed to the inward parts of the reb. l Seeing that thou didst know me before I was composed of flesh, blood or bones, more now and thou know me. m Therefore I will praise thee. n How might I in collection the collection of the wisdom of the creature of man. o I continually will meditate in thy word downe to praise thee. p He teacheth me boldly to shew all the hatred of the wicked and euill. q It yet was hee not given to wickednesse and to prouoke God by rebellion. r Th is, continue thy knownto wards me to the ende.

7 O Lord God the strength of my saluation, thou hast covered mine head in the day of battell.
8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord: performe not his wicked thought, lest they be proud, Selah.

9 As for the chiefe of them that compass me about, let the mischief of their owne lippes come vpon them.

10 Let coles fall vpon them: let him cast them into a fire, & into the deepe pits, that they rise not.

11 For the backebiter shall not be established vpon the earth: euill shall I hunt the cruell man to destruction.

12 I knowe that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore.

13 Surely the righteous shall praise thy Name, and the iust shall dwell in thy presence.

14 Gods plagues shall light vpon him in such sort, that he shall not escape. That is, shall be defended and preferred by his libertye piousness and care.

PSAL. CXLI.

David being grievously persecuted under Saül, only forth unto God in name pious, & desiring him to bruise his afflictions, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

A Psalm of David.

O Lord, I call vpon thee: haste thee vnto me: heare my voyce, when I cry vnto thee.

2 Let my prayer be directed in thy fight as incense, and the lifting vp of mine hands as an euening sacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the doore of my lips.

4 Incline not mine heart to euill that I should commit wicked workes with men that worke iniquity: and let me not eate of their delicacies.

5 Let the righteous visite me: for that is a benefite: and let him reprove me: for that is a precious oyle that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall crie & pray in their miseries.

6 When their iudges shall be cast downe in stony places, they shall heare my wordes, for they are sweete.

7 Ouer bones lie scattered at the graues mouth, as hee that heareth wood or diggett in the earth.

8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule deliuite.

9 Keepe me from the snare, which they haue layd for me, and from the genneses of the workers of iniquity.

10 Let the wicked fall into his nettes together whiles I escape.

11 They followed their wicked rulers in persecuting the Prophet, and thus opposed that David was miraculously deliuered out of many dangers, as 1 Chron. 18. I sawe Gods merke, whereby he catcheth the wicked in their owne snare. As that some of them escape.

PSAL. CXLII.

The Prophet writeth of himself with store, was carried away with angrie, nor forced by desperation, would kill Saul, but with a quiet minde directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserve him.

A Psalm of David, to giue instruction, and a prayer when he was in the snare.

Cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I prayed vnto the Lord.

2 I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

3 My enemies shall neither despise nor murmur against God, or else shall be vexed in their miseries.

3 Though my spirit was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they primly layd a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but there was none that would know mee: all re- fuge failed me, and I none cared for my soule.

5 Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and sayde, Thou art mine hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my crye, for I am brought very lowe: deliuer mee from my persecuters, for they are too strong for me.

7 Bring my soule out of prison, that I may praye thy Name: then shall the righteous come about me, when thou art beneficall vnto me.

8 Joyce at my wonderfull deliuerance, or to set a crowne vpon mine head.

PSAL. CXLIII.

An earnest prayer for remission of sinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did him cruelly persecute him by Gods iudgement. 8 He desired to be referred to grace, to be governed by his body spirit, that he may spend the remanent of his life in the true feare of God.

A Psalm of David.

Hear my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my supplication: answer me in thy truth, and in thy righteousness.

2 And enter not into iudgement with thy seru- ant: for in thy fight shall none that lieth, be iustified.

3 For the enemy hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: hee hath laid mee in the darkness, as they that haue bene dead a long age.

4 And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, and mine heart within me was amazed.

5 Yes doe I remember the time past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the workes of thine hands.

6 I stretch forth mine hands vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirly land. Selah.

7 Reuerence mee speedily, O Lord, for my spirit faileth: hide not thy face from me, els I shall be like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let mee heare thy louing kindeesse in the morning, for in thee is my trust: heeue mee the way, that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuere mee, O Lord, from mine enemies: for I hid me with thee.

10 Teach me to doe thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit leade mee vnto the land of righteousness.

11 Quicken me, O Lord, for thy Names sake. Let thy righteousness bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercy I may mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppress my soule: for I am thy seruant.

13 Let this holy Spirit counsel me how to come forth of these great cares and troubles, I hid my selfe under the shadow of thy wings, that I might be defended by thy power. 14 He confesseth that both the knowledge and obedience of Gods will cometh by the Spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his word, giueth vnderstanding by his spirit, and frameth our hearts by his grace to obey him. 15 That is, truly and aught: for so from as we decline from Gods will we fall into error, in which shall be a signe of thy Fatherly kindeesse toward mee. 16 Relinquish my selfe wholly vnto thee, and trusting in thy protection.

PSAL. CXLIII.

He prayeth the Lord with great affliction and humilitie for his kingdom restored, and for his victorie obtained. 2 Demanding helpe and the destruction of the wicked, 3 Promising to acknowledge the same with songs of praise, 15 And declaring therein the felicity of my people's conquest.

A Psalme of David.

except in their follie and en-terpryse, as though they were Bran-gers.

i For though they shake hands,
yet they keepe not promise.

k That is, a rare and excellent song, as they great benefices deserve.

l Though wicked kings he called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isa. 45. r. forasmuch as he willed them to execute his iudgements: yet David because of Gods promise, and that they iustly godly, are properly so called, because they ferue not their owne affections, but for Gods glory.

k He desireth
God to continue his benefices toward his people, counting the prerogative of children and their good education among the chiefest of Gods benefices.

l That the very corners of our houses may be full of store for the great abundance of thy blessings.

m He attributeth not onely the great commodities, but euen the least also to Gods fauour.

n And if God giue not to all his children all these blessings, yet he recompenseth them with better things.

Blessed be the Lord my strength, which a teaubereth mine hands to fight, and my fingers to battell.

2 He is my goodnesse and my fortresse, my tower and my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which I subdueth my people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou ^aregardest him? or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon
him!

4 Man is like to vanitie: his dayes are like a shadow, that vanisheth.

5 Bowe thine heauens, O Lord, and come downe: touch the mountaines & they shall smoke.

6 Cast forth the lightning and scatter them:
shoote out thine arrowes, and consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take mee out of the great waters, and from the hand of strangers.

8 Whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood.

9 I will sing a new song vnto thee, O God, and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, and an instrument of ten strings.

10 It is he that giueth deliuerance vnto kings, and rescueth David his i seruant from the hurtfull sword.

11 Rescue me, and deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood:

12 That our ^asonnes may be as the plants growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace:

13 That our i corners may be full and abounding in diuers sorts, and that our sheepe may bring forth thousands and ten thousands in our streets:

14 That our ^aoxen may be strong to labour:
that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in the streets.

15 Blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

16 Blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

17 Blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

18 Blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

19 Blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

20 Blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

21 Blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

neration, and declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiesty, and thy wonderfull works,

6 And they shall speake of the power of thy d fearful actes, and I will declare thy greatnes.

7 They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnesse, and shall sing aloud of thy righteousnesse.

8 The Lord is gracious, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great mercy.

9 The Lord is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his workes.

10 All thy workes praise thee, O Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee.

11 They shewe the glory of thy kingdome, and speake of thy power,

12 To cause his power to be knowne to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renoume of his kingdome.

13 Thy kingdome is an euertlasting kingdome, and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.

14 The Lord vpholdeth all that fall, and lif-teth vp all that are ready to fall.

15 The eyes of all waite vpon thee, and thou giueth them their meate in due season.

26 My mouth shall speake the praise of the Lord, and all flesh shall blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

27 My mouth shall speake the praise of the Lord, and all flesh shall blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

PSAL. CXLVI.

1 David declareth his great grates that hee hath to praye God, 2 And teacheth, not to trust in man, but onely in God al-mightie, 3 Whose deliuereth the oppressed, 4 Deserveth the stranger, comforteth the fatherless, and the widows, 5 And reigneth for euer.

A Psalme of David.

1 I will praise the Lord, O my soule.

2 I will praise the Lord during my life: as long as I haue any being, I will sing vnto my God.

3 Put not your trust in princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is none helpe in him.

4 His breath departeth, and he returneth to his earth: then his thoughts perish.

5 Blessed is he, that hath the God of Iacob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God.

6 Which made ^aheauen & earth, the sea, & all that therein is: which keepeth his fidelity for euer.

7 Which executeth iustice, for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord looseth the prisoners.

8 The Lord giueth fight to the blinde: the Lord enuoyeth the godly to traile onely in the Lord, both for that he is able to deliuer them from all danger, and for his promise sake his will is ready to doe it.

9 Whole faith and patience for a while he trieth, but at length he punisheth the aduersaries, that he may be knowne to be iudge of the world.

P S A L. CXLVIII.

He prometheth all creatures to prayse the Lord in heauen and earth and all places, 14 specially his Church, for the power that he hath giuen to the same after that hee had chosen them and signed them unto him.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

Prayse ye the Lord from the heauen: prayse ye him in the high places.

2 Prayse ye him, all ye ^a his Angels: prayse him, all his armie.

PSAL. CL.

An exhortation to prayse the Lord without ceasing by all manner of wayes for all his mightie and wonderfull workes.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

Prayse ye God in his Sanctuaries: prayse ye him in the firmament of his power.

a Prayse ye him in his mightie Actes: prayse ye him according to his excellent greatness.

Thereof is abolished in the Church. d Hee sheweth that all the order of the world

THE * PROVERBES OF SALOMON.

THE ARGUMENT.

The wonderful love of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: so far as much as the firmament and office of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these brief sentences, which partly containe doctrine, and partly manners, and also exhortations to both: Whereof the nine first chapters are as a preface of grace, sentences, and deep mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a most precious jewel to the Church, of those three thousand parables mentioned 1 King 4. 32. and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomon servants and advised by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and life of the word of God, y of his feare of God and knowledge of his works, to which may be compared to the wisdom of Solomon, 20 Wisdom completelye that sheweth is counted, 28 The punishment of them that contemne her.

He Parables of Salomon the sonne of David King of Israhel.

1 To know wisdom, a and instruction, to understand the words of knowledge,

3 To receive instruction to do wisely, y of justice and judgement and equitie,

4 To give unto the scripture, shapenes of wisdom, and to the child knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall hear, and increase in learning, and a man of off understanding shall attaine unto wise counsels.

6 To understand a parable, & the interpretation, the words of the wise, & their dark sayings.

7 ¶ The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdom and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be to thee comely or ornament unto thine head, and as chains for thy necke.

10 ¶ My sonne, if sinners do intise thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, we will lay waite for thee, blood, and he priuily for the innocent without a cause.

12 We will swallow thee vp alive like a grane euen whole, as those that go downe into the pit:

13 We shall find all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoyle.

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one purpose.

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: reaine thy foote from their path.

16 For their feete run to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainly as without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that hath wing:

18 So they lay waite for blood and lye priuily for their liues.

19 Such are the waies of euery one that is greedy of gain: he would take away the life of the owner of the cof.

20 ¶ Wisdom cryeth without: she vttereth her voyce in the streets.

21 She calleth in the high streetes, among the prease in the entringes of the gates, and vttereth her wordes in the chiefe wayes.

22 O ye foolish, how long will ye loue foolishness, and the comelous tale: the more ye lust in scorning? and the fooles hate knowledge?

23 Turne you at my correction: loe, I will pouere out my minde vnto you, and make you vn-derstand my wordes.

24 Because I haue called, & ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, & none would regard,

25 But ye haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction.

26 I will also laugh at your destruction, and mocke when your feare cometh.

27 When your feare cometh like sudden desolation, and your destruction shall come like a whirle winde: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you.

28 Then shall they call vpon mee, but I will not answer: they shall seeke me early, but they shall not finde me.

29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord.

30 They would none of my counsell, but I despised all my correction.

31 Therefore shall they eate of the fruit of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deui-ces.

32 For as hee slayeth the foolish, and the pro-peritie of fooles destroyeth them.

33 But he that obeyeth me, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

MY sonne, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments within thee,

2 And causethine eares to hearken vnto wisdom, and encline ^b thine heart to vnderstanding,
3 (For if thou callest after knowledge, ^c and encline for vnderstanding:

4 If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for ^d treasures,

5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, and finde the ^e knowledge of God.

6 For the Lord giueth wisdom, ^f out of his mouth cometh knowledge and vnderstanding.

7 He ^g will perseuereth the state of the righteous: he ^h is a shield to them that walke vprightly.

8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he predestineth the way of his Saints

9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteounes, and iudgement, and equite, and eury good path.

10 ¶ When wisdom enureth into thine heart, and knowledge delieth thy soule, 11 Then shall ⁱ counsell preleue thee, and vnderstanding shall keepe thee,

12 And deliuer thee from the euill way, and from the man that speaketh froward things;

13 And from them that leaue the ^j wayes of righteounesse to walke in the wayes of darkness:

14 Which reioyce in doing euil, and delite ^k in the frowardnes of the wicked, 15 Whose wayes are crooked and they are leuie in their paths.

16 And it shall deliuer thee from the strange woman, ^l euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her wordes.

17 Which forsaketh the ^m guide of her youth, and forgetteth the ⁿ counsell of her God.

18 Surely her ^o house tendeth to death, and her paths vnto ^p the dead.

19 All they that goe vnto her, retorne not againe, neither take they hold of the wayes of life.

20 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.

21 For the iust shall dwell in the ^q land, and the vpright men shall remaine in it.

22 But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, & the transgressors shall be rooted out of it.

To them that are dead in body and soule. ^r They shall enjoy spiritual promises of God, as the wicked shall be void of them.

CHAP. III.

1 The word of God giueth life. 2 Trust in God. 3 Feare him. 4 Honour him. 5 Suffer his correction. 6 To cleaue his fellow the word of God, all things succede well.

MY sonne, forget not thou my Law, but let thine heart ^a keepe my commandments.

2 For they shall increase the length of thy dayes, and the yeeres of life, and thy prosperitie.

3 Let not ^b mercie and truth forsake thee: binde them on thy ^c necke, and write them vpon the table of thine ^d heart.

4 So shalt thou finde fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.

5 ¶ Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdom.

6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.

7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and depart from euill.

8 So health shall be vnto thy ^e nauel, and marrow vnto thy bones.

9 For thou shalt be as a tree, and as a cedar that groweth: in the whole body, as by health hee meaneth all members of the Law both corporall and spiritual.

9 ¶ Honour the Lorde with thy riches, and with the first fruits of all thine increase.

10 So shall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy presses shall ^f be burst with new wine.

11 ¶ My sonne, refulse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieved with his correction.

12 ¶ For the Lord correcteth him, whom he loueth, euen as the father doeth the child, in whom he delieth.

13 Blessed ^g is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.

14 For the merchandise thereof is better then the merchandise of silver, and the gaine thereof is better then golde.

15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of dayes ^h is in her right hand, ⁱ and in her left hand riches and glory.

17 Her wayes ^j are wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.

18 She is a tree ^k of life to them that lay hold on her, and blessed ^l is he that retaineth her.

19 The Lorde by wisdom hath layde the foundation of the earth, and hath stablished the heavens through vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and the cloudes drop downe the dewe.

21 My sonne, let not ^m thy eyes depart from thine eyes, but observe wisdom and counsell.

22 So they shall be life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy ⁿ necke.

23 Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way: and thy foote shall not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not be afraid: and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shall be sweete.

25 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the ^o destruction of the wicked, when it cometh.

26 For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, and shall perseuer thy foote from taking.

27 ¶ Withhold not the good from ^p the owners thereof, though there be power in thine hand to doe it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Goe and come againe, and to morrow will I giue thee, if thou now haue it.

29 ¶ Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing he doth dwell ^q without feare by thee.

30 ¶ Striue not with a man causelesse, wch he hath done thee no harme.

31 ¶ Bee not ^r enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.

32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his ^s secret is with the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesteth the habitation of the righteous.

34 With the scornfull ^t he scorneth, but hee giueth grace vnto the humble.

35 The wise shall inherite glorie: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Wisdom and her fruit ought to be searched. 2 The way of the wicked must be refused. 3 By the words of God the heart is kept, and counsell of life must be guided.

HEARE, O ye children, the instruction of a Father, and giue care to learne vnderstanding.

2 And Minister which is as a father vnto the people, read Chapter 1. 3 For 1 As was commanded in the Lawe, Exod. 23. 19. Deut. 6. 2. and by this they acknowledged that God was the giuer of all things, and that they were ready to bestowe all as his commandment.

2 For to the faithful distributer God giueth in greater abundance.

3 Heb. 2. 9. Rom. 3. 19.

4 Meaning that he that seeketh wisdom, that is, subiect himself to be governed by the word of God, shall haue all prosperitie both corporall and spiritual.

5 Which bringeth forth such fruit that they that see thereof, haue life.

6 For he is able to the tree of life in paradise.

7 Herby hee sheweth that this wisdom, whereof he speaketh, is everlasting, because it is beleeued in creatures, and that all things, euen the whole world were made by it.

8 For the word of God deliuereth the wicked, hee will shew him, as he did Lot in Sodom.

9 Not only from them to whom it is possession below, but also thou shalt not keepe it from them, which haue neede of the life thereof.

10 That is, putteth his trust in thee.

11 Define not to be like vnto him.

12 That is, his countenance and fatherly affection which is hid & secret from the world.

13 By his plagues, that their scorner shall turne to their owne destruction.

when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe?

10 ¶ Yet a little sleepe, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleepe, 11 Therefore thou couldest commeth as one that is drunken by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

12 The vanity man ^{and} the wicked man walketh with a forward mouth,

13 He maketh a signe with his eyes: he fignifieth with his feet: he instructeth with his fingers, 14 Lewd things are in his heart: he imagineth euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions.

15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: he shall be destroyed suddenly without reuocitie.

16 ¶ These fixe things doeth the Lorde hate: yea his soule abhorreth them:

17 The hautie eyes, the lying tongue, and the hands that shed innocent blood,

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, a feet that be swift in running to mischief,

19 A false witness that speaketh lyes, and him that raiseth vp contentions among brethren, 20 ¶ My sonne, keepe thy fathers commandment, and forsake not thy mothers instruction.

21 Bind them alway vpon thine heart, and tye them about thy necke.

22 It shall leade thee, when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee.

23 For the commandment is a lantern, and instruction a light: and corrections for instruction are the way of life,

24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman ^{and} from the flatterie of y tongue of a strange woman, 25 Desire not her beaute in thine heart, nether let her take thee with her eye lids.

26 For because of the whorish woman a man is brought to a morrell of bread, and a woman will hurt for the precious life of a man, 27 Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt?

28 Or can a man goe vpon coales, and his feet not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife, shall not be innocent, whose euer toucheth her.

30 Men do not despise a thief, when he stealeth to satisfy his y^e soule, because he is hungry.

31 But if he be founde, hee shall restore seven fold, or he shall giue all the substance of his house.

32 But he that committeth adulerie with a woman, he y^e is destitute of vnderstanding: hee that doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule.

33 He shall finde a wounde and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away.

34 For ielousie is the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance.

35 He cannot beare the sight of any ranfome: neither will he consent, though thou augment the gifts.

36 That is, death appointed by the Lawe. ¶ Hee sheweth that by sinners beinge his deoth, that hath abused his wife, and in conclusion the sinners Gods Lawe, and the Lawe of nature admitteth any ranfome for the sinners.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to a wife and to the word of God, y^e which will preserve vs from the harlot, & which manners are desired.

M y sonne, keepe my words, and hide my commandments with thee,

2 Keepe my commandmentes, and thou shalt live, & mine instruction as the apple of thine eyes.

3 Bind them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto wisdom, thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding thy kinsfellowman,

5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smooth in her wordes.

6 ¶ As I was in the window of mine house, I looked through my window,

7 And I saw among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding,

8 Who passed through the streete by her corner, and went toward her house,

9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be blacke and darke.

10 And behold, there met him a woman with an harlots behaviour, and subtil in heart.

11 (She is babbling and loud: whole feet can not abide in her house.)

12 Now she is without, now in the streetes, and lyeth in waite at euery corner

13 So she caught him & kissed him and with an impudenc face said vnto him, 14 I haue a peace offering: this day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore came I forth to meete thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee.

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, carpets and laces of Egypt, 17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe aloes, and cynamon.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntil the morning: let vs take our pleasure in dalliance.

19 For mine husbande is not at home: hee is gone a iourney farre off.

20 He hath taken with him a bagge of siluer, and will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeeld, and with her flattering lips she iustified him.

22 And hee followed her straightwayes, as an ox that goeth to the slaughter, and as a foole to the stockes for correction, 23 Till a dart strike through his liuer, as a bird hasted to the snare, not knowing that hee is in danger.

24 ¶ Hear me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her paths.

26 For she hath caused many to fall downe wounded, & the strong men are all slaine by her.

27 Her house is the way vnto y^e graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death, 28 Which goeth cheerfully not knowing y^e he shall be chastised. ¶ She is for his life. 1 Neither winneth strength can deliuer them that fall into the handes of the harlot. Chap. viii.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wisdom declares her excellencie, 12 Righte, 13 Power, 23 Sternitie, 33 She exhorteth al to loue and follow her.

Deeth y^e not a wisdom cryd and vnderstanding vnto her voyce?

2 She standeth in the coppe of the high places by the way in the place of the paths.

3 She cryeth besides the gates before the citie at the entrie of the doores, 4 O men, I call vnto you, and vnto my voyce to the children of men.

5 Whence the people did weel reioice, and which was the place of iustice,

By this diuersitie of words he meaneth that no strength ought to be to disuade vs, as the words of God, nor that we looke on any thing more, nor misdeane any thing so much.

When men vnto this parable to declare their folie, that iustice themselves to be abused by harlots.

He sheweth that there was a world of sinners, but they were afraid to be iene, & also their owne consciences did accuse them which caused them to feele the night to cover their kinde.

For gumm.

For now.

He describeth certain conditions, which are peculiar to harlots.

Like the bawling and her face.

Because that in peace offerings a portion is returned to them that offer.

Redde theweth him that he hath made at home to make good cheer with or els the would vse some cloke of busines.

He had gotten him in her snare.

Which declares that harlots outwardly w^{ill} seeme holy and religious: both because they may the better deceive others, and also thinking by chiering of ceremonies and offerings to make satisfaction for their sinnes.

For, earned working.

Elm his head.

Which thinking he goeth to the pasture goeth willingly to his owne destruction.

Chap. ix.

A Salomon declares that man is cause of his owne perdition and that he can perard no importance, for salomon, as God calld to al men by his word, and so hee from vices.

The Lord will not famish the soule of the righteous: but he casteth away the substance of the wicked.

4 A flouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 He that gathereth in summer, is the sonne of wisdom: but he that sleepeth in harvest, is the sonne of confusion.

6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall cover the mouth of the wicked.

7 The memoriall of the iust shall be blessed: for the name of the wicked shall rotte.

8 The wife in heart will receiue commandments: but the foolish in heart, shall be beaten.

9 He that walketh vprightly, walketh & boldly: but he y peruertheth his wayes, shall be known.

10 He that y winketh with the eye, y worketh leuety, and he that is foolish in talke, shall be beaten.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a wellspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: but loue couereth all trespasses.

13 In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding, wisdom is found: and a rod shall be for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdom.

14 Wise men lay vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foolish is a present destruction.

15 The rich mans goods are his strong cities: but the feare of the needie is their pouterte.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to finne.

17 He that regardeth instruction, is in the way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.

18 He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth slander, is a foole.

19 In many words there cannot want iniquitie: but he that restraineth his lips, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iust man is as a fined silver: but the heart of the wicked is like worth.

21 The lips of the righteous doe feede many: but fooles shall die for want of wisdom.

22 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he doth adde no forowes with it.

23 It is as a pasture to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will graunt the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundation.

26 As vinegar is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the flouthful to the that send him.

27 The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the eyes of the wicked shall be diminished.

28 The patient abiding of y righteous shall be plaine: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie.

30 The righteous shall neuer be remoued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shall be fruitfull in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be out.

32 The lips of the righteous knowe what is acceptable: but the mouth of he wic ked person sheweth forward things.

C H A P. XI.

False balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfit weight pleareth him.

2 When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.

3 The vprightnesse of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnesse of the transgressors shall destroy them.

4 Riches asuile not in the day of wrath: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousness of the vpright shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednes.

6 The righteousness of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressors shall be taken in their owne wickednes.

7 When a wicked man dieth, his hope perissheth, and the hope of the vniuist shall perish.

8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his steade.

9 An hypocrite wisheth his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be deliuered by knowledge.

10 In the prosperitie of the righteous the city is reioyced: and when the wicked perish, there is ioy.

11 By the blessing of the righteous, the city is enuailed: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisdom: but a man of vnderstanding will keepe silence.

13 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discovereth a secret: but he that is of a faithfull heart, concealeth a matter.

14 Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many counsellers are, there is health.

15 He shall be fore vexed, that is suretie for a stranger, and he that hateth suretishipp, is sure.

16 A gracious woman attaineth honour, and the strong men attaine riches.

17 He that is mercifull, rewardeth his owne soule: but he y troubleth his owne flesh, is cruel.

18 The wicked worketh a deceitfull worke: but he that soweth righteousness, shall reeue a sure reward.

19 As righteousness leadeth to life: so he that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death.

20 They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in their way, are his delight.

21 Though hand in hand, the wicked shall not be vnpunished: but the seed of the righteous shall escape.

22 As a well of golde in a syues inount: so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretion.

23 The desire of the righteous is only good: but the hope of the wicked is indignation.

24 There is that scattereth, and is more increased: but he that spareth more, than is right, surely cometh to pouterte.

25 The liberal person shall haue plenty: and he that watereth, shall also haue raine.

26 He that withdraweth the corne, the people will curse him: but blessing shall be vpon the head of him that y selleth corne.

27 He that seeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euill, it shall come to him.

28 He a Vnder this word he condemneth all false weights, measures, and deceit.

the knowledge of God. c. Shall be punished as he deserves, i. Pet. 4. 18.

28 He that trusteth in his riches, shall fall: but the righteous shall flourish as a leafe.
29 He that troubleth his owne house, shall inherite the winde, and the foole shall be stewart to the wife in heart.
30 The fruite of the righteous is as a tree of life, and he that eateth thereof shall live.
31 Behold, the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth: how much more the wicked and the sinner?

1. This is brought in to the knowledge of God. c. Shall be punished as he deserves, i. Pet. 4. 18.

C H A P. XII.

HE that loveth instruction, loveth knowledge: but he that hateth correction, is a foole.
2. A good man getteth favour of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginations will be condemned.
3. A man cannot be established by wickednes: but the root of the righteous shall not be moved.

a They are so grounded in the favour of God, that their roote shall prosper continually. b Fair, fragrant, pleasant.

4. A vertuous woman is the crowne of her husband: but she that maketh him ashamed, is as corruption in his bones.
5. The thoughts of the just are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull.
6. The talking of the wicked is to litan waite for blood: but the mouth of the righteous will deliver them.

b As their consciences are upright, so shall they be able to speake for them selves against their accusers.

7. God overthreweth the wicked, & they are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand.

c The poore man that is contented and yet loveth of his owne trouble. d. is mercifull, even to the very bratt that doeth him service. e Chap. 18. 19. f. ex. 10. 27. g. Chap. 18. 19.

8. A man shall be commended for his wisdom: but the froward of heart shall be despised.

9. He that is despised, & and is his owne servant, is better then he that boasteth himselfe, and lacketh bread.

10. A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruell.

11. He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is destitute of vnderstanding.

12. The wicked directeth the net of evils: but the fruite of the righteous giueth fruit.

h. Continually magnified means how to doe harme to others. i Meaning, their heart within, which is upright and doeth good to all.

13. The cuill man is snared by the wickednes of his lips: but the iust shall come out of a laceracy.

14. A man shall be satiate with good things by the fruite of his mouth, and the recompence of a mans hands shall God giue vnto him.

15. The way of a foole is straight in his owne eyes: but he that heareth counsel, is wise.

16. A foole in a day shall be known by his anger: but he that covereth shame, is wise.

17. He that speaketh truth, will shew righteousness: but a false witnesseth deceit.

18. There is that speaketh words like the prickings of a sword: but the tongue of wise men is health.

19. The lippe of truth shall be stable for ever: but a lying tongue varies & incontinently.

20. Deceit is in the heart of them that imagine euil: but to the counsellors of peace shall be joy.

21. There shall none iniquitie come to the iust: but the wicked are full of euil.

22. The lying lips are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truly are his delire.

23. A wife man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of the fool is published foolishnes.

24. The hand of the diligent shall beare rule: but the idle shall be vnder tribute.

25. Heauinesse in the heart of man doth bring it downe: but a good word reioyceth it.

26. The righteous is more excellent then his neighbour: but the way of the wicked will deceiue them.

27. The deceitfull man reioiceth not that hee is taken in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious.

28. Life is in the way of righteousness, and in that path way there is no death.

get much by violent means, yet will hee not spend it upon himselfe.

C H A P. XIII.

A wife sonne will obey the instruction of his father: but a scolder will heare none buke.

2. A man shall eate good things by the fruite of his mouth: but the soule of the trespassers shall suffer violence.

3. He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: he that openeth his lips, destruction shall come to him.

4. The fuggard is lusteth, but his soule hath sought: but the soule of the diligent shall have plenty.

5. A righteous man hateth lying words: but the wicked causeth slander and shame.

6. Righteousnesse preferueth the vpright of life: but wickednesse ouerthroweth the sinner.

7. There is that maketh himselfe rich, and hath nothing: and that maketh himselfe poore, having great riches.

8. A man will giue his riches for a ransom of his life: but the poore cannot heare the reproch.

9. The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked shall be put out.

10. Onely by pride doth man make contention: but with the well aduised is wisdom.

11. The riches of vanity shall diminish: but he that gathereth with the hand, shall increase them.

12. The hope that is deferred, is the fraying of the heart: but when the desire cometh, it is as a tree of life.

13. He that despiseth the worde, he shall be destroyed: but he that feareth the commandment, he shall be rewarded.

14. The instruction of a wife man is as the wellspring of life, to turne away from the snares of death.

15. Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated.

16. Euery wife man will worke by knowledge: but a foole will spread abroad folly.

17. A wicked messenger falleth into euill: but a faithfull ambassador is preferuacion.

18. Prouerbes and shame is to him that reioiceth in instruction: but he that regardeth correction, shall be honoured.

19. A desire accomplished delighteth a foole: but it is an abomination to fooles to depart from euill.

20. He that walketh with the wife, shall be wise: but a companion of fooles shall be afflicted.

21. Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto the righteous God will recompense good.

22. The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his childrens children: and the riches of the sinner is laid up for the iust.

23. Much food is in the field of the poore: but the field is destroyed without direction.

24. He that spareth his rod, hateth his sonne: but he that loveth him, chasteneth him becime.

25. The righteous eareth to the cōtention of his minde: but the belly of the wicked shall want.

CHAP. XIII.

A Wife woman * buildeth her house : but the foolish destroyeth it with her owne hands.

* He that walketh in his righteousnes, feareth the Lord : but he that is lewde in his wayes, despiseth him.

In the mouth of the foolish is the rod of pride: but the lippes of the wise presume them.

Where none * oxen are, there the cribbe is empty: but much increase of moweth by the strength of the ox.

A faithfull witness will not lye: but a false record will speake lyes.

A sower * seeketh wisdom, and soweth it not: but knowledge is easie to him that will vnderland.

Depart from the foolish man, when thou perceiuest not in him the lippes of knowledge.

The wisdom of * prudent is to vnderland his way: but the foolishnes of the fool is deceit.

The fool maketh a mocke of * sinne: but among the righteous there is fauour.

The heart knoweth the bitterness of his foyle, & the stranger shall not meddle with his ioy.

The house of the wicked shall be destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shall flourish.

* There is a way that seemeth right to a man: but the issues thereof are the waies of death.

Even in laughing the heart is sorrowful, and the end of that mirth is heavinesse.

The heart that declineth, I shall be satiate with his owne wayes: but a good man shall depart from him.

The foolish will beleue euery thing: but the prudent will consider his steppes.

A wise man seareth, and departeth from euill: but a foole rageth, and is careless.

He that is hasty to anger, committeth folly, and a * busie body is hated.

The fool doth inhike folly: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

The euill shall bow before the good, and the wicked * at the gates of the righteous.

The poore is hated euen of his own neighbour: but the friends of the rich are many.

The sinner despiseth his neighbour: but he that hath mercy on the poore, is blessed.

Do not they eue that imagine euill? but to them that thinke on good things, shall be mercy and truth.

In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lipps bringeth onely want.

The crowne of the wise is their riches: and the folly of foolles is foolishnesse.

A faithfull witness delivereth soules: but a deceiver speaketh lies.

In the feare of the Lord is an assured strength, and his children shall haue hope.

The feare of the Lord is as a wellspring of liues: to auoid the snares of death.

In the multitude of the people is the honour of a King, and for the want of people cometh the destruction of the Prince.

He is slow to wrath, is of great wisdom: but he that is of an halting mind, walketh folly.

A sound heart is the life of the shepeth: but coule is the rotting of the bones.

* He that oppresseth the poore, reprobeth him that made him: but he honoured him, that hath mercy on the poore.

The wicked shall be cast away for his malice: but the righteous hath hope in his death.

Wife doome relecth in the heart of him that hath vnderstanding, and is knowen in the maies of foolles.

Iustice exalteth a nation, * but sinne is a shame to the people.

The pleasure of a King is in a wife seruant: but his wrath shall be to ward him that is lewde.

CHAP. XV.

Soft answer putteth away wrath: but grieuous words stire vp anger.

The tongue of the wise vith knowledge aight: but the mouth of foolles * babbleth out foolishnesse.

The eyes of the Lord in every place be: hold the euill and the good.

A wholesome tongue is as a tree of life: but the frowardnes thereof is the breaking of * mind.

A foole despiseth his fathers instruction: ut he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

The house of the righteous hath much treasure: but in * reuenges of the wicked is * trouble.

The lippes of the wise doe spread abroad knowledge: but * heart of * foolish doth not fo.

The sacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the righteous is acceptable vnto him.

The way of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lord: but he loueth him that followeth righteousness.

Instruction is euill to him that forsaketh the way, and he that hateth correction, shall die.

Hell and destruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the fannes of men.

A sower leueth not him that rebuketh him, neither will he go vnto the wife.

A ioyfull heart maketh a cheerefull countenance: but by the sorow of the heart the spirit is heauie.

The heare of him that hath vnderstanding, seeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is fedde with foolishnesse.

All the dayes of the afflicted are euill: but a good conscience is a continuall feast.

Better is a litle with the feare of the Lord, then great treasure, and trouble therewith.

Better is a dinner of greene herbes where loue is, then a stalled oxe and hatred therewith.

An angry man stirreth vp strife: but he that is slow to wrath, appealeth strife.

The way of a slouthfull man is as an bedge of thorns: but the way of the righteous is plaine.

A wife sonner reioyeth the father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother.

Foolishnes is ioy to him that is destitute of vnderstanding: but a man of vnderstanding walketh vprightly.

Without counsell thoughtes come to nought: but in the multitude of counsellers there is stedfastnesse.

A ioy commeth to a man by the answer of his mouth: how good is a word, in due season?

The way of life is on high to the prudent, to auoide from hell beneath.

The Lord will destroy the house of the proude men: but hee will stablish the borders of the widow.

The thoughts of * wicked are abomination to the Lord: but the pure heart is pleasant words.

Ec 27 He

For as much as they are cometh thereby and put to silence.

Verp. 12.

For though they have sin, yet it is full of trouble and care.

That thing is abominable before God, which the wicked think.

In his most excellency and whereby they thinke much to be accepted.

28 The heart of the righteous studieth to answer: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euill things.

29 The Lord is farre off from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous.

30 The light of the eyes reioyceth the heart, and a good name maketh the bones fat.

31 The care that hearkeneth to the correction of life, shall lodge among the wise.

32 He that refuseth instruction, despiseth his owne soule: but he that obeyeth correction, getteth vnderstanding.

33 The feare of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom: and before honour geer humilitie.

CHAP. XVI.

THe preparations of the heart are in man: but the answer of the tongue is of the Lord.

2 All the wayes of a man are cleane in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the spiritus.

3 Commit thy works vnto the Lord, and thy thoughts shall be directed.

4 The Lord hath made all things for his owne sake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of euill.

5 All that are proud in heart, are an abomination to the Lord: though his hand is ynto him, he shall not be vn Timer.

6 By mercy and truth iniquity shall be forgiven, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill.

7 When the wayes of a man please the Lord, he will make also his enemies at peace with him.

8 Better is a little with righteousness, then great reuenues without equity.

9 The heart of man is purpoeth his way: but the Lord doth direct his steppes.

10 A diuine sentence shall be in the lips of the King: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement.

11 A true weight & balance are of the Lords: all the weights of the bagge are his workes.

12 It is an abomination to Kings to commit wickednes: for the throne is stablished by iustice.

13 Righteous lips are the delite of Kings, and the King loueth him that speaketh right things.

14 The wrath of a King is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it.

15 In the light of the Kings countenance is life: all his fauour is as a cloud of the latter raine.

16 How much better is it to get wisdom then gold? and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then silver.

17 The path of righteousness is to decline from euill, and he keepeth his soule, & keepeth his way.

18 Pride geer before destruction, and an high mind before the fall.

19 Better it is to be of humble mind with the lowly, then to denide the foyles with the proud.

20 He that is wise in his busines shall find good: and he that trusteth in the Lord he is blessed.

21 The wife in heart shall be called prudent: and the sweetnesse of the lips shall increase doctrine.

22 Vnderstanding is a wellspring of life vnto the that haue it: and the instruction of foolen is folly.

23 The heart of the wise guideth his mouth wisely, and addeth doctrine to his lippen.

24 Faire words are as an honycombe, sweetnesse to the soule, and health to the bones.

25 There is a way that seemeth right vnto man, but the issue thereof are the wayes of death.

26 The person that trauaileth, trauaileth for himselfe: for his mouth & craueth it of him.

27 A wicked man diggeth vp euill, and in his lips is like a burning fire.

28 A froward person soweth strife: and a tale teller maketh diuision among princes.

29 A wicked man deceiueth his neighbour, and leidech him into the way that is not good.

30 He shutteth his eyes to deuide wickednes: he moueth his lips, and bringeth euill to passe.

31 Age is a crowne of glory, when it is found in the way of righteousness.

32 He that is slow vnto anger, is better then the mighty man: and he that ruleth his owne mind, is better then he that winneth a ciuy.

33 The lot is cast into the lappet: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

Better is a dry morfell, if peace be with it, then a house full of sacrifices with strife.

2 A discrete seruant shall haue rule ouer a lewd sonne, and he shall diuide the heritage among the brethren.

3 As is the fining pot for silver, and the furnace for gold, so the Lord tryeth the hearts.

4 The wicked giueth heed to false lippen, and a lyer hearkeneth to the naughtie tongue.

5 He that mocketh the poore, reprocheth him, that made him: and he that reioyceth at destruction, shall not be vn Timer.

6 Children of childe are the crowne of the elders: and the glory of the children are their fathers.

7 If he talke becommeth not a foolle, much lesse a lying talke a prince.

8 A reward is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth, whithercoer it cometh.

9 He that couereth a transgression, seeketh loue: but he that repeateth a matter, separateth the prince.

10 A reproofe entrencheth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a foolle.

11 A felonious person seeketh on ly euill, and a cruell messenger shall be sent aginst him.

12 It is better for a man to meeete a beare robbed of her whelpen, then a foolle in his folly.

13 He that rewardeth euill for good, euill shall not depart from his house.

14 The beginning of strife is one that openeth the waters: therefore the contention be medled with, leaue off.

15 He that iustifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord.

16 Wherefore is there a price in the hand of the foolle to get wisdom, and he hath none heart?

17 A friend loatheth ill times: and a brother is borne for aduersitie.

18 A man destitute of vnderstanding, i toucheth the hand, and becommeth furciv: for his neighbour.

19 He loueth transgression that loueth strife, and he that exalteth his gate, seeketh destruction.

20 The froward heart hindeth no good, and he that

1 That suffereth himselfe to be admonished by Gods word, which begetteth life: shall be made wise.

2 He derideth the proclamation of man, who dare attribute to himselfe any thing, as to prepare his heart on such like, seeing that he is not able to speake a word, except God giue it him.

3 He sheweth hereby that man derideth himselfe in his downgadding that vnto which God is contrary.

4 So that the fall of Gods shall appear to his glory, euen in the destruction of the wicked.

5 He beweth the folly of man which thinketh that his wayes are in his own hand, & yet is not able to remove one foote except God giue him force.

6 If they be true and iustities are Gods worke, and he derideth them, in his otherwise if they be false, they are the worke of the deuil, and so their condemnation on that vie them.

7 They are appointed by Gods rule according to equitie and iustice.

8 Which is insufficient vnto many maner to excuse his work.

9 Which is insufficient to the dry ground.

10 The sweet wordes of consolation which come forth of a goodly heart.

11 Either that which the wicked teach others, or else it is to teach them that are malicious.

12 The man that is slow to anger, is better than the mighty man, and he that rules his own mind, is better than he that wins a city.

that hath a naughty tongue, shall fall into euill.

11 He that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorrow, and the father of a foole can haue no ioy.

12 A ioyfull heart catcheth good health: but a sorrowfull minde drieth the bones.

13 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the *bo-*some to wrest the wayes of iudgement.

14 A wise man is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the world.

15 A foolish sonne is a griefe vnto his father, and a heauinesse to her that bare him.

16 Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that the princes should smite such for equity.

17 He that hath knowledge, spareth his words, and a man of vnderstanding is of an excellent spirit.

18 Euen a foole (when he holdeth his peace) is counted wise, and hee that stoppeth his lippes, prudent.

CHAP. XVIII.

For the desire sheweth hee will separate himselfe to seeketh, and occupie himselfe in all wisdom.

1 A foole hath no desire in vnderstanding: but that his heart may be discouered.

2 When the wicked cometh, then cometh contempt, and with the vile man reproch.

3 The wordes of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the welsping of wisdom is like a flowing riuer.

4 It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause ther gheuous to fall in iudgement.

5 A fooles lipps come with strife, and his mouth catcheth for stripes.

6 A fooles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lipps are a snare for his soule.

7 The wordes of a tale bearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly.

8 He also that is slouthfull in his worke, is euen the brother of him that is a great waster.

9 The Name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth vnto it, and is exalted.

10 The rich mans riches, are his strong citie: and as an his well in his in agination.

11 Before destruction the heart of a man is haughty, and before glory getteth lowlinesse.

12 Hee that answereth a matter before hee heare it, is folly and shame vnto him.

13 The spirit of a man will susteine his infirmities: but a wounded spirit, who can leaue it?

14 A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the care of the wise seeketh learning.

15 A mans gift enlargeth him, and leadeth him before great men.

16 He that is iust in his owne cause, is iust: then cometh his neighbour, and maketh inquiry of him.

17 The loe leaueth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mightie.

18 A brother offended is harder to winne then a strong citie, and their contentions are like the barre of a palace.

19 With the fruite of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his lipps shall he be filled.

20 Death & life are in the power of the tongue, and whome hee cannot otherwise be pacified, which for the strength and they that loue it, shall eate the fruit thereof.

21 Hee that findeth a wife, findeth a good thing, and receiveth fauour of the Lord.

22 The poore speaketh with prayers: but the rich answereth roughly.

23 A man that hath friends, ought to shew himselfe friendly: for a friend is needfull when a brother.

24 That is, oft times such are found which are more ready to doe pleasure, then he that is more bound by dutie.

CHAP. XIX.

Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnesse, then he that bugeth his lipps, & is a foole:

1 For without knowledge the minde is not good, and he that halseth with his feete, sinneth.

2 The foolishnesse of a man peruertheth his way, and his heart freeth against the Lord.

3 Riches gather many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbour.

4 A false witness shall not be vnpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall not escape.

5 Many reuerence the face of the prince, and eueny man is friend to him that giueth gifts.

6 All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: how much more will his friends depart farre from him? though he be instant with words, yet they will not.

7 He that possesseth vnderstanding, bloueth his own soule, & keepeth wisdom to finde goodnes.

8 A false witness shall not be vnpunished: and he that speaketh lyes, shall perish.

9 Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer princes.

10 The disreuerence of a man deserteth his anger: and his glory is to passe by an offence.

11 The Kings wrath is like the roaring of a lyon: but his fauor is like the dew vpon the grasie.

12 A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his father, and the contentions of a wife are like a continuall dropping.

13 House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers: but a prudent wife cometh of the Lord.

14 Slouthfulness catcheth to fill a sleeper, and a deceitfull person shall be ashamed.

15 He that keepeth the commandement, keepeth his owne soule: but hee that despiseth his wayes, shall die.

16 Hee that hath mercy vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen.

17 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his murmuring.

18 A mans anger shall suffer punishment, and the tighthou shall deliver him, yet will his anger come againe.

19 Heare counsell and receive instruction, that thou maiest be wise in thy latter end.

20 Many desires are in a mans heart: but the counsell of the Lord shall stand.

21 That that is to be desired of a man, is his goodnesse, and a poore man is better then a liar.

22 The feare of the Lord leadeth to life: and he that is filled sheweth shall continue, and shall not be visited with cuill.

23 The slouthfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and will not put it to his worke againe.

24 Smite a corner, and the foolish will be ware: and reprove the prudent, and he will vnderstand knowledge.

25 Hee that destroyeth his father, or chasteth away

By the wing of the tongue will he call, cometh the fruit thereof: either good or bad. He that is ioyed with a virtuous woman is made rich in blessing of the Lord, as Chap.

27 My sonne, heare no more the instruction, that causeth to erre fro the words of knowledge.
28 A wicked witnes mocketh at iudgement, & the mouth of the wicked swalloweth vp iniquity.
29 But iudgements are prepared for the scorners, and stripes for the backe of the fooles.

CHAP. XX.

Wine is a mocker, and strong drinke is raging: and whofoever is deceived thereby, is not wise.

3 The feare of the King is like the roaring of a lyon: hee that prouoketh him vnto anger, sinneth against his owne soule.
4 It is a mans honour to cease from strife: but every foole will be meddling.

5 The slouthfull will not plowe, because of winter: therefore shall hee begge in summer, but haue nothing.

6 The counsell in the heart of a man is like deepe waters: but a man that hath vnderstanding, will draw it out.

7 Many men will boast euery one of his owne goodnesse: but who can finde a faithfull man?

8 He that walketh in his integritie, is iust: and blessed shall his children be after him.

9 A King that sitteth in the throne of iudgement, shall cast away all euill with his eyes.

10 Who can say, I haue made mine heart cleane, I am cleane from my sinnes?

11 Diuers weights, and diuers measures, both these are euen abomination vnto the Lord.

12 A childe also is knowne by his doings, whether his worke be pure and right.

13 The Lord hath made both these, euen the care to heare, and the eye to see.

14 Loue not sleepe, lest thou come vnto pouertie: open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread.

15 It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone apart, hee boasteth.

16 There is golde, and a multitude of precious stones: but the lippen of knowledge are a precious iewel.

17 Take his f garment, that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger.

18 The bread of deceit is sweete to a man: but afterward, his mouth shall be filled with grauell.

19 Establish the thoughts by counsell: and by counsell make warre.

20 Hee that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth secrets: therefore meddle not with him that flattereth with his lips.

21 He that curseth his father or his mother, his light shall be put out in obscure darkenesse.

22 An heritage is hastily gotten at the beginning, but the end thereof shall not be blessed.

23 Say not thou, I will recompense euill: for thou wait vpon the Lord, and he shall find thee.

24 Diuers weights are an abomination vnto the Lord, and deceitfull balances are not good.

25 The steps of man are ruled by the Lord: how can a man then vnderstand his owne way?

26 It is a destruction for a man to s deuoure that which is sanctified, and after the vowes to inquire.

27 A wife King scattereth the wicked, and causeth the wheele to turne ouer them.

28 The light of the Lord is the breath of man, and searcheth all the bowels of the belly.

28 Mercy and truth preferre the King: for his throne shall be established with mercy.

29 The beauty of young men is their strength, and the glory of the aged is the gray head.

30 The blowenalls of the wound (sueth) to purge the cuill, and the stripes within the bowels of the belly.

CHAP. XXI.

T He whose heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the rivers of waters: he turneth it whithersoever it pleaseth him.

2 Euery way of a man is right in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts.

3 To doe iustice and iudgement is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice.

4 A hautie looke, and a proud heart, which is the light of the wicked is sinne.

5 The thoughts of the diligent doe surely bring at oundance: but whofoever is hasty, commeth surely to pouertie.

6 The gathering of treasures by a deceitfull tongue, is vanitie tossed to and fro of them that seeke death.

7 The robbery of the wicked shall destroy them: for they haue refused to execute iudgement.

8 The way of some is peruered and strange: but the pure man, his worke is right.

9 It is better to dwell in a corner of the house tope, then with a contentious woman in a ll wide house.

10 The soule of the wicked witheth euill: and his neighbour hath no fauour in his eyes.

11 When the scorner is punished, the foolish is wise, and when one instructeth the wife, he will receiue knowledge.

12 The righteous teacheth the house of the wicked: but God ouerthroweth the wicked for their euill.

13 Hee that stoppeth his eare at the crying of the poore, he shall also cry and not be heard.

14 A gift in secret pacifieth anger, and a gift in the bosome great wrath.

15 It is ioy to the iust to doe iudgement: but delusion shall be to the workers of iniquity.

16 A man that wandereth out of the way of wise dome, shall remaine in the congregation of the dead.

17 Hee that lounch pastime, shall be a poore man: and he that loqueth wine and oyle, shall not be rich.

18 The wicked shall be a ranfome for the iust, and the transfereur for the righteous.

19 It is better to dwell in the wildemesse, then with a contentious and angry woman.

20 In the house of the wife is a pleasant treasure and loyle: but a foolish man deuoureth it.

21 He that followeth after righteousnesse and mercie, shall finde life, righteousnesse and glory.

22 A wife man goeth vp into the cite of the mightie, and casteth downe the strenght of the confidence thereof.

23 He that keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soule from afflictions.

24 Proud, hauty, and comefull is his name that worketh in his arrogancie wrth.

25 The desire of the slouthfull slayeth him: for his hands refuse to worke.

26 Hee couereth euermore greedily, but the righteous giveth and spareth not.

27 The * sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination: how much more when he bringeth it with a wicked mind?

28 * A false witness shall perish: but he that heareth, ^a speaketh continually.

29 A wicked man hardeneth his face: but the just, he will direct his way.

30 There is no wisdom, neither vnderstanding, nor counsell against the Lord.

31 The horse is prepared against the day of battell: but saluation is of the Lord.

CHAP. XXII.

A * Good name is to be chosen about great riches, and * louing fauour is about siluer and about gold.

2 * The rich and poore ^a meete together: the Lord is the maker of them all.

3 * A prudent man feedeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish go on still, and are punished.

4 The reward of humilitie, and the feare of God is riches, and glory, and life.

5 Thornes and snares are in the way of the sroward: but he that regardeth his soule, will depart farre from them.

6 Teach a child ^a in the trade of his way, and when he is old he shall not depart from it.

7 The rich ruleth the poore, and the borrower is seruant to him that lendeth.

8 He that soweth iniquity, shall reape affliction, and the rod of his anger will faile.

9 * He that hath a good eye, he shall be blessed: for he giueth of his bread vnto the poore.

10 Cast out the former, and strife shall go out: so contention and reproch shall cease.

11 Hee that lounch purenesse of heart ^a for the grace of his lips, the King shall be his friend.

12 The eyes of the Lord ^a prefeue knowledge: but he ouerthroweth the words of the transgressor.

13 The slouthfull man saith, I A Lyon is without, I shall be slaine in the streete.

14 The mouth of strange women is as a deepe pit: he wich whom the Lord is angrie, shall fall therein.

15 Foolishnesse is bound ^a in the heart of a child: but the rod of correction shall driue it away from him.

16 He that oppresseth the poore to increase himselfe, and giueth vnto the rich, shall surely come to povertie.

17 * Incline thine eare, & heare words of the wife, and apply thine heart vnto my knowledge.

18 For is shee pleasant, if thou keepe them in thy belly, and if they be directed together in thy lips.

19 That thy confidence may be in the Lord, I haue shewed thee this day: thou therefore take heed.

20 Haue not I written vnto thee ^a three times in counsels and knowledge, 21 That I might shew thee the assurance of the words of truth, to answer the words of truth to them that tend to thee?

22 Robbe not the poore because he is poore, neither oppress the afflicted ^a in iudgement.

23 For the Lord ^a will defend their cause, and spoyle the soule of those that spoyle them.

24 Make ^a no friendship with an angrie man, neither go with the furious man, 25 Lest thou learne his wayes, and recieue destruction to thy soule.

26 Be not thou of them that touch the hand, nor amongst them that are suretie for debts.

27 If thou hast nothing to pay, why causest thou that he should take thy bed from vnder thee?

28 Thou shalt not ^a remoue the ancient bounds which thy fathers haue made.

29 Thou feest that a diligent man in his businesse standeth before Kings, and standeth not before the base foot.

CHAP. XXIII.

W Hen thou sittest to eat with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee,

2 And put the knife to thy throte, if thou be a man giuen to the appetite.

3 Be not desirous of his dainty meates: for it is a deceivable meat.

4 Trauaile not too much to be rich: but cease from thy ^a wisdom.

5 Wilt thou cast thine eyes vpon it, which is nothing: for riches takeeth her to her wings, as an Eagle, and flieth into the heauen.

6 Eat thou not the bread of him that hath an euill eye, neither desire his dainty meates.

7 For as though he thought it in his heart, so will he say vnto thee, Eat and drinke: but his heart is not with thee.

8 Thou shalt vomit thy morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy sweete words.

9 Speake not in the eares of a foolle: for he will despise the wisdom of thy words.

10 * Remoue not the ancient bounds, and enter not into the fields of the fatherlesse.

11 For he that redeemeth them, is mighty: he will ^a defend their cause against thee.

12 Apply thine heart to instruction, and thine eares to the words of knowledge.

13 Withhold not correction from the child: if thou smite him with the rod, he shall not die.

14 Thou shalt smite him with the rod, and shalt deliuer his soule from a hell.

15 My sonne, if thine heart be wife, mine heart shall reioyce, and I also, 16 And my reines shall reioyce, when thy lips speake righteous things.

17 * Let not thine heart be enuious against sinners: but let it be in the feare of the Lord continually.

18 For surely there is an end, and thy hope shall not be cut off.

19 O thou my sonne, heare, and be wise, and guide thine heart in the way.

20 Keepe not companie with drunkards, nor with gluttons.

21 For the drunkard and the glutton shall be poore, and the sleeper shall be clothed with ragg.

22 Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old.

23 Buy ^a the truth, but sell it not: likewise wisdom, and instruction, and vnderstanding.

24 The father of the righteous shall greatly reioyce, and he that begetteth a wife child, shall gaie.

25 Thy father and thy mother shall be glad, and she that bare thee shall reioyce.

he it not? will not he alſo recompence euery man according to his works?

13 My ſonne, eat of honey, for it is good, and the honey combe, for it is ſweete vnto thy mouth.

14 So ſhall the knowledge of wiſdome be vnto thy ſoule if thou find it, and there ſhall be an end, and thine hope ſhall not be cut off.

15 Lay no wait, O wicked man, againſt the righteous, and ſpoyle not his reſting place.

16 For a iuſt man ſhall ſcatter ſeuern times, and riſeth againe: but the wicked fall into miſchiefe.

17 Be thou not glad when thine enemy falleth, and let not thine heart reioyce when he ſtumbleth.

18 Leſt the Lord ſee it, and it diſpleaſe him, and he turne his wrath ſtill from him.

19 ¶ Fret not thy ſelfe bec: uſe of the malicious, neither be enuious at the wicked.

20 For there ſhall be none end of plagues to the euill man: the light of the wicked ſhall be put out.

21 My ſonne feare the Lord, and the King, and meddle not with them that are ſeditious.

22 For their deſtruction ſhall riſe ſuddenly, and who knoweth the ruine of them ſpeedily?

23 ALSO THESE THINGS PERTAIN TO THE V. VISE, It is not good to haue reſpect of any perſon in iudgement.

24 Hee that ſaith to the wicked, Thou art righteous him ſhall the people curſe, and the multitude ſhall abhorre him.

25 Eue to them that rebuke him, ſhall be plea-ſure, and vpon them ſhall come the bleſſing of goodneſſe.

26 They ſhall kiſſe the lips of him that an-ſwereth vpright words.

27 Prepare thy work without, and make ready thy things in the field, and after, build thine houſe.

28 Be not a witneſſe againſt thy neighbor without cauſe: for wilt thou deceiue with thy lips?

29 ¶ Say not, I will do him, as he hath done to me, I will recompence euery man according to his work.

30 I paſſed by the field of the ſlouthfull, and by the vineyard of the man deſtitute of vnder-ſtanding.

31 And lo, it was alſo growen out with thornes, and nettles had couered the face thereof, and the ſtone wall thereof was broken downe.

32 Then I beheld, and I conſidered it well: I looked vpon it, and I receiued inſtruction.

33 ¶ A little ſleepe, a little ſlumber, a little ſoldng of the hands to ſleepe.

34 So thy poverty cometh as one that tra-uelleth by the way, and thy neceſſitie like an armed man.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The wicked flee when none pursueth: but the righteous are bolde as a lyon.
 1 For transgression of the land there are many princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge a realme likewise endureth long.
 2 A poore man, who if he oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine, that leaueth no foode.
 3 They that forsake the Lawe, praise the wicked: but they that keepe the Lawe, set themselves against them.
 4 Wicked men vnderstand not iudgement: but they that seeke the Lord vnderstand all things.
 5 Better is the poore that walketh in his vp-rightnesse, then hee that peruerteth his wayes, though he be rich.
 6 He that keepeth the Lawe, is a child of vnderstanding: but hee that feedeth the gluttons, shames his father.
 7 Hee that increaseth his riches by vsury and interest, gathereth c them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore.
 8 He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his prayer shall be abominable.
 9 He that catcheth the righteous to goe astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherite good things.
 10 The rich man is wise in his own conceit: but the poore that hath vnderstanding, can try him.
 11 When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man is tried.
 12 He that hideth his finnes, shall not prosper: but hee that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shall haue mercy.
 13 Blessed is the man that feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into cuill.
 14 As a ringing lyon, and a hungry beare, so is a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

15 A prince deficiente of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but hee that hateth c ouetousnesse, shall prolong his dayes.
 16 A man that doth violence against the blood of a person, shall flee vnto the grate, and they shall not stay him.
 17 He that walketh vprightly shall be saued: but he that is froward in his wayes, shall once fall.
 18 He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread, but he that followeth the idle, shall be filled with poudertie.
 19 A faithfull man shall abound in blessings, and he that maketh haste to be rich, shall not be innocent.
 20 To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man will transgresse for a peece of bread.
 21 A man with a wicked eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not, that poudertie shall come vpon him.
 22 He that rebuketh a man, shall finde more fauour at the length, then hee that flattereth with his tongue.
 23 Hee that robbeth his father and mother, and saith, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.
 24 Hee that is of a proud heart, stirreth vp strife: but hee that trusteth in the Lord, shall be satte.
 25 Hee that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but he that walketh in wisdom, shall be deliuered.
 26 He that giueth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but hee that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses.
 27 When the wicked rise vp, men hide themselves: but when they perish, the righteous increase.

CHAP. XXIX.

A man that hardeneth his necke when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroyed, and cannot be cured.
 1 When the righteous are in authoritie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh.
 2 A man that loueth wisdom, reioyceth his father: but he that feedeth harlots, wasteth his substance.
 3 A king by iudgement maintaineth the country: but a man reuoluing gifts, destroyeth it.
 4 A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his steps.
 5 In the transgression of an euill man is his snare: but the righteous doeth figne and reioyce.
 6 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.
 7 Scomfull men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.
 8 If a wife man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no reit.
 9 Bloody men hate him that is vpright: but the iust haue care of his soule.
 10 A foole pouerth our all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till after ward.
 11 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lyes, all his seruants are wicked.
 12 The poore and the vsurer meete together, and the Lord lighteneth both their eyes.
 13 A king that iudgeth the poore in truth, his throne shall be established for euer.
 14 The rodde and correction giue wisdom: but a Because their owne conscience accuse them.

 b The state of the common weale is oftentimes changed.

18 Where there is no vision, the people decay: but he that keepeth the Law is blessed.

19 A servant will not be chastised with words: though he understand, yet he will not answer.

20 Seest thou a man haughty in his matters? there is more hope of a foole, then of him.

21 He that delicately bringeth vp his servant from youth, at length he will be cun as his sonne.

22 An angry man stirreth vp strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression.

23 The pride of a man shall bring him low: but the humble in spirit shall enjoy glory.

24 He that is partner with a thiefe, hateth his owne soule: he heareth cursing & declareth it not.

25 The feare of man bringeth a share: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be exalted.

26 Many doe seeke the face of the ruler: but every mans judgement cometh from the Lord.

27 A wicked man is abomination to the iust, and he that is vpright in his way, is abomination to the wicked.

CHAP. XXX.

1 To humble ourselves in consideration of Gods works. 2 The word of God is profit. 3 Of the wicked and hypocrites. 4 Of things that are never false. 5 Of others that are womanly.

THE WORDS OF ASAPH THE SONNE OF IAKH.

1 He prophesie which the man spake vnto Ichielmen to Ichiel, and Vcal.

2 Surely I am more a foolish then any man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me.

3 For I haue not learned wisdom, nor attained to the knowledge of holy things.

4 Who hath ascended vp to heauen, and descended? Who hath gathered the winde in his fist? Who hath bound the waters in a garment? Who hath established all the ends of the world? What is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell?

5 Every word of God is pure: he is a shield to those that trust in him.

6 I put nothing vnto his words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar.

7 Two things haue I required of thee: denie me them not before I die.

8 Remove farre from mee vanitie and lies: giue me not pueritie, nor riches: feede mee with food conuenient for me, 9 Left I be full, and denie thee, and say, Who is the Lord? or left I be poore and steale, and take the Name of my God in vaine.

10 Accuse not a servant vnto his master, lest he curse thee, when thou hast offended.

11 There is a generation that curse their father, and doth not blesse their mother.

12 There is a generation that are pure in their owne conceits, and yet are not washed from their filthineffe.

13 There is a generation whose eyes are haury, and their eye lids are lifted vp.

14 There is a generation, whose teeth are as swordes, and their iawes as knives to eat vp the afflicted out of the earth, and the poore from among men.

15 The horsefleece hath two daughters which are, Giue, giue. There be three things that will not be satisfied: yea, foure that say not, It is enough.

16 The graue, and the barren wombe, the earth that cannot be satisfied with water, and the fire that sayth not, It is enough.

17 The eye that mocketh his father & despiseth the instruction of his mother, let the rauen of the valley picket out, and the young eagles eat it.

18 There be three things hid from mee: yea, foure that I knowe not:

19 The way of an eagle in the ayre, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, the way of a ship in y mids of the sea, and the way of a man with a mayd.

20 Such is the way also of an adulterous woman: she eateth and is wipeth her mouth, & sayth, I haue not committed iniquitie.

21 For three things the earth is moued: yea, for foure it cannot susteine it selfe.

22 For la seruant when he reigneth, & a foole when he is filled with meat, 23 For the hateful woman, when she is married, & for a handmaid that is married to her mistress.

24 These be foure small things in the earth, yet they are a wife, and full of wisdom:

25 The palmiers a people, not strong, yet prepare they their meate in summer:

26 The conies a people not mighty, yet make they their houses in the rocke:

27 The grasshopper hath no king, yet goe they forth all by bands:

28 The spider taketh holde with her handles, and is in kings palaces.

29 There be three things that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going,

30 A lyon which is strong among beastes, and turneth not at the sight of any:

31 A lustie gray hound, and a goar, and a king against whom there is no rising vp.

32 If thou hast bene foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, and if thou hast thought wickedly, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth.

33 When one curmeth milke, hee bringeth forth butter: and he that wingeth his nose, causeth blood to come out so he that forceth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Rehearseth in chastite and iustice, 20 and forsweth the conditions of a wife and worldly woman.

THE WORDS OF KING LEMUEL:

1 The prophesie which his mother taught him.

2 What my sonne! & what the sonne of my wombe! and what, O sonne of my desires!

3 Giue not thy strength vnto women, & nor thy wayes, which is to destroy Kings.

4 It is not for Kings, O Lemuel, it is not for Kings to drinke wine, nor for princes strong drinke, 5 Left he drinke and forget the decree, and change the iudgement of all the children of affliction.

6 Giue ye strong drinke vnto him that is ready to perish, and wine vnto them that haue griefe of heart.

7 Let him drinke, that he may forget his pueritie, and remember his miserie no more.

8 Open thy mouth for the dumme in the streete, and neglect his office, which is to execute iudgement.

9 Defend their cause that are not able to helpe themselves.

h The leech hath two tokens in her gape, which she calleth her two daughters, whereby she sucketh the blood, and is neuer satiate: euen so are the covetous extortioners insatiable. i Which haunt in the valley for carions.

k She hath her desires, and after counterfeits as though she were a honest woman. l The fe commonly abuse the state whereunto they are called. m Which is married to her master after the death of her mistress. n They continue great doctrine and wisdom.

o If man be able to compass these common things by his wisdom we cannot ascribe wisdom to man but folly.

9 Open thy mouth: iudge righteously, & iudge the afflicted, and the poore.

10 ¶ Who shall finde a vertuous woman? for her price is farre above the pearls.

11 The heart of her husband trusteth in her, and he shall haue no need of spoyle.

12 She will do him good, and not euill all the dayes of her life.

13 She seeketh wooll and flaxe, and laboureth cheerefully with her hands.

14 She is like the hippees of marchantes: shee bringeth her food from afarre.

15 And she riseth, whyles it is yet night: and giueth the portion to her household, and the ordinarie to her maydes.

16 She considereth a feld, & getteth it: and with the fruite of her hands she planteth a vineyard.

17 She girdeth her loynes with strength, and strengtheneth her armes.

18 She seetheth that her marchandise is good: her candle is not put out by night.

19 She putteth her handes to the wheele, and her hand is handle the spindle.

20 She stretcheth out her hand to the poore, and putteth forth her hands to the needy.

21 She feareth not the snowe for her familie: for all her familie is clothed with skarlet.

22 Shee maketh liasse carpets: fine linnen and purple is her garment.

23 Her husband is known in the gates, when he sitteth with the Elders of the land.

24 She maketh liasse, and selleth them, and giueth girdles vnto the marchant.

25 Strength and honour is her clothing, and in the latter day she shall reioyce.

26 She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and the law of grace is in her tongue.

27 She overseeth the wayes of her household, and catcheth not the bread of idleness.

28 Her children rise vp, and call her blessed: her husband also shall praye her, saying, 29 Many daughters haue done virtuously: but thou formouest them all.

30 Favour is deceitfull, & beautie is vanity: but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be playded:

31 Giue her of the fruit of her hands, and let her owne workes praye her in the 9 gates.

h He shall not neede to use any unlawfull meanes to gaue his liuing.

ECCLESIASTES, OR THE PREACHER.

THE ARGUMENT.

Salomon as a Preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deedeuill vanities of this world: that man should not bee aduised to any thing vnder the sunne, but rather instructed with the desire of the heavenly life: therefore he consulteth their opinions, which set their felicitie, either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that man true felicitie consisteth in that, that he is united with God, and shall enjoy his presence: so that all other things must be reuicied, saue inasmuch as they further us to attaine to this heavenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and cannot be found in any other same in God alme.

CHAP. I.

1. All things in this world are full of vanity, and of sorrow. 2. All men wise men, but yet they are grieved.

3. He words of the Preacher, the sonne of David king in Ierusalem.

4. Vanitie of vanities, sayeth the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

5. What remaineth vnto man in all his trouble, which hee suffereth vnder the sunne?

6. One generation passeth, & another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for ever.

7. The sunne riseth, and the sunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place, where he riseth.

8. The winde goeth toward the South, and compasseth toward the North: the winde goeth round about, and returneth by his circuits.

9. All the riuers go into the sea, yet the sea is not full: for the riuers go vnto the place, & whences they returne, and go.

10. All things are full of labour: man cannot vex: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the care filled with hearing.

11. What is it that hath bene? that that shall be: and what is it that hath bene done? that that shall be done: and there is no new thing vnder the sunne.

12. One man dieth of another, and the earth remaineth long, even to the last day, which yet is subject to corruption. 13. By the sunne, winde, and riuers be the work that the great labour and longest hath an ende, and therefore there can be no felicitie in this world. 14. For the fe which compasseth all the earth, filleth the vines thereof, the which pouer out springs and riuers into the sea againe. 15. He speaketh of times and seasons, and things done in them, which as they haue bene in times past, so come they to passe againe.

10. Is there any thing, whereof one may say, Beholde this, It is new? it hath bene already in the old time that was before vs.

11. There is no memorie of the former, neither shall there bee a remembrance of the latter that shall be, with them that shall come after.

12. ¶ 1. The Preacher haue bene King vnder Ierusalem:

13. And I haue giuen mine heart to searce and finde out wisdom, by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this for trauell hath God giuen to the sonnes of men,) to humble them thereby.

14. I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne, and beholde, all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

15. That which is crooked, can none make straight: & that which faileth, cannot be numbred.

16. I thought in mine heart, and said, Beholde, I am become great, and excell in wisdom: all them that haue bene before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdom and knowledge.

17. And I gaue mine heart to know wisdom and knowledge. I madnesse and foolishnesse: I knew also that this a vexation of the spirit.

18. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

19. Many have laboured, and have not found wisdom, neither have they attained to knowledge: for they haue laboured for vanity, and for emptinesse.

20. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

21. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

22. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

23. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

24. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

25. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

26. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

27. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

28. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

29. For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and hee that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

Discreet, sumptuous buildings, riches, and possessions, &c. but vanitie. 13 The wife and the foole haue both one end, touching the body death.

I Said in mine heart, Goe to now, I will proue thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.

I Said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?

I sought in mine heart to giue my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in wisdom, and to take holde of follie: till I might see where is that goodnes of the children of men, which they enjoy vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of their life.

I haue made my great works: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyards.

I haue made me gardens and orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruite.

I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

I haue gotten seruaunts and maides, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beets and sheepe about all that were before me in Ierusalem.

I haue gathered vnto me also siluer and gold, & the chiefest treasures of kings & prouinces: I haue provided me men fingers, and women fingers, & the delicies of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

And I was great, and increased about all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdom remained with me.

And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I withheld it from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour and this was my portion of all my trauell.

Then I looked on all my works that mine hands had wrought, and on the traueile that I had laboured to doe: and behold, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profit vnder the sunne.

¶ And I turned to behold wisdom, and madnesse and follie: (for who is the man that will come after the King in things, which men now hate done?)

Then I saw that there is profit in wisdom, more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darkness.

* For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkness: yet I know also that the same condition falleth to them all.

Then I thought in mine heart, he befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole. Why therefore do I then labour to be more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.

For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole: for euery for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And how dieth the wife man, as doeth the foole?

¶ Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne is grievous vnto me: for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

I hated also all my labour, wherein I had traueiled vnder the Sunne, which I shall leave to the man that shall be after me.

¶ And who knoweth whether he shall be wife or foolish? yet shall he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue traueiled, and wherein I haue liued my selfe vnder the Sunne. This is also vanitie.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart to abhorre all the labour, wherein I had traueiled vnder the Sunne.

21 For there is a man whose traualle is in wisdom, and in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not traueiled herein, shall he giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.

22 For what hath man of all his traualle and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath traueiled vnder the Sunne?

23 For all his dayes are sorowes, and his traueile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.

24 There is no profit to man: but that he eate, and drinke, and p delight his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God.

25 For who could eate, and who could haile to outward things more then I?

26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdom, and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner he giueth paine, to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

CHAP. III.

1. All things haue their time. 2. The works of God are peris and eage. 3. He that is wise shall build both the life and vantage.

I O all things there is an appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen.

1 A time to be borne, & a time to die: a time to plant, & a time to plucke vp that which is planted.

2 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.

3 A time to weep, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to dance.

4 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.

5 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

6 A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.

7 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

8 What profit hath he that worketh, of the thing wherein he traueileth?

9 I haue seene the traueile that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men, to trouble them therewith.

10 He hath made euery thing beautifull in his time: also he hath set the world in their heart, yet cannot man find out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end.

11 I know that there is nothing good in thim, but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life.

12 And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commodity of all his labour: this is the gift of God.

13 I know that whatsoever God shall doe, it shall be for euery: to it can no man add, & from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.

14 What is that that hath bene? that is now: and that that shall be, hath now bene: for God requireth that which is past.

15 And moreover I haue seene vnder the sun the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse, and the place of iustice, where was iniquitie.

16 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust

That I might seeke the true felicitie which is in God.

Among other things this was not the least, to leave that which he had gotten by great traueile, to one that had taken no paine therewith, and whom he knew not whether he were a wife man or a foole. When man hath laboured, hee can get so more then food, and refreshing, yet hee confideth also that this commend of Gods blessing, as Chap. 3. 13. Meaning, to pleasures.

He speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes, first to declare that there is nothing in this world perperuall: next to teach vs not to be grieued, if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither to enioy them so long as we would wish.

Reade Chap. 3. 13. God hath giuen man a desire, and affliction to seeke out the thing of this world and to labour therein. Reade Chap. 3. 24. & these places declare that we shall do all things with sobriety, and in the feare of God, forasmuch as he giueth vs his gifts to the intent that they should be abused. That is, man shall never be able to let Gods worke, but as he hath determined, so it shall come to pass. God wisely causeth that, which is past, to returne.

g Meaning, with God, howsoever man neglect his duties.

h And made them pure in their first generation.

i Man is not able by his reason and judgement to put difference between man and beast, at touching those things whereunto both are subjected: for the eye cannot judge any other life of a man being dead, then of a beast, which is dead: yet by the word of God and faith we easily know the difference, as ver. 31.

just and the wicked: for time is there for every purpose and for every work.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had purged them yet to see to, they are in themselves as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beasts are even as one condition vnto them. As the one dyeth, so dyeth the other: for they have all one breath, & there is no excellency of man above beast: for all is vanity.

20 All goe to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend vpward, and the spirit of the beast descend downeward to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should reioyce in his affairs, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

CHAP. III.

a The innocents are oppressed. b Men labours are full of abuse and vanity. c Man's sacrifice is necessarie. d A young man poore and wise, is to be preferred to an old King that is a foole.

O I turned and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, and behold the teares of the oppressed, & none comforteth them: & the strength is of the hand of them that oppress them, and none comforteth them.

2 Wherefore I prayed for the dead which now are dead, about the living, which are yet alive.

3 And I count him better then them both, which hath not yet bene: for he hath not scene the euill workes which are wrought vnder the sunne.

4 Also I beheld all traualle, & all perfection of workes, that this is the enuy of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanity & vexation of spirit.

5 The fowle foldeth his hands, and eateth vp his owne feele.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnesse, then two handfulls with labour and vexation of spirit.

7 Again I returned and saw vanity vnder the sunne.

8 There is one alone, & there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none end of all his traualle, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither death hee thinke. For whom doe I traualle & defraud my soule of pleasure? this also is vanity, and this is an euill traualle.

9 Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellow: but woe vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp.

11 Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heate: but to one how should there be heate?

12 And if one overcome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefold guard is not easily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an old and foolish king, which will no more be admonished.

14 For out of the prison he commeth forth to reigne: when as he that is borne in his kingdom, is made poore.

15 I beheld all the living, which walke vnder the sunne, & with the second childe, which shall stand vp in his place.

16 There is none end of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanity and vexation of spirit.

17 Take heede to thy sonne when thou entrest into the house of God, and be more nere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of a fool: for they know not that they doe euill.

18 They thinke themselves abased, as other haue bene in their place, yet will not be more for him. That is, with what affection thou comest to heare the word of God. A Meaning, of the wicked, which thinke to please God with remouers, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

CHAP. V.

a Not to speake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters. b The courteous can make haue enough. c The labourer sleepe is sweete. d Mean when hee doth nothing worth his time. e To be iust, and with a conuered mind, is the gift of God.

B not a rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hasty to vter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy words be few.

2 For as a dreame cometh by the multitude of businesse, so the voice of a foole is in the multitude of wordes.

3 When thou hast vowed a vow to God, defer not to pay it: for hee lighteth not in fooles: pay therefore that thou hast vowed.

4 It is better that thou shouldst not vow, then that thou shouldst vow and not pay it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy flesh to sinne: neither say before the Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore shall God be angry by thy voyce, and destroy the worke of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities are also many wordes: but feare thou God.

7 If in a country thou see the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not altoned at the matter: for he that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the abundance of the earth is our all: the king also consisteth by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loveth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and he that loveth riches, shall without the fruit thereof: this also is vanity.

10 When goods increase, they are increased that eat them: and what good cometh to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The sleepe of him that trauelleth, is sweete, whether hee eat little or much: but the facietie of the rich will not suffer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sicknesse that I haue scene vnder the sunne: so wisdome, riches referred to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And the riches perish by euill trauell, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his hand is nothing.

14 As he came forth of his mothers belly, he shall returne naked to go as he came, and shall hee beare away nothing of his labour, which he hath caused to passe by his hand.

15 And this also is an euill sicknesse, that in all points as he came, so shall he goe, and all that profit hath he that he hath trauelled for the wind.

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in a darkness.

17 We doth not enjoy his fathers riches, so that hee shall sing in vaine, and without profit. A In affliction and griefe of minde, which.

1 Whithersoever the King goeth, he shall be there: for he shall be there to see to the people, and to be with them in their griefe.

2 They are not to be despised by all men: for they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men.

9 They are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men.

10 They are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men.

11 They are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men.

12 They are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men.

13 They are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men.

14 They are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men.

15 They are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men.

16 They are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men.

17 They are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men, but they are to be despised by all men.

with much griefe, and in his sorow anger.

17 Behold then, what I haue seene good, that it is comely to eate: and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he trauaileth vnder the sun, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to cate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

A miserable state of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to use them.

Here is an euill, which I saw vnder the sun, and it is much among men:

1 A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but God giueth him not power to cate thereof, but a strange man shall cate it vnto this is vanitie, and this is an euill sicknesse.

2 If a man begette an hundred children and lue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres bee multiplied, and his soule bee not satisfied with good things, and he be not buried, I say that an vntime fruit is better then hee.

3 For hee cometh into vanitie, and goeth into darkenesse: and his name shall bee couered with darkenesse.

4 Also he hath not seene the sun, nor knowne therefore this hath more rest then the other.

5 And if he had liued a thousand yeeres twife tolde, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

6 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the soules not filled.

7 For what hath the wife man more then the fool? what hath the poore that I knoweth howe to walke before the liuing?

8 The sight of the cies is better then to walk in the lutes: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

9 What is that that hath bene? the name thereof is nowe named: and it is known that it is man: and he cannot strue with him that is stronger then hee.

CHAP. VII.

Diuer precepts to followe that which is good, and to auoid the contrary.

Verye there be many things that increafe vanitie: and what aualeth it man?

1 For who knoweth what is a good for man in the life, and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing hee maketh them as a shadow? For who can shew vnto man what shall be after him vnder the sunne?

2 A good name is better then a good oymnet, and the day of death, then the day that goeth in borne.

3 It is better to goe to the house of mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the end of all men: and the liuing that lay it to his heart.

4 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

5 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of foolles is in the house of mirth.

6 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wife man, then that a man should heare the song of foolles.

7 For like ynoise of the thorns vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the fool: this also is vanitie.

8 Surely oppression maketh a wife man mad: and the reward destroyeth the heart.

9 The end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit is better then the proude in spirit.

10 Be not thou of an hastic spirit to be angry: for anger relecth in the bosome of foolles.

11 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou doest not enquire wisely of this thing.

12 Wisedome is good with an inheritance, and excellent to them that see the sunne.

13 For man shall rest in the shadow of wisdom, and in the shadow of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisdom giueth life to the possessers thereof.

14 Beholde the worke of God: for who can make straight that which he hath made crooked?

15 In the day of wealth bee of good comfort, and in the day of affliction consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should find nothing after him.

16 I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is iust man that perisheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

17 Be not thou iust: ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldst thou be defolate?

18 Be not thou wicked ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldst thou perish in thy time?

19 It is good that thou lay hold on this: but yet withdrawe not thine hand from that: for he that seareth God, shall come forth of them all.

20 Wisedome shall strengthen the wife man more then the mighty princes that are in the cie.

21 Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

22 Giue not thine heart also to all the wordes that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

23 For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou like wife hast cursed others.

24 All this haue I proued by wisdom: I thought I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

25 It is farre off, what may it bee? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it?

26 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart: to know and to enquire and to search wisdom, and reason, and to knowe the wickednesse of folly, and the foolishnesse of madnesse.

27 And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nettles and snares, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her.

28 Beholde, sayeth the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to finde the count:

29 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not: I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

30 Onely Ioe, this haue I founde, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue sought many inventions.

dWhich crieth for a while and resteth not. e A man that is effeminate wife, when he fallth to oppression, becometh like a beast.

f He seareth their lightnes which canterpise a thing, & suddenly laue it off againe.

g Man must not against God when he doeth aduersities for mans finnes.

h He answereth to them that esteeme not wisdom, except riches be toyed.

i Consider that which are the gifts of God, but that wisdom is more excellent, and may be without riches.

k As for a man that is able to controlle nothing in his worke.

l Meaning, that cruell tyrants put the godly to death and let the wicked goe free.

m Shall not too much of thine owne iustice and wisdom.

n Tis not long when thou art admonished to come out of the way of wickednesse.

o To wit, on these admonitions that goe before.

p Consider what defolation and destruction shall come, if thou doe so.

q Credite them not, neither care for them.

r As for the euill of others.

s Meaning, wisdom.

t That is, to come to a conclusion.

u And so are count of their owne destruction.

CHAP. VIII.

1 To shew Princes and Magistrates, by the words of God, what men knoweth.

Who is as the wife man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisdom of a man doth make his face to shine; and the strength of his face shall be changed.

1 I advise thee to heed to the mouth of the King, and to the word of the orbe of God.

3 Halle not to goe fourth of his fight: stand not in an euill thing; for he will doe whatsoever pleaseth him.

4 Where the word of the King is, there is power; and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 He that keepeth the commandment, shall know none euill thing, and the heart of the wife shall know the time and iudgement.

6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the miserie of man is great vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which shall befall him: who can tell him when it shall be?

8 Man is not lord of his spirit: to retain the spirit: neither hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessors thereof.

9 All this haue I seene and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke, which is wrought vnder the sunne, and I saw a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt.

10 And likewise I saw the wicked buried, and they returned, and they came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euill worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.

12 Though a sinner doe euill and hundreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it shall be well with them that feare the Lord, and doe reuerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadowe, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whom it cometh according to the work of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it cometh according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I prayed ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the sunne, saue to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is assigned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to know wisdom, and to behold the businesse that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe, 17 Then I behelde the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it: yes, and though the wife man thinke to know it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 To shew outward things can man knowe whom God inheriteth, 12 No man knoweth his ende, 16 Wisdome excelleth strength.

I haue surely giuen mine heart to al this, and to declare all this, that is the iust, and the wife, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the fennel, here that sweareth, as he that feareth an othe.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the sunne, that there is one condition to all, and also the heart of the finnes of men is full of euill, and maketh in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they goe to the dead.

4 Surely whoeuer is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dog, than to a dead lion.

5 For the liuing knoweth that they shall dye, but the dead knowe nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for this remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue and their hatred, and their enuy is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the sunne.

7 Goe, eate thy breade with ioy, & drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God nowe accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 Reioyce with the wife whome thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the sun all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trouble wherein thou labourest vnder the sunne.

10 All that thine hand shall find to doe, doe it with all thy power: for this is neither worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom: in the graue whither thou goest.

11 I returned and I sawe vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding: neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance cometh to them all.

12 For neither doeth man know his grime, but as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birdes that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also seene this wisdomede vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A little citie and fewemen in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded forts against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wife man, and hee deliuered the citie by his wisdomede: but none remembered this poore man.

16 The said, I, Better is wisdomede than strength: yet the wisdomede of the poore is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of a wife are more heard in quietnesse, then the cry of him that ruleth among foolles.

18 Better is wisdomede then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

Dead flies cause to stinke, & putrifie the ointment of the apotecarie: so doth a little folly him that is in estimation for wisdom, and for glory.
 2 The heart of a wife man is at his right hand: but the heart of a fool is at his left hand.

And also when the fool goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he is trelch vnto all that he is a fool.

If the spirit of him that ruleth, rule vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentlemen cast great sinnes.

There is an euill that I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

Follie is set in great excellencie, and the rich sit in the lowe place.

I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

He that diggech a pit, shall fall into it, and he that breaketh y^e hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

He that remoueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and hee that cutteth wood, shall be in danger thereby.

If the iron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, he must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdom.

If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed: no better is a babler.

The words of the mouth of a wife man bring grace: but the lips of a fool deuoure himselfe.

The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnesse.

For the fool multiplieth wordes, saying, Man knoweth not what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him?

The labour of the foolish doth weary him: for he knoweth not to get into the circle.

Woe to thee, O land, when thy King is a child, and thy princes eate in the morning.

Blessed art thou, O land, when thy King is the sonne of nobles, & thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse.

By slothfulness the rooffe of the house goeth to decay, and by the idleness of the handes the house droppeth through.

They prepare bread for laughter, and wine to forteth the liuing, but situer answereth to all.

Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the soule of the heauen shall eary the voyce, & that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

Ye be liberall to the poore, & ye are deare of Gods prouidence. 2 All worldly prosperitie is but vanitie. 3 God will iudge all.

As thy breath vpon the waters: for after many dayes thou shalt find it.

Give a portion to seuen, & also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shall come vpon thee.

If the clouds be full, they will powre forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shall be.

He that obstructeth the wind, shall not sowe, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape.

As thou knowest not which is y^e way of the Lord, nor how the bones doe growe in the wombe:

so thou knowest not what the seede doeth in the wombe, nor how the seede doeth in the wombe.

other that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

In the morning bow thy feeble, and in the evening let not shine hande: rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or that, or whether both shall be alike good.

Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of darkness, because they are many, all that cometh is vanitie.

Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the fight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

Therefore take away griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill to depart from thy flesh: for childhood and youth are vanitie.

CHAP. XII.

To thinke on God in youth, and not to forsake till age. 7 The soule returneth to God. 21 If wisdom is the gift of God, and consisteth in fearing him and keeping his commandments.

Remember now thy Creator in the dayes of thy youth, whiles the euill dayes come not, nor the yeeres approach, wherein thou shalt say, I haue no pleasure in them:

Whiles the sunne is not darke, nor the light, nor the moone, nor the starres, nor the cloudes returne after the raine.

When the keepers of the house shall tremble, & the strong men shall bow themselves, and the grinders shall cease, because they are few, and they waxe darke that e looke out by the windows:

And the doores shall be shut without by the bafe sound of the grinding, and he shall rise vp at the voyce of the birds: and all the daughters of singing shall be abased.

Allo they shall be afraid of the hie thing, and feare shall be in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and concupiscence shall be driuen away: for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners go about in the streete.

Whiles the silver cord is not lengthened, nor the golden p^rewer broken, nor the pitcher broken at the well, nor the wheele broken at the cistern:

And dust returne to the earth as it was, and the spirit returne to God that gaue it.

Vanitie of vanities, sayeth the Preacher, all is vanitie.

And the more wise the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched forth, and prepared many parables.

The Preacher sought to finde out pleasant wordes, and an vp^right writing, euen the words of truth.

The words of the wife are like goades, and like nailes: fastened by the masters of the assemblies, which are giuen by one y^e pastour.

And of other things beside these, my sonne, take thou heed: for there is none ende in making that conserueth the braine, which is in colour like golde. 3 That is the heart out of the which the head draweth the powers of life. 4 The soule incontinently goeth either to ioy or torment, and sleepeth not as the wicked imagine. 5 Which are well applied by the mistifiers, whom he calleth mistifiers. 7 That is by God.

Be not weary of well doing. 2 That is, which of thy workes are most agreeable to God.

That is, of affliction and trouble. 3 Hee desireth them that let the delight in worldly pleasures, as though God would not call them to account.

To wit, anger, and enuie.

Meaning, carnal lusts whereunto iustice is giuen.

Before thou come to a continual miter: for when the cloudes remaine after the raine, mans griefe is increased.

The hands, which keepe the body.

The legs, the teeth, the eyes.

The lips, or mouth.

When the sawes shall scurle open, and not be able to chaw no more.

He shall not be able to sleepe.

see the fruits of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished.

CHAP. VII.

1 The beauty of the Church in all her members. 2 She is affraid of Christs love towards her.

How beautifull are thy goings with shooes,
O princes daughter! the ioints of thy thighs are like iewels: the worke of the hand of a cunning workman.

3 Thy nauell is as a round cup that wanteth not liquor: thy belly is as an heap of wheat com-passed about with lilics.

3 Thy two breastes are as two yong roes that attwinnes.

4 Thy necke is like a towre of yuory: thine eyes are like the fish peoples of Hebron by the gate of Barh-rabbim: thy nose is as the towre of Lebanon, that looketh toward Damascus.

5 Thine head vpon thee is as scarlet, and the bush of thine head like purple: the king is tied in the iⁿstrafers.

6 Howe faire art thou, and how pleasant art thou, O my loue, in pleasures!

7 This thy stature is like a palme tree, and thy breasts like chuffers.

8 I saide, I will goe vp into the palme tree, I will take holde of her boughes: thy breastes shall nowe be like the clusters of the vine: and the fa-uour of thy nose like apples.

9 And the roose of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth straight to my welbeloued, and caueh the lips of the ancient to speake.

10 I am my welbeloued, and his desire is toward me.

11 Come, my welbeloued, let vs goe forth into the field: let vs remaine in the villages.

12 Let vs get vpon early to the vines, let vs see if the vine flourish, whether it hath budded the final grape: whether the pomegranates flourish: there will I giue thee my loue.

13 The mandrakes haue giuen a smell, and in our gates are all sweete things, new and olde: my welbeloued, I haue kept them for thee.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The Church will be taught by Christ. 2 She is upheld by him. 3 The welbeloued haue wherewith Christ teacheth her. 4
She is the vine that bringeth forth fruit to the spiritual Salomon, which is Iesus Christ.

O H that thou werest as my brother that sucked the breasts of my mother: I would I finde thee without. I would I kisse thee, then they should not despise it thee.

2 I will lead thee and bring thee into my mothers house: there thou shalt teach me: and I will cause thee to drinke spiced wine, and new wine of the pomegranate.

3 His left hand shall be vnder mine head, and his right hand shall embrace me.

4 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, that you stir not, nor wake my loue, until the please.

5 (Who is this that cometh vp out of the wildernesse, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) Iraide thee vp vnder an apple tree: there thy mother taught thee: there she cōceded that bare thee.

6 Set me as a seale on thine heart, and as a signe vpon thine arme: for loue is strong as death:
it is as cruel as the grave: the coles thereof are serie coles, and a vehement flame.

7 Much water cannot quench loue, neither can the floods drowne it: if a man should giue all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly continue it.

8 Wee haue a litle sister, and she hath no breasts: what shall we doe for our sister when she shall be spoken for?

9 If he be a wall, we will build vpon her a silver palace: and if she be a doore, we will keepe her in with boards of cedar.

10 I am a wall, and my breasts are as towres:
then was I in his eyes as one that finisheth peace.

11 Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: hee gaue the vineyard vnto keepers: euery one bringeth for fruit thereof a thousand pieces of silver.

12 But my vineyard which is mine, is before me: to thee, O Salomon, apperituen a thousand pieces of silver, and two hundred to them that keepe the fruit thereof.

10 Thou that dwellest in the gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cause me to heare it.

14 O my welbeloued, flee away, and be like vnto the roe, or to the yong hart vpon the moun-taines of spices.

ISAIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

God according to his promise, Deut. 18. 15. that he would neuer leave his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall reuelation, but also to interpret and declare the Law, and to apply particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein, to the vilitie and profits of those, to whom they thought it chiefly to appertain, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Lawe they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine: First to the doctrine contained briefly in the two tables: secondly to the promises and threatenings of the Lawe: and thirdly to the covenants of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Sauour Iesus Christ, who in the ende of the Lawe. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them understanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safeguard by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more cleerly increased it then Moses, and far more lively Iesus Christ, in whom this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: ever applying the doctrine, as he saues that the disease of the people required. Her declaration of many notable prophecies which he had received of God, as touching the promise of the Messiah, his office, and his kingdom. Also of the favour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their union with the Iewes. Which are as most principall points contained in this booke, and a gathering of his sermons that he preached. VVith. b after cert. time dayes: that they had stood vpon the Temple doore (for the meane of the Prophets was to set up the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes that the people might the better marke it, as Isa 8. 1. and Habak. 2. 2.) the Priests took it downe and referred it among the registers: and so by Gods providence this booke was preserved as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person and time, he was of the Kings stocke (for Amos his father was brother to Ahasiah King of Iudah, in the best writers agree) and prophesied more then 64. yeeres from the time of Uzziah vnto the reigne of Manasse, whose father in law he was (as the Ebreies write) and of whom he was sayd to die. And in reading of the Prophets this one thing among others is to be obserued, that they could not be come to passe, because God had ordered them in his secret counsell, and so reuiled them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

a Vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which he saw concerning Iudah and Ierusalem, in the daies of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahas, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah.

2 Heare O 4 heareus, and hearken, O earch: for the Lorde hath said, I haue nourished and brought vp e children, but they haue rebelled against me.

3 The Ox knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters crib: but Isaac hath not knowne: my people hath not vnderstood.

4 Ah, faithfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a seede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lorde: they haue prouoked the holy one of Israel to anger: they are gone backward.

5 Wherefore should yee bee smitten any more? for ye sal away more and more: the whole head is sicke, and the whole heart is heavy.

6 From the sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds, and swelling, and sores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, nor bound vp, nor mollified with oyle.

7 Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fire: strangers deuoure your lande in your presence, and it is desolate like the ouerthrowe of strangers.

8 And the daughter of Zion shall remaine like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a besieged citie.

9 Except the Lorde of hostes should haue refused vnto vs, euen a small remnant: wee should haue bene as Sodom, and should haue bene like vnto Gomorah.

10 Heare the worde of the Lorde. O y princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, O people of Gomorah.

11 What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lorde? I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and of the fat of fed beasts: and I desire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambs, nor of goats.

12 When yee come to appeare before me, who upon all pleasant pictures.

17 And the haughtinesse of men shall be brought low, and the loftinesse of men shall be abased, and the Lord shall only be exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles will he utterly destroy.

19 Then they shall goe into the holes of the rockes, & into the caves of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

20 At that day shall man cast away his silver idoles, & his golden idoles (which they had made themselves to worship them) & to the mowles and to the backes, 21 To goe into the holes of the rockes, and into the toppes of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth.

22 Cesse you from man whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be esteemed?

CHAP. III.

For the sinne of the people God will take away the wife men and give them foolish prynces. 1. The counsellors of the government. 2. The pride of the women.

For loe, the Lord God of hostes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iudah the stay & the strength: even all the stay of bread, and all the stay of water,

2 The strong man, and the man of warre, & the iudge and the prophet, the prudent and the aged,

3 The captain of fiftie, and the honourable, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent man.

4 And I will appoint 4 children to be their prynces, and babes shall rule over them.

5 The people shall be oppressed one of another, and every one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable.

6 When every one shall take holde of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast clothed: thou shalt be our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand:

7 In that day he shall sweare, saying, I cannot bee an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people.

8 Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue & workes are against the Lord, to provoke the eyes of his glory.

9 The trial of their countenance testifieth against them, yea they declare their sinnes, as Sodom, they hide them not. Wo be vnto their souls: for they have rewarded euill vnto themselves.

10 I Say ye, Surely it shall be wel with the iust: for they shall eate the fruit of their workes.

11 Wo be to the wicked, it shall be euill with him: for the reward of his hands shall be given him.

12 Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule over them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, & destroy the way of thy pathes.

13 The Lord standeth to pleade, yea, hee standeth to iudge the people.

14 The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the Ancients of his people & the prynces therof:

for yee haue eaten vp the vineyard: the spoile of the poore is in your houses.

15 What haue ye to doe, that ye beat my people to pieces, & grind the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, even the Lord of hostes?

16 The Lord also saith, Because the daughters of Zion are hautie, and walke with stretched out neckes, and with wandering eyes, walking and minning as they goe, and making a tinkeling with their feete, 17 Therefore shall the Lord make the heads of the daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shall discover their secret partes.

18 In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, and the calles, and the round tyres,

19 The sweete balles, and the bracelets, and the bonnets,

20 The tyres of the head, and the sloppes, and the head bandes, and the tabletes, and the eare rings,

21 The rings and the mufflers,

22 The costly apparell and the vailles, and the wimples, and the crisping pinnes,

23 And the glasse and the fine linnen, and the hoodes and the sauntes,

24 And in steade of sweete sauour, there shall be stinke, and in steade of a girdle, a rent, and in steade of dressing of the haire, baldnesse, and in steade of a stomacher, a girding of sackcloth, and burning in stead of beaurie.

25 Thy men shall fall by the sword, and thy strength in the battell.

26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she, being desolate, shall sit vpon the ground.

disolutesse, and also the common weale, which hath not remedied it.

CHAP. III.

1 The final remanent of men after the destruction of Ierusalem.

2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

And in that day shall a fewen women take hold of one ma, saying, We will eat our bread, and we will weare our owngarments: only let vs be called by thy name, and take away our reproch.

2 In that day shall the budde of the Lord be beautifull and glorious, and the fruite of the earth shall be excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Itrac.

3 Then hee that shall be left in Zion, and hee that shall remaine in Ierusalem, shall be called holy, and every one that be written among the liuing in Ierusalem.

4 When the Lord shall wash the filthinesse of the daughters of Zion, and purge the blood of Ierusalem out of the mids thereof by the spirit of iudgement, and by the spirit of turning.

5 And the Lord shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, and vpon the assemblies thereof, a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the glorie shall be a defence.

6 And a couering shall be for a shadow in the day for the heate, and a place of refuge and a covert for the storme & for the raine.

42. Some by the budde of the Lord meane Christ. He alludeth to the book of Ili, whereof read: Exod. 15. 27. meaning Gods secret counsell, wherein his elect are predestinate to life everlasting. That is, the euellie, extortion, auarice, and all wickednes. 2. When things shall be redressed that were amisse. He alludeth to the pillar of the cloudes. Exod. 13. 21. meaning that Gods favour and protection should appaare in every place. 3. The Iusticiarie called the glory of God, because his image, and token of his grace shine in them. 4. He pasceth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

m That is, yee fight w all cruely against me.

n He meneth the people, because of the arrogancie and pride of their women, which gae them filthie & all vnwomanlike and disolent.

o Which declared their pride.

p As a signe, that they were not chaste.

q Which showed their wantonnesse.

r They delighted them in slippers that did creeke, as had little places sowed vpon them, which tickled as they went.

s Ieie rebuking all these things particularly, he sheweth the lightnesse and vanitie of such as cannot be contented with comely apparell according to their degrees.

t Meaning, that God will not onely punish the women, but their husbands, which haue followed this u When God thus executeth this vengeance, there shall not be one man found to bee the head to many women, and they contrary to womanly thamefulness, shall seeke vnto men, and offer themselves to any condition.

b Be thou our husband, and let vs be called thy wives.

c For so they thought it to be without an head and husband.

d He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shall spring up like a bud, signifying that Gods graces should be as plentiful toward the faithfull, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Chap.

a Under the multitude of the vine, see the people, b Of their auarice, c Their drunkenness, d Of their capriciousness.

a The Prophet by this song, which he sings before the people, sheweth that he had planted the Church in a place much plentiful and abundant.

b That is to God, for as much as it was evident that they were the cause of their own ruin.

c I will take no more care for it, meaning, that he would take from them his word and ministers, and all other comforts, and send them contrary plagues.

d Indgement and righteousnesse are true fruites of the feare of God, and therefore in the Israel oppressors there is no religion.

e Of them that are oppressed.

f To wit, for the poore to dwell in.

l That is to say, no gain nor diligence to follow their lusts.

m Which are many of their rioting and excessive pleasures but vse all meanes to procure to the sin.

n They regard not the president care of God over them, nor for what end he hath created them.

o That is, shall certainly goe for the Prophets sake to speake, as though the thing which shall come to passe, were done already.

p Because they would not obey the word of God.

q Meaning, the ignominy that shall follow vpon the churche that discontinue to be a Church, and yet for all this great affliction it shall neuer be forsaken.

r G-d comforteth the poore lambs of his Church which had bin straggers in other countries, promising that they should dwell in those places againe, wherof they had bin deprived by the Iat and cruelty of the Nowe will I sing to my beloved a song of my beloved to his vineyard, * My beloved had a vineyard in a very fruitful hill,

2 And hee hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and hee planted it with the best plants, * and hee built a towre in the mids thereof, and made a wine press therein: then hee looked that it should bring forth grapes: but it brought forth thornes wilde grapes:

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, I pray you, I betwene me, and my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wild grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but briars and thornes shall grow vpon it: I will also commaund the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hostes is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for Iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousnesse, but beholde a crying.

8 Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and lay field to field, till there bee no place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth.

9 This is in mine eares, sayeth the Lord of hostes. Surely many houses shall be desolate, great and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeeld one bath, and the seed of an homer shall yeeld an ephah.

11 Woe vnto them, that rise vp early to follow drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntill night, till the wine doe inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viol, timbrell, and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people is gone into captivity, because they had no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore I will haue enlarged myself, and hath opened his mouth, without measure, & their glorie, and their multitude, and their pompe, and hee that reioyceth among them, shall descend into hell.

15 And man shall be brought downe, and man shall be humbled, euen the eyes of the proude shall be humbled.

16 And the Lord of hostes shall be exalted in Iudgement, and the holy God shall be sanctified in Iudgement.

17 Then shall the lambs feede after their manner, and the strangers shall enter the desolate places of the fat.

18 Woe vnto them, that draw iniquitie with y cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes: 19 Which say, Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke, that wee may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel draw neere and come, that wee may know it.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of light, and euill of good, which put darknes for light, and light for darknes, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for bitter.

21 Woe vnto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Woe vnto them that are mighty to drink wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drink.

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnes of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, & as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their root shall be rottenne, and their bud shall ripen vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Law of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and hee hath stretched out his hand vpon them, and hath smitten them: that the mountaines did tremble, and their carkeles were torne in the middes of the streetes, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And hee will lift vp a signe vnto the nations afarre, and will hisse vnto them from the end of the earth: and beholde, they shall come hastily with speede.

27 None shall faint nor fall among them: none shall flumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loines be loosed, nor the latchet of his shooes be broken:

28 Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, and all his horses bent: his horse's hooves shall be thought like flint, and his wheelles like a whirlewinde.

29 His roaring shall like a lyon, and hee shall roare like lions whelps: they shall raire, and they holde of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, beholde darknesse and sorrow, and the light shall be darkened in their skie.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a word into Iaakob, and it hath lighted upon Israel.

9 And all the people shall knowe, even Ephraim, and the inhabitants of Samaria, that I in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The bricks are fallen, but we will build it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into cedars.

11 Nevertheless, the Lord will raise up the adversaries of Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before & the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them; neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head and taile, branch and rutt in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their yong men, neither will he haue compassion of their fatherlesse & of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh vaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briars and the thornes, & will kinde in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shall the land be darkened; and the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry: and hee shall eate on the left hand, still shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eate the flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shall be against Iudah: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

2 Of wicked remouers, 5 God will punish his people by the affliction, and after it will restore them. 21 The remnant of Israel shall be saved.

W O vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and write grieuous things.

3 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their praye, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse.

4 What will ye doe now in the day of visitation, & of destruction, which shall come from farre? to whom will ye see for helpe? and where will ye leave your glory?

5 For ye have despised his word, ye have despised his voice, ye have despised his voice, ye have despised his voice, ye have despised his voice.

4 ¶ Without mee every one shall fall among them that are vnder and they shall fall downe among the flames: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 ¶ O Ashur, the rodde of my wrath: and the staffe in their hand is mine indignation.

6 I will sende him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle & to take the prey, and to tread them vnder feet like the mire in the streete.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but hee imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a fewe nations.

8 For he sayth, Are not my princes altogether Kings?

9 Is not Calno as Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath founde the kingdoms of the idoles, seeing then idoles were about Ierusalem, and about Samaria.

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem and to the idoles thereof?

12 ¶ But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visit the fruit of y prouidence of the King of Ashur, and his glorious and proude lookes.

13 Because he said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, & by my wisdom because I am wise: therefore I haue remoued the borders of the people, & haue spoiled their treasures, & haue pulled downe the inhab itants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath founde as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, I haue gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall the axe boast it selfe against him that heueth therewith? or shall the sawe exalt it selfe against him that moutheth it? as if the rod should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hostes send among his fiercen Leannes, and vnder his glory he shall kinde a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall be as a fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure his thornes & his briars in one day.

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fields both foules & fesh: and he shall be as the fainting of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be fewe, that a child may tell them.

20 ¶ And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, & such as are escaped of the house of Iaakob, flay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall flay vpon the Lord, the holy one of Israel in truth.

21 The remnant shall returne, even the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, bee as the sande of the sea, yet shall the remnant of thee returne. I be consumption, & decreed shall overflow with righteousness.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, euen determined, in the middes of all the land.

24 Therefore shall hee be sufficient to fill all the world with righteousness, & God will destroy the land as he hath determined, and as he hath determined, and as he hath determined.

at that time they have taken me, I shall goe into captivity, and I shall be as a slave.

6 God calleth for the blood of the executioners of his vengeance.

7 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

8 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

14 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

15 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

16 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

17 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

18 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

19 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

20 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

21 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

22 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

23 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

24 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

25 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

26 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

27 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

28 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

29 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

30 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

31 I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites, and I shall be as a father against the lewes, which are but hypocrites.

24. Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur, he that smite thee with a rod, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the manner of Egypt:
25. But yet a very little time, and the wrath that be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26. And the Lord of hosts shall rayle vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Mi-dian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the Asa, so he will lift it vp after the manner of Egypt.

27. And at that day shall his burden be taken a-

6. The fruits of the Gospell. 10. The calling of the Gentiles.
D. There shall come a rodde forth of the Dorke of Ishai, and a graffe shall growe out of his rootes.

1. And the Spirit of the Lorde shall rest vpon him: the spirit of wisdome and vnderstanding, the spirit of counsell and strength, the spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord.

2. And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shall not iudge after sight of his eyes, neither reprove by the hearing of his eares.

3. But with righteousness shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shall he reprove for the mecke of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked.

4. And iustice shall be the girdle of his loynes, and faithfullnesse the girdle of his reines.

5. The wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lie with the kid, and the calf, and the lyon, and the fat beaust together, and a little child shall lead them.

6. And the kowe and the beare shall feede:
their young ones shall lie together: and the lyon shall cate straw like the bullocke.

7. And the sucking child shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the wained child shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.

8. Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holmes: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the sea.

9. Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holmes: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters
that couer the sea.

10. And in that day the roote of Ishai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shall be glorious.

11. And in the same day shall the Lorde stretch out his hand againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people, (which shall be left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, & of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinar, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.

12. And hee shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, & gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the worlde.

13. The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie Iudah, neither shall Iudah vex Ephraim:

14. But they shall see vpon the shoulders of the Philistines toward the West: they shall spoile them of the East together: Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.

15. The Lorde also shall utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mighty wind shall lift vp his hand ⁴ouer the river, and shall smite him in his fierer streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes.

16. And there shall be a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

4 The noyse of a multitude is in the mountains, like a great people: a cumulous voyce of the kingdoms of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hostes numbreth the hoste of the battell.

5 They come from a farre country, from the end of the heauen: even the Lord with the weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

6 Howle you, for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almighty.

7 Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt.

8 And they shall be afraid: anguish and sorow shall take them, & they shall haue paine, as a woman that travaileth: every one shall be amazed at his neighbour, and their faces shall be like flames of fire.

9 Beholde, the day of the Lord cometh, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land waste: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it.

10 For the flames of heauen and the planets thereof shall not giue their light: the sunne shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moone shall not cause her light to shine.

11 And I will visite the wickednesse vpon the world, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the proud to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants.

12 I will make a man more precious then fine golde, euen a man above the wedge of golde of Ophir.

13 Therefore I will shakethe heauen, and the earth shall remoue out of her place in my wrath of the Lord of hostes, & in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And it shall be as a chafed doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp: every man shall turne to his own people, and flee eche one to his owne land.

15 Every one that is founde, shall be stricken through: and whosoever ioyneth himselfe, shall fall by the sword.

16 Their children also shall be broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoiled, and their wines raiuided.

17 Beholde, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regard silver, nor be desirous of gold.

18 With bowes also shall they destroy the children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the children.

19 And Babel the glory of Kingdomes, the beauty and pride of the Chaldeans, shall be as the dust of God in Sodom and Gomorah.

20 It shall not be inhabited for euer, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch his tentes there, neither shall the shepherds make their foldes there.

21 But Zijm shall lodge there, and their houses shall be full of Ohim: Ostriches shall dwell there, and the Seruaes shall dance there.

22 And Iim shall crie in their palaces, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is ready to come, and the dayes thereof shall not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The destruction of the people from captiuitie. 2 The destruction of the King. 3 The destruction of the Pharaoh.

For the Lord will haue compassion of Iacob, and will reueile himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iacob.

2 And the people shall receiue them & bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for seruants & handmaids: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressors.

3 And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy feare, and from the fore bondage, wherein thou diddest serue, 4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the King of Babel, and say, How hath the oppressor ceased? and the gold-thirsty Babel rested?

5 The Lord hath broken the rodde of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did it not let.

7 The whole world is at rest, and is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 Also the fire trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art laide downe, no heuier came vp against vs.

9 Hell beneath is moued for thee to meete thee at thy coming, raising vp the dead for thee, even all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the Kings of the nations.

10 All they shall crie and say vnto thee, Art thou become weakke also as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pomp is brought downe to the graue, and the found of thy vioules: the wormes is spread vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, sonne of the morning? and cutte downe to the ground, which diddest cast lotes vpon the nations?

13 Yet thou saydest in thine heart, I will ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne above beside the starres of God: I will sitte also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the North.

14 I will ascend above the height of the clouds, and I will be like the most high.

15 But thou shalt be brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee, shall looke vpon thee and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shakethe Kingdomes?

17 Hee made the world as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not the house of his prisoners.

18 All the Kings of the nations, even they all sleepe in glory, euerie one in his owne house.

19 But thou art cast out of thy graue like an abominable branch: like the rayment of those that are shaine, and thrust thorow with a sword, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeifer rotten vnder feete.

20 Thou shalt not be ioined with them in the liberty: noting his cruelty. No Thou wast not buried in the sepulchres of thy fathers, by tyranny was so abhorred.

a Free strength why God will haue to destroy his enemies: so much as he will deliver his Church.

b Meaning, that the Gentiles shall be loyned with the Church and worship God.

c Signifying, that the lowest should be superior to the Gentiles: and that they should be brought vnder the seruice of Christ:

d That is, had suffered all violence and iniurie to be done.

e Meaning, that when tyrants reign, there can be no rest nor quietnes, and also how detestable a thing tyranny is.

f In the infernal fires, where they have occasion for reioyce at their destruction.

grace, because thou hast destroyed thine owne lands, and slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be remembered for ever.

21 Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 For I will rise vp agaynst them (saith the Lord of hosts) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the sonne, and the nephew, sayth the Lord:

23 And I will make it a possession to the hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I will sweep it with the besome of destruction, sayth the Lord of hosts.

24 The Lord of hosts hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I have purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I have consulted, it shall stand:

25 That I will breake to pieces Ashur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I tread him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole world, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations, 27 Because the Lord of hosts hath determined it, and who shall disannul it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turne it away?

28 In the yeere that King Ahaz dyed, was this burden, 29 Reioyce not, (thou whole Palestina) because the rod of them that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the serpents root shall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruit thereof shall be a fiery flying serpent.

30 For the first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needy shall lie downe in safetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and I will slay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate, Erie, O citie: thou whole land of Palestina art dissolved, for there shall come from the North a smoke, and gone shall be alone, at his time appointed.

32 What shall then one answer? the messengers of Gentiles? that the Lord hath stablished Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

1 He burden of Moab. Surely Ar of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night.

2 He shall go vp to the temple, & to Dibon to the high places to weepe: for Nebo and for Medeba that Moab howle: vpon all their heads shall be baldnes, and euery beard shauen.

3 In their streets shall they bee gined with sickelcloth: on the toppes of their houses, and in their streets euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shall Erie, and Elealeh: their voyce shall be heard vnto Jahaz: therefore the warriors of Moab shall shew: the soule of euery one shall lament in himselfe.

5 Mine heart shall Erie for Moab: his fugitiues shall flee vnto Zoar, and heiffer of three yeere olde: for they shall goe vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhah: and by the way of Horonaim they shall rise vp a crie of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shall be dried vp: therefore the graffe is withered, the herbs consumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, and their substance that they beare to the brooke of the willowes.

8 For the Erie went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Eglaime, and the shrieking thereof vnto Beer-Elim.

9 Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: I will bring more vpon Dimon, eu en lions I vpon him that escapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The cause wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

1 End yee a lambe to the ruler of the worlde from the rocke of the wilderness, vnto the mountain of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shall be as a bird that is fled, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall be at the fordoes of Arnon.

3 Gather a counsel, execute iudgement: smite thys liow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab be thou thy couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner shall end: the destroyer shall be consumed, and the oppressour shall cease out of the land.

5 And in mercy shall the throne be prepared: and he shall sit vpon it in steadfastnesse, in the tabernacle of David, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and halting iustice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moab (hee is very proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his lies shall not be so.

7 Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one shall howle: for foundations of Kir-hareseth shall ye mourne: yet they shall be stricken.

8 For the vineyards of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: the lordes of the heathen haue broken the principall vines thereof: they are come vnto Iaazer: they wandred in the wilderness: her goodly ranches stretched out themselves, and went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore will I weepe with the weeping of Iaazer, & of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy banquet I showing is fallow.

10 And gladnes is taken away, and ioy out of the plentiful field: and in the vineyardes shall be no singing nor shouting for ioy: the reeder shall not tread wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioicing to cease.

11 Wherefore my bowels shall found like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareseth.

12 And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be wearie of his hie places, then shall he come to his temple to pray, but he shall not preuaile.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying, come vpon thee, and shew thee ioy, when they carry thy conquest as Ierem. 48. 33. For very sorrow and compassion, I meanes to like help of their idoles and all in vain: for Chanaan they shall not be able to helpe them.

a He calleth to the Medes & Persians, and all those that should destroye Gods vengeance.

a But they shall be all ready, and ioyne together.

y Which shall come to enquire of the state of the Church.

a They shall asseverate, & the Lord doth defend his Church, and them that ioyne themselves thereunto.

a Read Chap. 12. 1. The childer, whereby the whole country was meant.

e The Moabites shall see to their idoles for succor, but it shall be too late.

d Which were cities of Moab.

e For as in the West partes the people vied to let their haire growe when they mourne, so in the East partes they cut it off.

f The Prophet draketh this in the person of the Moabites, as one which is the gentilement of God that shall come vpon them. g Meaning, shew me a signe that thou liest in places, and thou art false.

b He denoth the miserable state of Moab, as I have said.

i To hide these places, and their goodly things.

k Of these are cities.

l So that by means they shall escape the hand of God, though they be of his Church.

m That is, when the Moabites shall be destroyed, they shall be as a bird that is fled, and a nest forsaken.

In three yeeres as the yeeres of a P. hieing, and the glorie of Meab shall be come in all the great multitude, & the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

CHAP. XVII.

A prophetic of the destruction of Damascus and Ephraim, & a lamentation to the remnant.

He burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape.

The cities of Aroer shall be forsaken: they shall be for the flocks: for they shall lie there, and none shall make them afraid.

The multitude also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdom from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the glorie of the children of Israel, faith the Lord of hostes.

And in that day the glorie of Iaa-kob shall be impow'ered, and the fames of his flesh shall be made leaze.

And it shall be as when the harveste mangatheth the corne, and respecteth the eares with his arme, and he shall be as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of Rephaim.

Yet a gathering of grapes shall bee left in it, as the shaking of an olive-tree, two or three berries are in the top of the ymoth boughes, & foure or five in the hie branches of the fruite thereof, faith the Lord God of Israel.

At that day shall a man looke to his maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel.

And hee shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne handes, neither shall he looke to those things, which his owne fingers haue made, as grones and images.

In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes & branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall be desolation.

Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy salvation, and hast not remembered the God of thy strength; therefore shalt thou see plefant plants, and shalt graffe strange vine branches:

In that day shalt thou make thy plant to growe, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seed to flourish: but the harvest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shall be desperate sorrowe.

Oh, the multitude of many people, they shall make a founde like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a founde like the noyse of mightie waters.

The people shall make a founde like the noyse of many waters: but God shall rebuke them, and they shall see farre off, and shall bechased as the chaffe of the mountanes before the winde, and as a rousing thing before the whirlewinde.

And loe, in the evening there is trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle vs, and the lot of them that rob vs.

For the multitude there, so the cities of Israel shall no more be able to deliver themselves, then bethen, when God shall sende the enemy to destruction. In which are excellent, and brought out of other countries. In the day of the Lord, which will be in his lawe, Leuit. 16. 10. The multitude shall be in the terrible plague that was prepared against them, which were in sinne, and gathered of many nations. And when this be the confounding of the faithfull, which were in the enemies the Assyrians a temple, which lieth over the city, and is the morning, it is gone.

CHAP. XVIII.

Of the ruines of the Church, & of the occasion of the Church.

OH, the land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the ruines of Ethiopia, Sending ambassadors by the Sea, euen in vessels of y reedes vpon the waters, saying, Go, ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, vnto a terrible people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by litle and litle euen troden vnder foote, whose land the floods haue spoyled.

All ye, the inhabitants of the worlde and dwellers in the earth shall see when I heere it: yet a signe in the mountanes, and when he bloweth the trumpet, ye shall heare.

For so the Lord God vnto me, I will s' self, and beholde in my tabernacle, as the heart dry- ing vp the raine, and as a cloude of dewe in the heart of barueil.

For afore the harveste when the floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes:

They shall bee left together vnto the foules of the mountanes, & to the beasts of the earth: for the foule shall summer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

At that time shall a present bee brought vnto the Lord of hostes (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, & of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation, by litle and litle euen troden vnder foote, whose land the rivers haue spoyled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

Meaning, the Assyrians, as chap. 8. 7. When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians. It will stay a while from punishing the wicked, which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruites: hereby hee meaneth, that he will seeme to fauour them, and give them abundance for a time, but he will suddenly cut them off. Not onely me, I shall count them, but the beasts. Meaning, that God will p'se his Church, and require that little remnant as an offering vnto himselfe.

CHAP. XIX.

The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

He burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord rideth vpon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the mids of her.

And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: vs euery one shall fight against his brother, & euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdom against kingdom.

And the spirit of Egypt shall faile in the mids of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke after the idoles, & at the forcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hande of cruell lordes, and a mightie King shall rule ouer them, faith the Lord God of hostes.

Then the warres of the sea shall faile, and the rivers shall be dried vp, and wasted.

And the rivers shall goe farre away: the rivers of defence shall be emptied and dried vp: the reeders and fugges shall be cut downe.

Meaning, their pellice, and wisdom. He sheweth that the Sea and Nilus, which they thought themselves much inured, should not be able to defende them from his anger, but that he would sende the Assyrians among them, that should keepe them vnder as boxes. For Nilus ran into the Sea by euen Argam, although they were so many times.

He meaneth part. 1. Ethiopia which lyeth towards the S. e., which was full of ships that the lay liued like the comparit to him, seemed to shadow the sea.

Which is those countreys were great, inasmuch as they made ships of them for to liue in.

This may be taken that they least other to comfort the lawes, and to prompt them help against their enemies, and so the Lord did determine to take away their strength that the lawes should not trull them in: or that they did solicit the Egyptians, and promised them aid to goe against iuda.

To wit, the lawes, who because of Gods plagues made all other nations as if they were like, as God threatened, Deut. 18. 37.

Meaning, the Assyrians, as chap. 8. 7. When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians. It will stay a while from punishing the wicked, which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruites: hereby hee meaneth, that he will seeme to fauour them, and give them abundance for a time, but he will suddenly cut them off. Not onely me, I shall count them, but the beasts. Meaning, that God will p'se his Church, and require that little remnant as an offering vnto himselfe.

7 The grass in the river, and at the head of the rivers, and all that growe by the river shall wither, and be driven away, and be no more.

8 The fishers also shall mourne, and all they that cast angle into the river, shall lament, & they that fished their net upon the waters, shall be weakened.

9 Moreover they that worke in flaxe of divers forces, shall be confounded, and they that weave nettes.

10 For their nets shall be broken, and all they, that make ponders, shall be heave in heart.

11 Surely the princes of Zoan are fools: is the counsell of the wise counsellors of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say ye unto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wife? I am the sonne of the ancient Kings?

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may knowe what the Lorde of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The princes of Zoan are become fools: the princes of Noph are deceived, they have deceived Egypt, even the corners of thy tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit of enmities: and they have caused Egypt to erre in every worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite.

15 Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may doe, nor the taile, the branch nor the rush.

16 In that day shall Egypt bee like unto women for it shall be affraide and feare because of the mourning of the band of the Lord of hostes, which he shall cuth over it.

17 And the land of Egypt shall be a feare unto Egypt: every one that naketh mention of it, shall be affraide thereof, because of counsel of the Lord of hostes, which he hath determined upon it.

18 In that day shall five cities in the land of Egypt speake the language of Canaan, and shall swear by the Lord of hostes: one shall be called the citie of destruction.

19 In that day shall the altar of the Lorde be in the mids of the land of Egypt, and a pillar by the border thereof unto the Lorde.

20 And it shall be for a signe and for a witnesse unto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry unto the Lorde, because of the oppressors, and he shall send them a Saviour and a great man, and shall deliver them.

21 And the Lord shall knowe of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall knowe the Lord in that day, and do sacrifice and oblation, and shall vow vows unto the Lord, and performe them.

22 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne unto the Lord, & he shall be intreated of them, and shall heale them.

23 In that day shall there be apath from Egypt unto Ashtar, and Ashtar shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Ashtar: so the Egyptians shall worship with Ashtar.

24 In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and Ashtar, even a blessing in the mids and so of the first of the land.

25 For the Lord of hostes shall bless it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt & Ashtar, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

1 The three years captivitie of Egypt and Ethiopia is desired by three years going naked of Nubia.

2 In the year that Tarsan came to Alhod, (when Sargon King of Ashtar first him) and had fought against Alhod, and taken it.

3 At the time spake the Lord by the hand of Maiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Goe, and looke the sackcloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shoe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote.

4 And the Lord said, Like as my servant Maiah hath walked naked, & barefoote three yeeres, as a signe and wonder upon Egypt, and Ethiopia,

5 So shall the King of Ashtar take away the captivitie of Egypt, and the captivitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and old men, naked and barefoote, with their buttocks unconcealed, to the shame of Egypt.

6 And they shall feare, and be ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation, & of Egypt their glory.

7 Then shall the inhabitant of this isle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither wee fed for helpe to be delivered from the King of Ashtar, and how shall we be delivered?

CHAP. XXI.

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes.

2 The burden of the desert. As the whirlwinds in the South vie to passe from the wilderness, so shall it come from the horrible land.

3 A grievous vision was shewed unto me, The transgression against a transgression, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Go vp to El-me-efce Media: I have caused all the mourning thereof to cease.

4 Therefore are my joyes filled with sorrow, sorowes have taken mee as the sorowes of a woman that travaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amazed when I saw it.

5 Mine heart failed: fearefulnes troubled me: the night of my pleasures hath been turned into feare unto me.

6 Prepare thou thy table: watch in thy watch tower: eat, drinke: be arise, ye princes, annoynt the shield.

7 For thus hath the Lord Eyed unto me, Goe, set a watchman, to tel what he seeth.

8 And he sawe a chariet with two horsemen: a chariet of an affe, and a chariet of a camel: and he hathakened and tooke diligent heed.

9 And he cryed, A lyon: my lord, I stande continually upon the watch towre in the day time, and I am fet in my watch every night.

10 And behold, this mans chariet cometh with two horsemen. And he answered and Eyed, Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken unto the ground.

11 O my threshing, and the y corn of my floor, that which I have heard of the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, haue I shewed unto you.

12 The burden of Durnah. He calleth unto.

13 Whiles they are eating and drinking, they shall be commoted with weapons. I will, in a vision by the spirit of prophetic, I shew the manner of warre, and others that carried the baggage. I meaning Durnah, whom I sawe first vp, made him to come toward Babylon.

14 The Angel declared that it should be destroyed, and done in a vision. 15 *1702, 1703, 1704, 1705, 1706, 1707, 1708, 1709, 1710, 1711, 1712, 1713, 1714, 1715, 1716, 1717, 1718, 1719, 1720, 1721, C H A P. XXV.

A thinking to be God in that thou shalt flourish himselfe judge of the world, by punishing the wicked and maintaine among the gaily.
O Lord, thou art my God: I will exalt thee, I will praye thy Name: for thou hast done wonderful things, according to the counsels of old, with a stable trust.

2 For thou hast made of a b citty an heape, of a strong citty, a ruine: even the palace of strangers of a citty, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shall the c mighty people giue glory vnto thee: the citty of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast bin a strength vnto the poore, even a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadowe against the heat: for the blast of the mighty is like a storme against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, as the heate in the dry place: hee will bring downe the song of the mighty, as the heat in the shadowe of a cloude.

6 And in this mountaine shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, even a feast of wines, and of fat things full of marrow, of wines, and of purified.

7 And he will destroy in this mountaine: the cowering that cowereth all people, and the vaile that is spread vpon all nations.

8 He will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Loe, this is our God: we haue waited for him, & he will saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and Moab shall be threshed vnder him, even as straw is threshed in: as Madmenah.

11 And hee shall stretch out his hand in the middes of them (as he that swimmeth stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shall he bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy wals shall he bring downe and lay lowe, and cast them to the ground, even to the dust.

1 Meaning, that ignorance and blindness, whereby we are blinded from Christ. He will take away all occasions of sinne and temptation. Revel. 2.7. and 3.14. 1 By Moab are meant all the enemies of the Church. There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1 Chr. 2.25. in the land of Moab, Ieremie 48.1. which is meant to have bene the place of come. Chap. 1.17.

C H A P. XXVI.

A song of the faithful, when they are declared in warre to confesse the tribulation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

N that day shall this song bee sung in the land of Iudah, We haue a strong citty: b saluation shall God be for wals and bulwarke.

3 Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in.

4 By an assured purpose wilt thou preserve penitence, because they trusted in thee.

5 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

6 For he will bring downe them that dwell on high: the he citty bee will abate: even vnto the ground will he cast it downe, & bring it vnto dust.

7 The foete shall treade it downe, even the feete of the poore, and the feete of the needie.

8 There is no power to him, that can let God, when he is angry. 9 There is no power to him, that can let God, when he is angry.

7 The way of the iust is righteousness: thou wilt make equal the righteous path of the iust,

8 Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy iudgements: the desire of our soules is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within mee will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne righteousness.

10 Let mercie be shewed to the wicked, yet hee will not learne righteousness: in the lande of vprightnesse will he do wickedly, and will not beholde the maiestie of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not beholde thine hand: but they shall see it, and bee confounded with the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordaine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our works for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other than Ions beside thee, haue ruled vs, but wee will remember thee only, and thy Name.

14 The dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast increased the nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coasts of the earth.

16 Lorde, in trouble haue they visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorrow, and cryeth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy sight, O Lord.

18 We haue conceived, we haue borne in pain, as though we should haue brought forth: 1 wonder there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall.

19 ¶ ¶ Thy dead men shall liue: even with my body shall they rise. Awake, and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy dewe is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come, my people: x enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

31 For lo, the Lord cometh out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her blood, and shall no more hide her slain.

2 Again by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioy when they see the dewe of Gods grace. 3 He exhorteth the faithful to be patient in their afflictions, and to wait vpon Gods works. 4 The earth shall vomite and cast out the innocent blood, which it hath drinke, that it may crie for vengeance against the wicked.

C H A P. XXVII.

A prophesie against the kingdoms of Sion, and of the ioy of the Church for their deliuerance.

N that day the Lord with his force and great land mightie sword shall visite Liathian, that peacering serpent, even Liathian, that croke serpent, and hee shall lay the dragon that is in the sea.

3 In that day sing of the vineyard of red wine.

4 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: least any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

5 Meaning of the best wine, which this vineyard, that is, the Church, should bring forth as most agreeable to the Lord.

6 We haue constantly abode in the desert, as in the wilderness, where with thou hast afflicted vs.

7 Meaning, that by affliction men shall learne to feare God.

8 The wicked thought God had shew them euident signes of his grace, shall aser be the better.

9 Through enuie and indignation against thy people.

10 The fire of vengeance, where with thou dost destroy thine enemies.

11 The Babylonians which haue not forsaken according to thy word.

12 Meaning, that the reprobate, and in this life shall have the beginning of everlasting death.

13 To wit, the company of the faithful, by the calling of the Gentiles.

14 This is the faithful, by thy reddece we are moued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance.

15 To wit, in our former sorow.

16 Our sorow had neuer ended, neither did we see the comfort, that we looked for.

17 The wicked and men without religion were not destroyed.

18 He comforteth the faithful in their afflictions, shewing them that even in death they shall haue life, and that they should not certainly rise to glorie the contrary.

19 As herbes dead in winter, flourish againe by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioy when they see the dewe of Gods grace.

20 He exhorteth the faithful to be patient in their afflictions, and to wait vpon Gods works.

21 The earth shall vomite and cast out the innocent blood, which it hath drinke, that it may crie for vengeance against the wicked.

22 At the time appointed.

23 That is, by his mighty power and by his word.

24 He prophesieth here of the destruction of Sion, and his kingdom, as the name of Liathian, Asah and Egypt.

d Therefore he will destroy the kingdome of Sath because he loveth his Church for his owne mercies sake and can not be angry with it, but will that he may powre his anger upon the wicked infidels, whom he meaneth by bryeres and thornes.

e He himselfe shall: for Israel will not come by gentleness, except God make them to see his rods, and so bring them vnto him.

f I thought I might see some people for a time, yet shall the roote spring againe and bring forth in great abundance, g He sheweth that God punisheth his in mercy, and his enemies in iudice.

h That is, thou wilt not destroy the roote of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharpe wind of affliction.

i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from al idolatrie, and the monuments thereof destroyed.

k Nowwithstanding his favour that he will shew them after, yet iherusalem shall be destroyed, and graffe for cattell shall growe in it.

l God shall not have neede of mighty enemies: for the very women shall doe it, to their great shame. m He shall destroy all idoles of Exphraites to Nilus: for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to have escaped. n In the time of Cyrus, by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

4 Anger is not in mee: who would set the bryers & the thornes against me in battell? I would goe thither, I would burne them together.

5 Or will hee feele my strength, that he may make peace with mee, and be at one with me?

6 Hereafter, Iakob shall take roote: Israel shall flourish and growe, and the world shall be filled with fruit.

7 Hath hee smitten g him, as hee smote those that smote him? or is hee slaine by the slaughter of them? or was hee slaine by him?

8 In a measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when hee bloweth with his rough wind in the day of the East wind.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iakob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sin: when hee shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in peeces, the grones and images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the defended citie shall be desolate: and the habitation shall be forsaken and leftlike Idernes. There shall the calfe feede, and there shall hee and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughs of it are drie, they shall be broken: the women come and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore hee that made them, shall not have compassion of them, and hee that formed them, shall haue no mercy on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanel of the River vnto the river of Egypt, and ye shall be gathered, one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpe be a blown, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Ashtur, and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Iherusalem.

14 Nowwithstanding his favour that he will shew them after, yet iherusalem shall be destroyed, and graffe for cattell shall growe in it. l God shall not have neede of mighty enemies: for the very women shall doe it, to their great shame. m He shall destroy all idoles of Exphraites to Nilus: for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to have escaped. n In the time of Cyrus, by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkenness of Israel. 9 The vntowardnesse of them that should learne the words of God. 29 God doeth all things in time and place.

W O to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and are ouercome with wine.

2 Beholde, the Lord hath a mighty and strong hoste, like a tempest of haile, and a whirlwind that ouertroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throwe to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be betreden vnder foote, euen the crown & the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and as the haile fruit afore summer, which when hee that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in hand hee eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beauty vnto the residue of his people:

6 And for a spirit of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the prophete haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthie vomiting: no place is cleane.

9 Whome shall he teach knowledge? and whome shall hee make to vnderstand the things that hee heareth? them that are waied from the milke, and drawn from the breasts.

10 For precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle, and there a litle.

11 For with a flammering tongue and with a strange language shall hee speake vnto this people. 12 Vnto whom hee saide, This is the rest: giue rest to him that is wearie: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shall the worde of the Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle, and there a litle, that they may go, and fall backward, and be broken, and be inard, and be taken.

14 Wherefore haue the worde of the Lord should vnto ye scornfull men, that rule this people, which is at Iherusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a vntowardnesse with death, and with hell are we at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made a fall: our refuge, & vnder vanity are we hid, rest.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lay in Zion a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. Hee that beleeueth, I shall not make haste.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and righteousnesse to the balance, and the haile shall sweep away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflowe the secret place.

18 And your couenant with death shall be dissolved, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer, and passe through, then shall ye be betreden downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be only ye feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

20 For the beddes is streit that it cannot suffice, and the couering narrowe that one cannot wrappe himselfe.

21 For the Lord shall stand as in mount Pezrazim: hee shall be wroth as in the valley of Gibeon, that hee may do his work, his strange worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte.

22 Now therefore be no mockers, least your bondes increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speech.

12 Doeth the plowe man plow all the day, to fower doeth hee open, and brake the clous of his ground?

13 When he hath made it plaine, will he not sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheat by measure, and the appointed barley and rye in their place?

14 For his God doeth instruct him to haue discretion, and doeth teach him.

15 For fitches shal not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele bee turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

16 Bread come when it is threshed, hee doeth not away threth it, neither doeth the wheele of his earshell make a noyse, neither will hee break it with the teeth thereof.

17 This also cometh from the Lord of hosts, which is wonderfull in counsell, and excellent in works.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A Prophecy against Jerusalem. 2 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of men.

3 An altar, altar of the cite that David dwelt in: addre vnto yere: b let them kill lambs.

4 But I will bring the altar into distresse, and there shalbe heauines and sorow, and it shalbe vnto me like a altar.

5 And I will besiege thee as a cite, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

6 So shalt thou be humbled, and shalt speake out of the d ground, and thy speech shalbe as out of the dust: thy voyce also shal be out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shal whisper out of the dust.

7 Moreover, the multitude of thy strangers shalbe like smal dust, and the multitude of strong men shalbe chaffe the passeth away: and it shal be in a moment, euen suddenly.

8 Thou shalt be visited of the Lorde of hosts with thunder, and shaking, and a great noyse, a whistling, and a tempest, and a flame of a devouring fire.

9 And the multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shalbe as a dream or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holdes against it, and lay siege vnto it.

10 And it shall be like as a hungry man dreameth and behold, he catcheth: and when he awaketh, his soule is empty: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, behold he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shal the multitude of all nations be that fight against mount Zion.

11 Stay your selues, and wonder: they are blinde, and make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

12 For the Lord hath couered you with a spirit of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the Prophets, and your chief Seers hath hee ouered.

13 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall hee say, I can not: for it is sealed.

14 Meaning that it is all alike, either to reade, or to be taught, euen the heart of wisdom is.

15 And the booke is giuen vnto him that cannot reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee, And hee shall say, I cannot reade.

16 Therefore the Lorde said, Because this people come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lips, but haue removed their heart farre from me, and their feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, 17 Therefore behold, I will againe do a marvellous worke, and a wonder: for the wildecme of their wife men shal perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shalbe hid.

18 Vnto them that seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their works are in darknesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

19 Your turning of deaues shal it not be esteemed: as the potters clay: for the work say of him that made it, He made mee not? or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, He had none vnderstanding?

20 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shalbe turned into Carmel? and Carmel shal be counted as a forest?

21 And in that day shal the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shal see out of obscuritie, and out of darknesse.

22 The meeke in the Lord shal receiue ioy againe, and the poore men shal reioyce in the holy one of Israel.

23 For the cruel man shal cease, and the scornfull shal be confumed: and all that hailed to iniquitie, shalbe cut off.

24 Which made a man to sinne in the word, and tooke him in a snare: which reprooued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lorde vnto the house of Iakob, euen hee that redeemed Abraham, Iakob shal not now be confounded, neither now shal his face be pale.

26 But when hee seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the mids of him, they shal praise my Name, and sanctifie the holy one of Iakob, and shal feare the God of Israel.

27 Then they that erred in spirit, shal haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shal learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1 He reprooueth the Jews, which in their auersitie vsed their own counsels. 2 And sought helpe of the Egyptians, to destroy the Prophets. 3 Therefore hee sheweth what distress shal come vpon them. 4 But offers mercie to the repentant.

5 Oe to the rebellious children, saith the Lorde, that take counsell, but not of me, and couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

6 Which walke forth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth): to strengthen themselves with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

7 But the strength of Pharaoh shal bee your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.

8 For his princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadors came vnto Hanes.

9 They shal be all ashamed of the people that cannot profit them, nor helpe nor do them good, but shal be a shame and also a reproch.

k Because they are by poeities and not sincere in heart, as Matt. 23.

l That is, their religion was lecherous, and many doctrine, and not by my word.

m Meaning that whereas God is not worshipped according to his word, both magistrates and ministers are not fooles & without vnderstanding.

n This is spoken of them, which hee despised Gods word, and mocked at the admonition, but outwardly bare a good face.

o For as your craft shalbe the Lord, you cannot be able to escape mine hands more than the earth, that is in the potters hands, hath power to deliue it selfe.

p Shall there not be a change of all things? and Carmel that is a place (in all place in respect of this) shalbe then, may be taken as a forest, as Chap. 34.

q Thus hee speaketh to comfort the faithful.

r They that were about to find fault with the Prophets words, and would not abide admonitions, but would intangle them and bring them into danger.

s Signifying that except God giue vnderstanding, and knowledge, we cannot but erre, and erre more against him.

t Who contrary to their promise, take more for their pretence, & contrary to my commandment, seek helpe as strangers.

u They seek iustice to cloke their damings, and not godly meanes.

v The chief of Israel went into Egypt in Ambassage to seeke helpe, and abide at the same time.

shall fall, and be that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me, As the lyon of Lyons whelpeth roareth vpon his pray, against whom is a multitude of shepheards be called, he will not be afraide at their voice, neither will humble himselfe at their noyse: fo shall the Lord of hosts come downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds that fle, so shall the Lord of hosts defend Ierusalem by defending and deliuering, by passing through and prefruing it.

6 O yee children of Israell, turne againe, in as much as ye are i' finken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day every man shall cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idoles of gold, which your hands haue made you, euen a sinne.

8 Then shall Ashtur fall by the sword, nor of man, neither shall the sword of man deuoure him, and he shall flee from the sword, and his yong men shall faile.

9 And he shall go for feare to his towne, and his princes shall feare of the handart, sayth the Lord, whose fire is in Zion, and his focmace in Ierusalem.

10 Therefore shall I come after when Saneheribs armie was difcomfited, and he shall be to his castell in Ninuech for succour, & to destroy his enemies.

CHAP. XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers and officers described by the governance of the King, who was the figure of Christ.

Beholde, a King shall reigne in iustice, and the princes shall rule in iudgement.

2 And that man shall be as an hiding place fro the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a drie place, and as the shadowe of a great rocke in a weary land.

3 The eyes of a dfeeling shall not be shut, & the eares of that can heare, shall hearken.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall be able to speake distinctly.

5 A niggard shall no more bee called liberall, nor the churle rich.

6 But the niggard will speake of niggardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and do wickedly, and speake falsly against the Lorde, to make empty the hungrie soule, and to cause the drieake of the thirstie faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: hee deuifeth wicked counsels to vndoe the poore with lying words: & to speake against the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberall man will deuife of liberall things, and he will continue his liberalitie.

9 Rise vp, ye womē that are as ease-heare my voice, ye careless daughters: hearken to my words.

10 Ye women, that are careless, shall bee in feare & about a yeece in dayes: for the vintage shall faile, and the gatherings shall come no more.

11 Yee women, that are at ease, be astonied: feare, O yee careless women: put off the clothes: make bare, and girde yee with the loynes.

12 Men shall lament for the iust teares, euen for the pleasant fields, and for the fruitful vine.

13 Vpon the land of my people shall growe thornes and briars: yee, vpon all the houses of ioy in the cite of reioicing,

14 Because the palace shall be forsaken, and the noise of the city shall be left: the towre and the trefse shall be demes for euer, and the delight of wilde asses, and a pasture for flocks, 15 Vntill the Spirit be powred vpon vs from above, and the wildeernes become a fruitful field, and the plenteous field be counted as a forest.

16 And iudgement shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitful field.

17 And the work of iustice shall be peace, euen the work of iustice & quiernes, & assurance for euē.

18 And my people shall dwell in the tabernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places.

19 When it halleth, it shall fall on the forest, and the cite shall be set in the low place.

20 Blessed are ye: that fow vpon all waters, and drinke at the feet of the oxe and the asse, and they that had some beginning of godlines, shall bring forth fruits in such abundance, that their former life shall seeme but as a wildeernes, where no fruit was. They shall not need to build it in his place for feare of the reuente, for God will defend it, and turne away the stormes for hurting of their commodities. That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth forth in abundance, or in places which before were couered with waters, & now made dry for your vs. O the fields thalke so ranke, but they shall lead out their cattell to eat vpon their first crop, which abundance shall figes of Gods loue and loue towards them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The destruction of Ierusalem by whom God hath punished his Church.

Vnto thee that a spoiler, and wast not spoiled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt cease to spoyl, thou shalt be spoiled: when thou shalt make an end of doing wickedly, they shall doe wickedly against thee.

2 O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs, we haue waited for thee: be thou, which wast our arme in the morning, our helpe al in time of trouble.

3 At the noise of the tumult, the people fled: at thine exalting the nations were scattered.

4 And your spoile shall be gathered like the gathering of caterpillers: and they shall goe against him like the leaping of grasshoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on hie: he hath filled Zion with iudgement & iustice.

6 And there shall be stabilitie of thy times, strength, saluation, wisdom and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shall be his treasure.

7 Behold, i thy messengers shall cry without, & the ambassadors of peace shall weep bitterly.

8 The paths are waste: the wayfaring man ceaseth: he hath broken the couenant: hee hath contemned the cities: he repared no man.

9 The earth mourneth & faineth: Lebanon is ashamed, and hewen downe: Sharon is like a wildeernes, and Babylon is shakē and Carmel.

10 Now will I arise, saith the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my selfe.

11 Ye that conceiue chaffe, and bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you.

12 And the people shall bee at the burning of the multitude.

That is, when the Church shall be restored, thus the Prophets after they have deuoted Gods iudgements against the wicked, yet comfort the godly, lest they should faile. The field which is now fruitless, shall be as a barren field in comparison of that which it shall be then. Chap. xxxij. which shall be fulfilled in Christ's time: for then they that were before at the barren wildeernes, being regenerate, shall be fruitful, and they that had some beginning of godlines, shall bring forth fruits in such abundance, that their former life shall seeme but as a wildeernes, where no fruit was. They shall not need to build it in his place for feare of the reuente, for God will defend it, and turne away the stormes for hurting of their commodities. That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth forth in abundance, or in places which before were couered with waters, & now made dry for your vs. O the fields thalke so ranke, but they shall lead out their cattell to eat vpon their first crop, which abundance shall figes of Gods loue and loue towards them.

Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as were the Caldeans, & the Syrians: but chiefly of Saneherib, but not only. What time appointed time shall come that God shall take away thy power: and that which thou hast wrongfully gotten, shall be giuen to others. Amos 5. 11. The Caldeans shall doe like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel: & the Medes and Persians shall doe the same to the Caldeans.

He declareth hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull, when troubles come, to pray and feele before of God.

Which be their fathers for whom as they called vpon thee.

That is, the Assyrians fled before the arme of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Persians.

When thou, O Lord, shalt lift up thine arme against thine enemies: he that is as caterpillers destroyed with your number the whole world, shall have no strength to resist your enemies as the Caldeans, but shall be gathered on an heap and destroyed.

Meaning the Medes and Persians against the Caldeans. That is, in the dayes of Hezekiah. I sent from Saneherib, in Whom they of iustitism int to increase of peace, in These are the wordes of the Ambassadors, when they returne from Saneherib.

Which was a plentifull country, meaning that Saneherib would destroy all.

That is, the iudges and deliuer my Church. O this iustice against the enemies, who compile all was their own: but he sheweth that we except hee be the iustice, and such as this, which they had kindled for others, should consume them.

a His vengeance shall be great that all the world shall take thereof.

f Which doe not beleue the words of the Prophet and the assurance of their deliuerance.

g Meaning, that God will be a sure defence to all them that liue according to his word.

h They shall see Hezekiah deliuered from his enemies & reuolued to honour and glory.

i They shall be more than in as they were by Sennacherib, but go where it pleases them.

time: and as the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare ye that are farre off, what I haue done, and yet that are neere, know my power.

14 The sinners in Zion are afraid: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwell with the denouncing fire? who among vs shall dwell with the everlasting burnings?

15 Hee that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppressiō, shaking his hands from taking of gifts, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill, 16 He shall dwell on hie: his defence shall be the munitions of rockes: bread shall be giuen him, and his waters shall be sure.

17 Thine eyes shall see the King in his glory: they shall behold the Lord farre off.

18 Thine heart shall meditate feare, Where is the scribe? where is the receiuer? where is hee that counted the towres?

19 Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speering, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a flaming tongue that thou canst not vnderstand.

20 Look vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feastes: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that cannot be remooued: and the flukes thereof can neuer be taken away, neither shall any of the cordes thereof be broken.

21 For surely there the mighty Lord will be vnto vs, as a place of floods and broad riuers, whereby shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shall great shippe passe there.

22 For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our lawe giuer: the Lord is our King, he wil saue vs.

23 Thy cords are loosed: they could not wel strengthen their masse, neither could they spread the sayle: then shall the bow be decided for a great spoyle, the lame shall take away the pray.

24 And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiven.

a He derideth the Assyrians and enemies of the Church, declaring their destruction as they that perish by shipwracke. b He comforteth the Church, and sheweth that they shall be enriched with all benefites both of body and soule.

CHAP. XXXIII.

a He sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the iune that he beareth toward his Church.

a He prophesieth of the destruction of the Edomites, & other nations which were enemies to the Church.

b God hath determined in his counsel, and hath giuen sentence for their destruction.

c He speaketh this in respect of mass iudgement, who in great feare & horrible troubles thinke, that heauen and earth periseth.

d I haue determined in my secret counsell and in the heauens to deli-roy them till my sword be weary with shedding of blood. e They did an opinion of holiness because they came of the Patriarche Iacob, but in effect were accursed of God, and enemies vnto his Church as the Papists are.

lambs & the goates, with the fat of the kidneies of the rams: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

7 And the vineyard shall come downe with them and the heifers with the bulles, and their land shall be drunken with blood, and their dust made fast with latasse.

8 For it is the day of the Lordes vengeance, and the yeere of recompence for the iudgement of Zion.

9 And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitch, and the dust thereof into Ibrimstone, and the land thereof shall be burning pitch.

10 It shall not be quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shall goe vpermore: it shall be desolate from generation to generation: none shall passe through it for euer.

11 But the pelicans & the hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great owle, and the rauen shall dwell in it, and he shall stretch out vpon it the line of I vanitie, and the stones of emptinesse.

12 The nobles thereof shall call to the kingdome, and there shall be none, and all the princes thereof shall see nothing.

13 And it shall bring forth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles, and thistles in the strong holds thereof, and it shall bee an habitation for dragons, and a court for offriches.

14 There shall be meeke also Zim and Lim, and the Satyre shall cry to his fellow, and the skritch-owle shall rest there, and that finde for her selfe quiet dwelling.

15 There shall the owle make her nest, and lay, and hatch, and gather them vnder her shadow: there shall the vulture also be gathered, every one with her make.

16 Seeke in the p book of the Lord, and read: none of these shall faile, none shall want her make: for his mouth hath commaunded, and his very spirit hath gathered them.

17 And he hath cast the lot for them, and his hand hath diuided it vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The great joy of them that beleeue in Christ. 2 Their offices which pertaine to the Gospel. 3 The Father that shall be glorified.

4 He desert and the wilderness shall reioyce, and the waste ground shall glad and flourish as the rose.

5 It shall flourish abundantly and shall greatly reioyce also and ioy: the glorie of Lebanon shall be giuen vnto it: the beatic of Carmel, and of Sharon, they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God.

6 Strengthen the weak hands, and comfort the feeble knees.

7 Say vnto them that are fearefull, Bee you strong, feare not: behold, your God cometh with vengeance: 8 9 10 God with a recompense, he will come and saue you.

11 Then shall the eyes of the blinde be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

12 Then shall the lame man leape as an hart, & the dum man tongue shall sing: for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and riuers in the desert.

13 He will lead all to exhort one another, and they shall minister to exhort and strengthen the weak, that they may praise the coming of God, which is at hand. 14 To delroy your enemies: 15 When the knowledge of Christ is reuieled. 16 They that were barren and desolate of grace of God, shall haue them giuen by Christ.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Sauchavith-fundeth Rajshakrab to besage Jerusalem. 15 Him blasphemies against God.

NOW ^a in the ^b fourteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib King of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, & took them.

3 And the King of Ashur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Jeroboam's house to King Hezekiah, with a great host, & he stood by the conduit of the upper pool in the path of the fullers' field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And e Rabshakeh saide vnto them, Telyou Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the King of Aslhur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, I Surely I haue eloquence, but counsel & strength are for the warre: on whom then dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Lo, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reed, on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand and pearce it: so saith Pharaoh
King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God, is not that he, whose hie places & whose alters Hezekiah took down, & said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shal worship before this altar?

8 Now therefore give hostages to my lord the King of Ashtur, and I wil give thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou despise any captain of the least of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

10 And ~~am~~ I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto me, I Goe vp against this land and destroy it.

11 ¶ Then said Eliakim, and Shebna and Ioah unto Rabshakeh, ^a Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall:

him, to yeeld himfelfe to the Aſſyrians, and ſo not to hope for Organs ſake. h He ſpeacheth to Hezekiah his ſmall that they may eate their owne dounge, and drinke their owne + pisse with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood, and cried with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, and said, Heare the words of the great King, of the King of Ashtur.

14 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he shall not be able to deliver you.
15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs:

this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Asihur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the king of Asshur, Make I appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may cate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne fig tree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne wel.

17 Till I come and bring you to a lande like your owne land, even a land of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyards.

18 Left Hezekiah deceive you, saying, The Lord will deliver vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshur?

19 Where is the god of ^m Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how have they delivered Samaria out of my hand?

20 Who is hee among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their country out of mine hand, that the Lorde shoulde deliuer Ieru-salem out of mine hand?

21 Then they kept silence, and answered him not a worde: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answer him not.

a 2 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiab the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the words of Rabshakeh.

¶ Then came the worde of the Lorde to Isaiah, saying,

Go, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will add vnto thy dayes fiftene yeeres.

¶ And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the King of Assur, and this citie: for I will defend this citie.

¶ And this signe shalt thou haue of the Lorde, that the Lorde will doe this thing that hee hath spoken.

¶ Heholde, I will bring againe the shadowe of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahaz by the sunne) ten degrees backward: so the sunne returned by ten degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.

¶ The writing of Hezekiah King of Iudah, when he had bene sicke, and was recovered of his sickness.

I sayde in the cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am deprived of the residue of my yeeres.

I sayd, I shall not see the Lorde, even the Lorde in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world.

Mine habitation is departed, and is removed from me, like a shepherds tent: I haue cutt off like a weauer my life: he will cut me off from the height: from day to night, thou wilt make an end of me.

I reckoned to the morning: but he brake all my bones, like a lyon: from day to night wilt thou make an end of me.

Like a crane or a swallow, so did I chatter: I did moune as a dove: mine eyes were lift vp vnto high: O Lord, it hath oppressed me, comfort me.

What shall I say? for he hath said to me, and he hath done it: I shall walke vnto wearily all my yeeres in the bitterness of my soule.

O Lord, to them that ouerlie thee, and to all that are in them, the life of my spirit shall be knowne, that thou causest me to sleepe and hast giuen life to me.

Beholde, for I felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my sinnes behind thy backe.

For the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy truth.

But the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee: as I doe this day: the father to the children shall declare thy truth.

The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore I will praise him, and griefe both of body and minde. O God hath declared by his signes that I had die, and therefore I will yield vnto him. I shall haue peace, for thou hast forgiven me all mine iniquities, and all they that are in their yeres shall acknowledge this. When thou saidst to the dead, O come out of the graue, thou shalt oreth. I thought to haue liued in rest, and safe being deliuered, I had grate vpon griefe. He cleaues me the remission of mine iniquities, and Gold tassel thou a thousand liues. For as much as God is mercifull in this world do glorifie him, the godly take it as a signe of his grace that they are liued, either because that they seemed vnwor- thy to liue longer in his seruite, or for their zeale to Gods glory, seeing they were in such that they regard it, as Psal 65. and 119. 17. All people shall praise thee, O Lord, and the fathers according to thy duties toward their children shall praise thee in thy graces and mercies toward me.

we will sing my song, all the dayes of our life in the house of the Lorde.

¶ Then sayd Isaiah, Take a lump of dry figs and lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recover.

¶ Also Hezekiah said, What is thy signe, that I shall goe vp into the house of the Lorde?

CH A P. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reproved because hee trusted in his treasures into the ambassadors of Babylon.

At the same time, as Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, King of Babel, sent letters, and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had bene sicke, and was recovered.

¶ And Hezekiah was glad of them, & shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, and the precious oymment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdom as Hezekiah shewed them not.

¶ Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, & said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel.

¶ Then sayd he, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

¶ And Isaiah sayde to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lorde of hostes, Beholde, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue laid vp in store vntil this day, shall be carried to Babel: nothing shall be left, saith the Lorde.

¶ And of thy sonnes, that shall procede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the King of Babel.

¶ Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah, The word of the Lorde is good, which thou hast spoken: and he sayd, Yet let there be peace, and truth in my dayes.

Behold, my seruant: I will stay vpon him: I mine elect, in whom my soule delighteth: I haue chosen him. The Prophet was to make mention of Christ after he had made his great promise, because he is a foundation whereupon all promises are made. 1. w. First hee committed all his power to him, as to a most faithful minister, & will establish him: to wit his office, by giuing him the fulnes of his Spirit. 1. w. The analysis acceptable vnto me and that they come vnto me by their faith, and other manner of reconciliation, Matt. 11. 28. eph. 1. 4.

put my Spirit vpon him: hee shall bring forth iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He shall not be sic, nor lift vp, nor cause his voice to be heard in the streete.

3 A bruised reede shall he not breake, and the smoking flaxe shall he not quench: he shall bring forth iudgement in truth.

4 He shall not fayle nor be discouraged til he haue set iudgement in the earth: and the kyles shall wait for his law.

5 Thus sayth God the Lord (he that created the heauens and spread them abroad: he that stretched forth the earth, and the buds thereof: hee that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in righteousness, and will hold mine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a covenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles,

7 That thou maist open the eyes of the blind, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and that thou maist in darkenes, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my glory will I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauen images. 1. w.

9 Beholde, the former things are past come to passe, and new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth: yee that goe downe to the sea, and all that therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderness and the cities thereof lift vp their voice, the townes that: 1. w. Kedar doeth inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rocks sing: let them shout from the top of the mountains.

12 Let him giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the ylands.

13 The Lord shal go forth as a gyant: he shal stirre vp his courage like a man of warre: he shal shout and crie, and shall preuaile agaynst his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene still and refrained my selfe: now will I crie like a trauciling woman: I will destroy and deuour at once.

15 I will make waste mountaines, and hills, and drie vp all their herbes, and I will make the floods ylands, and I will drie vp the pooles.

16 And I will bring the blinde by a way, that they knew not, and lead them by paths that they haue not known: I will make darkenes light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shall be turned backe: they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Ye are our gods. 1. w.

18 Heare ye deafe: and ye blinde, regard, that ye may see.

19 Who is blinde but my seruant? or deafe as my messenger, that I sent? who is blinde as the y perfitte, and blinde as the Lords seruant?

20 Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not: opening the eares, but he heareth not?

He shall declare himselfe gouernour over the Gentiles, and call them by his word, and rule them by his Spirit.

His coming shall not be with pompe and noise, as earthly princes.

He will not hurt the weak and feeble, but support & comfort them.

Meaning the weeke of a lampe or candle which is alight, but he will cherishe it, and make it, that it may shine brighter.

Although he favour the weak, yet will he not spare the wicked, but will iudge them according to truth and equitie.

Till he haue set all things in good order.

The Gentiles shall be desirous to receive his doctrine.

Meaning, vnto a lawfull and iust vocation.

To assist and guide them.

As him by whom the promise, made to all nations in Abraham, shall be fulfilled.

I will not suffer my glory to be diminished, which I should doe if I were not faithful in performing the same, and the iudges thereby would extoll their idoles above me.

As in time past I haue bene true in my promise, so will I be in time to come.

Meaning, the Arabians, vnder whom comprehends all the people of the East.

He sheweth the scale of the Lord, and his power in the conversion of his church.

I will haue to execute my vengeance, which I haue so long deferred, as a woman.

That is, my poore people, who are in perplexitie and care, to wit, Israel, which should haue more light because of my Lawe.

The Priest to whom my worde is committed, which should not only heare himselfe, but cause others to heare it.

As the Priests and Prophets that should be lights to others?

^a Because they wil

21 The Lord is willing for his righteousnesse take that he may magnifie the law, and exalt it.
22 But this people is a robbed & spoyled, and that be all shured in dungeons, and they shalbe hid in prison houses: they shalbe for a pray, and none shal deliver: a spoyled, and none shal say, Restore.
23 Who among you shal hearken to this, and take heede, and heare for ^b afterwards?
24 Who gaue Iakob for a spoyled, and Israel to the robbers? Did not ^f Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walkein in his waies, neither be obedient vnto his Lawe.
25 Therefore he hath powred vpon him his fiere wrath, and the strength of battell: and it fet him on fire round about, and he knew not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

CHAP. XLIII.

^a The Lord comforteth his people. He promisseth deliverance to the Iewes. ^b There was no God but one alone.

But now thus sayth ^f Lord: that created thee,
O Iakob: and he that formed thee, O Israel, ^b Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

^a When thou passest through the ^c waters, I will be with thee, & through the floods, that they do not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shalt the flame kinde vpon thee.

^a For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Saviour: I gaue ^c Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee.

^a Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honorable, and I loued thee, therefore will I ^c gaue ^c man for thee, and people for thy sake.

^a Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seed from the ^c East, and gather thee from the West.

^a I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sonnes from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

^a Every one shall be called by my ^c Name: for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.

^a I will bring forth the blind people, & they shal haue eyes, & the deafe & they shal haue eares.

^a Let all the nations bee gathered together, and let the people bee assembled: who among them can declare this and shew vs former things?
let them bring forth their i witnesses, that they may be iustified: but let them ^c heare, and say, It is truth.

^a You! are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore ye shall know and beleue me, and ye shall understand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

^a I, ^c I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Saviour.

^a I haue declared, and I haue sined, and I of thy in-some, chap. 37. 36.

^a I will not spare any man rather than thou shouldest penitent for God more after death one of his faithfull, than all the wicked in the world.
^b He prophesieth of their deliverance from the captivity of Babylon, and of calling of the universal Church, alluding to that which is written,

no power can re-fist him in doing this marvellous work, & yet all their idols are able to do the like, Chap. 41. 2.

shall be called by the name of Iakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus sayth the Lord the King of Israel and his redeemer, the Lord of hostes, I am the first, and I am the last, & without me shall there no God.

7 And thou as like mee, thus shall I call and shall declare it, and set it in order before mee, since I appointed thee the ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let them shewe vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraide: haue not I tolde thee of old, and haue declared it? I you are out my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I know not.

9 All they that make an image, and their delectable things shall nothing profite: and they are their owne witnesses, that they see not knowe: therefore they shall bee confounded.

10 Who hath made a god, or molten image, that is profitable for nothing?

11 Beholde, all that are of the fellowship thereof, shall be confounded: for the workemen themselves are men: let them bee gathered together, and stand vp, yet they shall feare, and bee confounded to gether.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and fashioneth it with hammers, & worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his strength faileth: hee drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he fashioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he putteth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in an house.

14 He will hew him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: he planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof and warme himselfe: he also kindleth it & baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, & worshipeth in the maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16 Hee burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he roseth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17 And the residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, he worshipeth and prayeth vnto it, and saith, Deliuer me: for thou art my god.

18 They haue not knowne, nor vnderstood: yfor God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And none considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue residue for the making of worshipping. Signifying, that the multitude shall come from the idolaters, when God will take vengeance, although they excuse themselves thus by many men. He describeth the raging affliction of the idolaters, which forget their owne sacrifices to see forth their deuotion towards their idols. He sheweth it in summe Temple. He sheweth forth the obstinacie and hardness of the idolaters, which though they see by daily experience that their idols are better then the rest of the matter whereof they are made, yet they will not let goe and make a god of another, as the Papists make their calves of the roll of their idols. That is, he either maketh a table or trenchers. The Temple hath here an answer to all them that wonder howe it is possible that the multitude bee so blinde to commit such abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts. Idolaters.

baked bread also vpon the coales thereof: I haue roasted flesh, and eaten it and that I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bowe to the flocke of a tree?

20 He feedeth of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceived him, that he cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

21 Remember these (O Iakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not.

22 I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloude, and thy finnes, as a mist: turne vnto mee, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 Reioyce, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shewe, ye lower parts of the earth: brast forth into prayles, yee mountaines, O forest and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iakob, and will be glorified in Israel.

24 Thus sayth the Lord, thy redeemer and he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord, that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

25 I destroy the tokens of the footspayers, and make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnesse.

26 He confirmeth the word of his seruant & performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt bee inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Ye shall bee built vp, and I will repaire the decayed places thereof.

27 He saith to the deepe, Be drie and I will drie vp thy floods.

28 He saith to Cyrus, Thou art my shepheard: and he shall performe all my desire, saying also to Ierusalem, Thou shalt bee built: and to the Temple, Thy foundations shall be surely layde.

29 Gods worke shoulde bee no lesse notable in this their deliuerance, then when he brought them out of Egypt through the Sea. I to assure them of their deliuerance, he nameth the person by whom it shoulde be, more then an hundred yeere before he was borne.

CHAP. XLV.

The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. God is iust in all his works. The calling of the Gentiles.

Thus saith the Lord vnto a Cyrus his anointed, whose right hand I haue holden to: subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loynes of Kines, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

1 I will goe before thee and make thee a crooked straight: I will breake the brazen doores, and burst the yron barres.

2 And I will giue thee the treasures of darkness, & the things hid in secret places, that thou maist know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

3 For Iakob my seruantes I saies, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee, by thy name and name thee, though thou hast not knowne me.

4 I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I stirred thee though thou hast not knowne me.

5 That they may know from the rising of the sunne, and from the West, that their is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none other.

6 I forme the light and create darkenesse: I prophane men may haue of his power, & so was compelled to deliuer Gods people. I Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthnes. I haue giuen thee strength, power: and authoritie: I send peace and warre, prosperitie and aduer. Isa. 45. 1-13.

He is abused as one that would ease almes, thinking to satiate his hunger.

A Samaritan man leaues it in molten, lined to idolatrie, and therefore he smeth his people by these examples, that they should not cleaue to any but to the living God, when they should be among the idolaters.

He sheweth that the worke of the Lord toward his people shalbe so great, that the insensible creatures shall be moued therewith.

He answereth them against the footspayers of Babylon, which would haue borne them in hand, that they knewe by the flames that God would not deliue them, and that Babylon shoulde stand.

Of Ierusalem and the rest of the Prophets, which did assure the Church of Gods fauour and deliuerance.

He sheweth that Gods worke shoulde bee no lesse notable in this their deliuerance, then when he brought them out of Egypt through the Sea. I to assure them of their deliuerance, he nameth the person by whom it shoulde be, more then an hundred yeere before he was borne.

To assure the lewes of their deliuerance against the great tentations of my people, that they shoulde abide he nameth the person and the meane.

Because Cyrus shoulde execute the office of a deliuerer, God called him his anointed for a time, but after another sort then he called David.

To giue him the deliuerance of my people. I will take away all iniquities and let it.

Not that Cyrus did know God to worke his right, but he had a certaine particular knowledge as make peace and create euill: I the Lorde doe all these things.

8 Ye heauens, send the dewe from above, and let the cloudes droppe downe: righteouſnesſe let the earth open, and let ſaluation and iuſtice growe forth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lorde haue created him.

9 Woe bee vnto him that ſtriueſh with his maker, the pothured with the pothers of the earth: ſhall the clay ſay to him that ſhaſhioneth it, What makeſt thou? or thy worke, in I haue none hands?

10 Woe vnto him that ſayeth to his father, What haſt thou begotten? or to his mother, What haſt thou brought forth?

11 Thus ſaith the Lorde, the holy one of Iſrael, and his maker, Aſke me of things to come concerning my ſonnes, and concerning the works of mine hands: command you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whole handes haue ſpured out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their armies.

13 I haue raiſed p him vp in righteouſnes, and I will direct all his waies: he ſhall build my cite, and hee ſhall let goe my captiues, not for a price nor reward, ſith the Lorde of hoſtes.

14 Thus ſaith the Lorde, The labour of Egypt, and the marchandize of Ethiopia, and of the Sabaeans, men of ſtature ſhall come vnto thee, and they ſhall be thine: they ſhall follow thee, and ſhall goe in chaines: they ſhall fall downe before thee, and make ſupplication vnto thee, ſaying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God beſides.

15 Verily, thou O God, hideſt thy ſelfe, O God, the Saviour of Iſrael.

16 All they ſhall be aſhamed and alſo confounded: they ſhall goe to conſuſion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Iſrael ſhall be ſaved in the Lorde, with an euerlaſting ſaluation: y ſhall not be aſhamed nor confounded world without end.

18 For thus ſaith the Lorde (that created heauens, God himſelfe, that formed the earth, & made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be inhabited) I am the Lorde, and there is none other.

19 I haue not ſpoken in ſecrete, neither in a place of darkenes in the earth: I ſaid not in vaine vnto the ſeede of Iſaak, Seeke you mee: I the Lorde doe ſpeake righteouſneſſe, and declare righteouſneſſe.

20 Aſſemble your ſelues, & come: draw neere together, ye abiection of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that ſet vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot ſaue them.

21 Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counſell together, who haue declared this from the beginning: or hath told it of olde? Hauent I the Lorde? and there is none other God beſide me, a iuſt God, and a Saviour: there is none beſide me.

22 Looken vnto me, and ye ſhall be ſaved: all that ſhall now honour thee, and thou ſhalt rule them: which was accompliſhed in the time of Chriſt. Hereby hee exhorteth the leweſe to patience, though their delinquent be deferred for a time: ſhewing that they ſhould not reſpect their long patience, but the wicked & idolaters ſhall be deſtroyed. To wit, of man, but chiefly of his Church. As do the ſilke gods, which giue natiuitie to ſinners. All ye idolaters, which though you ſeeme to haue more than worldly dignitie, yet in Gods ſight you are vile and ſhame.

the endes of the earth ſhall bee ſaved: for I am God, and there is none other.

23 I haue ſworne by my ſelfe: the worde is gone out of my mouth in a righteouſneſſe, and ſhall not returne, That euery knee ſhall bow vnto me, and euery tongue ſhall ſwear by my name.

24 Surely I ſee (ſhall ſay), In the Lorde I righteouſneſſe and ſtrength: he ſhall come vnto him, and all that promote him, ſhall be aſhamed.

25 The whole ſeede of Iſrael ſhall be iuſtified, and glory in the Lorde.

The deſtruction of Babylon and of their idoles. 3 He calleth the leweſe to the conſideration of his worke.

Bel is bowed downe: Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the beaſtes, and vpon the cattel: they which did beare you, were laden with a weary burden.

3 They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not rid them of the burden, and their ſoule is gone into captivity.

3 Heare ye me, O houſe of Iſaak, & all that remaine of the houſe of Iſrael, which are borne of me from the wombe, and brought vp of mee from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the ſame, euen I will beare you, vntill the hoare haire: I haue made you: I will alſo beare you, and I will cary you: and I will deliver you.

6 They drawe gold out of the bagge & weigh ſilver in the balace, and hire a goldſmith to make a god of ſilue, and they bowe downe and worſhip it.

7 They beare it vpon the ſhoulders: they carie him and fet him in his place: ſo doeth he ſtand, and cannot remoue from his place. Though one crie vnto him, yet can he not anſwere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be aſhamed: bring it againe to minde, O you tranſgreſſors.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me.

12 Heare mee ye ſtubborne hearted, that are ſarre from Iuſtice.

13 I bring neere my iuſtice: it ſhall not bee ſarre off, and my ſaluation ſhall not tarie: for I will giue ſaluation in Zion, and my glory vnto Iſrael, out wit or ſenſe like madde men. throne, O daughter of the Caldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate.

Take the mill stones, and a grinde meale: loose thy locks: make bare the feet: vncouer the leg, and passe through the floods.

Thy blithnesse shall be discouered, and thy shame shall be seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meete thee as a man.

Our redeemer, the Lord of hostes is his Name, the holy one of Israel.

Sit still, and get thee into darke nest, O daughter of the Caldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The ladie of kingdoms.

I was wroth with my people: I have polluted mine inheritance, & giuen them into thine hand: thou diddest shew the no¹ mercie, but thou diddest lay thy very heauie yoke vpon the ancient.

And thou saidst, I shall be a ladie for euer, so thou diddest not fet thy minde to these things, neither didst thou remember thy latter end thereof.

Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse, She sayth in her heart, I am & none els: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I know the losse of children.

But these two things shall come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children & widowhood: they shall come vpon thee in their i¹ perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, and for the great abundance of thine incantations.

For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, & thou hast sayd in thine heart, I am, and none els.

Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof: destruction shall fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, or thou beware.

Stand now among thine incantations, & in y¹ multitude of thy soothsayers (who¹ thou hast weighted thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou maiest haue profit, or if so be thou mayest haue strength.

Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the flame gasers, and prognosticators stand vp, and saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee.

Beholke, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there shall be no doales¹ to warme at, nor light to sit by.

Thus shall they see thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euert thy marchants from thy youth: euery one shall wander to his owne quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

¹ The hyperbole of the verses is repeated. ² The Lord alone will be our strength. ³ Of their deliurance out of Egypt.

Heare ye this, O house of Iakob, which are called by the name of Israel, and are come out of the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lord, & make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth nor in righteousness.

For they are called of the holy cite, & stay themselves vpon the God of Israel, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.

I haue declared y¹ former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, & I shewed it them: I told them suddenly, and they came to passe.

As for them that they could not accuse him in any thing, for as much as he had promised, as he had promised.

Because I knew, that¹ thou art obtinate, & thy necke is an iron sinew, and thy brow I traffe, Therefore I haue declared it to thee of old: before I came to passe, I shewed it thee, least thou shouldst say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

Thou hast heard, behold all this, & will not see: I declare it: I haue shewed thee new things, euert now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardest them not, lest thou shouldst say, Behold, I knew them.

Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knew that thou wouldest gricously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressor from the wombe.

For my Namesake will I deferre my wrath, and for my praye will I refrayne it from thee, that I cut thee not off.

Behold, I haue fined thee, but not as silver: I haue chosen thee in the furnace of affliction.

For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I do it: for how should my Name be polluted? surely I will not giue my glory vnto another.

Heare me, O Iakob and Israel, my called, I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

Surely mine hand hath layd the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens: when I cal the, they stand vp together.

All you, assemble your selues, and heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued him: he will do his will in Babel, and his arme shall be against the Chaldeans.

I, euert I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, & his way shall prosper.

Comencere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath sent me.

Thus sayth the Lord thy redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee ¹ to proficte, and lead thee by the way, that thou shouldst goe.

Oh that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments: then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, & thy righteousness as the waves of the sea.

Thy seed also had bene as the gande, and the fruit of thy bodie like the grauel thereof: his name should not haue bene cut off nor destroyed before me.

I Goe ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ioy: tel & declare this: shew it forth to the end of the earth: say ye, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iakob.

And they were not thistle: he led them through the wilderness: he caused the waters to flow out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

There is no peace, sayth the Lord, vnto the wicked.

Thereto, the prosperous estate of Israel. y¹ After that he had freed them from their captiuitie, and of the cause thereof, he shewed them the great ioy, that shall come of their deliurance. He sheweth that it shall be as safe to deliue them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt. A Thus he speaketh that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repen- tance, as Chapter 31.

I haue done for thee more then I promised that thy righteousness and impudence might haue bene ouercome.

Will ye not acknowledge this my chastitie and declare it vnto wiser?

Shewing that mans arrogance is the euile why God doeth not de- clare all things at once, lest they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wilddome.

From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt: for that deliue- rance was as the birth of the Church.

As it was my free mercy that I did call thee: so is it my free mercy that I must fine thee.

I For I had respect to thy weakness and infirmities: for I did call thee: some protest, but in v¹ there is nothing but drosse.

I Took thee out of the ioughe where thou shouldst haue bene conserued.

of many hands: thy wals are euer in my fight.

He that is a This is spoken in the person of Christ to assure the faithful, that their promises should come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.

b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Psal. 2, 7.

c By the wordes and traile, he signifieth the vertue & efficacy of Christs doctrine.

d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: this chiefly as meant of Christ, as may also be applied to the ministers of his word.

e By Israel is meant Christ, and all the body of the faithful, as the members, & their head.

f Thus Christ is his members, complaint, that his labour and preaching take none effect, yet he is contented that his doings are approved of God.

g Though he would refuse my doctrine, yet God will approve my ministry.

h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles. Chap. 42. 6.

i Meaning the Jews whom tyrants kept in bondage.

k The benefite of their deliuerance shall bee so great, that great & small shall acknowledge & adore the true God for it.

l Thus he speaketh of his Church, who would know his mercie toward it, 2. Cor. 4. 2.

m Meaning Christ alone.

n Signifying that before Christ renewed the earth by his wordes, there is nothing but confusion & disorder.

o To them that are in the prison of sinne and death.

p Being in Christ's protection they shall be safe against all dangers, and free from the feare of the enemies.

q Meaning that there should be nothing in their way from Babylon, that should hinder or hurt them: but this is accomplished spiritually.

r Meaning the South country, so that Christ shall deliver his from all the parts of the world.

Hear ye mee, O yles, and hearken, ye people from farre. The Lord hath called ^a me from the wombe, & made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

^b And he hath made my mouth like a sharpe sword: vnder the shadow of his hand hath hee hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, and hid me in his quiver,

^c And sayd vnto me, Thou art my seruant, ^d Israel, for I will be glorious in thee.

^e And I said, I haue laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine, and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

^f And now saith the Lord, that formed mee from the wombe to be his seruant, that I may bring Iacob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shall be my strength)

^g And he sayd, It is a small thing that thou shouldst be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iacob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue ^h thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou maiest be my saluation vnto the ende of the world.

ⁱ Thus sayth the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his Holy one, to him that is despised in soule to a nation that is abhorred, to a seruant of rulers, Kings shall see, and arise, and princes shall worship, because of the Lord, that is faithfull: and the Holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

^j Thus sayth the Lord, ^k I in an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee, and I will preferre thee, and will giue ^l thee for a covenant of the people, that thou maiest raise vp ^m the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

ⁿ For thou mayest say to the prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in darkenesse, Shewe your felues: they shall see in the waies, and their pastures shall be in all the toppes of the hills.

^o They shall not be hungry, neither shall they be thirlike, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne: for he that hath compassion on them, shall lead them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them.

^p And I will make all my mountaines, as a way, and my paths shall be exalted.

^q Behold, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North and from the West, and these from the land of ^r Sinim, ^s Reioyce, O heauens: and be ioyfull, O earth: braist forth into praye, O mountains: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercy vpon his afflicted.

^t But Zion said, The Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

^u Can a woman forget her child, & not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

^v Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme

^w Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselves together, and come to thee: as I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely put them all vpon thee as a garment, and gird thy selfe with them like a bride:

^x For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee, shall be farre away.

^y The children of thy barrenesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is streike for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

^z Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten me these, seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro, and who hath nourished them? behold, I was left alone: whence are these?

^a Thus sayth the Lord God, Behoide, I will lift vp mine hand to the Gentiles, and set vp my standard to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes: and thy daughters shall be carried vpon their shoulders.

^b And Kings shall be thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shall be thy nurses: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and lick vp the dust of thy feet: and thou shalt know that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that wayte for me.

^c That shall pray be taken from the mighty: or the iust captiue deliuered?

^d But thus sayth the Lord, Euen the captiuitie of the mighty shall be taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children, ^e And I will feede them that spoile thee, with their owne flesh, and they shall be drunken with their owne blood, as with sweet wine: and selfe shall knowe that I the Lord am thy sauious and thy redeemer, the mighty one of Iacob.

1 The Jews forsake for a time. 2 The power of God is not diminished. 3 Christs obedience and victory.

Thus sayth the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditor to whom I sold you? Behold, for your iniquities are yfold, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

^a Wherefore came I, and there was no man? I called, & none answered: is mine hand so shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliue? Behold, as I rebuke I drie vp the Sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteeth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

^b I clothe the heauens with darkenesse, and make a facke their covering.

^c The Lord God hath giuen me a tongue of the learned, that I should knowe to minister a word in time to him that is weary: he will raise their doctrine, and comfort. ^d Am I now able to helpe you, as I was in the past, your fathers of olde, when I dried vp the red Sea, and killed the ph in its stream, and also afterward in Iordan? ^e As I did in Egypt in token of my discipline, Brod. 1021 ^f The Prophet doeth represent here the pities and change of them that are finally called to the ministration of Gods word. ^g To him that is oppressed by affliction and misery.

me vp in the morning : in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare, as the learned.

5 The Lorde God ha h opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe,

6 I gaue my backe vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers : I hidde not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded : therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed,

8 He is neere that iustifieth mee : who will contend with me ? Let vs stand together : who is mine aduersarie ? let him come neere to me. 7 :

9 Beholde, the Lord God will helpe me : who is he that can condemne me ? loe, they shall wake olde as a garment : the mothe shall eate them vp.

10 Who is among you that feareth the Lord ?
let him heare the voice of his seruante that walketh in darkenes, & hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and say vpon his God.

11 Beholde, all you kinde = a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes : walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand : ye shall lye downe in forowe.

CHAP. LI.

1 Trust in God alone by Abraham example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 and her deli-uerance.

HEARE me, ye that follow after righteousness, and ye that seeke the Lord : looke vnto the rocks, whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you : for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion : he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert like Eden, and her wilderness like the garden of the Lord : ioye and gladnesse shall be found therein : praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and I giue care vnto me, O my people : for a Lawe shall proceede from mee, and I will bring forth my iudgment for the light of the people.

5 My righteousness is neere : my saluation goeth forth, and mine armes shall iudge the people : the yles shall waite for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heavens, and looke vpon the earth beneath : for the 8 heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like manner : but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousness shall not bee abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteous-nesse, the people in whose heart is my Lawe. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraid of their relikes.

8 For the mothe shall eate them vp like a garment, and the womne shall eate them like wooll :
but my righteousness shall be for euer, and my sal-uation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord : rise vp as in the olde time in the generations of the worlde. Art not thou the same, that hath cutte Rahab, and wounded the dragon :

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dried the Sea, when the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer ?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shall be vpon their head : they shall obtaine ioy, and gladnesse : and sorow and mourning shall see away.

12 I, ^{new} I am he, that comfort you. Who are thou, that thou shouldst feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shall be made as grasse ?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, and laide the foundations of the earth : and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy ? Where is now the rage of the oppressour ?

14 The captiue = hasteneth to be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided the sea, when his waues roared : the Lord of hosts is his Name.

16 And I haue put my words in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadowe of mine hand, that I may plant the heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Ierusalem, which hast drunke at the hand of the Lorde the cup of his wrath : thou hast drunken the dregges of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whom he hath brought forth : there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that he hath brought vp.

19 These two things are come vnto thee : who wilt lament thee ? desolation and destruction and famine, and the sword : by whom shall I comfort thee ?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lye at the head of all the strettes as a wilde bull in a netre, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and drunken, but not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hand the cuppe of trembling, euen the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath : thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that spoile thee : which haue said to thy soule, Bowe downe, that wee may goe ouer, and thou hast laide thy bodie as the ground, and as the strette to them that went ouer.

downe his head, as a bull rush, and to lie down in sackcloth and ashes: wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day?

6 Is not this the fasting, that I haue chosen, to loose the bands of wickednes, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye breake euery yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungrie, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from thine owne flesh?

8 Then shall thy light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shall grow speedily: thy righteousness shall go before thee, and the glory of the Lord shall embrace thee.

9 Then shall thou call, and the Lord shall answer: thou shalt cry, and he shall say, Here I am: if thou take away fro the mids of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the hand, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou poure out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the darknesses, and thy darknesses shall be as the noone day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satistie thy soule in drough, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall be of thee, that shall build the olde waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repaire of the breach, & the restorer of the pathes to dwell in.

13 If thou turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delite, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, 14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lord, & I will cause thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Iacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The wicked perish through their own iniquities. 2 The affliction of sinners. 3 God shall will prosper his Church, though all men forsake.

Beholde, the Lordes hand is not shortened, that it cannot f.ue: neither is his care heauie, that it cannot beare.

But your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, and your finnes haue hid his face from you, that he wil not heare.

For your handes are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies, & your tongue hath murmured iniquity.

No man calleth for iustice: no man contendeth for truth: they trust in vanity, & speake vaine thinge: they conceiue mischief, and bring forth iniquity.

They hatch cockatrice egges, and weaue the spiders webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out as a serpent.

Their webbes shall be no garment, neither shall they couer themselves with their labours: for their workes are works of iniquity, & the worke of cruelty is in their hands.

Their feete runne to euill, & they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: defolation and destruction is in their paths.

The way of peace they know not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein, shall not know peace.

Therefore is iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth iustice come neere vnto vs: we wait for light, but loe, it is darkness: for brightness, but we walke in darkness.

We grope for the wall like the blinde, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men.

We roare like beares, and mourne like doves: we looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

For our trespasses are many before thee, and our finnes tellifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities.

In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of cruelty and rebellion, conceiuing and vntering out of the heart false matters.

Therefore iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre off: for truth is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter.

Yea, truth hath sayeth, and he that restayneth from euill, maketh himselfe a praye: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

And when he saw that there was no man, hee wondered that none woulde offer himselfe. Therefore his arme did f.ue it, and his righteousness it selfe did sustaine it.

For he put on righteousness, as an habergeon, and an helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

As to make recompence, as to require the fruite of the aduocaries with a recompence to his enemies: he will fully repay the ylands.

So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sun: for the enimie shall come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

And the redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto them that turne from iniquitie in Iacob, sayth the Lord.

And I will make this my couenant with them, saith the Lord, My Spirit that is vpon thee, and my words, which I haue put in thy mouth, shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seed, saith the Lord, from hence forth euen for euer.

It is made profitable by the verue of the Spirit, he joynerh the one with these, and prometh to giue them both to his Church for euer.

CHAP. LX.

1 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 2 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 3 They shall have a banner, though they suffer for a time.

Rise, O Ierusalem: be bright, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

For behold, darkness shall couer the earth, and grosse darkness shall couer the people: but the Signifying, that all men are in darkness, till God giue them the light of his Spirit, and that this light shall not be to none, but to those that are in his Church.

That is, Gods vengeance to punish our enemies.

Gods protection to defend vs.

We are altogether destitute of consolation, and can find no end of our miseries.

We expresse our sorrows by outward signes, more than we can tell.

This confession is general to the Church to obtaine remission of finnes, and the propheta did not exempt themselves from the same.

To wit against our neighbours.

There is neither iustice nor vprightnesse among vs.

The wicked will defray him.

Meaning to doe iustice, and to requite the things that were to be done out of order.

That is, his Church or his arme did helpe himselfe, and did not for the sake of any other.

Signifying, that God hath at meane tyme to deliver his Church, and to punish their enemies.

To wit, your enemies, which dwell in diuers places, & beyond the sea.

He sheweth that there shall be great affliction in the Church, but Gods will neuer desert his.

Whereby he declareth that shew deliverance from sinne and from bondage of the law, but to the children of God, whom he iustifieth.

Because the doctrine is made profitable by the verue of the Spirit, he joynerh the one with these.

Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall be seen vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in thy light, and Kings at the brightness of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold:
all these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall be nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt feare and shaine: thine heart shall be astonished, and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be converted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

6 The multitude of camels shall couer thee:
and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shewe forth the praises of the Lorde.

7 All the sheepe of a Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rams of Nebaioth shall serue thee:
they shall come vp to be accepted vpon mine altar:
and I will beautifie the house of my glorie.

8 Who are these? that see like a cloude, and as the doudes to their windowes?

9 Surely they shal waite for mee, and the ships of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer, and their golde with them vnto the Name of the Lorde thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shall build vp thy walles, and their Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercie I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and the Kingdom, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shall be utterly destroyed.

13 The glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the cyme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuary:
for I will glorifie the place of my sancte.

14 The founnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bowe vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall p downe at the fowles of thy feete: and they shall call thee, The cite of the Lorde, Zion of the Holy one of Israel.

15 Where as thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a ioye from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breastes of Kings:
and thou shalt knowe, that I the Lord am thy Saviour, and thy Redeemer, the mighty one of Iaakob.

17 For brass will I bring golde, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasse, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernement pence, and thine exadours righteousnes.

18 Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither defolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call saluation, thy walles, and praye, thy gates.

day, neither shalt the brightness of the moon shine vnto thee: for the Lord shall thee eu-erlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

20 Thy sunne shall cease to go downe, neither shall thy moon be hidde: for the Lord shall be thy light euerlasting light, and the daies of thy sorrow shall be ended.

21 Thy people also shall be all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, the graffe of my planting shall be the worke of mine handes, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become as a thousand, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

CHAP. LXI.

a He propheseth that Christ shall anointe and sent to preach the word of the Lord.

b He spirit of the Lord God is vpon mee, therefore hath the Lord anointed mee: he bath sent mee to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to bind vp the broken hearted, to preach liberty to the captiues, & to them that are bound,
the opening of the prison,

23 To preach the acceptable yeere of the Lorde, and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne.

3 To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beauty for ashes, the oyle of ioy for mourning, the garment of glad-nesse for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called a trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lorde, that he might be glorified.

4 And they shall build the olde waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the cities that were desolate & waste through many generations.

5 And the strangers shall stand and feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen, and dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shall be named the Priests of the Lorde, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: ye shall eate the riches of the Gentiles, and shall be exalted with their glory.

7 For your shame you shall receive double, and for confusion they shall reioice in your portion: for in their lande they shall possesse the double: euerlasting ioy shall be vnto them.

8 For I the Lorde loue iudgement and hate q robbery for burnt offering, and I will direct their work in truth, and will make an euerlasting con-uenant with them.

9 And their feede shall be known among the Gentiles, and their budde among the people. All that see them shall knowe them, that they are the seede which the Lorde hath blessed.

10 I will greatly reioice in the Lorde, and my soule shall be ioyfull in my God: for he hath clothed me with the garments of saluation, and cou-ered me with the robe of righteousness: hee hath decked me like a bridegrome, and as a bridereth herselfe with her iewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth to growe that which is sown in it: so the Lord God will cause righteou-nesse to growe, and praise before all the heathen.

1. The great desire that the Prophets have had for Christes coming. 2. The deliverance of the Pastors to preach.

For Zions sake I will not a holde my tongue, and for Ierusalem sake I will not rest, until the righteousness thereof breake forth as the blight, and saluation thereof as a burning lamp.

3 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousness, and all Kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

3 Thou shalt also bee a crowne of glorie in the hand of the Lord, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shall no more be said vnto thee, Forfaken, neither shall it be said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt be called I Hephzibah, and thy land I Beniah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an husband.

5 For as a young man maneth a virgin, so shall thy sonnes multiply thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue set watchmen vpon thy walles, O Ierusalem, which all the day & all the night continually shall not cease: yee that are mindfull of the Lord, keepe not silence,

7 And giue him no rest, till he repaire and vntill he set vp Ierusalem the praise of the world.

8 The Lord hath sworn by his right hand and by his strong arme, Surely I will no more giue thee to be meat for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.

9 But they that haue gathered it, shall eate it, and praise the Lord, and the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuary.

10 I Go through, goe through the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones, and set vp a band for the people.

11 Beholde, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the ends of the world: tell the daughter Zion, Beholde, thy Saviour cometh: beholde, his wages is with him, and his worke is before him.

12 And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be named, A citie fought out and not forsaken, 13 For the restoration thereof all the world shall praise him. 14 Signifying the great number that should come to the Church, and vnto them they would prepare for the restitution of the same, as Chap. 17. 14. 15 To Preachers and ministers shew the people of this deliverance: which was the cause of our Salvation by Christ, as Chap. 9. mat. 21. 3. 16 Hee shall haue all power in being his purpose to passe, as Chap. 1. 10. 17 That is, one ouer them God had had a singular care to recover her when she was lost.

CHAP. LXXIII.

1. God shall destroy his enemies for his Churches sake. 2. God breakest toward his Church.

Who is this that cometh a from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? hee is glorious in his apparell and walketh in his great strength. I speake in righteousness, and am mighty to save.

2 Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine presse?

It is led to his pasture. 3 Having declared Gods benefits sheweth to his long-fathers, he turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring him to continue the same graces toward them. 4 Thy great affliction which thou barest toward vs. 5 Meaning, from the whole body of the Church. 6 Though Abraham would refuse vs to be his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our father. 7 By taking away thy holy Spirit from vs by whom we were comforted, and so for our ingratitude didst deliver vs up to our owne concupiscence, and didst punish fraine by finne according to thy iust iudgement. 8 Meaning, for the covenant made to Abraham, Ishak and Iacob his servants.

3 I haue troden the wine presse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for I will treade them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the daye of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to vpholde: therefore mine owne arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therefore I will treade downe the people in my wrath, and make them I drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will remember the mercies of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

8 For he saide, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie: so hee was their Saviour.

9 In all their troubles he was I troubled, and the Angel of his presence saued them in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and he bare them and carried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was he turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.

11 Then he remembered the old time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the Sea with me? I shepherded of his shepe? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an encirculating Name.

13 He ledde them through the deepe, as an horse in the wilderness, that they shoulde not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 I Looked downe from heauen, and behold from the dwelling place of thine holiness, and of thy glory, Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from me.

16 Doubtles thou art our Father, though Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

10 There shall be no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath * not filled his dayes: for he that shalbe an hundred yeeres old, shall dye as a yong man; but the sinnet being * an hundred yeeres old shalbe accounted.

11 And they shall * build houles and inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, and eate the fruit of them.

12 They shal not build, and another inhabit: they shal not plant, and another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shal inioye in olde age the worke of their hands.

13 They shal not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the feede of the blessed of the Lord, and their budys with the m.

14 Yea, before they call, I will answer, and whiles they speake, I will heare.

15 The * wolfe and the lambe shal feede together, and the lyon shal eate strawe like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shal be his meate. They shal no more hurt nor defouly in all mine holy Mountaine, sayth the Lord.

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God will not be angry with his anointed, neither will he curse him, for he hath chosen him that are troubled for his sake. 2 The vocation of the Gentiles. 3 The perpetual Sabbath. 4 The punishment of the wicked is cursing.

Thus sayth the Lorde, * The * heauen is my throne, & the earth is my footstool: where is that house that ye will build vnto me? and where is that place of my rest?

5 For all these things hath mine hande made, and all these things haue bene, sayth the Lorde: and to him wil I looke, cuento him that is poore, and of * a contrite spinite and trembleth at my wordes.

6 He that killeth a bullock, is as if he * slewe a man: he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if he cut off a dogges necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: he that remembereth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes, & their fouled delighteth in their abominations.

7 Therefore will I * chuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none would answer: I spake and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, & chose the things which I would not.

8 Heare the worde of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his worde, Your brethren that hated you, and call you out for my Names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shal appeare to your ioy, and they shal be ashamed.

9 A voice I vndeth from the citie, even a voice from the Temple, the voyce of the Lorde, that recompenteth his enemies fully.

10 Before * he traualled, there I brought forth, and before her paine came, she was deliuered of a man childe.

11 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such things? shall the earth be brought forth in one day? or shall a nation be borne at once? for assoone as Zion traualled, the brought forth her children.

12 Shall I * cause to traualle, and not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth, and shall be barren, sayth the God?

13 Receiue ye with Ierusalem, and be gladd with her, all ye that loue her: receiue ye forioy with her, all ye that mourne for her.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Jeremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whome some thinke to be he that founde out the booke of the Lawe, & came at 30. Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, & most euident reuelations of prophesie, so that by the commandement of the Lords he began very yong to prophesie, that is, in the thirtieth yeare of Iosiah, and continued eightene yeere vnder the sayde King, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachaz, and vnder Iehoiachin eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboute fourty yeere. Besides the time that he prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with tears, and lamentation the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, countenances, subtiltie, crueltie, excess, rebellion, and contemps of Gods worde, and for the consolation of the Church reueleth the last time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubborn and obstinate, when the Prophets are admonished them most plainly of their destruction. Next how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly though God shewe his iust iudgement against the wicked yet will he ever shewe himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to faile iudgement to be aboishad, shew will he declare himselfe victorious in preserving his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Jeremiah prophesied, 2 He acknowledged his imperfection, and a strength of the Lords. 3 The Lords sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem, 47 He commandeth him to prophesie his word without feare.

He wordes of Ieremiah the sone of Hilkiah one of the Priestes that were at Anathoth in the land of Benjamin.

2 To whom the wordes of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah in the thirtieth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiachin the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, when vnto the carrying away of Ierusalem captiue in the sixt moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I s formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the nations.

6 Then sayd I, Oh Lord God, behold, I can not speake, for I am a child.

7 But the Lord fynde vnto me, Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall sende thee, and whatsoever I command thee, shalt thou speake,

8 Be not affrayde of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayth the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hande and touched my mouth, and the Lord sayd vnto me, Behold, I haue put my wordes in thy mouth.

10 Behold, this day haue I set thee ouer the nations and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throw downe, to build, and to plant.

11 After this the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what feest thou? And I said, I see a word of an almond tree.

12 Then sayd the Lord vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my worde to Performe it.

13 Again the worde of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I sayde, I see a seething a pot looking out of the North.

14 Then sayde the Lord vnto me, Out of the North shall a plague bee spread vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, sayth the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entreing of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof found about, and in all the citie of Iudah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore truste vp thy loynes, and arise and speake vnto them all that I commande

3 O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the true? thou hast stricken them, but they have not sorrowed: thou hast consumed them, but they have refused to receive correction: they have made their faces harder than a stone, and have refused to returne.

4 Therefore I sayd, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they knowe not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get me vnto the great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowne the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bondes.

6 Wherefore a Lyon out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wildeernes shall destroy them: a leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased.

7 Howe should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and sworn by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adulterie, and assembled themselves by companies in the harlots houses.

8 They rose vp in the morning like fedde horses: for euery man eyed after his neighbours wife.

9 Shall I not visit for these things, sayth the Lord? Shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Clime vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full ende: I take away their battlements, for they are not the Lords.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grievously trespassed against me, sayth the Lord.

12 They haue denied the Lord, and sayd, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sword nor famine.

13 And the Prophets shalbe as windes, & the word is not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus sayeth the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake such wordes, behold, I will put my wordes into thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

15 Lo, I will bring a nation vpon you from the farre, O house of Israel, faith the Lord, which is a mighty nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

16 Whose quiuer is as an open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

17 And they shall eate thine harvest and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy finnes & thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheep and thy bullocks: they shall eate thy vines and thy figge trees: they shall destroy with the sword thy fenced cities, wherein thou dost trust.

18 Neuertheless, at those dayes, faith y Lord, I will not make a full ende of you.

19 And when yeshay say, Wherefore doeth the Lord our God do thesethings vnto vs? then shalt thou answer them, like as ye haue forsaken me, & sinned strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iacob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, 21 Heare now this, O foolish people, & without vnderstanding, which haue eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not.

22 Feare ye not me, sayth the Lord? or will ye not be affrayd at my presence, which haue placed the land for the bounds of the sea by the perpetual decree that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it?

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed & gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that reueth sayne both early and late in due season: hee giueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the harvest.

25 Thy yf iniquities haue turned away these things, and your finnes haue hundred good things from you.

26 For among my people are founde wicked persons, that lay waste as he that setteth snares: they haue made a pit, to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birdes, so are their houses full of deceit: thereby they are become great and waxen rich.

28 They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deeds of the wicked: they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse: yet they prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shall I not visit for these things, sayth the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthy thing is committed in the land.

31 The Prophets propheticie lies, & the Priests receiue gifts in their handes, and my people delight therein, What will ye then doe in the ende thereof?

CHAP. VI.

The coming of the Affrains and Calirais, 16 He taketh the leuies to repentence.

O Ye children of Benjamin, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem, and blow the trumpet in Tekoa: set vp a standard vpon Beth-haccram: for a plague appeareth out of the North, and great destruction.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to a beautiful and daintie woman.

3 The Pastors with their flocks shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tents round about her, and euery one shall feede in his place.

4 Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp toward the South: wo vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the evening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hostes said, Hewe downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this cite must be visited: all oppression is in the mids of it.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her mallice: g cruelitie and spoyle is continually heard in her before me, and forsooke and strokes.

8 Be thou instructed, O Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate, because why it should be destroyed, and howe it commeth of Ierusalem, it is warned them: so amended by his corrections and to turne to him by repentance.

as a land, that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admonish that they may heare? behold, their eares are circumcised, and they cannot hearken: behold, the worde of the Lord is vnto them as a reproch: they haue no delight in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will powre it out vpon the children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses with their landes, and wicke also shall be turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

13 For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsely.

14 They haue healed also the hurte of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed: no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the flaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the wayes and behold, and aske for the old way, which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall finde rest for your soules: but they sayd, We will not walke therein.

17 Also I set forth watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heede to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not take heede.

18 Heare therefore, ye Gentiles, and thou Congregation know, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, behold I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, ⁱⁿ the fruit of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heede vnto my wordes, nor to my Lawe, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou mee? in case from Sheba, and sweete calamus from a far country? Your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, I will lay stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, a people cometh from the North country, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shield shall they be weaponed: they are cruell and will haue no compassion: their voice roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, and our hands weake feebles: for we are come vpon vs as the sword of a man in travail.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemies and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with flockcloth, and wallowe thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine only sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou mightest know and trie their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitors, walking craftily: they are brasie and iron, they all are destroyers.

29 The bellows are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vayne: for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They shall call them reprobate filier, because the Lord hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

Jeremiah is commanded to stand vnto the people the worde of God, which he had in the caruance, before of the Temple. The truth that shall come to pass by him, for the fulfilling of their Prophets. A Sacrifice death not the Lord chiefly requirer of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

THE wordes that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

1 Stand in the gate of the Lordes house and crie this word there, and say, Heare the worde of the Lord, all ye of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

2 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Amend your wayes and your works, and I will let you dwell in this place.

3 Trust not in lying wordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord,

4 For if you amend and redresse your wayes and your workes: if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour,

5 And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widow, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

6 Then will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

7 Behold, you trust in lying wordes, that cannot profite,

8 Will you steale, murder, and commit adultery, and sweare falsely, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not?

9 And come and stand before mee in this House, whereupon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations?

10 Is this House become a den of theues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, euen I see it, saith the Lord.

11 But geue ye now vnto my place which was in Shilo, where I set my Name at the beginning, and behold what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

12 Therefore now because ye haue done all these workes, saith the Lord, and I rose vp early and spake vnto you, when I spake, ye would not heare mee, neither when I called, would ye answer.

chap. 36. 13.

A Belieue not this false prophete, which sayeth for the Temple is taken, and the sacrifices there, the Lord will preserve you and so nourish you in your sinne, and vaine confidence, he God sweareth on what condition he made his promise to this Temple: that they should be an holy people vnto him as hee would be a faithful God to them. c Arisee and bid his holies and deanes shinke themselves vile, so when you are in my Temple, you thinke to be covered with the holines thereof, and that I cannot be a vaine wickednesse. Matt. 23. 13. d Because they depended so much on the Temple, which was for his promise, that he would be present and defend them where? Ark was, he ledeth them to Gods indignations against Shilo, where the Arke had remained about 300 yeeres, and after was taken, the Priests house, and the people miserably discontented. 1 Sam. 4. 11. chap. 26. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100.

14 Therefore will I do vnto this house, whereupon my Name is called, wherein also ye trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you & to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

g I will send you into captiuitie as I haue done Ephraim, that is, the 2. tribes.

h To afflict them that God hadde so much loved with him self to punish their wickednes, he sheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing auail them, whiles they remaine in their obstinacie against God, and will not vfe the means that he voucheth to call them to repentance, Chap. 11.

i That is, they refused to be of the same, moone and starres, which they called the Queene of heauen, Chap. 44.

k Showing that it was not his chief purpose & intent, that they should offer sacrifices: but they should regard, whereof they were ordained, as to be iudged by word as scales and confirmations of remission of finnes in Christ, for without the word they were vaine and veprofitable.

l Which was about fourteene hundred yeres, as Reads verſe 3.

m Whereby hee sheweth that the godly ought not to leave their stockes in their obstinacie: for the Lord will vfe the means of his seruants to make the wicked more faulty, and to proue his.

n In figure of moone, as Job. 31. 26. Againe whom he had iust occasi on to proue out his wrath.

o Of Topheth read 2. Kings 23. 10.

p But commanded the contrary, as Leviticus 24. 16. 25. 16. 25. 16.

15 And I will cast y you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole people of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp crye or prayer for them, neither intreate me, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seeſt thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

18 The children pacher wood, and the fathers kinde the fire, and the women kneade the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heauen and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger. 1. 20.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, sayth the Lorde, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall bee powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruite of the ground, and it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Iſrael, Pur your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eate the flesh.

22 For I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and yee shall bee my people: and walke yee in all the waies which I haue commanded you, that it may bee well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels & the stubbornnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, 26 yf ye would they not heare me nor incline their eare, but hardened their necke & did worse then their fathers.

26 Yee would they not heare me nor incline their eare, but hardened their necke & did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words vnto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also crye vnto them, but they will not answer thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: truth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the high places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his people.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, sayth the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House, whereupon my Name is called, so pollute it.

31 And they haue built the h'e place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-Hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall burie in Topheth all there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate for the foules of the heauen and for the beasts of the earth, & none shall fray them away.

34 Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Iudah, and from the streetes of Ierusalem the voice of mirth and the voice of gladnes, the voice of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride for the land halfe desolate.

CHAP. VIII.

The destruction of the Jews. 1. The Lord mooueth the people to amendment. 2. Hee reprehendeth the Iudges, Priests and the counsellors of the Prophets and Priests.

At that time, sayth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the Priests and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their graues.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne and the moone and all the host of heauen, whom they haue loved, and whom they haue serued, and whom they haue followed, and whom they haue fought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, shall be as dog vpon the earth.

3 And death shall bee desired rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayth the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus sayth the Lord, Shall they fall and not arise? shall bee turned away and not come againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetual rebellion? they cause themselves to deice, and would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake a right: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? every one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the stork in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallowe obserue the time of their coming, but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord.

8 How do ye say, We are wise, and the Lawe of the Lord is with vs? Lo, certainly in vaine made he the pen of the scribes in vaine.

9 The wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: loe, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them? 2. 20.

10 Therefore will I giue their wives vnto others, and their husbandes to them that shall possesse them, for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsly.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there was no peace.

12 Where they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the same: when I shall visit them, they shall be cast downe, sayth the Lord.

13 I will surely confute them, saith the Lord: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them, shall depart from them.

14 Why doe we stay? asenle ye your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs water with gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 We looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles,

16 The noying of his horses was heard from Dan, the whole land trembled at the noye of the noying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the cities, and those that dwell therein.

17 For beholde, I will send serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed, and they shall sting you, saith the Lord.

18 I would haue comforted my selfe against sorowe, but mine heart is heauy in me.

19 Behold, the voice of the crie of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a far country, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not he king in her? Why haue they prouoked mee to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

20 The harvest is past, the sommer is ended, and we are not holpen, 21 I am sore vexed for the hurt of my daughter of my people, I am beauy, and astonishment hath taken me.

22 Is there no balm? at Gilead? is there no Physician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

Meaning that no mans helpe or meane could find them: for the Lord vs present balm. Chap. 46. 11. or els deriding the vaine confidence of the people who looked for helpe at their Priests, who should haue bene the Physicians of their Soules, and dwelt at Gilead, Hose. 6. 8.

CHAP. IX.

1 The complaint of the Prophets for the malice of the people, 26 In the knowledge of God againe to reuerse, 28 The vntimection of the heart.

O H, that mine head were full of water and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh, that I had in the wilderness a cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and goe from them: for they bee all adulterers, and an assembly of rebels,

3 And they bendeth their tongues like their bows for lyes: but they haue no courage for the truth vpon the earth: for they proceed from euill to worse, and they haue not known mee, saith the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heede of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother will vse deccie, and euery friend will deale deceitfully,

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and will not speake the truth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lyes, and take great paines to do wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the mids of deceiues: because of their deceit they refuse to know me, saith the Lord.

Meaning that all were corrupt and gone could find an honest man. f They had practised deceit that they cannot forsake it. g They had gathered sorowfull heare their wicked trade.

Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will melt them, and try them: for what should I do for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deccie: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth waite for him.

9 Shall I not visite them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be aunged on such a nation as this?

10 Vpon the mountains will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wilderness a mourning, because they are burnt vp, so that none can passe through them, neither can men heare the voice of the flock: both the soule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is wise, to vnderstand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shall declare it. Why doeth the Lord perish, and is burnt vp like a wilderness, that none passeth through?

13 And the Lord saith, Because they haue forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter,

14 But haue walked after the stubbernesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which I their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feed this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue known, and I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Take heede, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women, that they may come,

18 And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eye liddes gush out of water.

19 For a lamentable noyse is heard out of Zion, Howe are we destroyed, and vterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our windows, and is entered into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the young men in the streets.

22 Speake, Thus saith the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lie, euen as the downe vpon the field, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them.

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wife man glory in his wisdom, nor the strong man glorie in his strength, neither the rich man glorie in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that hee vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which I shewe mercie, iudgement, and righteousnes.

1 Signifying that all the places about Ierusalem should be destroyed.

2 Meaning, that they are all without friends & vnderstanding and that God hath taken his spirit from them.

3 He sheweth that the children cannot excuse themselves by their fathers, for both father and child if they be wicked, shall perish.

4 Meade Cha. 8. 7. 9. n Seeing you cannot lament your own sinnes, call for those foolish women, whom of a superstitio you haue to lamente for the dead, that they by their fauied teares may prouoke you to some sorrow.

5 Although they were wearie of vs, because of our iniquities, Ier. 8. 28. and 20. 11.

6 He derideth the superstition of the women, which made an arte of mourning, and taught to weepe with fauied teares.

7 Signifying, that there is no meane to deliuer the wicked from Gods iudgements: but when they thinke to be well sure, & make off care, then are they soonest taken.

8 Forasmuch as none can save himselfe by his owne labour or any worldly meane, he sheweth that it is vaine to put our trust therein, but that we trust in the Lord, and reioyce in him, who only can deliuer vs. Cor. 1. 31.

9 Cor. 10. 17. f These three point are necessary to know rightness his mecie, where in consisteth our saluation: his iudgement, which he requireth continually against the wicked, & his iustice, whereby he defendeth, and maintaineth the faithfull.

in the fieldes, and thine abominations. Wo vnto thee, O Ierusalem: wilt thou not bee made cleane? when shall it once be?

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 2 The prayer of the people asking mercy of the Lord. 3 The comfort of the people in the dearth. 4 Of the prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

The worde of the Lord that came vnto Ierusalem, concerning the dearth.

1 Iudah hath mourned, & the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bin brought to haueines vnto the ground, & the cry of Ierusalem goeth vp.

2 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the wells, and found no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and couered their heads.

3 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no rayne in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

4 Yea, the hinde also calued in the fieldes, and forsooke it, because there was no grasse.

5 And the wilde asses did stande in the high places, & drew in their wmd like dragons: their eyes did fayle, because there was no grasse.

6 O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellious are many, we sinned against thee.

7 O thou hope of Israel, the sauour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the lande, as one that passeth by to tary for a night?

8 Why art thou as a man astoned, and as a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

9 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they desired to wander: they haue not remained their feete, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but he wil now remember their iniquitie, and visite their finnes.

10 Then sayd the Lord vnto me, I Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

11 When they say, I will not heare their crye, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine and by the pestilence.

12 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, beholde, the prophets say vnto them, Ye shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

13 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophesie lyes in my Name: I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophesie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulness of their owne heart.

14 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

15 And the people to whom these prophets doe prophesie, shall be cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, & the sword, & there shall none bury them: both they and their wiues, and their finnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednes vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop down teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgin daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold the slaine with the sword: and if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sick for hunger also: moreover the Prophet also and the Priest goe a wandering in to a land that they know not.

19 Haft thou utterly rieided? Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that wee need heale? Wee looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

20 Wee acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember and breake not thy covenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? Is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

23 Meaning, which is the only mane to auoid this famine, which was the beginning of Gods plagues. p Meaning, their idoles, reade Chap. 10. 19.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the leues, 2 But breake meth to destroy them with foure plagues.

Then said the Lord vnto me, Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affection could not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint ouer the foure kinds, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the dogs to tear in pieces, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I will scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth, because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

5 Who shall then haue pite vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shall be for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I am weary with repenting.

7 And I will scatter them with the fanne in the gates of the earth: I haue wasted, and destroyed my people, yet they will not returne from their wayes.

8 Their widowes are increased by mee above the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the assembly of the yong men a destroye at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and I speedily.

9 Shee that hath borne seven, hath bene made weak: her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed in her, whiles it was day: she hath bene confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them

1 The same prophesie promised affliction, as affluence, but Ierusalem called to teares, and repentance for their affliction, which is at hand, as Chap. 1. 1. Lament. 1. 16. and 2. 18.

2 Both his and lowe shall be captiues into Babylon.

3 Though the Prophet knewe that God had cast off the multitude, which were by priests, and bards & children, yet he was assured that for his promise sake he would haue still a Church, for the which he prayeth.

4 He teacheth the Church a forme of prayer to humble themselves to God by true repentance, which is the only mane to auoid this famine, which was the beginning of Gods plagues. p Meaning, their idoles, reade Chap. 10. 19.

5 Meaning, that if there were any man living moued with his great sinne toward the people as were these two, yet that he would not grant this request, forasmuch as he had determined the contrary, Ezek. 1. 16.

6 The dogs, birds and beasts should deuoure them that were slaine.

7 The word fight to run to and flye for leare & vanquishes of confidence, as did King D.

8 Not that the people was punished for the Kings sinne only, but for their owne finnes also, because they confessed his wickednes, King. 21. 9.

9 That is, I will not call back my plagues, or spare thee any more, I Meaning, the citie.

10 Because I had sinned their bands.

11 For, mother, for, fatherly, she that had many, shall be children.

12 She was destroyed in the midst of her prophesie.

h These are the prophecie words, complaining of the obduracy of the people, & that he was referred to in wicked a time: wherein also he sheweth what is the condition of Gods ministers, to wit, to have all the world against thee, though they give none occasion. i Which is an occasion of consolation and hope. m In this passage the Lord comforted me, and said that my last days should be quiet: and by the enemy he meant here Nebuchadnezzar, who gave Jeremiah the choice to remain in his country, or to goe whither he would: as by the enemy he meant such the lawes, which should alter and know Jeremiahs fidelity, and therefore know him. n As for the people, though they seemed strong as yron, yet should they not be able to resist the hard yron of Babylon, but should be led captives.

o Here speaketh not this for desire of revenge, but wishing that God would deliver his Church of them whom he knew to be hard, and incorrigible. p Here speaketh not this for desire of revenge, but wishing that God would deliver his Church of them whom he knew to be hard, and incorrigible. q I had nothing else with the wicked contentions of thy word, but lamented bitterly for thy plagues: shewing what the faithful should do when they see tokens of Gods anger. r And hath not afflicted me according to my sinnes: wherein appeareth that in the Sinner of God is imperfection of faith, which through impatience is oftentimes afflicted. s Chap. 10. 7. t With forget the small considerations, & faithfully execute thy charge. u That is, seek to winne the good in the bad. v To wit, as my mouth hath pronounced, Chap. 1. 8. & as here followeth, Gen. 2. w Consume not thyselfe for their wickednes, but let them followe thy godly example. x I will arm thee with an invincible strength & confidence, so that altho powers of the world shall not overcome thee, will I deliver vnto the sword before their enemies, saith the Lord.

10 ¶ Woe is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man; and a man that striveth with the whole earth: I have neither lent on vsury, nor men have lent vnto me on vsury: yet cury one doth curse me.

11 The Lord said, Surely thy remnant shall have wealth: surely I will cause thine enemy to increase thee in the time of trouble, & in the time of affliction.

12 Shall the yron breake the yron, and the braske ~~that cometh~~ from the North?

13 Thy substance, and thy treasures will I give to be spoyled without gain, and that for all thy sinnes even in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visite me, & reuenge me of my persecuters: take me not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I have suffered rebuke.

16 Thy wordes were found by me, and I did p eate them, and thy wordes were vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hosts.

17 I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone: because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauines continuall? and my plague desperate and cannot bee healed? why art thou vnto me as a liar, and as waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, If thou returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take away the precious from the vile, thou shalt be according to my word: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, & they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee, & to deliver thee, saith the Lord.

21 And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

22 I received them with as great ioy, as he that is afflicted, had nothing else with the wicked contentions of thy word, but lamented bitterly for thy plagues: shewing what the faithful should do when they see tokens of Gods anger. r And hath not afflicted me according to my sinnes: wherein appeareth that in the Sinner of God is imperfection of faith, which through impatience is oftentimes afflicted. s Chap. 10. 7. t With forget the small considerations, & faithfully execute thy charge. u That is, seek to winne the good in the bad. v To wit, as my mouth hath pronounced, Chap. 1. 8. & as here followeth, Gen. 2. w Consume not thyselfe for their wickednes, but let them followe thy godly example. x I will arm thee with an invincible strength & confidence, so that altho powers of the world shall not overcome thee,

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Lord forbidding Jeremiah to marry, sheweth him what he should be the affliction vpon Iudah, 12 The captivity of Babylon. 25 Their delinquency. 27 The calling of the Gentiles.

The wordes of the Lord came also vnto mee, saying,

2 Thou shalt not take a thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus sayth the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, & concerning their fathers that beget them in this land,

4 They shall die of deaths and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, for they shall be as dung vpon the earth, and they shall be consumed by the sword, and by famine, and their carcases shall be meate for the fowles of the heaven, and for the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be moued for them: for I have taken my peace from this people, saith the Lord, ~~even~~ mercy and compassion.

6 Both the great, and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them: nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke.

9 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, even in your dayes the voyce of myrth, and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt shew this people all these wordes, and they shall say vnto thee, Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is our iniquitie? and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God?

11 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them, and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Law,

12 (And ye haue done worse the your fathers: for beholde, you walke euery one after the stubbornesse of his wicked heart, & will not heare me)

13 Therefore will I driue you out of this land into a land that ye knowe not, neither you, nor your fathers, & there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace.

14 Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that I shall no more be saide, The Lord lieth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, 15 But the Lord lieth, that brought vp the children of Israel from the lande of the North, and from all the landes where hee had scattered them, and I will bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many sithers, and they shall sith them, and after, will I send out many hunters, & they shall hunt them from euery mountaine and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rocks.

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their waies: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my land, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthy beariings and their abominations.

19 O Lord, shew me thy force, & my strength & my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the ends of the world, & shall say, Surely our fathers haue merited Mises, and vanitie, wherein was there no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods?

b Signifying that the people should be so great, that they should not haue leisure to count a nation.

c That is, should not rent their clothes in signe of mourning.

d For is shew that great extremity and sorrow, and comfort that is in vaine.

14 Chap. 5. 19. e Because the Lord had not said to punish them, and therefore their sin was greater, and more against Gods indignation.

15 Chap. 24. f Signifying the hardness of their hearts, and the hardness of their hearts.

16 Babylon should be so great, that it should be the remembrance of their sinnes.

17 The dayes come that I shall no more be saide, The Lord lieth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

18 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many sithers, and they shall sith them, and after, will I send out many hunters, & they shall hunt them from euery mountaine and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rocks.

19 O Lord, shew me thy force, & my strength & my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the ends of the world, & shall say, Surely our fathers haue merited Mises, and vanitie, wherein was there no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods?

21 Beholde,

a Meaning, that the affliction should be so horrible in Ierusalem, that wife and children should be in mourning for sorrow.

b Signifying that the people should be so great, that they should not haue leisure to count a nation.

c That is, should not rent their clothes in signe of mourning.

d For is shew that great extremity and sorrow, and comfort that is in vaine.

e Because the Lord had not said to punish them, and therefore their sin was greater, and more against Gods indignation.

f Signifying the hardness of their hearts, and the hardness of their hearts.

17 Behoide, therefore I will this once teach them: I will shewe them mine hande and my power, and they shall knowe that my Name is the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The foreward of the Jewes. 2 Cursed be those that put their confidence in man. 3 Alas he is wicked, 10 God is the father of the heare, 13 The living waters are for Ierusalem, 21 The right keeping of the Sabbath commandment.

The sinne of Iudah is written with a pen of Ieron, and with the point of a diamond, and grauen vpon the table of their heart, and vpon the hornes of your altars.

4 They remember their altars as their children, with their grooves by their trees vpon the high hills.

5 O my mountaine in the felde, I will giue thy substance, and all thy treasures to be spoyled, for the sinne of thy bie places throughout all thy borders.

6 And thou shalt rest, and in thee shall be a rest from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will cause thee to serue thine enemies in I land, which thou knowest not: for yee haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for euer.

7 Thus saith the Lord, I Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and withdraeth his heart from the Lord.

8 For he shall be like the heath in the wilderness, and shall not see when any good cometh, but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

9 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

10 For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her rootes by the river, and shall not keele when the heat cometh, but her leafe shall be greene, and shall not care for the yere of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit.

11 The heart is deceitfull and wicked about all things, who can know it?

12 I the Lord search the heart, and try the reins, euen to giue euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his workes.

13 As the Partrich gathereth the young, which she hath not brought forth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his end shall bee a foole.

14 As a glorious throne I exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuary.

15 O Lorde, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shall be written in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lord, the fountaine of liuing waters.

16 Heale me, O Lorde, and I shall be whole: save me, and I shall be saved: for thou art my praise.

17 Behoide, therefore I will this once teach them: I will shewe them mine hande and my power, and they shall knowe that my Name is the Lord.

15 Behoide, they say vnto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come now.

16 But I haue not thrust in my selfe for a pastor after thee, neither haue I desired the day of miserie, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips, was right before thee.

17 Be not terrible vnto mee: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them bee as afraid, but let not me be afraide: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they go out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem, and say vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, ye kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates.

20 Thus saith the Lord, Take heede to your soles, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

21 Neither carry fourth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither doe yee any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

22 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe and would not heare, nor receiue correction.

23 Neuertheless, if ye will heare mee, sayeth the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye doe no worke therein, 24 Then shall the Kings and the Princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit upon the throne of David, and shall ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, and they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer.

25 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings, and sacrifices, and meate offerings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.

26 But if you will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden nor to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 God sheweth by the example of a potters, that it is his power, to destroy the dissipaters of his word. 18 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Ieremiah. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

The worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Arise, and go downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my word.

3 Then I went downe into the potters house, and behold he wrought a worke on the wheel.

4 And the vessel that he made of clay, was broken in the hand of the potter, so he returned, and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, o The wicked say that any prophesie that cometh to passe because thou tellest the time of thy vengeance, I am alid of my vengeance, and therefore know that the thing which thou speakest by me, shall come to passe, and that I speake not of any worldly effect.

Howeuer the wicked deale rigorously with me, yettles me finde comfort in thee.

II. 4. 6. Oboue

b. When the scripture saith, Remember remembrance unto God, it is not that he doeth contrary to that which he hath ordeined in his secret counsell, but when hee threatneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when hee giveth grace to repent, the threatening (which ever containeth a condition in it) taketh no place; and this the scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans judgement.

c. As men that had no remorse, but were altogether bent to rebellion and to their own selfe-will.

d. As no man that hath thirft, refresheth fresh comit waters which he hath at home, to goe and seeke waters abroad to quench his thirft; so they sought out to seek for helpe and succour at strangers and heathen God which was present with them.

e. That is, the way of truth, which God had taught by his law, see Chap. 6. 6.

f. Will not show mine anger: and not my favour towards them.

g. This argument the wicked have ever used against the firmness of Gods Word: The Church cannot erre: we are the Church, and therefore whosoever speaketh against vs, they ought to die, 1 King. 15. 24.

h. Chap. 7. 4. and 2nd malice 3. 4. and thus the false Church perfecteth the true Church, which standeth not in outward pompe, and in multitude, but is known by the graces of the holy Ghost.

i. Let vs slander him, and accuse him: so we shall be beleaved.

j. Seeing the obstinate malice of the adulterers, which grew daily more and more, the Prophet bring moored with Gods Spirit, without any carnall affection prayeth for their destruction, because hee knewe that it should tend to Gods glorie, and profit of his Church.

6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out, and to destroy it.

8 But if this nation, against whom I have pronounced, turne from their wickednesse, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to builde it and to plant it.

10 But if it doe euill in my sight, and heare not my voice, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: I returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they saide desperately, Surely wee will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubburnesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily.

14 Will a man forsake the thowe of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the field? or shall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their Prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the ancient wayes, to walke in the pathes and way that is not trolien.

16 To make their land desolate, and a perpetual derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and wagge his head.

17 I will scatter them with an East winde before the enemy: I will shewe them the backe, and I not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then saide they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuise against Ieremiah: for the Lawe shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wife, nor the worde from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the tongue, and let vs not giue heed to any of his wordes.

19 Hearken vnto mee, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with mee.

20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore, I deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sword, and let their wives be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their young men be slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the drie bee heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feete.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsels against me: sendest to death: forgive not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thou with them in the time of thine anger.

C H A P. XIX.

Her prophesie of the destruction of Ierusalem for the counsell and deriding of the word of God.

Thus saide the Lord, God, and buy an earthen bottell of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests,

2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the East gate: and thou shalt preach there the words, that I shall tell thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare yee the worde of the Lord, O Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his eares shall tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whom neither they, nor their fathers haue known, nor the Kings of Iudah: they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue built the high places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offerings vnto Baal, which I commaunded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde)

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will bring the counsel of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: & their carkeifes will I giue to be meate for the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the field.

8 And I will make this citie desolate and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and hisse because of all the plagues thereof.

9 And I will seede them with the flesh of their sonnes and with the flesh of their slaughters, and euery one shall eate the flesh of his friend in the siege and straitnesse, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues, shall hold them strait.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that goe with thee, 11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith y Lord of hostes, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessel, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Topheth till there be no place to bury.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the Kings of Iudah shall be defiled as the place of Topheth, because of all the houses vpon whose roofs they haue burnt incense vnto all the host of heauen, and haue poured out drinke offerings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophesie, and he stood in the court of the Lords house, and sayd to all the people,

a. By Kings here and in other places, I meane consellers and counsellors of the people, which hee called the ancients, veris 1.

b. Beside of this phrase, 1. Sam. 2.

c. Wherby it is cleared, that incense was not commanded by Gods worde touching his service, as pagans his work.

d. Read Chap. 31 and 22. 29.

e. Chap. 18. 21.

f. Chap. 18. 21.

g. This citie was so called, because of the offering of this place, which the Lord threatened by his Prophet.

h. Hee meant the great signe of the hostes, which left no place free from their domination, as they polluted.

i. Hee meant their own houses, which were set among the people.

j. Read Deut. 32.

13 This sayth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Behoide, I will bring vpon this cite, and vpon all her towncs, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my words.

CHAP. XX.

a Jeremia is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the words of God. b His prophesie of the captiuitie of Babylon. c He complaineth that he is a mocking stocke for the word of God. d He is compelled by the spirit to preache the word.

When Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lorde, heard that Ieremiah prophesied these things,

2 Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the hie gate of Benjamin, which was by the House of the Lorde.

3 And on the morning, Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stocks. Then sayde Ieremiah vnto him, The Lorde hath not called thy name Pashur, but Magor-misabib.

4 For thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will make thee to bee a terror to thy selfe, and to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall carie them captiue into Babel, & shall slay them with the sword.

5 Moreover, I will deliuer all the substance of this cite, and all the labours thereof, & all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the Kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them away and carry them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, & thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy friends, to whom thou hast prophesied lies.

7 O Lorde, thou hast deceived me, & I am deceived: thou art stronger then I, & hast prevailed: I am in derision daily: euery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the word of the Lorde was made a reproch vnto me, and inderision daily.

9 Then I sayde, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the rayling of many, and sate on euery side. I Declare, said they, and we will declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceived: so we shall prouaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 But the Lorde is with me like a mighty giant: therefore my persecutors shall be ouerthrowen, and shall not prouaile, and shall be greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euilasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 But, O Lorde of hostes, that tryest the righteous, and seekest the reins and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened ray cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lorde, praise ye the Lorde: for he hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 a Cursed be the day wherein I was borne, and let not the day wherein my mother bare me be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man, that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man be as the cite, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the crie in the morning, and the shouting at noone tide.

17 Because he hath not slaine me, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue bene my graue, or her wombe a perpetual conceptio.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorowe, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

CHAP. XXI.

a Jeremiahs words which shall be taken, and the cite burne.

The words which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying,

2 Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lorde for vs, (for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lorde will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then sayd Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will burne back the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith yee fight against the King of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the mids of this cite.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, & with a mighty arme even in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this cite, both man, and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, sayth the Lorde, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruantes, and the people, and such as are left in this cite, from the pestilence, from the sword and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hande of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and he shall smite them wth the edge of the sword: he shall not spare the, neither haue piete nor compassion.

8 And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.

9 * He that abideth in this cite, shall die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth out, and selleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, hee shall liue, and his life shall be vnto him for a praye.

10 For I haue set my face against this cite, for euil and not for good, saith the Lorde: it shall be giuen into the hande of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

11 And say vnto the house of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lorde.

12 O house of David, Thus sayth the Lorde, Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hande of the oppressor, b How the children of God are over-come in this battell of the flesh and the Spirit, and into what incommensurable they fall. c All God saile them up againe, read Iob 3. 1. and chap. 15. 1. d Alluding to the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, Gen. 19. 35. e Meaning, that the fruit thereof might neuer come to passe.

a Not that the King was charged with repentance of his sinne, and so sought to God, as did Hazakiah, when he first to Iudah, 2 King. 19. 17. but because the Prophet might pray vnto God to take this present plague away, as Pharaoh sought vnto Moses, Exod. 9. 28. b To wit, from your enemies to destroy your selves.

1 Morning Ierusalem, which was builded part on the hill and part in the valley, and was compassed about with mountains.
h That is in the houses thereof, which stande as hicks as trees in the field.

for, least my wrath goe out like fire, and burne that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your workes.

13 Beholde, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rock of the plaine, faith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will visite you according to the fruit of your workes, sayth the Lord, and I will kindle a fire in the forth thereof, and it shall deuoure round about it.

CHAP. XXII.

a Whereunto the King is iudgement and righteousness, 2. Why Jerusalem is brought into captivity, 3. The denier shall see the forme of Iosiah a prophete.

Thus saide the Lord, Goe downe to the house of the King of Iudah, and speake there this thing,

And say, Heare the word of the Lorde, O King of Iudah, that sitteth vpon the throne of David, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus sayth the Lorde, * Execute yee iudgement and * righteousnesse, and deliuer the oppressed from the hande of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: doe no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this House, * and ride vpon charrets and vpon horses, both he and his seruants and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these wordes, I swear by my selfe, sayth the Lorde, that this House shall be waste.

6 For thus hath the Lorde spoken vnto the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art * Gilead vnto me, & the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wilderness, and as cities not inhabited.

7 And I will * prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 * And many nations shall passe by this cite, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lorde done thus vnto this great cite?

9 Then shall they answer, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lorde their God, & worshipped other gods, and serued them.

10 * Weepe not for the dead, & be not moued for them, but weepe for him that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his native country.

11 For thus saith the Lord, As touching Shalum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither, 12 But he shall die in the place, whither they haue ledde him captive, and shall see this lande no more.

13 * Woe vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrighteousnesse, and his chambers without equitie: hee vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He sayth, I will build me a little house and large chambers: so hee will make himselfe large windowes, and ceiling with cedar, and paint them with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou cloest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy father eate, and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When hee iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knew me, faith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but only for thy countenance, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, and for defilement, euen to doe this.

18 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde against Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall not lament him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie.

19 He shall be buried, as an asse is buried, euen drawn and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 * Goe vnto Lebanon, and cry: shewe in Bethan, and cry by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: * as thou saydest, I will not heare, this hath bene thy manner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voyce.

22 The winde shall feede all thy pastures, and thy fountaines shall goe into captivity: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednesse.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the cedars, how beautifull shalt thou be when forowes come vpon thee, as the forowe of a woman in travail?

24 As I liue, sayth the Lorde, though Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seeke thy life, and into the hande of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hande of Nebuchadrezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carry thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another country, where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land, whereunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessel, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they carryed away, hee and his feede, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Write this man delictious of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his feede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah, but he abused Gods promise, and therefore was iustly deuiued of the throne. 31 He sheweth that all posterities shall be without of his iust plague, as though it were required for his present memorie. 32 Not that he had no children, but that he begate Salathiel in the captivity, Matthew 1. 12. Iosiah thus reigne after him as King.

CHAP. XXIII.

a Against false prophets, 2. A prophete of the great Populose in Ierusalem.

1 Hearing Ierusalem, which was builded part on the hill and part in the valley, and was compassed about with mountains.
h That is in the houses thereof, which stande as hicks as trees in the field.

1 For every one shall see Ierusalem, which was builded part on the hill and part in the valley, and was compassed about with mountains.
h That is in the houses thereof, which stande as hicks as trees in the field.

1 To call the Affliction, hee.
2 For this way the way one of Ierusalem is Affliction, where as I mean that all people should see: for the Caldeans have taken them and the Egyptians.

1 For this way the way one of Ierusalem is Affliction, where as I mean that all people should see: for the Caldeans have taken them and the Egyptians.

1 For this way the way one of Ierusalem is Affliction, where as I mean that all people should see: for the Caldeans have taken them and the Egyptians.

1 For this way the way one of Ierusalem is Affliction, where as I mean that all people should see: for the Caldeans have taken them and the Egyptians.

1 For this way the way one of Ierusalem is Affliction, where as I mean that all people should see: for the Caldeans have taken them and the Egyptians.

Who vnto the pastors that destroy and scatter the sheepe of my pasture, sayth the Lord.

2 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God of Israel vnto the pastors that feede my people, Ye haue scattered my flocke and thrust them out, and haue not visited them: beholde, I will visit you for the wickednes of your workes, sayth the Lord.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my sheepe out of all countries, whither I had driven them; and will bring them againe to their foldes, and they shall grow and encrease.

4 And I will set vp shepheards ouer them, which shall feede them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neither shall any of them be lacking, sayth the Lord.

5 Beholde, the daies come, sayth the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous branch, and a King shall reigne and prosper; and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

6 In his daies Iudah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall call him, * The Lord our righteousnes.

7 Therefore beholde, the daies come, sayth the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord lieth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

8 But the Lord lieth, which brought vp and led the seede of the house of Israel out of the North country, and from all countries where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me, because of the prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath fouercome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holy wordes.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of this the lande mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried vp, and their course is euill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the prophet and the Priest I doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine house, sayth the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way shalbe vnto them as slippery wayes in the darkenes: they shall be driven sooth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the yere of their visitation, sayth the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal, & caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the prophets of Ierusalem filthines: they commit adultery & walke in lies: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Sodome, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

15 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde of hostes concerning the prophets, Beholde, I will feede them with wormwood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for fro the prophets of Ierusalem wickednesse gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Heare not the wordes of the prophets that prophesie vnto you, and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still vnto them that despise mee, The Lord hath sayd, Ye shall haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbornnesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

18 For who hath stood in the counsel of the Lord that he hath perceived & heard his wordes? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlwind shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lorde shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and will be haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter daies ye shall vnderstand it plainly.

21 I haue not sent these prophets, sayth the Lord, yet they ranne: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsell, and had declared my wordes to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euil way, and from the wickednesse of their inventions.

23 Am I a God at hand, sayth the Lord, and not a God farre off?

24 Can any hide himselfe in secret places, that I shall not see him, sayth the Lorde? Doe not I fill heauen and earth, sayth the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets said, that prophesie lies in my Name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? Doe the prophets delite to prophesie lies, euen prophesying the deciae of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell eueryman to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, and hee that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheate, sayth the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, sayth the Lord? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore beholde, I will come against the prophets, sayth the Lorde, that steal e my word e euery one from his neighbour.

31 Beholde, I will come against the prophets, sayth the Lord, which haue swete tongues, and say, He sayth, 32 Beholde, I will come against them that prophesie false dreames, sayth the Lorde, and doe tell them; and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profite vnto this people, sayth the Lorde.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a Priest shall aske thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I will euen forsake you, sayth the Lord.

34 And the prophet, or the priest, or the people that shall say, The burden of the Lorde, I burden, which the sinners were not able to susteine, therefore the wicked in exalting the word, would aske of the Prophets, what was the burden, as they they would say, You seeke nothing el, but to lay burdnes on our shoulders: and thus they reuolued the word of God as a girden burden: & because this word was brought to contempt and derision, hee will teach them another manner of speech and will cause this word Burden to cease, and teach them to aske with assurance, What sayth the Lord

Read Chap. 4. 14 & 11.

Thus they did decide in conuention as did the word of God. 1 Kings 22. 14.

Both that God hath lent me, and that my wordes shall be true.

1 Kings 14. 13-14. and 17. 15. and 19. 8. 9.

He sheweth the difference betweene the true Prophets and the false, betweene those that haue the true word of God, and those that haue the false.

I doe not like you falsehood, howe soeuer you clothe it, & where soeuer you commit it.

I haue a prophesie reuelled vnto me, as Num. 23. 5. 24. 1. & 2. is in the heart of the Prophet.

He sheweth that Satan raiseth vp false prophets to bring the people from God.

Let the false prophet declare that it is his owne fantasie, and not stander my word as though it were a chaffe to couer his lies.

Meaning, that it is not sufficient for Gods ministers to aske as from Ies and to speake the word of God: but that there be iudgement in alleging it, and that it may appaere to be a pplyed to the same purpose that it was spoken.

Ezek. 13. 1. cor. 14. 2. 2. Tim. 1. 13. 1. 1. pet. 4. 10. 11.

I haue felt forth in my name that which I haue not commaunded.

To wit, the Lord.

The Prophets called their sharnings Gods wordes.

The wicked in exalting the word, would aske of the Prophets, what was the burden, as they they would say, You seeke nothing el, but to lay burdnes on our shoulders: and thus they reuolued the word of God as a girden burden: & because this word was brought to contempt and derision, hee will teach them another manner of speech and will cause this word Burden to cease, and teach them to aske with assurance, What sayth the Lord will

will even visit every such one, and his house.

35 Thus shall yet say every one to his neighbour, and every one to his brother, What hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken?

36 And the burden of the Lord shall ye mention no more: for every mans word shall be his burden: for ye have persecuted the words of the living God, the Lord of hostes our God.

37 Thus saith thou say to the Prophet, What hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken?

38 And if you say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus sayeth the Lord, Because ye say this worde, The burden of the Lord, and I have sent vnto you saying, Ye shall not say, The burden of the Lord.

39 Therefore beholde, I, even I will vnto forget you, and I will forsake you, and the citie that I gaue you and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence.

40 And will bring * an euerslasing reproche vpon you, and a perpetual shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 The vision of the baskets of figs 5 Signifieth that part of the people should be brought againe from captiuitie, 6 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be carried away.

The Lord shewed me, and beheld, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lorde, after that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had carryed away captiue Iecooniah y sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had very good figges, such like the figges that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughty figges, which could not be eaten, they were so cuill.

3 Then sayd the Lorde vnto me, What seeest thou, Ieremiah? And I said, Figges: the good figges very good, and the naughty very naughty, which cannot be eaten, they are so cuill.

4 Agayne the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus sayth the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I know them that are carried away captiue of Iudah to bee good, whome I haue sent out of this place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will build them and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out.

7 And I will giue them an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, & they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 * And as the naughty figges which cannot be eaten, they are so cuill (saith thus sayth the Lord) so will I giue Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt:

9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdoms of the earth, & for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a commo talke, & for a curse, in all places where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they be consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 He propheseth that they shall be in captiuitie seventy years, 12 And that after seventy years the Babyloians should be destroyed, 13 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

The word that came to Ieremiah, concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah that was in the first yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel:

2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, & I haue spoken vnto you: rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor incline your eares to obey.

5 They sayde, Turne againe now every one from his euill way, and from the wickednesse of your inuentions, and yee shall dwell in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And goe not after other gods to serue them, and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the works of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Neuertheless ye would not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue provoked me to anger with the works of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my words, 9 Beholde, I will send and take away all the families of the North, saith the Lord, and Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continual desolation.

10 Moreover I will take from them the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride, the soyle of the millstones, and the light of the candle.

11 And this whole land shall be desolate, and an astonishment, and these nations shall serue the King of Babel seventy yeeres.

12 And when the seventy yeeres are accomplished, I will visite the King of Babel and that nation, saith the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetual desolation.

13 And I will bring vpon this land all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Ieremiah hath prophesied against all nations.

14 For many nations, and great Kings shall captiuitie, 2 Chro. 36. 21. 22. 1. 7. chap. 29. 10. dan. 9. 2. He prophesied that they should be in captiuitie, 12 And that after seventy years the Babyloians should be destroyed, 13 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

2 The thing which they mocke and contemne, shall come vpon them.

10 For I will bring you away.

10 Chap. 29. 12.

3 The good figs signified them that were gone into captiuitie, and so faced their life as Chap. 29. 12 and the naughty figs them that remained, which were yet subiect to the sword, famine and pestilence.

4 Whereby hee approacheth the peeing of Ierusalem, and his company, because they obeyed the Prophet, who exhorted them thereto.

5 Which declarereth that man of himselfe can know nothing, till God giue the heare and understanding.

your works, and heare the voice of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that he hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hands: doe with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But knowe ye for certaine, that if ye put me to death, yete shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your felues, and vpon this cite, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a trueth the Lorde hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these wordes in your eares.

16 Then sayde the princes and all the people vnto the Priests, and to the Prophets, This man is not worthy to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certain of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Morasthite * prophecied in the dayes of Hezekiah King of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Zion shall be plowed like a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house of Dauid shall be the high places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiah King of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague, that he had pronounced against them? Thus might we procure great euill against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophecied in the Name of the Lord, one Uriah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kirjath-iarim, who prophecied against this cite, and against this land, according to all the wordes of Jeremiah.

21 Nowe when Ichoiakim the King with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his wordes, the King sought to slay him. But when Uriah heard it, he was afraide and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Ichoiakim the King sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Uriah out of Egypt, & brought him vnto Ichoiakim the King, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hande of Ahikam * the sonne of Shaphan was with Jeremiah that they should not giue him into the hande of the people to put him to death.

C H A P. XXVII.

Jeremiah at the commandment out of the Lord Ierusalem binds to the King of Iudah and to the other Kings that were warre, whereby they are moued to be subiect vnto Nebuchadnezzar. ¶ He warneth the people, and the Kings and rulers that they be not to fight prophets.

1 N the beginning of the reigne of Ichoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus sayeth the Lorde to mee, Make thee bonds, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

3 And sende them to the King of Edom, and to the King of Moab, and to the King of the Ammonites, & to the King of Tyre, and to the King of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers which and contrariwise: which if the rulers make we shall surely see many doones, and make the reading much more easie. ¶ By such figures the Prophets vied some to confirme their prophecies which with binding they could not doe of themselves, but in as much as they had a reuelation for the time, &c. and therefore doe false prophets to get more credite, did vs also such visible signes, but they had no reuelation. ¶ Jer. xxvii.

come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah the King of Iudah,

4 And commaund them to say vnto their masters, Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Iisrahel, Thus shall ye say vnto your masters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man, & the beast that are vpon the ground, by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whom it pleased me.

6 But nowe I haue giuen all these landes into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and the beastes of the ficke haue I also giuen him to serue him.

7 And all nations shall serue him, and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations & great Kings shall serue themselves of him.

8 And the nation and kingdom which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, & that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, sayth the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your enchanters, nor your forerers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel.

10 For they prophecie a lie vnto you to cause you to go farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perill.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, & serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lorde hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the King of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the prophets I speake vnto you, saying, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel: for they prophecie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not sent them, sayth the Lord, yet they prophecie a lie in my name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perill, haue you, and the prophets that prophecie vnto you.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your prophets that prophecie vnto you, saying, Beholde, the vessels of the house of the Lord shall now shortly be brought againe from Babel: for they prophecie a lie vnto you.

17 Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore should this cite be desolate?

18 But if they be Prophets, and if the worde of the Lorde be with them, let them s intreate the Lorde of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lorde, and in the House of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, goe not to Babel.

19 For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this cite.

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel took not, when he caryed away captiue Ierusalem.

¶ Michah. v. 1. and 3. 12.

¶ That is, of the House of the Lorde, vnto Zion, and of these examples the gods alledged to deliuer Ierusalem out of the Priests hands, wher as it would not haue beene satisfied, but by his death.

¶ So that the cite was not destroyed, but by miracle was deliuered out of the hands of Sennacherib.

¶ Here is declared the furie of tyrants, who can not abide to heare Gods word declared, but persecute the ministers thereof, and yet in the ende they procure nothing but prouoke Gods iudgements far more.

¶ As in the first Hezekiah example is to be followed, so in this other Ichoiakims who is to be a thorow God's plague did fight on him, and his household.

¶ Which declarer that nothing could haue appeared their furie, if God had not moved this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

¶ As touching the disposition of these prophecies, they that gathered them into a booke, did not altogether observe the order of times, but did set some before, which should be after, and contrariwise: which if the reader make we shall surely see many doones, and make the reading much more easie. ¶ By such figures the Prophets vied some to confirme their prophecies which with binding they could not doe of themselves, but in as much as they had a reuelation for the time, &c. and therefore doe false prophets to get more credite, did vs also such visible signes, but they had no reuelation. ¶ Jer. xxvii.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophesies of Hananiah, 23 Ieremiah representeth Hananiah, and prophesies.

And that same yee in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the fourth yere, and in the fifth moneth Hananiah the sonne of Azar the prophet, which was of Gibeon, spake to me in the House of the Lorde in the presence of the Priests, and of all the people, and sayd,

2 Thus spake the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel.

3 Within two yeres space I will bring into this place al the vessels of the Lordes House, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Iecooniah the sonne of Ichoiakim King of Iudah with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saith the Lorde: for I will breake the yoke of the King of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah said vnto the Prophet Hananiah in the presence of Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the House of the Lorde,

6 Euen the Prophet Ieremiah sayd, So be it: the Lord so doe, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou hast prophesied to restore the vessels of the Lordes House, and all that is caried captiue, from Babel into this place.

7 But heare thou now this worde that I will speake in thine eares and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that haue bene before mee and before thee in time past, prophesied against many countries, and against great kingdomes, of ware, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the Prophet which prophesieth of peace when the worde of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet bee known that the Lord hath truly sent him.

10 Then Hananiah the Prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and brake it.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, Euen so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.

12 Then the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying, 13 Goe and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a yoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue given him the beales of the field also.

15 Then sayd the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the Prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the Prophet died the same yere in the seuenth moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babel, 20 He prophesies their returne after seventy yeres, 26 He prophesies the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem, 21 He threatneth the prophets that seduce the people, 25 The words of Sennacherib prophesied.

Now these are the wordes of the booke that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders, which were caried away captiues, and to the Priests, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel:

2 (After that Iecooniah the King, and the Queene, and the eunuchs, the princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workmen, and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem)

3 By the hand of Hephthai the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) saying,

4 Thus hath the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caried away captiues, whom I haue caused to be caried away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel:

5 Build you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

6 Take you wives, and beget sonnes & daughters and take wives for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbandes, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that yere may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the prosperity of the citie, which I haue caused you to be caried away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

8 For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets and your soothsayers that bee among you, decieve you, neither giue care to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophesie you a lye in my Name: I haue not sent them, sayth the Lord.

10 But thus sayth the Lord, that after I seuen yeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this plce.

11 For I knowe the thoughts, that I haue thought towards you, sayth the Lorde, euen the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an ende, and your hope.

1 The returne of the people from Babel. 26 The monition to the exiles. 28 And comfort to the church.

The worde, that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the words, that I haue spoken vnto thee, in a booke.

3 For loe, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Again, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.
5 For thus sayth the Lord, We haue heard a terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace.

6 Demand now and behold, if man trauell with child? wherefore doe I behold euery man with his handes on his loines as a woman in trauell, and all faces are turned into a palenesse?

7 Alas, for this day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will breake his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shall no more serue themlsues of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lord their God, and David their King, whom I will raise vp vnto thee.

10 Therefore feare not, O my seruants Iakob, saith the Lord, neither be afraid, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre country, and thy seed from the land of their captiuitie, and Iakob shall turne againe, and shall be in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee: though I utterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not utterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not utterly cut thee off.

12 For thus sayth the Lord, Thy bruising is

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Deliverance, 2nd Gods benefit after their returne from Babylon, 3 And the spiritual ioy of the faithful in the Church.

At the same time, saith the Lord, will I bee to the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people.

2 Thus saith the Lord, The people which escaped the sword, found grace in the wilderness: he walked before Israel to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me of old, say they: Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerslasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawn thee.

4 Again I will build thee, and thou shalt be builded; O virgin Israel: thou shalt fill with thy timbrels, and shalt go forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaynes of Samaria, and the planters that plant them, shall make them common.

6 For the dayes shall come that they watch vpon the mount of Ephraim shall cry, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto Zion to the Lord our God.

7 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iakob, and shoute for ioy among the chiefe of the Gentiles: publish prayse, and say, O Lord, save thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Beholde, I will bring them from the North which were the ten tribes returne to Samaria, therefore this hath I promised: and thou shalt be builded againe by the Kingdome of Christ, which was the reftoration of Iherusalem. 9 That is, shall cause the fruits thereof, as Leuit. 19. 23. 10 The multitude of the word. 11 They shall exhort all to the commandment of the Lord. 12 I haue shewed what shall be the conuersion and the returne of the Gentiles, when none shall be refused for their infirmities: and they shall be as one people to express it.

country, and gather them from the coasts of the world, with the blind and the lame among them, with the woman with child, and her that is deliuered also: a great companie shall returne hither.

9 They shall come weeping, and with mercie will I receive them againe: I will lead them by the rivers of a water in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first borne.

10 Heare the word of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and say, He that scattereth Israel, will gather him, and will keep him, as a shepherd doeth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iakob, and ransomed him from the hande of him, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall runne to the bountifullnesse of the Lord, as for the wheat and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe, & bullocks: and their soule shall be as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorrow.

13 Then shall the virgin reioyce in the dance, and the young men and the old men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, & will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes.

14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with fatnesse, & my people shall be satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Lord, A voyce was heard on bethleem, a mourning, and bitter weeping. Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shall be rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemy.

17 And there is hope in thine ende, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard Ephraim lamenting, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an vntrained calfe: y conuert thou me, and I shall be conuerter: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I conuerter, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim my deare sonne or pleasant child? yet since I spake vnto him, I stil remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp signes: make thee heapes: set thine heart toward the path & way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgin of Israel: turne againe to their city.

22 How long wilt thou goe astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created a new thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compass a man.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of ing him for my promise sake. 24 Make by what way thou dost see Ioy in captivitie, and then shalt thou be againe by the gate. 25 Because their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from sinne, he sheweth how this should be wrought, to wit, by Iesus Christ, whom a woman should conceive, and beare in her wombe. Which is a strange thing in earth, because he should be borne of a virgin without man: or, be meane that he should be borne of a woman in her captivity, should be fruitfull as they, that is ioyed in marriage, and whom God blest with children.

18 That is, lamenting their sinnes, which had not given cause to the Prophets. 2 Therefore it followeth that God receiued them to mercie, Chap. 30. 4. Some take it that they should weep for Ioy.

3 Where they found so impediments, but abundance of all things.

4 That is, my dearely beloved, as the first child is to the father.

5 That is, from the Babylonians, and other enemies.

6 By these temporal benedictions he meant the spiritual graces, which are in the Church, and wherewith these should be replenished.

7 In the company of faithful, which euer praise God for his benedictions.

8 Meaning the spirit of widenesse, knowledge, and scale.

9 To declare the greatness of Gods mercie in deliuerance, the fewer he sheweth them that they were like to the Beniamites, or themselves that is, euenly deliuered, and carried away in such that if Rahel the mother of Beniamin could haue risen againe to seeke for her children, she should haue found none remaining.

10 That is, the people that were led captiue.

11 Which was wanted and could not be substituted to the yoke.

12 He sheweth how the faithful vs to pray: that is, to God to turne them, for as much as they cannot turne of themselves.

13 In figure of the resurrection, and destruction of my sinne.

14 As though he would say, No force by his iniquitie he did what lay in him to call me off.

15 To wit, in captivity, and destruction of my sinne.

16 As though he would say, No force by his iniquitie he did what lay in him to call me off.

17 To wit, in captivity, and destruction of my sinne.

18 As though he would say, No force by his iniquitie he did what lay in him to call me off.

19 To wit, in captivity, and destruction of my sinne.

20 As though he would say, No force by his iniquitie he did what lay in him to call me off.

21 To wit, in captivity, and destruction of my sinne.

22 As though he would say, No force by his iniquitie he did what lay in him to call me off.

23 To wit, in captivity, and destruction of my sinne.

24 To wit, in captivity, and destruction of my sinne.

Judah, and the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord blesse thee, O habitation of iustice, and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that goe forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue frustrated the weary soule, and I haue replenished euery sorrowfull soule.

26 Therefore I waked and behelde, and my sleepe was sweete vnto me.

27 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will sow the house of Israel, & the house of Iudah with the seed of man, and with the seed of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so will I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a sower grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that catcheth the sower grape, his teeth shall be set on edge.

31 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After those daies, saith the Lord, I will put my Law in their inward partes, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

34 And they shall teach no more euery man his neighbour and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquities, and will remember their finnes no more.

35 Thus saith the Lord, which giueth the sunne for a light to the day, & the courses of the moone and of the starres for a light to the night, who breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes.

36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shall the seed of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euert.

37 Thus saith the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, or if foundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the citie shall be built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the measure shall goe forth in his presence, vpon the hill Garb, and shall compass about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, & of the ashes, & all the fields vnto Brooke of Kidron, & vnto the corner of the horsegate toward me, in those dayes, moone, and starres cannot be glorified according to mine ordinance, (so long as this world lasteth), so shall my Church neuer faile neither shall any thing hinder it: and as sure as I will haue a people, so certain is it, that I will leave them my word for euert to gouerne them with. In the one and the other is impossible. As it was performed, Nehemiah 1. By this description be sheweth that the citie should be as ample, & beautiful as curie was: but be alledeth to the spiritual Ierusalem, whose beauty should be incomparable.

the East, shall be holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euert.

CHAR. XXXII.

Jeremiah is cast into prison because he prophesied that the citie should be taken of the King of Babylon. 7 He sheweth that the people should come againe to their own possession. 8 The people of God are his servants, and he is their Lord.

THE word that came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, in the tenth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchadrezzar.

1 For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Jeremiah the Prophet was shutt vp in the court of the prison, which was in the King of Iudahs house.

2 For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore dost thou prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hands of the King of Babel, and he shall take it?

4 And Zedekiah the King of Iudah (that) no escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the hands of the King of Babel, and shall speak with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his face,

5 And he shall lead Zedekiah to Babel, & there shall he be, vntill I visit him, saith the Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper.

6 And Jeremiah said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

7 Behold, Hananeel, the sonne of Shallum vnto thee, shall come vnto thee and say, Buy vnto thee my field, that is in Anathoth: for the title by kinred appertaineth vnto thee: do buy it.

8 So Hananeel, mine vnicles sonne, came to mee in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, & said vnto me, Buy my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, & the purchase shall be thine vnto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hananeel, mine vnicles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the silver, seven sheen & ten pence of silver.

10 And I writ it in the booke and signed it, and tooke witness, and weighed him the silver in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed according to the Lawe, and custome, with the booke that was open, 12 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hananeel mine vnicles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before all the lewes that were in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel. Take the writings, even this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that they may continue a long time, 15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fields, and vineyards shall be possessed againe in this land.

16 Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

So that I might I haue beene a witness of the things that were done in the citie of Ierusalem, when it was taken of the King of Babylon.

17 Ah Lord God, behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing thard vnto thee.

18 * Thou shewest mercy vnto thousands, and recompenseth the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their children after them: O God the great & mightie, whose name is the Lord of hosts,

19 Great in counsell, & mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the waies of the sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his works)

20 Which hath set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hath made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And hath brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, and a stretched out arme, and with great terror,

22 And hath giuen them this land, which thou didst sweare to their fathers to giue them, now a land, that floweth with milke and hony,

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to do, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Beholde, the mountains, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight aginst it by meynes of the sword, and of the famine, & of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast said vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the fieldes for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen into the hands of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lorde vnto Ieremiah, saying,

27 Behold, I am the Lord God of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-sezzar, King of Babel, and he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie, and burne it with the houses, vpon whose roofes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger, 30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before mee from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked mee to anger, with the workes of their hands, saith the Lorde.

31 Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remove it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priests, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto mee the backe, and not the face: though I taught them, & rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine,

34 But they set their abominations in the house (where vpon my Name was called) to defile it,

35 And they built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes & their daughters to passe through the fire vnto Moloch, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my mind, that they should doe such abomination, to cause Iudah to sinne.

36 And now therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shall be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 * Behold, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

38 And they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

39 And I will giue them one heart and one way that they may feare mee for euer for the wealth of them, and of their children after them,

40 And I will make an euertlasting covenante with them, that I will neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will delight in them to doe them good, and I will plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, and with all my soule.

42 For thus saith the Lorde, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so will I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fields shall be possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Men shall buy fields for siluer, and make writings and seale them, and take witnesses in the land of Benjamin, and round about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah, & in the cities of the mountaynes, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, saith the Lorde.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The Prophet is manifested of the Lorde to pray for the deliuerance of the people, which the Lorde promised. 2 God forgiveth sinnes for his own glory. 3 Of the birth of Christ. 40 The kingdom of Christ in this Church shall neuer be erased.

Moreouer the wordes of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah the second time (while he was yet shut vp in the court of the prison) saying,

2 Thus faith the Lord, the maker & thereof, the Lorde that formed it, and established it, the Lorde is his Name.

3 Call vnto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mightie things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the mountains, and by the sword,

5 They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to kill themselves with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slain in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my face from this citie because of all their wickednes.

6 ¶ Behold, I will giue it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will reuile vnto them the abundance of peace, and truth.

g Declaring that there is no delivrance nor joy, but whereas we like remission of sinnes.

b Whereby hee sheweth that the Church wherein is remission of sinnes, is Gods house and glory so that whosoever is enemy to it, is a-boroth to himselfe.

8 And I will cleanse them from all their iniquities, whereby they have sinned against me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they have sinned against mee, and whereby they have rebelled against me.

9 And it shall be to me a name, a joy, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare al the good that I do vnto them: and they shall feare & tremble for al the goodnes, and for all the wealth, that I shew vnto this cite.

10 Thus saith the Lorde, Againe there shall be heard in this place (which ye say shall be desolate, without man, and without beast, even in the cities of Iudah, and in the freetrees of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

i Which was a long appointed for the Levites to praise God by 1 Chron. 16. 34. psal. 134. psal. 136. 1. 8. psal. 137. 1. & psal. 138. 1. & psal. 136. 1.

11 The voyce of joy and the voyce of gladnes, the voyce of the bridegrome, & the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that shall say, I praise the Lorde of hostes, because the Lorde is good for his mercie endureth for ever, and of them that offer the sacrifice of praise in the House of the Lorde, for I will cause to returne the captivitie of the land, as at the first, saith the Lorde.

k Meaning, that all the country of Iudah shall be inhabited againe.

12 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate without man, & without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall be dwelling for shepheards to rest their flocks.

13 In the cities of the mountains, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, under the hand of him that telleth them, saith the Lorde.

l That is, I will send the Messiah, which shall come of the house of David, of whom this prophesie is meant, as testifie all the Jewes, and that which is written, Chap. 22. 5. m To wit, Christ that shall call his Church.

14 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that I will performe that good thing, which I have promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

n That is, Christ is our Lord God, our righteousness, sanctification, and redemption, 2 Cor. 1. 11.

15 In those dayes and at that time, will I cause the branch of righteousness to growe vp vnto David, and he shall execute iudgement and righteousness in the land.

o This is chiefly meant of the spiritual sacrifice of thanksgiving, which is left to the Church in the time of Christ, who was the everlasting Priest and the everlasting sacrifice figured by the sacrifices of the Lawe.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah be saved, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and hee that shall call her, is the Lorde our righteousness.

p Read Chap. 34. 35.

17 For thus saith the Lorde, David shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priests and Levites want a man before me to offer burnt offerings, & to offer meat offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually.

19 And the word of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the Lorde, If you can breake my covenant of the 7 day, and my covenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season,

21 Then may my covenant bee broken with David my servant, that he should not have a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Levites, and Priests my ministers.

22 As the army of heauen cannot be numbred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiplie the seede of David my servant, and the Levites, th^e minister vnto me.

23 Moreover, the word of the Lorde came to Ieremiah, saying,

24 Consider thou not what this people have spoken, saying, The two families, which the Lorde hath chosen, hee hath ever cast them off: thus they have despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

q Meaning the Caldeans which despised which they had cast off, and every call of Iudah and Israel of Benjamin, because he did count them for a time for their iniquities.

25 Thus saith the Lorde, If my covenant bee not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the order of heaven and earth, 26 Then will I call away the seede of Iacob and David my servant, and not take of his seed to be rulers over the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iacob: for I will cause their captivity to returne, and have compassion on them.

a He threatneth that the cite, and the King Zedekiah shall be given into the hands of the King of Babylon. b He threatneth that the cite, and the King Zedekiah shall be given into the hands of the King of Babylon.

c He wordes which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde (when Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people thought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying, d Who counte is of Ieremiah was called Nebuchad-rezzar, and of others Nebuchad-rezzar.

1 Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, Go, and speake to Zedekiah King of Iudah, and tel him, Thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will give this cite into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

e 2 Chron. 36. 17. and 33. 3.

2 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall beholde the face of the King of Babel, & he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

3 Yet heare the worde of the Lorde, O Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus saith the Lorde of thee, Thou shalt not dye by the sword, f Not of any of the sword death.

4 But thou shalt die in peace: and according to theburning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall they burne a-dvers for thee: and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh a lord: for I haue pronounced the word, saith the Lorde.

g The Lorde had Iudgment for his King.

5 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these wordes vnto Zedekiah King of Iudah in Ierusalem,

6 (When the King of Babels host fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, even against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remayned of the cities of Iudah)

7 This is the worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, after that the King Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people, which were at Ierusalem, & to proclaime libertie vnto them, h When the citie was beset, and they fewe there, they would sende out, and to buy some kind of of provisions because after they entered their captivity.

8 That every man should let his servant goe free, and every man his handmaide, which was an Ebrewe or an Ebrewesse, & that none should serue himselfe of them, so was of a Iewe his brother.

i According to the Lawe, Deut. 15. 12. 18. 19.

9 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the covenant, heard that every one should let his servant goe free, and every one his handmaide, and that none should serue themselves of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

10 But afterward they repented and caused the servants and the handmaidens, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subjection as servants and handmaidens.

11 Therefore the word of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, saying, j 18. 19.

12 Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, I made a covenant

countant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of if servants, saying, 14 At the terme of seven yeres let ye go, every man his brother an Hebrew which hath bene sold vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee fixe yeres, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euerie man to his neighbour, and yee had made a covenant before me in the house, wherupon my Name is called.

16 But ye repented, & polluted my Name: for ye have caused every man his seruant, and every man his handmaid, to returne, and hold them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants and as handmaidens.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, ye have not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedome every man to his brother, and every man to his neighbour: beholde, I proclaim a libertie for you, sayth the Lord, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terror to all the kingdomes of the earth.

18 And I will giue those men that have broken my covenant, and have not kept the wordes of the covenant, which they had made before me, when they put the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the partes thereof:

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed betweene the partes of the calfe, 20 I will euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the handes of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meate vnto the fowles of the heauen, and to the beastes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah King of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the King of Babels hostie, which are gone vp from you.

22 Beholde, I will command, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this cite, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

His prophecie the absence of the Rechabites, and thereby commendeth the price of the fowles.

The wordes which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying,

3 Go into the house of the Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lorde into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

4 Then tooke I Iazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

5 And I brought them into the House of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan the sonne of Igdaiah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was about the chamber of Maasiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the treasure,

6 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, and cuppes, and said vnto them, Drinke wine.

7 But they saide, We will drinke no wine: for the sonne of the Rechabab, our father commanded vs, saying, I Yee shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

8 Neither shall ye builde house, nor sow feede, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes yee shall dwell in tentes, that yee may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

9 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechabab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and wee drinke no wine all our dayes, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

10 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor field, nor feede, nor bee: but wee haue remained in tentes, and haue obeyed, and done according to all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

11 But when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, & let vs go to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the host of Aram: so we dwelt at Ierusalem.

12 Then came the word of the Lorde vnto Ieremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, saith the Lord?

14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechabab, that he commanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, & rising early, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.

15 I haue fent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them, saying, Returne nowe every man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and yee shall dwell in the lande which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not incline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechabab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

18 And Ieremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that hee hath commanded you.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechabab shall not want a man, to stand before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah teacheth, the words of the euill against Iudah and Israel. He is sent with the books vnto the people, and readeth before them all. He is called before d The Prophet saith not, The Lord saith thus: but that they ought to haue obeyed: but hee tendeth to another end: that is, to declare their obedience to man, seeing the lawes would not obey God himselfe.

Whom Iehu the King of Israel called for his zeale, King, 2. 13. Teaching them hereby to see all occasion of intemperance, ambition, and auarice, and that they might knowe that they were strangers in the earth, and be ready to depart at all occasions.

Which was now for the space of three hundred yeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.

Which declareth that they were not bound to their vowe, that it could not be broken for any necessitie: where they were commanded to dwell in tentes, they dwell now at Ierusalem for feare of the warres.

Whome I haue chosen to be my children, seeing these which were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the commandement of their father.

I haue most diligently exhorted, and warned you both my selfe and my Prophets, Chap. 28. 11. and 25. 5.

That is by his Prophets and ministers, which sheweth that it is as much as though he should speake to vs himselfe, when he sendeth his ministers to speake to his Name.

His posteritie shal continue and be in my fauour euer.

before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 27 The King saith vnto him the first. 28 There is another written at the commandment of the Lord.

a Reade Chap. 23. 1.

And in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, b Which were twenty and three yeere, as Chap 23. 1. counting from the thirteenth yeere of Iosiahs reigne.

1 Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.

c As he did indite.

2 It may bee that the House of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgieue their iniquitie and their finnes.

d Meaning, in prison, through the malice of the Priests.

3 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.

e Which was proclaimed for feare of the Babylonians, as their customs were when they feared warre or any great plague of God. f He sleweeth that fasting without prayer and repentance auaileth nothing, but is merre hypocrisie.

4 And Ieremiah commanded Baruch saying, I am d shut vp, and cannot goe into the House of the Lord.

g The fast was euen proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a litle before what Ierusalem was first taken, and then Ichoiakim and Daniel, and his companions were led away captiues. h Which is the East gate of the Temple.

5 Therefore goe thou, and reade the roule, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lords House vpon the fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

6 It may be that they will pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Lord hath declared against this people.

7 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House.

8 And in the fifth yeere of Ichoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth month, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

9 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the Secretary, in the hier court at the entry of the new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

10 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, 11 Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the princes sit there, euen Eliham the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Eltnah the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

12 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that hee had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

13 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nehaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chufsi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read, in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

14 And they sayd vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

15 Nowe when they had heard all the wordes, they were afraid both one and other, and saide vnto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all these wordes.

16 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, howe didst thou write all these wordes at his mouth?

17 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounceth all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ynke in the booke.

18 Then saide the princes vnto Baruch, Goe, hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

19 And they went in to the King to the court, but they laide vp the roule in the chamber of Eliham the Chancellour, and tolde the King all the wor is, that he might heare.

20 So the King sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it out of Eliham the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which stood beside the King.

21 Nowe the King fate in the winter House, in the ninth month, and there was a fire burning before him.

22 And when Iehudi had read three or four sides, hee cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fire, that was on the hearth vntill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

23 Yet they were not afraide, nor rent their garments, neither the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these wordes.

24 Neuerthelesse, Eltnah, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the King, that hee would not burne the roule: vt he would not heare them.

25 But the King commanded Ierameel the sonne of Hamutal, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord hid them.

26 Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule and the wordes that Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

27 Take thee againe another roule and write in it all the former wordes that were in the first roule which Ichoiakim the King of Iudah hath burnt.

28 And thou shalt say to Ichoiakim King of Iudah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, Why hast thou written therein, saying, That the King of Babel shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

29 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Ichoiakim King of Iudah, Hee shall haue a none to sit vpon the throne Dauid, and his seed shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

30 And I will visite him and his seede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah: the euill that I haue pronounced against them, vt they would not heare.

31 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah: all the wordes of the booke which Ichoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

Jeremiah, accused, Jeremiah, 3. How Jeremiah was accused to go to prison. 15. Jeremiah, brought into the house of Benjamin, and taken. 15. He is beaten and put in prison.

ANd King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for 11 years. 1 And Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whome Nebuchad-nexzar King of Babel made King in the land of Iudah.

2 But neither he, nor his servants, nor the people of the land, would obey the wordes of the Lorde, which he spake by the ministry of the Prophet Jeremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the King, sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Jeremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lorde our God for vs.

4 (Nowe Jeremiah went in to out among the people for they had not put him into the prison.)

5 Then Pharaohs hoste came out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Ierusalem.)

6 Then came the word of the Lorde vnto the Prophet Jeremiah, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, Thus shal ye say to the King of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to help you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it and burne it with fire.

9 Thus saith the Lorde, Deceit not your selves, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Jeremiah went out of Ierusalem to go into the land of Benjamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

13 And when hee was in the gate of Benjamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Irijah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou shalt flee to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Irijah tooke Ieremiah, & brought him to 7 princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and laide him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that his prison.

16 When Ieremiah was enred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, & had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke him out, and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lorde? And Ieremiah saide, Yea: for, said he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel.

18 Moreover, Ieremiah saide vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy servants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

19 ¶ Where are nowe your prophesies, which prophesied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore heare nowe, I pray thee, O my lord: the King let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou cause mee not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, least I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the King commanded, that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers (till vntill all the bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

C H A P. XXXVIII.

By the mission of the rulers Jeremiah is put into a dungeon, 10. At the request of Ebed-melech the King commandeth Jeremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17. Ieremiah sheweth the King how he might escape death.

Then Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of Malkiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lorde, He that remaineth in this citie, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for a pray, and shall liue.

3 Thus saith the Lorde, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes saide vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus saith the Lorde, He that remaineth in this citie, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for a pray, and shall liue.

5 Then Zedekiah the King said, Behold, he is in your hands, for the king can do as he will.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malkiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with coards: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiah stucke fast in the myre.

7 Nowe when Ebed-melech the blacke Moore one of the Eunuchs, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon, (then the King sat in the gate of Benjamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lord the King, these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commanded Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, saying, Take for him hence thirtie men, & take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the treasurie, & tooke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne clouters, and let them downe by coards in to the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moore saide vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arme holes, betwene

15 Then Ieremiah said to Zedekiah, IF I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou lay me? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremiah, saying, As the Lorde liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not flay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then saide Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lorde God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe forth vnto the King of Babels princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this cite shall not be burnt vp with fire, & thou shalt liue, and thine house.

18 But if thou wilt not goe forth to the King of Babels princes, then shall this cite be giuen into the hand of vs Caldeans, & they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

24 Then said Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of these wordes, & thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we will not flay thee: also what the King sayle vnto thee.

26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly besought the King that he would not cause mee to returne to Iehonathans house, to die there.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that the King had commaunded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not percaused.

28 So Ieremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Ierusalem was taken: and hee was there, when Ierusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad nezzar beset Ierusalem. 2 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 3 His friends are slaine. 7 His eyes are strait out. 11 Ieremiah is rewarded for. 15 Ebedmelech is delivered from captivity.

IN the ninth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the tenth month, came Nebuchad nezzar King of Babel and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the cite was broken vp.

3 And all the princes of the King of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, even Neragal, Sharezer, Shamgarnebo, Sarfchim, Rab-saris, Neragal, Sharezer, Rab-mag with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the King of Iudah saw them, and all the men of waire, then they fledde, and went out of the cite by night, through the Kings garden, and by the b gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wilderness.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar King of B. bel vnto Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue judgement vpon him.

6 Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slewe all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to carie him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the cite, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the d poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gaue them vineyards and fieldes at the same time.

11 Nowe Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah ¶ vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying, 12 Take him, and ¶ looke wel to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him e euen as hee shall say vnto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebuzahabban, Rab-saris, and Neragal, Sharezar, Rab-mag, and all the King of Babels princes:

14 Euen they sent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, that hee should carie him home: so he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah, while hee was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying, 16 Goe and speake to Ebed-melech the black Moore, saying, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring my wordes vpon this cite for euill, and not for good, and they shall be accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, with the Lorde, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shalbe for a pray vnto thee, because thou hast pur thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

C H A P. XL.

Jeremiah hath licence to goe whether he will. & He dwelleth with the people that remayne with Gedaliah.

THe worde which came to Jeremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Ramath, when he had taken him being bounde in chaines among all that were carryed away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were carryed away captiue vnto Babel.

2 And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Nowe the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I looke thee this day from the chaines, which were on thine hands, if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with me into Babel, I tary still: behold, all the land is before thee: whither it seemeth good, and convenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore hee saide, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the King of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gaue him vitayles and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Nowe when all the captaynes of the hostes, which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the lande, and that he had committed vnto him men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the lande, that were not carryed away captiue to Babel.

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen ^e Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, & the sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan ^eware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the King of Babel, and it shall be well with you.

10 As for me, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah to serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but ye gather your wine, and sommer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities, that ye haue taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, & in Edom, and that were in all the countreyes, heard that the King of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that hee had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driven, & came to the lande of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered vnto and sommer fruits, very much.

13 Moreover Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaynes of the hostes, that were in the fieldes, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And sayde vnto him, Knowest thou not that ^e Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam blessed them and not.

15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me goe I pray thee, and I will slay Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shall knowe it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perished?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt not do this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ithmael.

C H A P. XLI.

Ithmael killeth Gedaliah secretly, and many other with him. Iohanan followeth after Ithmael.

Vt in the ^e fourth moneth came Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Ithmael of the seede royal, and the princes of the King, and ten men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, & there they did ^e eat bread together in Mizpah,

2 Then arose Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these tenne men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam ^e sonne of Shaphan with the sword, & slew him, whom the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer ^e land.

3 Ithmael also slew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Nowe the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, ^e fourscore men, hauing their beards shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with offerings and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, he said vnto them, Come ^e to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the mids of the citie: Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the mids of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But tenne men were founde among them, that sayd vnto Ithmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so hee slayed, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Nowe the pit wherein Ithmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the King had made because of Basia King of Israel, and Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ithmael carryed away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the Kings daughters, & all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah carried them away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites.

For they thought that the Temple had not bene destroyed, and therefore came vnto the feast of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they leaved their signes of sorrow.

For his death was kept secret, and hee sained that hee lamented for the destruction of Ierusalem and the Temple: but after hee saw them which then returned to Ierusalem, hee learned that Gedaliah was fortified Mizpah for feare of the enemy, and cast ditches and trenches, a King.

12 Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Nowe when all the people whom Ithmael caried away captiue, saw Iohann the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ithmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, & went vnto Iohann the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah, escaped from Iohann with eight men, and went to the h Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohann the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) even the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuchs, whom he had brought againe from Gibeon:

CHAP. XLII.

a The captiues take counsell of Jeremiah what they ought to doe. b He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

Then all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohann the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And sayde vnto Jeremiah the Prophet, Hear our prayer we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a few of many, as thine eyes doe behold)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may doe.

4 Then Jeremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto y Lord your God according to your words, and whatsoever the Lord shall answer me, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you,

5 Then they said to Jeremiah, b The Lord be a witness of truth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not euen according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lord our God, to whom we sende thee, that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah.

8 Then called he Iohann the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, & all y people from y least to the most.

9 And sayde vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent me to present your prayers before him,

10 I saye will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I d repent me of the euill that I *h*ue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the King of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand, 12 And I will graunt you mercie that he may haue compassion vpon you, and he shall cause you to dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye say, We will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor heare the sounde of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell,

15 And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, yeremiant of Iudah: thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, If ye see your faces to enter into Egypt, and goe to dwell there, 16 Then the sword that ye feared, I shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall then hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by y sword, by the faue and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague, that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred forth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse and a reproch, and ye shall see this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: knowe certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye h dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it to you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which hee hath sent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore, knowe certainly that ye shall die by y sword, by the faue, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

Johann carryeth the remnant of the people into Egypt, contrary to the mids of Jeremiah. 8 Jeremiah prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

Now when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all y wordes of y Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these wordes,

2 Then spake a Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohann the sonne of Kareah, and all the b proude men, saying vnto Jeremiah, Thou speakest falsly: the Lord our God hath *n*ot sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah e prouoketh vs, they brast forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but that which the Lord their God hath said by the mouth of Jeremiah. 4 He sheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: who sayne that they would obey God & embrace his worde, if they were delivered from their messengers: spake the truth: though in deede they beare much love from the Lord. 5 Thus the wicked doe not euenly contemne & despise the wordes of the Lord, but flander, & speake wickedly of all them that saype for the lawe of the Lord.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the Lord to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from all nations, whither they had bene driven to dwell in the land of Iudah:

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproveth the people for their idolatrie. 15 They that let light in the threatening of the Lord, are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt, and of the Iewes therein, is prophesied.

The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at Tahpanhes, & at Noph, & in the country of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Yee haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein,

3 Because of their wickednes which they haue committed, to prouoke me to anger in they went to burne incense, & to serue other gods which they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh do not this a^mominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore my wrath, & mine anger was poured forth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherfore committe ye the great euill: gainst your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and sucking out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whither ye be gone to dwell: that ye might bring defucition vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednes of your fathers, and the wickednes of the Kings of Iudah and the wickednes of their wiues, and your owne wickednes & the wickednes of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my law nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will set my face against you to cuill and to destroy all Iudah, 12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah that haue set their faces to go into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all be consumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall euen be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation and an astonishment and a curse and a reproch.

13 For I will visit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah to the which they haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwell in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, we will not heare it of thee.

17 But we will doe whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and to powre our drinke offerings vnto her, as we haue done, both we and our fathers, our kings and our princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for shewt had we plenty of vitales and were well and felt none euill.

18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre our drinke offerings vnto her, wee haue had scarcenesse of all things, and haue bene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

her, did wee make her cakes [to make her glad, and poure out drinke offerings vnto her without our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answer, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you and your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbear, because of the wickednes of your inuentions, and because of y abominations, which yee haue committed: therefore is your land desolate, and an astonishment, and a curse and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because you haue burnt incense and because yee haue sinned against the Lorde, and haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreover Ieremiah sayd vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iu Iah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, y God of Israel, saying, Ye & your wives haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We will performe our vovves that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to poure out drinke offerings to her: yewill performe your vovves, and doe the things that yee haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue sworn by my great Name, sayth the Lorde, that my Name shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, sayth the Lord God liueh.

27 Behold, I will watch ouer them for euil and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, until they be utterly destroyed.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, o shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and al the remnant of Iulah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall be a signe vnto you, sayth the Lord, when I visit you in this place, yee may know y my words shall surely stand against you for euil.

30 Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will y giue Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah King of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel his enemy, who also sought his life.

a Jeremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring him that he should not perish in the destruction of Ierusalem.

T He word that Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when hee had written these b wordes in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiah, in the fourth yeere of Ichoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying,

1 Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,

2 Thou diddest say, Woe is me now: for the Lord hath layd sorow vnto my sorowe: I c fainte for y destruction of the people, & the Temple, maketh this lamentati- on, as Psal. 6.

5 And seekest y thou great things for thy selfe? seeke them not: for behold, I will bring a plague vpon all flesh, sayth the Lorde: but thy life will I giue thee for y pray in all places, whither thou goest.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 Her prophesie the destruction of Egypt. 27 Declares it promised to Ieriah.

T He wordes of the Lord, which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the e Gentiles, 2 A against Egypt, against the armie of Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, which was therer Parath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel smote in the fourth yeere of Ichoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah.

3 Make ready buckler and shield, and go forth to battell.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with yow fillets, fount- bith the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 ¶ Wherefore haue I sene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mighty men are smitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: for feare was round about, sayth the Lord.

6 The swift shall not see away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the c North by the riuier Perath.

7 Who is this, that cometh vp, as a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are moued like the riuers, and he sayth, I will go vp, and will ouer the earth: I will destroy the citie with them that dwell therein.

9 Come vp ye horses, and rage ye charres, and let the valiant men come forth, s the blacke Moores, and the Libians that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bowe.

10 For this is y day of the Lord God of hosts, and a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his enemies: for the sword shall deuour, and it shall be satiate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lorde God of hostes hath b a sacrifice for the North country i by the riuier Perath.

11 Goe vp vnto Gilead, & take balme, O i virginie, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many m medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy criehath filled the land: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong and they are fallen both together.

13 ¶ The word of the Lord spake to Ieremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel should come and smite the land of Egypt.

14 Publish in Egypt and declare in Migdol, and proclaim in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the sword shall deuour round about thee.

15 W y are thy valiant men put backe: they could not stand, because the Lord did drive them.

16 He made many to fall, and one fell vpon another: and they sayd, Arise, let vs goe againe to our o owne people, and to the land of our nation: from the sword of the violent.

and of a great multitude, * hath passed the time appointed.

12 As I haue said the King, whose Name is the Lorde of hostes, Surely as Tabor is in the mountains, 13 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee ready to goe into captiuitie: for Noph shall be waste and desolate, without an inhabitant.

14 Egypt is like a faire calfe, but destruction cometh: out of the North it cometh.

15 Also her hired men * are in the middes of her like false calves: they are also turned backe and fled away together: they could not stand, because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation,

16 The voyce thereof shall goe forth like a * serpent: for they shall march with an armie, and come against * her with axes, as hewers of wood.

17 They shall cut downe * her forest, with the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are moe then * grasshoppers, & are innumerable.

18 The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded: the shall be deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.

19 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will visite the 7 common people of No and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods and their Kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him.

20 And I will deliuer them into the hands of those that seeke their liues, and into the hande of Nebuchad nazar King of Babel, and into the hands of his seruants, and afterwarde he shall dwell as * in the olde time, saith the Lord.

21 ¶ But feare not thou, O my seruant Isaak, be not thou afraid, O Israel: for beholde, I will deliuer thee from a farre country, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Isaak shall returne and be in rest, and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

22 Feare thou not O Isaak my seruant, saith the Lorde: for I am with thee, and I will vterly destroy all * nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I will not vterly destroy thee, but correct thee by iudgement, and not vterly cut thee off.

CHAP. XLVII.

The word of the Lord against the Philistims.

The wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremie the Prophet, against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh Imote * Azzab.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, waters rise vp out of the North & shall be as a swelling flood, and shall ouerflow * land, and all that is therein, & the cities which the dwell therein then * men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of * land shall howle.

3 At the noyse and stamping of * shoofes of his strong horses, at the noyse of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheelies: * fathers shall not * looke backe to their children, for feeblesnes of * hands.

4 Because of the day that cometh to destroy all the Philistims, and to destroy Tyrus, and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the yle of * Caphtor.

5 Baldnesse is come vpon Azzab: Ashkelon is cut vp with the rest of their valleys. Howe long wilt thou cut thy selfe?

6 O thou sword of the Lord, how long wilt it be soe thou cease? turne againe into thy scabbard, and be as still.

7 Howe can it * cease, seeing the Lorde hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke? euen there hath he appointed it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The word of the Lorde against the Moabites, as Because of their pride and cruelty.

Concerning Moab, thus saith the Lorde of Hostes, the God of Israel, Woe vnto * Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriatim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and afraide.

2 Moab shall boast no more of Hekibon: for they haue desitied euill against it. * Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt bee destroyed, * O Madmen, and the sword shall pursue thee.

3 A voyce of crying shall be from Hosonaim with desolation and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed: her litle ones haue caused their erie to be heard.

5 For at the going vp of * Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction.

6 Flee and save your liues, and bee like vnto the * heath in the wilderness.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thy * woorks and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his Priests and his princes together.

8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish and the plaine shall be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.

9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate, without any to dwell therein.

10 Cursed be he that doeth the woorkes of the Lorde negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood.

11 Moab hath beneat rest from his youth, and he hath seled on his lees, and hath not bene * pawed from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him, and his fene is not changed.

12 ¶ Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that I will send vnto him such as shall cary him away, and shall emptie his vessels, and breake their bottels.

13 And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of * Beth el their confidence.

14 Howe thinke you thus, We are mightie and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed, & his cities * burnt vp, & his choise young men are gone downe to slaughter, saith the King, whose name is the Lord of hostes.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hath fast fast.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that knowe his name, say, I how is the strong staffe broken, and the beautiful rod!

18 Thou daughter that dost inhabit ite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and fit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vpon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holdes.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and beholde: aske him that sleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle and cry, releye it in Arnon, * Moab is made waste.

Meaning, that it is not possible that the wicked should by any means escape or stay the Lord, when he will take vengeance.

These were cities of the Moabites, which Nebuchad-nazar tooke before he went to fight against Nebuchadnezzar King of Egypt.

Thus the Babylonians in courage are another.

Reads Ili. 25. 14 Horonaim and Luhith were two places whereby the Moabites should flee. Ili. 15. 9 Hide your selues in better places, where the enemies will not pursue after you. Chap. 27. 6

That is, the idoles which are the woorkes of thine hands. Some made in thy possession for in the word may signify.

As I. S. 2. 2. 2. Both thy great idole, & his main-teners shall be led away captiue, so that they shall knowe that it is in vaine to looke for helpe at idoles.

Isa. 15. 2. He beweth that God would punish the Coldeans, if they did not knowe that the Egyptians, & that with a courage, & callist this execution of his vengeance against his enemies his woike.

though the Coldeans sought another end. Ili. 10. 15. For, as I say, I have not bene removed as the Lewes have, but have liued as cities, as we see that seeth it selfe on his lees.

As the callie of Beth-el was not able to deliuer the Israelites: no more shall Chemosh deliuer the Moabites.

Howe you say, as destroyed.

Howe are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength and riches.

Thus they that trust in their strength and riches.

Howe you say, as destroyed.

Howe are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength and riches.

Howe are they that trust in their strength and riches.

Howe are they that trust in their strength and riches.

21. And iudgement is come vpon the plaine country, vpon Holon and vpon Iahazah, & vpon Mephaath,

22. And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the boules of Diblathaim,

23. And vpon Kiriatihaim, and vpon Beth-galm, and vpon Beth-meon,

24. And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, & vpon all the cities of y^e land of Moab farr or nere.

25. The ^ahorne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, with the Lord.

26. Make ye him ^bdrunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall wallowe in his vomite, and he also shall be in derision.

27. For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though hee had bene found among theues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art ^cmouth.

28. O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rocks, and be like the doe, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29. We haue heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proude) his roufnesse and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautesse of his heart.

30. I knowe his wrath, sayth the Lorde, q but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations, for they doe not right.

31. Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will crye out for all Moab: ^dmine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32. O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of Iazer: y^e destroyer is fallen vpon thy somer fruits, & vpon thy vintage,

33. And ioye, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifulle fildes, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the winepress: none shall treade with shouting: ^eshout shouting like no shouting.

34. From the cry of Heshbon vnto Elaleh and vnto Iahaz. haue they made their noyse: fro Zoar vnto Horonaim, y^e sheifer of three yere old ^fshall go lowing: for y^e waters alow of Nimrim shall be wasted.

35. Moreover, I will cause to cease in Moab, sayth the Lord, him that offereth in the hie places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36. Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a ^ghaume, and mine heart shall sound like a haume for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten is perished.

37. For euery head shall be balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth.

38. And mourning shall be vpon all the house toppes of Moab and in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab-like a vessell wherein is no pleasure, sayth the Lord.

39. They shall howle, saying, How is he destroyed? howe hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him.

40. For thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, the shall see as an eagle, & shall spread his wings ouer Moab.

41. The cities are taken, and the strong holdes are wonne, & the mightie mens hearts in Moab at that daye shall be as y^e heart of a woman in trauaile.

42. And Moab shall be destroyed for being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against y^e Lord.

43. Y^e feare, and pit, and snare shall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, sayth the Lord.

44. He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit: & he that getteth vp out of the pit shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon thee, vnto Moab, they ere of their visitation, with the Lord.

45. They that fled, shalloe vnder the shadowe of Heshbon, because of the force: for the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sibon, and it couered the corner of Moab, and the top of the sedition children.

46. Wo be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie.

47. Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the latter dayes, sayth the Lord. Thus saith the iudgement of Moab.

C H A P. XLIX.

The word of the Lord against the Ammonites, y^e Teme, 23. Damascus, 28. Kedar, 34. and Elam.

Vnto the children of Ammon thus sayth the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath their king possessed Gad? and his people dwelt in his cities?

2. Therefore beholde the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will cause a noyse of warre to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him sayth the Lord.

3. Howle, Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: crye ye daughters of Rabbah: gird ye with sackcloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges: for their King shall goe into captiuitie, and his Priests, and his princes likewise.

4. Wherefore gloriest thou in the ^hvalley? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: thou trustedst in thy treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me?

5. Beholde, I will bring ⁱa feare vpon thee, sayth the Lord God of hostes, of al those that be about thee, & ye shall be scattered euery man right forth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6. And afterward I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

7. To Edom thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Is wisdom no more in Teman? is counsell perished fro their children? is their wisdom vanished?

8. Flee, ye Inhabitants of Dedan (for they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Maan vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9. If the ^jgrape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theues come by night, they will destroy till they haue enough.

10. For I haue discovered Eglu: I haue vncouered his secrettes, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seede is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to fey.

11. Leaue thy fatherless children, & I will persue them alius, and let thy widows trust in me.

12. For thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13. For I haue sworn by my selfe, sayth the Lord, that Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproche, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

The earth is moued at the noyse of their fall: the crye of their voice is heard in the red sea.

Behold, he shall come vp, and sit as the Eagle, and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

Vnto Damascus he sayeth, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faine hearted as one on the fewell full sea that cannot rest.

Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her selfe to flight: and feare hath seised her: anguish & sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaile.

How is the glorious cite not referred, the cite of my ioy?

Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes.

And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of Dehadad.

Vnto Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar, king of Babel hath smitten, thus saith the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

Their tents and their flockes shall they take away, they shall take to them selues their curtains and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crye vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

Flee, get you far off: they haue consulted to dwell Oyc inhabitants of Hazor, sayth the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar, King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.

Get you vp vnto the wealthy nation, I will with you care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

And their camels shall be a booty, and the multitude of their cattell spoyle, and I will scatter them into all windes, and to the vtmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all sides thereof, sayth the Lord.

And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

The wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, concerning Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah, saying,

Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will breake the bowe of Elam, and the chief of their strength.

And vpon Elam I will bring foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towards all these windes, and there shall be no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shall not come.

For I will cause Elam to be afraide before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, even the indignation of my wrath, sayth the Lord, & I will send the sword after them till I haue consumed them.

And I will set my throne in Elam, & I will destroy both the King & the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, sayth the Lord.

his prophecies the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

He word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the ministration of Ieremiah the Prophet.

Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standard, proclaime it, and concaleit not: say, Babel is taken, Babel is confounded, Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

For out of the North there cometh vp a nation against her, which shall make her feeble waste, and none shall dwell therein: they that flee, and depart, both man and beast.

In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going and weeping that they go, and seeke the Lord their God.

They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord: in a perpetuall couenant they shall not be forgotten.

My people hath bene as lost sheepe: their shepheards haue caused them to go astray, and haue turned them away to the mountains: they haue gone from mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

All these found them haue deuoured them, & their enemies sayd, We offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, even the Lord the hope of their fathers.

I see from the middes of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates before the flocke.

For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North country, and they shall set themselves in array against her: whereby they shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

And Caldea shall be a spoyle: all that spoile her,

That is, Persia, called of Elam the name of Shem. Because the Persians were good archers, he sheweth that the thing wherein they put their trust should not profit them. I will place Nebuchad-nezzar there, and in these propheties Ieremiah speaks of those countries, which should be subdued vnder the first of those four monarchies when Daniel maketh mention. It may be referred to the empire of the Persians, and Medes after the Caldeans, or vnto the rule of Chir, as Chap. 48-47.

After that God had vided the Babylonians service to punish other nations, he sheweth that their turne shall come to be punished.

The were two of their chief idoles.

To wit, the Medes, and the Persians.

Read Chap. 2: 9.

Their goulden and silver images by their exorcismes had promoued them to idolatrie.

They haue committed idolatrie in euery place.

For the Lord dwell among them in his Temple.

And would haue maintained them by his iustice against their enemies.

C H A P. L I.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The want of confidence of the Babylonians: 43 The want of wisdom: 49 Jerusalem gets his booke to be read.

Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, & against the inhabitants of that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying wind, And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, & shall empty her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her on euery side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoste.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streets.

5 For Israel hath bene no by wallow, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lorde of hostes, though their land was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel.

6 ¶ Fleecout of the mids of Babel, and deliuer every man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he will render vnto her a recompence.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cuppe in the Lordes hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations be rage.

8 * Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balmes for her sore, if she may be healed.

9 We would haue cured Babel, but she could not be healed: for sake her, and let vs go euery one into his owne cuntry: for by iudgement is come vp into heauen, & is lifted vp to the cloudes.

10 The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: ¶ gather the shields: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the standard vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skoutes: for the Lord hath both deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundance in treasures, thine ende is come, even the end of thy couetousnesse.

14 The Lord of hostes hath sworn by himselfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they shall erie and shout against thee.

15 * He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

16 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to rayne, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

17 Every man is a beast by his owne knowledge.

ledge: euery founde is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

18 They are vanity, and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

19 The portion of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is his rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

20 Thou art mine hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes.

21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charret and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man & woman, and by thee will I breake olde and yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the mayde.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepherd and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euill, that they haue done in Zion, even in your fight, faith the Lord.

25 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O destroying mountaine, sayth the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, sayth the Lord.

27 Set vp a standard in the land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of 9 Ararat, Minni, and Alchenaz: against her: appoint the prince against her: cause fowles to come vp as the rough caterpillars.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for the deuil of the Lord shall be performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they haue remained in their holdes: their strength hath fayled, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her bars are broken.

31 A post shall run to meete the post, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shew the King of Babel, that his cie is taken on a side thereof.

32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, the daughter of Babel is like a threshing floor: the time of her threshing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her harvest I shall come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath deuoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made me an empty vessell: he swallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out.

35 The people of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Calden, shall Ierusalem say.

36 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will maintaine thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the sea, and drie vp her springs.

37 And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roare together like lyons, and yell as the lyons whelpes.

39 In their hate I will make them feastes, and I will make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetual sleepe, and not wake, saith the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambs to the slaughter, and like rammes and goates.

41 How is y shehach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

42 The sea is come vp vpon Babel: she is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is drie and a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visite Bel in Babel, & I will bring out of his mouth that which he hath swallowed vp, and the nations shall run no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the middes of her, & deliuer ye euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord.

46 Least your heart euen faynt, and ye feare the rumor that shall be heard in the land: the rumor shall come this yere, & after that in the other yere shall come a rumor, and cruelty in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shall be confounded, and all her saine shall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the slaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slayne of all the earth did fall.

50 Yee that haue escaped the sword, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lorde asare off, and let Ierusalem come into your minde.

51 Wee are confounded, because wee haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lords House.

52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to sheauen, and though shee should defend her strength on hie, yet from mee shall her destroyers come, saith the Lord.

54 A found of a cry cometh from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans.

55 Because the Lord hath loosed Babel waste, and destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a found was made by their noyse.

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, vpon vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenceth, shall surely recompence.

57 And I will b make drunke her princes, and her wife men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetual sleepe, and not wake, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The thick wall of Babel shall be broken, & her hie gates shall be burne with fire, & the people shall labour in vain, and the folke in the fire, for they shall be weary.

59 The worde which Ieremiah the Prophet commaunded Sieraiah the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maasiah, when he went with Zedekiah the King of Iudah into Babel, in the fourth yere of his reigne: & this Sieraiah was a peaceable prince.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that shoulde come vpon Babel, & all these things, that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah saide to Sieraiah, When thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these wordes, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an ende of readeing this booke, thou shalt binde a stone to it, and cast it in the middes of Euphrates.

64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel bee drowned, and shall not rise from the euill, that I will bring vpon her: and they shall be wearie. Thus saith the Lord of Ieremiah.

C H A P. LII.

1 Ierusalem is taken. 20 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 32 The cite burnt. 33 Ierusalem is brought forth of prison, and led like a King.

2 Zedekiah was one and twentie yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned cleuen yeres in Ierusalem, & his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

3 And he did euill in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehiakim had done.

4 Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till hee had said them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the King of Babel.

5 But in the ninth yere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth day of the moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, hee and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built forts against it round about.

6 So the cite was besieged vnto the eleuenth yere of the King Zedekiah.

7 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the month, the famine was fore in the cite, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

8 Then the cite was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the cite by night, by the way of the gate betweene the two walls which was by the Kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citere and about) and they went by the way of the wilderness.

9 But the arme of the Caldeans pursued after the King, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Richio, and all his hoste was scattered from him.

10 Then they tooke the King and carried him vp to the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him. And the King of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slew also all y princes b Meaning, that Babylon should not be destroyed all at once, but by little & little should be brought to nothing: for the first yere came the tidings, the next yere the siege, and in the third yere it was taken: yet this is not that horrible destruction on which the Prophets threatened in many places: for that was after this, when they rebelled and Darius overcame them by the policie of Zopyrus, and hanged three thousand gentlemen besides the common people.

c All creatures in heauen and earth shall reioyce and praye God for the destruction of Babylon the great enemy of his Church.

14 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that she had in times past, when her people fell into the hande of the enemy, and none did helpe her: the aduersarie sawe her, and did mock at her Sabbaths.

15 Ierusalem hath grievously sinned, therefore she is in derision: all that honoured her, despite her, because they haue seene her filthiness: yea, the sighteth and turneth backward.

16 Her filthinesse in her skirts: she remembred not her last end, therefore she came downe wonderfully, she had no comfort: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemy is proud.

17 The enemy hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuary, whom thou didst command, that they should not enter into thy Church.

18 All her people sigh and seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and confide: for I am become vile.

19 He weyc no regard, all ye that passe by this way: behold and see, if there be any sorrow I kee vnto my sorow, which is done vnto me, where-with the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

20 From aboue hath he sent fire into my bones, which preuaileth against thee: he hath spread a net for my feet, and turned me backe: he hath made me desolate, and daily in heauensie.

21 The yoke of my transgressions is bounde vpon his hand: they are wrapped, & come vpon vpon my necke: hee hath made my strength to fail: the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp.

22 The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the mids of me: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my young men: the Lord hath troden the mine presse vpon the virgin the daughter of Iudah.

23 For these things I weep: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemy preuailed.

24 Zion stretched out her handes, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iacob rounde about him: Ierusalem is as a menfrous woman in the middes of them.

25 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his transgressions: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorrow: my virgins and my young men are gone into captiuitie.

26 I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the citie whiles they sought their meate to refresh their soules.

27 Beholde, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heauines: the sword spoileth abroad, as death doeth at home.

28 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shalbe like vnto me.

22 Let all their wickednes come before thee: I doe vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, and mine heart is heauie.

C H A P. II.

How hath the Lord darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from heauen vnto the earth the beautes of Ierusalem, and remembred not his footstool in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iacob, and not spared: he hath thrown downe in his wrath strong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to ground he hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the borne of Ierusalem: hee hath drawn back his right hand from before the enemy, and there was kindled in Iacob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 He hath bent his bowe like an enemy: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and flew all that was pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he poured out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemy: he hath deuoured Ierusalem, & consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holds, & hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For hee hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden: hee hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbaths to bee forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: hee hath abhorred his Sanctuary: hee hath giuen into the hand of the enemy the wallles of her palaces: they haue made a noise in the House of the Lord, as in the day of Iolemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a line: hee hath not withdrawn his hande from destroying: therefore hee made the rampart & the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: hee hath destroyed and broken her barres: her King and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Law is no more, neither can her Prophets receiue any vision from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heades: they haue giued themselves with Geckcloth: the virgins of Ierusalem hang downe their heades to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liver is powdered vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings liue in the streetes of the citie.

12 They haue saide to their mothers, Where is thy bread, and I drinke? when they swooned as the wounded in the streetes of the citie: and when they gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome.

daughter Ierusalem? what I shal liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

14 Thy Prophets haue looked out vaine and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discovered thine iniquities, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false prophecies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter of Ierusalem, saying, Is this the city that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse & gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we haue found and seene it.

17 The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his word that hee had determined of old time: he hath throwned downe, and not spared: hee hath caused thine enemy to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart cried vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a river, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, cry in the night in the beginning of the watches poure out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine hands toward him for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streets.

20 Beholde, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done thus: shall the women eate their fruit, and children of a floure long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuary of the Lord?

21 The young and the olde lie on the ground in the streets: my virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne day my terrours round about, so that in the day of the Lordes wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished and brought vp hath mine enemy consumed.

CHAP. III.

I am the man that hath seene affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath ledde mee, and brought mee into darknesse, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against me: he turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skinned hath hee caused to waxe olde, and he hath broken my bones.

5 Hee hath builded against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 He hath bedged about mee, that I can not get out: he hath made my chaines heavy.

8 Also when I cry and shoute, hee shattereth out my prayer.

9 He hath stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.

And when I thinke that they are not heard, which thing God voucheth to say they might pray more earnestly and often. And keepeth me in mine affliction.

10 He was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a Lion in secret places.

11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bow, & made me a mark for the arrow.

13 He caused the arrows of his quier to enter into my reins.

14 I was a derision vnto all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitternesse & made me drunken with wormewood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate profliterie,

18 And I said, My strength and mine hope is perilled from the Lord, 19 Remembering mine affliction, & my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lordes mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 They are renewed euery morning: great is thy faithfulness.

24 The Lord is my portion, sayth my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good vnto them, that trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him.

26 It is good both to trust, and to wait for the saluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his youth.

28 He sitteth alone, and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.

29 He putteth his mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 He giueth his cheek to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forsake for euer.

32 But though he send affliction, yet will he haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doeth not punish willingly, nor afflict the children of men, 34 In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth,

35 In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High, 36 In subuerting a man in his cause: the Lord seeth it not.

37 Who is hee then that sayth, & it cometh to passe, and the Lord commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not euill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the liuing man sorrowfull? man suffereth for his sinne.

40 Let vs search and try our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

41 Let vs lift vp our hearts with our hands vnto God in the heauens.

42 We haue finned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.

43 Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine and not spared.

44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe through.

He hath as pitie on me.

With great anguish & sorrow he hath made me to loie my soule.

That with paine he was drawn to and betweene hope & despair as the gooly ointment, yet in the ende the Spirit gettieth the victory.

He sheweth that God thus voucheth to exercise him, to the intent that hee by this may know the malice & feeble his mercies.

Confounding the wicked, & many, it is manly any remaineth alius: but only that God for his owne mercies sake & for his promise will euer haue his Church to remaine though they be neuer fewe in number, Ila. i. 9.

We seele thy benefits daily.

The godly put their whole confidence in God, and therefore looke for none other inheritance as Psal. 16. 5. m He sheweth that we can neuer begin too timely to be exercised vnder the crosse, that when the affliction grow greater our patience also by experience may be stronger.

He mourneth not against God, but is patient.

He humblyeth himselfe as they that fall downe with their face to the ground, and with patience waiteth for succour.

He taketh no pleasure in it, but doeth it of necessity for our amendment, when he suffereth wicked to oppresse his people, Ier. xlviii. 11.

He doeth not delite therein.

He sheweth that nothing is done without Gods permission.

That is, as our affliction & profliterie, Amos 2. 6.

When God afflicte him.

That is, both hearts and hands: for els to lift up the hands is hypocrisy.

1. Cor. 4. 13.

45 Thou hast made vs as the * of scourging and refuse in the middes of the people.

46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs.

47 Feare, and a snare is come vpon vs with deuolation and destruction.

48 Mine eye casteth out riuers of water, for the deuolution of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye droppeth without stay and ceaseth not.

50 Till the Lorde looke downe, and beholde from heauen.

3 I am ouercome with sore weeping for all my people.

51 Mine eye * breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my cite.

52 Mine enemies chafed me fore like a birde, without cause.

7 Reade Ier. 37. 24, how he was in the myry dungeon.

53 They haue shut vp my life y in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lorde, out of the lowe dungeon.

56 Thou hast heard my voyce : stop not thine eare from my sigh, and from my cry.

57 Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee : thou failest, Feare not.

11 Meaning the cause where fore his lifewas in danger.

58 O Lorde, thou hast maintained the cause of my * soule, and hast redeemed my life.

59 O Lorde, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge thou my cause.

60 Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their cruelties against me.

61 Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lorde, and all their imaginations against me.

62 The lips of those that rose against me, and their whispering against me continually.

63 Behold, their sitting downe and their rising vp, how I am their long.

12 Psalm. 134.

64 * Giue them a recompence, O Lorde, according to the worke of their hands.

13 For an oblation heart.

65 Giue them [for]ow of heart, euen thy curse to them.

66 Persecute with wrath & destroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lorde.

2 The noble l men of Zion comparable to fine golde, howe are they esteemed as earthen p pichers, euen the worke of the hands of the potter!

c Though the dragons be cruell, yet they pitie their young and nourish them, which thing Ierusalem doeth not.

3 Euen the dragons * drawe out the breastes, and giue sucke to their young, but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the a ostriches in the wilderness.

d The women sucketh their children as the ostrich doeth her egges, Job. 39. 17.

4 The tongue of the sucking child cleaueth to the roofof his mouth for thirst : the young children aske bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them.

e Gm. 29. 25. For my strength was against her, Ier. 4. 2.

5 They that did feede delicately, perish in the streetes: they that were brought vp in skarlet embrace the dongee.

6 For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the sinne of Sodom, that was * destroyed as in a moment, and none pitched camps against her.

7 Her * Nazarites were purer then the snow, and whiter then the milke: they were more ruddie in body, then the redde precious stones: they were like polished saphir.

8 None their * visage is blacker then a cole: they cannot knowe them in the streetes: their skinne cleaueth to their bones: it is withered like a stocke.

9 They that be slaine with the sword are better then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were smitten through for the f fruites of the ficke.

10 The hands of the pittifull women haue sodden their owne children, which were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lorde hath accomplished his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.

12 The Kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not haue beleueed that the aduersarie and the enemy should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem:

13 For the sinnes of her Prophets, and the iniquities of her Priests, that smelted the blood of the iust in the middes of her.

14 They haue wandred as blinde men in the streetes, and they were polluted with blood, so that they would not touch their garments.

15 But they cried vnto them, Depart, ye polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue sayd among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there.

16 The lllage of the Lorde hath scattered them, he will no more regard them: they reuerenced not the face of the Priests, nor had compassion on the Elders.

17 Whiles we waited for the paine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for a nation that could not saue vs.

18 They hunt our fleppes that we cannot go in our streetes: our end is necesse, our dayes are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Our persecuters are swifter then the eagle of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the mountaynes, and layd wait for vs in the wilderness.

20 The breath of our nostrils, the Anoynted of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whom we sayd, Vnder his shadow we shall be preferred aliae among the heathen.

21 Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Edom, that dwellest in the land of Vz, the cuppe also shall passe through vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken lland vomit.

22 Thy punishment is accomplished, O daughter Zion: he * will no more carie thee away into captivity, but he will visite thine iniquity, O daughter Edom, he will discouer thy sinnes.

The prayer of Ierusalem.

R^{emember}, O Lorde, what is come vpon vs: consider, and behold our reproch.

2 Our inheritance is turned into the strangers, our houses to the aliens.

3 We are fatherlesse euen without father, and our mothers are as shadowes.

4 We haue drunken ke b water for money, and our wood is sold vnto vs.

5 Our necks are vnder persecution: we are weary, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our e hands to the EGYPT

b Meaning their extreme seruitude and bondage, and amitie with them, for haue submitted our selues vnto them.

c We are in Egypt in language, that is,

1. As our fathers have bin punished for their iniquities, so we are only able of the time to come, to be punished for the same. A thought of the same thing came into the wilderness, and would not suffer vs to go to seek our affliction in the wilderness. I that is, by the same land, & they likewise was to great, that they were not able to abide it.

1. And to Ashtar, to be satisfied with bread. 7 Our fathers have sinned, and are not, and we have borne their iniquities. 8 Seruants have ruled our vs, none would deliver vs out of their hands. 9 Wee gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sword of the wilderness. 10 Our skinne was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine. 11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maydes in the cities of Iudah. 12 The princes are hanged vp by f their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour. 13 They tooke the yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder the wood. 14 The Elders haue ceased from the h gate, and the yong men from their songs. 15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning. 16 The crowne of our head is fallen: we now vnto vs, that we haue sinned. 17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our eyes are dimme. 18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is defolate: the foxes runne vpon it. 19 But thou, O Lord, remained for k cuncti thy throne is from generation to generation. 20 Wherefore doest thou forget vs for cuer, and forsake vs so long time? 21 Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shall be turned: renew our dayes as of olde. 22 But thou hast vtterly reioiced vs: thou art exceeding angry against vs.

1. With weeping. 2. And therefore thy constant and mercies can neuer fail. 3. Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but it is only his wille to conuert vs, and that God worketh in vs before we can turne to him, Ier. 31. 1. 8.

EZEKIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezechiel had sold himselfe to Nebuchadnezar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and dauers of his priues, certaine beganne to reprove and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophesied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof hee confirmed his former prophesies, declaring by new visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie should most certainly be destroyed, and the people grievously tormented by Gods plagues, in such sort that they that remained, should be brought into small bondage. And lest the Godly should desire in these great troubles, hee assured them that God will deliver his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioiced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophesied these things in Caldea, at the same time that Ieremiah prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the fifth yere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

a The time wherein Ezechiel prophesied, and in what place, 3 this booke. 5 The vision of the same brailes. 26 The vision of the throne.

Y came to passe in the 4 thirteenth yere in the fourth month, and in the fifth day of the month (as I was among the captiues by the river b Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I sawe visions of GOD.

1 In the fifth day of the month (which was the fifth yere of King Iehoiachins captiuitie) 2 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezechiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldears, by the river Chebar, where the d hand of the Lord was vpon him. 3 And I looked, and behold, e a whilewinde came out of the North, a great cloud and a fire went about it, and a brightnesse was al out it, when the midles therof, f to wit, in the midles of the fire came out as the likenesse of flamber. 4 Also out of the midles thereof came the likenesse of foure beastes, f and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man. 5 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had f w wings. 6 And their feete were straight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calves foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse. 7 And the bands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they feure had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were ioined by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not, but euery one went straight forward. 10 And the similitude of their faces was as b the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle. 11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioined one to another, and two couered their bodies. 12 And euery one went straight forward: they went whither their f spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth. 13 The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lan pes: f the fire ran among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning. 14 And the beastes rame, and i returned like i lightning. 15 ¶ Nowe as I beheld the beastes, behold, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beastes, hauing foure faces. 16 The fashion of the wheelles and their worke was like vnto a k charyfolite: and they foure had one forme, and their fashion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele. 17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, & they returned not when they went. 18 They had also i rings, and height, and were fearfull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

1. The wing of the one touched the wing of the other. 2. Every Cherubim had foure faces, the face of a man, and of a lyon on the right side, and the face of a bullocke and of an eagle on the left side. 3. Ezech. 31. 1. 8. When spirit or will was gone. 4. That is, when they had executed Gods will: for asure they returned not, till God had changed the face of things. 5. The Hebrew word is talitha meaning that the colour was like the Cilician sea, or a precious stone called, 10. the road.

20 Whither the spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirit of the wheels lead them, and the wheels were lifted vp besides them : for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheels.

21 When the beastes went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheels were lifted vp besides them : for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheels.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beastes was wonderfull, like vnto chrysal, spread ouer their heads about.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: euery one had two which covered them, and euery one had two, which covered their bodies.

24 And when they went forth, I heard the noyse of their wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almighty, such was the voice of speech, as the noyse of an host: and when they stood, they let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce fro the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And about the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a Saphir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man about vpon it.

27 And I sawe as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes upward: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downward, I saw as a likeness of fire, and brightnesse round about it.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I sawe it, I feltpvpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is sent to call the people from their error.

1 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, stande vp vpon thy feet, and I will speake vnto thee.

2 And the Spirit entred into me, when hee had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feet, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: for they & their fathers have rebelled against mee, even vnto this very day.

4 For they are impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I doe send thee vnto them, & thou shalt say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God,

5 But surely they will not heare, neither in deede will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that I there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man, feare them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels, & thornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their words, nor be afraid at their looks, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my wordes vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and I will say thee.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, an hande was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.

10 And hee spread it before mee, and it was written within and without: and there was written therein, Lamentations and mourning, and woe.

CHAP. III.

The Prophet being fed with the word of God, & with the constant boldness of the Spirit is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

1 Moreouer he said vnto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: & eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And hee sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eat it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honey.

4 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, go, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my wordes.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknown tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel,

6 Nor to many people of an vnknown tongue, or of an hard language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted.

8 Beholde, I haue made thy face b strong against their faces, and thy forehead harde against their foreheades.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, & harder than the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their looks: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart all my wordes that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, 11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues, vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, and tell them. Thus sayth the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede cease.

12 Then the spirit tooke me vp, and I heard behind me a noyse of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of this place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beasts, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheelles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away, and I went in bitterness, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to Tel-abib, that dwelt by the river Chebar, and I fate where they late, and remained there astonished among them seuen dayes.

16 And at the ende of seuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie, but his blood wil I require at thine hand.

19 Yet, if thou warne the wicked, and he mune not from his wickednesse, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a righteous man turne from his righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a stumbling blocke before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall die in his sinne, and his righteous deedes, which he hath done, shall not be remembered: but his blood wil I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, & that he doeth not sinne, hee shall liue, because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the hand of the Lord was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Arise, and go into the field, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and gone forth into the field, beholde, the glory of the Lord stood there, as the glory which I sawe by the river Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entred into me, which I set famine, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I have any pitie.

12 The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the mids of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee: and I will scatter the last third part into all windes, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger be accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be comforted: and they shall know, that I the Lord have spoken it in my zeale, when I have accomplished my wrath in them.

14 Moreover, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reprove and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations, that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord have spoken it.

16 When I shall send vpon them the euill arrows of famine, which shall be for their destruction, and which I will send to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and will breake your staffe of bread.

17 So will I send vpon you famine, and euill beastes, and they shall spoyle thee, and pestilence and blood shall passe through thee, and I will bring the sword vpon thee: I the Lord have spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

It sheweth that Jerusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatrie, & the propheticall repentance of the remanens of the people, and their discomfite.

Gaineth the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

1 Sonne of man, Set thy face towards the mountains of Israel, and propheticke against them,

2 And say, Ye mountains of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God: thus sayeth the Lord God to the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the vallics, Beholde, I, even I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your high places: I the Lord.

3 And your altars shall be desolate, and your images of the Sonne shall be broken: and I will cast downe your layne men before your idoles.

4 And I will lay the dead carcases of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

5 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and the high places shall be laide waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shall be broken, and cease, & your images of the Sonne shall be cut in pieces, and your workes shall be abolished.

6 And the layne shall fall in the mids of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

7 Yet will I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered through the countries.

8 And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shall be in captiuitie, because I am grieved for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they shall be displeased in themselves for the euils, which they haue committed in all their abominations.

9 And they shall know that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine, that I would do this euil vnto them.

10 Thus sayeth the Lord God, I smite with thine hand, and stretch forth with thine foote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

11 He that is farre off, shall dye of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

12 Then shall ye know, that I am the Lord, when their layne men shall be among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euery high hill in all the toppes of the mountaines, and vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer swete sauer to all their idoles.

13 So will I stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the land waste, and desolate, from the wilderness vnto Dibalath in all their habitations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The end of all the kinde of Israel shall suddenly come.

Moreover the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An end is come vnto the land of Israel: the end is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come vpon thee, and I will send my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy wayes vpon thee: and thine abomination shall bee in the middes of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

5 Thus sayeth the Lord God, I Behold, one euil, when one euil is come.

6 An end is come, the end is come, it is watched for thee: behold, it is come.

7 The morning is come vnto thee, the dewelleth in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the founding againe of the mountaines.

8 Now I will shortly poure out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie, but I will lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shall be in the middes of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gonewith, the rod flourisheth: prike hath budded.

11 Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednesse: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neyther shall there be lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the buyer reioyce, nor let him that selleth, & mourn:

They shall be ashamed to see that their hope in idoles was but vaine, and so shall repeat.

By these signes he would that the Prophet should signifie the great destruction to come.

That is, all nations when you shall see my signemen.

Chap. 5. 14. Some reader, more desolate than the wilderness of Dibalath, which was in Syria and betwixt vnto Israel, for from the wilderness, which was South vnto Dibalath, which was North: meaning, y whole country.

I will punish thee as thou hast deferred to mine idolatrie.

Behold, euil cometh, and he the which that the iudgement of God shall watch to destroy the sinners, which notwithstand he delayeth till he delayeth till there be no more hope of repentance.

The beginning of his punishment is already come.

Which was a voyce of ioy, and mirth.

The scourge is in a readinesse.

That is, the proud tyrant: Nebuchadnezar hath gathered his force & is ready.

This euil came shall be a sharpe scourge for their wickednesse.

In thine own affliction shalt thou see that they shall haue no comfort, lament for euill.

For the patient profite.

For he shall lose nothing.

In the year of the jubile, meaning that none should enjoy the privilege of the law, Leviticus 25:10. For they could all be carried away captives.

This vision signified, that all should be carried away, and none should return for the jubile.

No man for all this, indevoutness himselfe, or take heart to repent for his evil life. Some reads, for none should be strengthened in his iniquity.

Meaning, that they should gaine nothing by flattering themselves in evil.

The Israelites made a brag, but their hearts falsified them.

Which signifies, that they should be bound and led away captives.

That is, of sinners that deserve death.

Which was the Temple, that was divided into three parts, Psalm 62:35.

mourne for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

For he that selleth, shall not returne to that which is sold, although they were yet alive: for the vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, and they returned not, neither doeth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

They haue blowne the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

The sword is without, and the pestilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field, shall die with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall devour him.

But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountains, like the doves of the valleys: all they shall mourne, every one for his iniquitie.

All hands shall be weake, and all knees shall fall away: water.

They shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall vpon all faces, & baldnes vpon their heads.

They shall cast their silver in the streets, and their gold shall be cast fare off: their silver and their gold cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfie their foules, neither fill their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie.

He had also set the beautie of his ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore have I set it farre from them.

I will giue it into the handes of the strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it.

Make a chaine: for the land is full of the iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of crueltie.

Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mighty to cease, and their holy places shall be defiled.

When destruction cometh, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall bee vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Law shall perish from the Priest, and counsel from the Ancient.

The King shall mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people in the land shall be troubled: I will doe vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

An apparition of the similitude of God, & Ezekiel is brought to Jerusalem in the spirit. & The Lord sheweth the Temples idolatries of the house of Israel.

And in the sixth year, in the sixth month, and in the fifth day of the month, as I sat in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sat before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of fire, to looke to, from his loynes downward, & from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, & like vnto amber.

And he stretched out the likenesse of an hand, and tooke me by an haire locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee by a Diuine vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner gate that lieth toward the North, where I remembred the idole of indignation, which prouoked indignation.

And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was as there according to the vision, that I saw in the field.

Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward, at the gate of the altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie.

He sayd furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel commit, teth here to cause me to depart from my Sanctuary: but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

And he said vnto me, Go in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

So I went in, and saw, and behold, there was euery similitude of creeping things, and of abominable beasts, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

And there stood before them fourie men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stood Iazaniah, the sone of Shaphan, with euery man his censor in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like a cloude.

Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his agerie? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

Againe he sayd also vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

And he caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and behold, there sat women mourning for O Tammuz.

Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lords house, and beholde, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betwene the porch and the altar were about foue and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne, toward the East.

Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke me: and loe, they haue cast out of stinke before their noses.

Therefore will I also execute my wrath betwene them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The distribution of the citie. 2 They that shall stand, are marked. 3 A complaining of the Prophet for the affliction of the people.

HE cried also with a loud voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the citie draw neere, and every man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

3 And behold, fixe * men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the North, and every man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers inke-horne by his side, and they went in, and flood beside the brazen altar.

3 And the glorie of the God of Israel was gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon he was, and flood on the floor of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers inke-horne by his side.

4 And the Lord sayd vnto him, Goe thorow the mids of the citie, even thorow the mids of Ierusalem, and sette a marke vpon the foreheads of them that be moune, and cite for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goeye after him thorow the citie, and limate: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitié.

6 Destroy viterly the olde, and the yong, and the maids, and the children, and the women, I ut touch no man vpon whome is the g marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the ancient men, which were before the house.

7 And he sayd vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the flaine, then goe forth: and they went out, and slew them in the citie.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fel downe vpon my face, and cried, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then sayd he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 Astouching me also, mine eye shall not spare them: neither will I haue pity, but will recompense their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linnen which had the inke-horne by his side, made reuerence, and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the manner that hee tooke for burning coales out of the middle of the wheels of the Cherubims. 2 A reuerent fall of the vision of the wheels, of the beasts, and of the Cherubims.

And as I looked, behold, in the firmament that was aboue the head of the Cherubims there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.

2 And hee spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and said, Go in between the wheelcs, even vnder the Cherub, & fill thine hands with coales of fire from between the Cherubims, and scatter them out vnder the city. And he went in in my sight.

3 Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord went vp from the Cherub, & flood out of the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glorie.

5 And the sound of the Cherubims wingcs was heard into the viter court, as the voice of the Almighty God, when he spe keth.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betwene the wheelcs, & from betwene the Cherubims, then he went in, and flood beside the whele.

7 And one Cherub stretched fourth his hand from betwene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betwene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen, who tooke it, and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, behold, foure wheelcs were beside the Cherubims, one whele by one Cherub, and another whele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheelcs was as the colour of a Chrysolite stone.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one whele had bene in another whele.

11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went.

12 And their whole bodie, and their finges, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheelcs were full of eyes round about, even in the same foure wheelcs.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheelcs in mine hearing, saying, O wheelcs.

14 And euery braff had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, & the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: * this is the beast that I saw at the river Chebar.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheelcs went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheelcs also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims flood, they flood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted then flues vp also: for the spirit of the beast was in them.

18 * Then the glorie of the Lord departed from about the doore of the house, and flood vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheelcs also were beside them, and euery one flood at the entrie of the gate of the Lordes House at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

20 * This is the beast that I saw vnder the God of Israel by the river Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I saw by the river Chebar, and goe fourth: they shall digge through the wall to carry out thereby: he shall couer his face, that hee see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon d him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward euery winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his gari- sons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreies.

16 But I will leaue a little number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abomi- nations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

17 Moreover, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

18 Some of man, eat thy bread with trembling, & drinke thy water w trouble, & with carefullnes, 19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusa- lem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carefullnes, and drinke their water with defolation: for the land shall bee defolate from her abundance, because of the cruelty of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall bee left void, and the land shall bee defolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 And the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged, and all visions I saye?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus sayth the Lord God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vie it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall be any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and wil per- forme it, saith the Lord God.

26 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is for many dayes to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, All my wordes shall no longer be de- layed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The wordes of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the wayes of their owne hearts.

And the worde of the Lorde came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie aganist the pro- phets of Israel, that prophesie, and say thou vnto them, that prophesie out of their owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish prophets that followeth their owne spirit, and haue scene nothing.

4 O Israel thy Prophets are like the foxes b in the waste places.

5 Ye haue not risen vp in the gaps, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, so stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue scene vanity, and lying diuina- tion, saying, The Lord sayth so, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their pro- phesie.

7 Haue ye not scene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? d ye say, The Lord sayth it, albeic I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because ye haue spoken vanity & haue scene lies, therefore behold, I am agaynst you, sayth the Lord God.

9 And mine hand shall be vpon the Prophets that see vanity, and diuine lyes: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the e writing of the house of Israel, nei- ther shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceived my people, saying, Peace, & there was no peace: and one built vp a wall, and behold, the others daubed it with vntempered mortar, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered mortar, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great shewre, and I will send hayle stones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it.

12 Lot, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be sayd vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I will cause a stormy wind to breake forth in my wrath, and a great shewre shall be in mine anger, & hail- stones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wal that ye haue daubed with vntempered mortar, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the mids thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered mortar, and will I say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof.

16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which pro- phesie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face a- gainst the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou aganist them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the woman that sowe i pillows vnder allarme holes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will ye hunt the soules of my people, and will ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handiuls of barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and to giue life to the soules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God, Be- hold, I will haue to doe with your pillows, wher- with CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Ierusalem.
1. In his multitude. 2. In his iustice to the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 3. The cause of his abominations, into which the Sennam fall.
4. Mercy is promised to the repentant.

Gainc the word of the Lord came vnto me,

A saying,
1 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations.

2 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ie-rusalem, Thine habitation and thy kindred is of the land of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

3 And in thy nativity when thou wast borne, thy navel was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with litch, nor swaddled in cloutes.

4 None eyepitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out into the open field to the contempt of thy perion in the day that thou wast borne.

5 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt live:
euen when thou wast in thy blood, I sayde vnto thee, Thou shalt live.

6 I haue caused thee to multiplie as the bud of the field, & thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine haire is grown, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

7 Nowe when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spread my skirts ouer thee, & covered thy filthinesse: yea, Iware vnto thee, & entered into a couenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

8 Then washed I thee with water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oyle.

9 I clothed thee also with broidred worke, & thod thee with badgers skin: & I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I couered thee with silke.

10 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

11 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and caring in thine cares, and a beautiful crowne vpon thine head.

12 Thus wast thou decked with gold and siluer, and thy raiment was of fine linnen, and silke, and broyded worke: thou diddest eat fine flour, and hony and oyle, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou diddest growe vnto a kingdome.

13 And thy name was spread among heathen for thy beauty: for it wasperth through my beauty which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

14 Nowe thou diddest trust in thine owne beauty, & playedst the harlot, because of thy re-nowme, and hast powred out thy fornications vpon every one that passed by thy doore was to him.

15 And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckedst thine hie places with diuers colours, and I laydest the harlot thereson: the like things shal not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and madest to thy selfe images of men, and didst commit whoredome with them.

18 And tookest thy broidred garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meate also, which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oyle, and hony, wherewith I fed thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour:
thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Moreover thou hast taken thy formes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them: to be devoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slain my childre, & deliuered them to cause them to passe through fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whore-domes thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednes (woe, woe vnto thee, saith the Lord God)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery streete.

25 Thou hast built thine hie place euery corner of the way, and hast made thy beatic to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that passed by, & multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast increased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

27 Beholde, therefore did I stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and will diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, vnto the daughters of the Philistines, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreover multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldee, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 Howe weak is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a presumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery streete, and hast not bene as an harlot that despiseth reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband.

33 They giue gifts to all other whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto all thy louers, and rewarddest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, nei her the like fornication shall be after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the worde of the Lord,

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy name was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers,

Thou hast con-uered my vessels and instruments, which I gaue thee
to know me with,
to the vie of thine
idols.

And

More fruit, & be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to die? all the leaues of her bud that wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Beholde, it was planted, but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me saying,

12 Say now to this rebellious house, Know ye not, what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken ^{the} the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel.

13 And hath taken ^{one} of the kings seede, and made a covenant with him, & hath taken ^{an} an oath of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land, that The kingdome might be in subjection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their covenant, and stand to it.

14 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadors into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape, that doeth such things? or shall he breake the covenant, and be deliuered?

15 As I live, saith the Lord God, hee shall die in the mids of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him king, whose oath hee despised, and whose covenant ^{he} hee despised with him, hee breake.

16 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mighty host, and great multitude of people, mainteine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

17 For he hath despised the oath, & broken the covenant (yet lo, he had giuen ⁱⁿ his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

18 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, As I live, I will surely bring mine oath that he hath despised, and my covenant that he hath broken vpon his owne head.

19 * And I will spread my net vpon him, & he shall be taken in my net; & I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespasses that he hath committed against me.

20 And all that see from him with all his host, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shall be scattered toward all the windes: and yee shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

21 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the top of this cedar, and will set it, and cut off the top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an high mountaine and great.

22 * ^{See} In the high mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughs and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birdes, and euery foule shall dwell in the shadowe of the branches thereof.

23 And all the trees of the field shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the high tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, & made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

CHAP. XVIIII.

18 He sheweth that euer man shall beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that commandeth, & saluation promised. 24 Death is promised to the sinners, which haue forsaken the law of the Lord.

The word of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

2 What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe concerning the land of Israel, saying, * The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I live, saith the Lord God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Beholde, all foules are mine, both the foule of the father, and also the foule of the sonne are mine: the foule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawfull, and right,

6 And hath not eaten vpon the mountains, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of Israel, neither hath ^{he} defiled his neighbors wife, neither hath ^{he} lien with a ^{man} manstrous woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his detourer: he that hath spoiled none by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen sooth vpon ^{his} vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawn his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betwene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truly, he is iust, he shall surely live, saith the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is a thiefe, or a sweader of blood, if he do any one of these things,

11 Though he doe not all these things, but cyther hath eaten vpon the mountaine, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needy, or hath spoiled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen forth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall hee live: he shall not live: seeing he hath done all these abominations, & he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which hee hath done, and seareth, neither doth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaine, neither hath lift vp his eyes to idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoiled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawn his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsury, nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shall surely live.

18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed and spoiled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, because he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yea say ye, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely live.

20 * The same soule that soneth shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteous of the righteous shall live.

The people were murmured at the sayings of the Lord, and therefore vied this prouerbe, meaning that their fathers had sinned, and their children were punished for their transgressions, as Iere, 31.29.

If he hath not eaten of the flesh that hath bene offered vnto idoles, to honour them thereby, ^{Leuit. 18.30.} ^{1st Cor. 10.18.} ^{Leuit. 24.16.} ^{1st Cor. 7.21.} ^{2nd Cor. 12.21.} ^{1st Cor. 10.28.} ^{1st Cor. 12.21.} ^{1st Cor. 12.21.}

be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his finnes that he hath committed, and keepe all my statutes, and doe that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be mentioned vnto him, for in his righteousness that he hath done, he shall live.

23 I Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, faith the Lord God? for shall he not live, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousness, & commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall he live? all his righteousnesses that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal: heare now, O house of Israel, Is not my way equal? or are not your wayes unequal?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, he shall even die for the same, he shall even die for his iniquitie, that he hath done.

27 Again when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he shall faue his soule alive.

28 Because hee considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely live and shall not die.

29 And faith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equal. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equal? or are not your wayes unequal?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his wayes, saith the Lord God: returne therefore and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make you a new heart, and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dyeth, faith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and live ye.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The captiuitie of the Kings of Iudah signified by the Lyons whelps, and by the lyon. In the propriety of the cite of Ierusalem that is spelt, and the manner thereof that is written.

2 Thou shalt take vpa lamentation for the princes of Israel,

3 And say, Wherefore lay thy mother as a lyoness among the lyons? (hee nourished her young ones among the lyons whelps,

4 And the brought vp one of her whelps, and it became a lyon, and it learned to catch the pray, and it deuoured men,

5 The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nettes, and they brought him in chains vnto the land of Egypt.

6 Nowe when hee sawe, that at the hand waited and her hope was lost, hee tooke another of her whelps, and made him a lyon.

7 Which went among the lyons, and became a lyon, and learned to catch the pray, and he deuoured men.

8 And he knew their widowes, & he destroyed

ed their cities, and the lands was wasted, and all that was therein by the noise of his roaring.

9 Then the nations fell against him on every side of the countreys, and laid their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

10 And they put him in prison and in chains, and brought him to the King of Babel, and they put him in holdes, that his voyce should no more be heard vpon the mountains of Israel.

11 Thy mother as like a vine in thy blood planted by the waters: she brought forth mistle and branches by the abundant waters, 12 And she had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, and shee appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

13 But she was plucked vp in wrath: she was cast down to the ground, & the East wind dried vp her fruit: her branches were broken, & withered: as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it.

14 And now she is planted in the wilderness in a drie and thirle ground.

15 And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruit, so that hee hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is lamentation, and shall be for a lamentation.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Lord denieth that he will answere them when they pray, because of their wickednes. 23 He promitteth that his people shall returne from captiuitie. 24 By the first that shall be burnt in signified the burning of Ierusalem.

And in the seventh yeere, in the fifth month, the tenth day of the month, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and saie before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I live, faith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answer you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them that cause them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and I lift vp mine hand vnto the seede of the house of Iacob, and made my selfe known vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and said, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had provided for them, so wing with milke & hony, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let every man call away the abominations of his eyes, and defile not your felues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, & would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to pouere out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the mids of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe known vnto them in bring ing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Nowe I caried them out of the land of Egypt and brought them into the wilderness.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, * which if a man doe, he shall liue in them.

12 Moreover I gaue them also my * Sabbaths to be a signe betwene me & them, that they might know that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man do, he shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them * in the wilderness to consume them.

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheless, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and honie, which was pleasant about all lands.

16 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuertheless, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wilderness, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your fathers, neither obserue their manners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and do them;

20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be signe betwene me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to do them, which if any man doe, he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Neuertheless, I withdrew mine hand and had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countries.

24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not lue.

26 And I polluted them in their owne gifts in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the ende that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grievously transgressed against me.

28 For when I had brought them into the lande, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saue euery hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and these they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings. 2: 28

29 Then I said vnto them, What is the hie place wherunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called * Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the manner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answer you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will not answer you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that be done that commeth into your minde: for ye say, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood and stone. 2: 32

33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, & with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I will bring you into * the wilderness of the people, & there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so wil I plead with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the covenant.

38 And I will chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgreife against me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, * Goe you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, even in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land, serue me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweete sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remember your wayes, and all your works, wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils that ye haue committed.

44 And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel.

o Which signifieth as his place, declaring that they sinned themselves of their idolatry, and were not ashamed thereof, though God had commanded them expressly, that they should have no other lifted up on his by statues, Exa. 23. 24. 45 ¶ Moreover, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy sword toward the South, & prophesie toward the forest of the field of the South,

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the y greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continual flame shall not be quenched, and euery face from the South to the North shall be burnt therein:

48 And all flesh shall see, that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it shall not bee quenched. Then said I, Ah Lord God, they say of me, Doeth not he speake so parables?

CHAP. XXI.

He word of the Lord came to me again saying, 2 Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, & drop thy sword toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel.

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, and will draw my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sword goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North,

5 That all flesh may know that I the Lord haue drawn my sword out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more.

6 Moume therefore thou sonne of man, as in the payne of thy reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mourne thou? then answere, Because of the brute: for it cometh, and euery heart shall melt, and all hands shall be weak, and all mindes shall faint, and all knees shall fall away, as water: behold, it cometh, and shall be done, saith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, say, A sword, a sword both sharpe and fourblinded.

10 It is hapned to make a sore slaughter, and it is fourblinded that it may glitter: how shall we reioyce for it? it concerneth the rod of my sonne, as all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be fourblinded, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe, & is fourblinded, that he may giue it into the hand of a slaier.

12 Cry, and howle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the princes of Israel: the terrors of the sword shall be vpon my people: I smite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a trial, and what shall this be, if the sword condemne euen the rodde? it shall bee no more, sayth the Lord God.

14 Therefore, sonne of man, prophesie, and smite with hand to hand, and let the sword bee doubled: let the sword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter.

entering into their priue chambers,

15 I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah, it is made bright, and it is dredded for the slaughter.

16 Get thee alone: goe to the right hand, or get thy selfe to the left hand, whither soeuer thy face turneth.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, & will cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee two wayes, that the sword of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one land, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and p to Ierusalem the strong citie.

21 And the King of Babel flood at the y parsing of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrows bright: he consulted with idoles, and looked in the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with shouting, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, as to build a fortreffe.

23 And it shall be vnto them as a false diuination in their sight for the oebes made vnto them: but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquitie to be remembered in discouraging your rebellion, that in all your works your finnes might appeare: because I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an ende, 26 Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the diademe, and take off the crowne: this shall be no more the same: I will exalt the humble, and will abase him that is high.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall bee no more vntill hee come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou sonne of man, prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord God to the childre of Ammon, and to their blasphemy say thou, say, The sword of Gilead is drawn forth, and fourblinded to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering.

29 Whiles they see a vanitie vnto thee, and prophesied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come, when their iniquitie shall haue an ende.

30 Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, & in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will poure out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blowe against thee in the fire of my wrath, & deliuer thee into the hand of beauly men, and skillfull to destroy.

32 Thou shalt bee in the fire to bee deuoured: thy blood shall be in the middes of the land, and thou shalt be no more remembered: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

3 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou be iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

4 Then say, Thus saith the Lorde God, The citie that hath blood in the middes of it, that her blime may come, and maketh idoles against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

5 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, & hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy daies to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

6 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in name and fore in affliction.

7 Beholde, the princes of Israel euerie one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

8 In thee haue they defiled father and mother: in the middes of thee haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

9 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

10 In thee are men that carie tales to shed blood: in thee are they that cate vpon the mountaines: in the middes of thee they commit abomination.

11 In thee haue they discovered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

12 And euery one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euerie one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

13 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken vniurie and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

14 Beholde, therefore I haue smitten mine hands vpon thy countenances, that thou hast vied, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee.

15 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lorde haue spoken it, and will doe it.

16 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy blisshinesse to cease from thee.

17 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, & thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

18 ¶ And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

19 Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as dross: all they are brasie, and tinne, and yron, and lead in the middes of the furnace: they are as the dross of flur.

20 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, Because ye are all as dross, beholde, therefore I will gather you in the middes of Ierusalem.

21 As they gather silver and brasie, and yron, and lead, and tinne into the middes of the furnace, to blow the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there: and melt you.

22 I will gather you, I say, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall be melted in the middes thereof.

23 As siluer is melted in the middes of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the middes thereof, and yet shall know that I the Lorde haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

24 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

25 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land, that is vnclene, and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

26 There is a conspiracie of her prophets in the middes thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the middes thereof.

27 Her Priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holie things: they haue put no difference betwene the holy and profane, neither discerned betwene the vnclene and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

28 Her princes in the middes thereof are like wolues, rauening the pray, to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

29 And her prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered mortar, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

30 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoiling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needie: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

31 And I thought for a man among them, that should make vp the hedge, and stand in the gap before me in the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

32 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue Irendred vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

C H A P. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Abolihah.

The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother.

3 And they committed fornication in b Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teates of their virginities.

4 And the names of them were Aholah the elder, & Abolihah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Abolihah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot: when she was mine, and she was for on fire with her louers, so was, with the Assyrians her neighbours.

6 Which were clothed with blew silk, bards, captaines and princes: they were all pleases: yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Ebr, vnder me. 8 When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsake God, and put their trust in the Assyrians.

I Meaning hereby that the godly should be tried, and the wicked destroyed.

m Thou art like a barren land, which the Lord plougheth with drought.

n The false prophets haue conspired together to make their doctrine more probable.

o They haue perjured my statute.

p Mich. 3. 11. Eph. 4. 3.

p They which should haue reformed them, flattered them in their vices and couered their doings with lies, Chap. 13. 10.

q Which would shew himselfe zealous in my cause by reffling vice, Isa. 59. 16. 8. 49. and also pray vnto me to withhold my plagues, Psal. 106. 25.

a Meaning, Israel and Iudah, which came both out of one familie.

b They became idolaters after the manner of the Egyptians.

c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in her selfe, meaning Samaria, in which was the royal citie of Israel: and Abolihah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby I meant Ierusalem where God dwelleth.

7 Thus she committed her whoredome with them, even with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whom she doctol, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they * lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginite, and powdered her whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I delinere her into the hands of her louers, even into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 Thus she discovered her shame: they tooke away her finnes & her daughters, & flew her with the sword, and she had an evil name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah saw this, she married her selfe with inordinate loue, more then she, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 She doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers suites, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant yong men.

13 Then I saw that shee was defiled, and that they were both after one sort.

14 And that she increased her fornications: for when she saw men * painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with diadems vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their natiuitie)

16 As soon as I saw, as she saw them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them, into Caldea.

17 Nowe when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discovered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredome more, & called to remembrance y daies of her youth wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For she doted vpon their seruants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednesse of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, * Pecked, and Shosh, and Kos, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horses.

24 Euē these shall come against thee with charres, waggones, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, * which shall set against thee buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall cary away thy finnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to come from thee and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more. 28

28 For this faith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them, whom thou hatest: even into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications I shall discover, both thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her a cup into thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drink of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with drunkennes and sorow, even with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Sodom.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dragger, and thou shalt breake the shards thereof, and tear thine owne breasts: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreover vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they have played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their finnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their meate.

38 Moreover, thus haue they done vnto mee: they haue defiled my Sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had flaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the mids of mine house.

40 And howe much more is it that they sent for men to come from P satre vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whom thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments, 41 And fastest a vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of Sab from the wilderness, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautiful crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I saide vnto her that was olde in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an end.

CHAP. XXIII.

In breuith the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a sleeping pot. 16 The parable of Ierusalem is here being diu.

Gain in the 9th yere, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the 9th month, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

1 Some of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

4 Gather the 4 pieces thereof into it, even euery good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and flurne also to the bones vnder it, and make it boyle wel, and seeth the bones of it therein.

6 Because the Lord God sayth thus, Woe to the bloody citie, even to the pot, whose skumme is therein, & whose skumme is not gone out of it: bring it outspiece by piece: let no flout fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: shee set it vpon an high rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to couer it with dust.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: even I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be couered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Woe to the bloody city, for I will make it burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it empty vpon the coales thereof, that the braffe of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skumme of it may be consumed.

12 She hath wearied herselfe with lyes, and her great skumme went outour of her: therefore her skumme shall be consumed with fire.

13 Thus remainst in thy filthinesse and wickednesse: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 The Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent according to thy saying: for I haue sent my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thy wayes, & according to thy workes shall they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Also the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

16 Some of man, beholde, I take away from thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weep, neither shalt thy teares runne downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shoes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, & eate & not the bread of men.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife dyed: and I did in the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane towards thee that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I will pollute my Sanctuary, even the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And yee shall doe as I haue done: yee shall not couer your lippes, neither shall yee eate the bread of men.

23 And your tire, shall be vpon your head, and your shoes vpon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weep, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall doe: & when this cometh, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, & ioy of their honor, & pleasure of their eyes, & the desire of their heart, their sonnes & their daughters, 26 That hee that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which hee hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, & be no more dumme, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioiced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea, and the Philistines.

The word of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophetic against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saydest, Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, & make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruit, and they shall drinke thy milke.

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepecote, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus sayth the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, & stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to bee destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, beholde, I will open the side of Moab, even of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth idhmoth, Baal-meon, and Kariathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations, 11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, & they shall do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistines haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselves with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistines, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

He prophesieth that Tyru shall be overthrown because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wounding and affliction of the merchants for the destruction of Tyru.

And in the eleuenth yeere in the first day of the month, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

1 Sonne of man, because that Tyru hath sayd against Ierusalem, Aha, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing the is desolate: I shall be replenished,

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, beholde, I come against thee, O Tyru, and I will bring vpon many visions against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the wallles of Tyru, and breake down her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, & make her like the top of a rock,

5 Thou shalt bee for the spreading of nettles in the midst of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoyلة to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field, shall be flaine by the sword, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyru Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of Kings from the North, with horses and with charrets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, & lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engines of warre before him against thy wallles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy wallles shall shake at the noyse of the horsemen, and of the wheelles, and of the charrets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hooues of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streetes: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy wallles, and destroy thy pleasant bowles, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the midst of the water.

13 Thus will I cause the founde of thy song to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rock: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyru, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall? & at the crye of the wounded, when they shall be flaine and murdered in the midst of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones, they shall lay away their robes, and put off their brodered garments, and shall clothe themselves with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground and be astonied at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, Howe art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renowned citie which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunte therein!

18 Now shall the yles be astonied in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, when I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people of folde time, and shall set thee in the lower parts of the earth, like the olde ruins, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shewe my glory in the lande of the liuing, 21 I will shew thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the 4 seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel caused his armie to serue a great seruice against Tyrrus: euery head was made balde, and euery shoullder was made bare: yet had hee no wages: nor his armie for Tyrrus, for the seruice that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her praye, and it shall bee the wages for his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that he serued against it, because they wrought for me, sayth the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to grow, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the middes of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

1 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howle and cry, Wo be vnto this day.

2 For the day is neere, & the day of the Lorde is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shall bee the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall bee in Ethiopia, when the flaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe.

5 Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, & Cub, & the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus sayth the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towne of Seuench shall they fall by the sword, sayth the Lord God.

7 And they shall bee desolate in the mids of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall bee in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lorde, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall bee destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers goe forth from mee in ships, to make the carelesse Mores ashyde, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it cometh.

10 Thus sayth the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For hee and his people with him, euen the tribulations shall bee brought to clefstroy the land: and they shall draw their swordes against Egypt, and fill the land with the flaine.

13 And I will make the riuers dry, and sell the land into the hands of the wicked, & I will make the land waste, and all that therein is, by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus sayth the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of Noph, and there shall bee no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Patrohs desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of y No.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorow, and No shall bee destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorowes dayly.

17 The strong men of Auen, and of Phi-feth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall goe into captiuitie.

18 At I chaphehes the day shall restraine his light, when I shall breake therethe gates of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloud shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuench day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and lo, it shall not be bound vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roulet to binde it, and so make it strong to holde the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will breake his arme that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them: thorow the countrey.

24 And I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and put my sword in his hande, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shall cast out fightings, as the fightings of him, that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countreys, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians, 10 His prosperitie is like destruction to them both.

And in the eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth and in the first day of the moneth the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatnesse?

3 Beholde, Assyria was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very high, and his top was among the thicke boughes.

b Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the King of the Assyrians whom the Babylonians cutt downe.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on hisie with her riuers running round about his places, and set out her little riuers vnto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted about all the trees of the field, and his loughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the fowles of the heauen made their nestes in his loughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the field bring forth their young, and vnder his shadow dwelt all nighty nations.

7 Thus was hee faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was nre great waters.

d Signifying, that there was no greater power in the world then his was.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no fire tree was like his branches, and the chefnut trees were not like his loughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God enuied him.

For, how well is it so.

10 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Because the is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppes among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, e Thus is, of Nabuchadnezzar, who after was the monarch and onely ruler of the world.

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

f Thus by the signification of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, and the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountains, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the iuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the fowles of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the field shalbe vpon his branches, 14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoot vp their toppes among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stande vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that rage downe to the pit.

g The deepe waters that enuied him to moue so her meaning his great abundance as a pomphall now lament as though they were covered with sack cloth.

15 Thus sayth the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hel, I caused them to mourne, and I scoured the deepe for him, and I did restraîne the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

h To cause this destruction of the King of Assyria to be a more horrible, he ferreteth forth other kings and princes which are dead, as though they reioyced at the fall of such a tyrant.

16 I made the nations to shake at the found of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

i Meneanng that Pharaone power was nothing so great as his was, & made Cap.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadowe in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom art thou thus like in glorie and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt bee cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the trees that are cut downe, and with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaone and all his multitude, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaone king of Egypt. In the propheticke that destruction shall come vnto Egypt & also the king of Babylon.

And in the twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Some of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaone king of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a Lyon of the nations, and art as a Iordan in the sea: thou castest out thy riuers, and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and stampedst in their riuers.

4 Thus sayth the Lord God, I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

5 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I will cause all the fowles of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all the beasts of the field with thee,

6 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountains, and fill the valleys with thine height.

7 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou swimmest, euen to the mountains, and the riuers shall be full of thee.

8 And when I shall put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darker: I will couer the Sunne with a cloude, and the Moone shall not giue her light.

9 All the lights of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring darkness vpon thy land, sayth the Lord God.

10 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreys which thou hast not knowne.

11 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shall be astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

12 For thus sayth the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

13 By the swordes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, & they shall destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

14 I will destroy also all beasts thereof from the great water-sides, neither shall the foete of man trouble them any more, nor the hooves of beast trouble them.

15 Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their iuers to runne like oyle, sayth the Lord God.

16 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, & the countrey with all that is therein, shall be laid waste: when I shall smite all that which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

17 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

⁶ The office of the watchman and his duties. 19 He strengtheneth them that feare the Lord, and beloueth them that are promised of mercie, 30 The word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

A Gaine, the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man] from among them, and make him their watchman,

3 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shalbe vpon his own head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not bee admonished: therefore his blood shalbe vpon him: but he that receiueith warning, shall saue his life,

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sword come and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my mouth, & admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou shalt deliuer thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus ye speake and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes be vpon vs, and we are consumed because of them, how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The righteousnesse of the righteous shal not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednes of the wicked shal cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednes, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousness in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousness, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousness, shall be no more remembered, but for his iniquity that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 A gayne, when I shall say vnto the wicked, thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sin, and do that which is lawfull & right, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that he hath committed, shall be imputed vnto him: for ye he hath done that.

that which is lawfull, & right, he shall surely live.
 17 Yet the children of thy people say, "The way of the Lord is not equal: but their owne way is vnequall."

18 When the righteous turneth from his wickednesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and do that which is lawfull and right, hee shall live thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euen one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yere of Iow captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten.

22 Now the hand of the Lord had bin vpon me in the euening afore hee that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth vntill he came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my mouth, I was no more dumb.

23 Again the worde of the Lord came vnto me, and sayd, 24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, I Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shall be giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye eate with the blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shedde blood: should ye then possesse the land?

26 Ye lean vpon your swords: ye worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God as I live, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beastes to be deuoured: and they that bee in the fortres and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste as I: the pompe of her strength shall cease: and the mountains of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe through.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue layd the land desolate and waste, because of all their abominations that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that I talke of thee by the walles & in the doores of houses, & speake one to another, euery one to his brother saying, Come, I pray you, and heere what is the world that cometh from y Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people vnto thee to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not do them: for with their mouthes they make q iesses, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

32 And lo, thou art vnto the as a lifting song of one that hath a pleasant voice, & can sing well: for they heare thy wordes, but they do them not.

33 And when this cometh to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Against the shepherds that despoile the flocke of Christ, and make them to wander. 2 The Lord sayeth that he will write his shepherds flock, and gather them together. 3 He promyseth the true shepherds of Christ, and with him peace.

And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man prophetic against the shepherds of Israel, prophetic and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God vnto the shepherds, "Wo be vnto the shepherds of Israel, that feed themselves: should not the shepherds feede the flockes?"

3 Yee eate the fat and ye clothe you with the wool: ye kill them that are fed, but yee feede not the sheepe.

4 The weakke haue you not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue yee bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue yee sought that which was lost, but with cruelty, and with rigor haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepherd: and when they were disperfed, they were deuoured of all the beastes of the field.

6 My sheepe wandred through all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered through all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepherds, heare the worde of the Lord.

8 As I live, sayeth the Lorde God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beastes of the field, hauing no shepherd, neither did my shepherds seeke my sheepe, but the shepherds fedde themselves, and fedde not my sheepe, 9 Therefore, heare ye the worde of the Lord, O ye shepherds.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepherds, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepherds feed themselves any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepherd searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bin among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe and will deliuer them out of all places where they haue bene scattered in the cloudie and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the country.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, & vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, & in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will bind vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weakke, but I will destroy the fat and the strong, and I will feede them with iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, beholde, I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good pasture, but ye must treade down with your feete the residue of your pasture haue troubled with your feet.

peace, and will cause the euil beastes to cease out of the land: and they shall dwell safely in the wildernes, and sleepe in the woods.

raine of blessing.

fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruit, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, & deliuered them out of the hands of those that trauersed them of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land deu-oure them, but they shall dwell safely and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a plant of re-noue, and they shall be no more consumed with lunger in the land, neither beare the reproche of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstande, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, onely the house of Israel, are my people, sayth the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

Moreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

1 Sonne of man, Set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it,

2 And say vnto it, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

3 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, & thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

4 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquity had an end,

5 Therefore as I liue, sayth the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall purue thee: except thou hate blood, euen blood shall purue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waite, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hills, and in thy valleys and in all thy rivers that they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shall not returne, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, These two nations, and these two countreys shall be mine, and we will possesse them (seeing the Lord was there)

11 Therefore as I liue, faith the Lord God, I will euen doe according to thy wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe known among them when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue hearde all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lye waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against me, & haue multiplied your words against me: I haue heard them.

14 Thus faith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so wil
I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

Alſo thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the mountaines of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

2 Thus faith the Lord God, because the ene-mie hath said against you, Aha, euen the *b*ie places of the world are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophesie and say, Thus faith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lips and tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people,

4 Therefore yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus faith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hills, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste, and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about:

5 Therefore thus faith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with despiteful minde to cast it out for a pray.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, Thus faith the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because yee haue suffered the shame of the heathen.

winde: prophetic, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the four^e winde, O breath, and breathe vpon these flaine, that they may liue.

19 So I prophesied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feet, an exceeding great auaie.

21 Then he said vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

22 Therefore prophetic, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israel.

23 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchres.

24 And I will put my Spirit in you, and ye shall liue, and I will place you in your owne land: then ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

25 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

Moreouer thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions.

17 And thou shalt ioyne them one to another into one tree, & they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of the people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shewe vs what thou meanest by this?

19 Thou shalt answer them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree of Ioseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellows, and will put them with him, even with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be as one in mine hand.

20 And the pieces of wood whereon thou writest, shall be in thine hand, in their sight.

21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and will gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, vpon the mountains of Israel, and one king shall be king to them all: and they shall be no more two peoples, neither be diuided any more henceforth into two kingdoms.

23 Neither shall they be polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will cleanse them: so that they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And David my ^{*} Seruant shall be king over them, and they shall haue one shephard: they shall so walk in my iudgements, and observe my statutes, and doe them.

25 And they shall dwell in the land, that I haue giuen vnto Iacob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, even they, and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant David shall be their prince for euer.

26 Moreover, I will make a covenant of peace with them: it shall be an euillassin, covenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my Sanctuary among them for euermore.

27 My tabernacle also shall be with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall knowe, that I the Lord doe sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuary shall be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

¶ The prophetie that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 28 Their destruction.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

29 Sonne of man, set thy face against a Gog and against the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophetic against him,

30 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

31 And I will destroy thee, & put hookes in thy iawes, and I will bring thee forth, and al thine host both horses, and horimen, all clothed with all sortes of armour, such a great multitude with bucklers, and shields, all handling swords.

32 They of Paras, of Cush, & Phut with them, when all they that beare shield and helmet, 33 Gomer and al his bands, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and al his bands, and much people with thee.

34 Prepare thy selfe, and make thee ready, both thou, and al thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their sargard.

35 After many dayes thou shalt be visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bene destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountains of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet if they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell al safe.

36 Thou shalt ascend and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloude to couer the land, both thou, and al thy bands, and many people with thee.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke of euill thoughts.

38 And thou shalt say, I will go vp to the land that hath no walled towres: I will go to them that are at rest, and dwell in safetie, which dwell al without walles, and haue neither banes nor gates.

39 Thinking to spoyle the pray, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattel and goods, and dwell in the mids of the land.

40 Sheba and Dedan, and the marchants of Tarsish with al the Lions thereof shall say, vnto thee, Art thou come to spoyle the pray? halt thou gathered thy multitude to take a bootie? to carry away silver and gold, to take away cattel and goods, and to spoyle a great pray?

41 Therefore, sonne of man, prophetic, and say vnto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwell in safe, shalt thou not know it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North partes, thou and much people with thee: and all ride vpon horses, men a great multitude and a mighty armie.

16 And thou shalt come against my people of Israel, as a cloude to cover the land: thou shalt bee in the latter daies, & I wil bring thee vpo my land, that the heathen may know me, when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord Goo, Art not thou he, of whome I haue spoken in olde time, by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophesied in those dayes and yeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation, and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoke it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the field, and all that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountains shall be ouerthrowen, and the hautes shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him: throughout all my mountaynes, saith the Lord God: euery mans word shall be against his brother.

22 And I will plead against him with peltence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people, that are with him: a fore raine, and hail stones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be magnified, and sanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Hee sheweth the destruction of Gog, and Magog. 11 The games of Gog in his battell. 17 They shall be deuoured of birds and beasts. 23 Wherefore the hosts of Israel in captiuitie. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

Therefore thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, and say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee: and I leaue but the first part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North partes, and will bring thee vpon the mountaynes of Israel.

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall vpon the mountaynes of Israel, and all thy bands and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds and to euery feathered fowle and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the cyles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name known in the mids of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the holy one of Israel.

Behold, it is come, & it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel shall goe forth, and shall burne and fet fire vpon the weapons, and on the shields, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staves in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seven yeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the fields, neither cut downe any out of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoyled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time wil I giue vnto Gog a place there for a buriall in Israel, in the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-Gog.

12 And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the lande shall bury them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to goe continually through the land with them that trauiell, to bury those that remaine vpon the ground, and cleanse it: they shall searche to the ende of seuen moneths.

15 And the trauellers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it: in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the cite shall be Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, Thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble you felues, & come: I gather you felues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaynes of Israel, that ye may eat flesh, and drinke blood.

18 Ye shall eat the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullocks, even of all fat beasts of Bashan.

19 And ye shall eat fat till you be full, and drinke blood, till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue laid vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shall know, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me, therefore hid I my face from them, & gaue them into the hands of their enemies: so fel they al by the sword.

24 According to their vncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

4 That is, the plague is fully terminated in a count of six changes. 5 A signification of the Church shall have great peace and tranquility, and burne all their weapons: they shall not more fear enemies: and shall chiefly mean of the accomplishment of Christs kingdom, when by their head Christ shall consume all sinners. 6 Which declares that the enemies shall have no horrible fall. 7 For the flesh of the caribees, & of the wild beasts, and of the fowls, & of the men, shall be consumed.

1 Purly that the body had should be polluted, and purly for the corruption of the children of God, even as their enemies.

17 Hamonah.

1 Wholly in equivalent the noble definition that should come vpon the enemies of the Church.

2 Meaning in the last age, and from the coming of Christ vnto the end of the world. 1 Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintaining his Church, and destroying his enemies, in Chap. 36. 13. and 37. 18. 3 Merely he declares that none affliction can come to the Church whereof they have not been advertised aforetime, to teach them to endure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath fo ordered. 4 All means whereby man should thinke to save himselfe, shall faile the affliction in those dayes shall bee great, and the enemies destroyed on shall be so terrible. 5 Against the people of Gog and Magog. 6 Chap. 36. 13. and 37. 18.

3 Or destroy thee with six plagues, in Chap. 36. 12.

4 Meaning, that by the verse of Gods word the enemies shall be destroyed wherefore he afflicteth his Church.

4 That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, when they neuer to fare saymore.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Nowe will bring againe the captiuitie of Iakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, & all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, when they dwell safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies landes, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations, 28 Then shall they knowe, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there.

29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

In the five and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lorde was vpon mee, and brought me thither.

30 Into the land of Israel brought he mee by a diuine vision, & set me vpon a very hie mountaine, wherupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South.

3 And he brought me thither, & behold, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like braffe, with a linnen thread in his hand, and a reed to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare al that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And beholde, I sawe a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of fixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the post of the gate, which was one reede broad, and the post of the gate, which was one reede broad.

7 And every chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and betweene the chambers were fixe cubites: and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 He measured also the porche of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubites, and the post thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward,

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, & three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were fixe cubites on this side, and fixe cubites on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was fixe and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 He made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, & in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes were round about with n: and vpon the postes were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pavement.

18 And the pavement was by the side of the gates out against the length of the gates, and the pavement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubites Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fixe and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looked toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seven steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood out against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that, hee brought mee toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fixe and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seven steps to goe vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and hee measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures, 29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fixe and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about were fixe and twentie cubites long, and fixe cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the vter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Again he brought me into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fiftie cubites long, and fixe and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After hee brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, 36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fixe and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the vter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And every chamber, and the entrie thereof was under the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they flew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side by the side of the gate, eight tables wher vpon they flew their sacrifice.

42 And the four tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering: of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite hie: wher vpon also they lay the instruments wherewith they flew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the fingers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and he measured the length thereof forty cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites,

3 Then went he in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie sixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seven cubites.

4 So hee measured the length thereof twenty cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites before the Temple, And he sayd vnto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, he measured the wall of the house, six cubites, and the breadth of every chamber four cubites round about the house, on every side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirty foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large and went round mounting vpward to the chambers : for the staire of the house was mounting vpward, round about the house : therefore the house was larger vpward : so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the midds.

Ver. 8. The foundations of the chambers, measuring the five cubits, was the same as the other, for the foundations were laid in like wise by a perpendicular line of plummet, &c.

Ver. 9. The chamber without was the same as the other, for the foundations were laid in like wise by a perpendicular line of plummet, &c.

Ver. 10. The chambers on the one side were distant from them on the other side as cubits, which was the breadth of the Temple.

Ver. 11. The doors of the chambers on the North side, opened toward the North V and they on the South side toward the South R for there was an alley of five cubits round about the Temple V Z, and was so closed with a wall.

Ver. 12. The building, or the great place compassed with a wall of five cubits thick, and was farther off the Temple than the alley or separate place, and this is more plainly set forth in the great figure.

Ver. 13. He declared that whatsoever was of stone work from the bottom to top, was covered with wood on the East, South, and North side.

Ver. 14. The altar V which was three cubits high V Z, and two cubits long V Z.

I saw also the house, his round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of five great cubits.

9 The thickness of the wall which was for the chamber without, was five cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And between the chambers was the width of twenty cubits round about the House on every side.

11 And the doors of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one door toward the North, and another door toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubits thick, round about, & the length nintie cubits.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was twenty cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubits thick, round about, & the length nintie cubits.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubits long, & the separate place & the building with the walls thereof were an hundred cubits long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundred cubits.

15 And he measured the length of the building, over against the separate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubits with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides over against the postes, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from above the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betwene a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about.

20 From the ground vnto above the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Temple were squared, & thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuary.

22 The altar of wood was three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubits, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the sides thereof were of wood. And he sayd vnto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, even two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes & palme trees on the one side, and on the other, by the sides of the porch, & vpon the sides of the house, and thicke planks.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, & the holy things.

Then brought hee me into the inner court by the way toward the North, and hee brought me into the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubits, was the North doore, and it was five cubits broad.

3 Over against the twenty cubits which were for the inner court, & over against the pavement, which was for the vter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubits wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Nowe the chambers about were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp the wall, the lower, and those that were in the midst of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, even from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without over against the chambers, toward the vter court on the forefront of the chambers, was five cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vter court, was five cubits: and soe before the Temple were an hundred cubits.

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thickness of the wall of the court toward the East, over against the separate place, and over against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entrie.

13 Then said he vnto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approach vnto the Lord, shall eate the most holy things: the meate offering, and the fime offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the vter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people.

15 Nowe when he had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rold, five hundred reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

17 He measured also the Northside, five hundred

Ver. 1. He brought me into the inner court by the way toward the North, and hee brought me into the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

Ver. 2. Before the length of an hundred cubits, was the North doore, and it was five cubits broad.

Ver. 3. Over against the twenty cubits which were for the inner court, & over against the pavement, which was for the vter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

Ver. 4. And before the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubits wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

Ver. 5. Nowe the chambers about were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp the wall, the lower, and those that were in the midst of the building.

Ver. 6. For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, even from the ground.

Ver. 7. And the wall that was without over against the chambers, toward the vter court on the forefront of the chambers, was five cubits long.

Ver. 8. For the length of the chambers that were in the vter court, was five cubits: and soe before the Temple were an hundred cubits.

Ver. 9. And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

Ver. 10. The chambers were in the thickness of the wall of the court toward the East, over against the separate place, and over against the building.

Ver. 11. And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

Ver. 12. And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entrie.

Ver. 13. Then said he vnto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approach vnto the Lord, shall eate the most holy things: the meate offering, and the fime offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

Ver. 14. When the Priests enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the vter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people.

Ver. 15. Nowe when he had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

Ver. 16. He measured the East side with the measuring rold, five hundred reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

Ver. 17. He measured also the Northside, five hundred dreth reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

18 And he measured the South ffide five hundredth reedes with the measuring reede.

19 He turned about $41/2$ to the West side, and measured five hundredth reedes with the measuring reede.

20 He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, five hund'reth reeses long, and five hund'reth broad to make a separation between the Sanctuary, and the prophane place.

CHAPTER XLIII.

8 He sheweth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence he had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the iniquity of the children of Israel, for the which they were punished and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them again to repentance.

Afterward he brought me to the gate ~~even~~ the gate that turneth toward the East.

3 And beholde, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noife of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the vision which I saw was ^a like the vision, even as the vision that I saw ^a when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the riuer Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.

4 And the ^bglory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp and brought me into the inner court, and beholde, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house; and there stood a man by me,

7 Which layde vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, & the place of the soles of my feete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for euer, & the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeiles of ^atheir Kings in their high places.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their postes by my postes (for there ~~was but~~ a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed : wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeifes of their Kings far from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes. & let them measure the paterne.

¶ And if they be ashamed of al that they haue done, shew them the forme of the Houſe, and the pateme thereof, & the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, & the whole faſhion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their ſight, that they may keepe the whole faſhion thereof, & all the ordinances thereof, and do the.

30 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, & put it on the foure hornes of it, & on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

31 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

32 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, & a ram out of y flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before y Lorde, and the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto the Lord.

25 Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare eury day an hee goat for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish.

26 Thus shalt they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and f consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

that is among the children of Israel,

10 Neither yet the Leuites that are gone back from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from mee after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before me to serue them.

12 Because they turned before their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquity, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquity.

13 And they shall not come neere vnto me to doe the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that keepe the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, & shall come neere to my table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, & no wooll shall come vpon the while they serue in y wood of the inner court, & within.

19 But when they go forth into the vter court, as vnto the vter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments.

20 They shall not also shave their beards, nor suffer their locks to grow long, but round their heads.

21 Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither shall they take for their wives a widow, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Israel, for a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discerne betweene the vneleane & the cleane.

24 And in controversie they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabaths.

25 And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselves, except at their father, or mother, or sonne, or daughter, brother or sister, y hath had yet none husband in these way they be defiled.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shall reckon vnto him seuen dayes.

Afterward he brought mee vnto the doore of the house: and beholde, a waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house floods towards the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the Southside of the altar.

3 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and beholde, there came fourth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, & brought me through the waters : the waters were to the knees: again he measured a thousand, & brought me through the waters were to the loins.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a brimer, that I could not passe over: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a riuer that could not be passed over.

6 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brink of the river ~~were~~ very many 'trees on the one side, and on the other.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shall be theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests the Levites shall haue five and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be five and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalicate the first fruites of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the five and twentie thousand, shall be a prophane place for the cite, for housing, and for suburbs, and the cite shall be in the mids thereof.

16 And these shall be the mesures thereof, the North part five hundred and foure thousand, and the South part five hundred and foure thousand, and the East part five hundred and foure thousand, and the West part five hundred and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the cite shall be toward the North two hundred and fiftie, and toward the South two hundred and fiftie, and toward the East two hundred and fiftie, and toward the West two hundred and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shall be ten thousand Eastward, and tenne thousand Westward: and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food vnto them that serue in the cite.

19 And they that serue in the cite, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

b That is, the portion of the ground, which they shall separate and appoint to the Lord, which shall be diuided into three parts for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the cite.

* Chap. 44. 33.

c Meaning, that it should be square.

d Every way it shall be five and towards thousand.

30 All the oblation shall be five and twenty thousand with d five and twenty thousand: you shall offer this oblation four square for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the city.

31 And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other for the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the city, over against the five and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward over against the five and twenty thousand toward the West border, over against shall be for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the middes thereof.

32 Moreover, from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the city, that which is in the mids shall be the princes: between the border of Judah, and between the border of Benjamin shall be the princes.

33 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part Benjamin shall be a portion.

34 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side vnto the West side Simeon a portion.

35 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

36 And by the border of Issachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

37 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

38 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward Temath, the border shall be even from a Tamar, vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadeth, and to the river, that runneth into the maine sea.

39 This is the lande, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

40 And these are the boundes of the city, on the North side five hundredth, and four hundredth measures.

41 And the gates of the city shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, and one gate of Levi.

42 And at the East side five hundredth & four hundredth, and three gates, and one gate of Joseph, one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

43 And at the South side, five hundredth and four hundredth measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

44 At the West side, five hundredth and four hundredth, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

45 It was round about eighteen thousand measures, and the name of the city from that day shall be, The Lord is there.

e So that Judah was on the North side of the Princes portions, and Benjamin on the South side.

f The Lord is there.

DANIEL

THE ARGUMENT.

THE great providence of God, and his singular mercie towards his Church are most finely here set forth, who neuer leaues his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezechiel, and Daniel, whom hee adorned with such graces of his holy spirit, that Daniel above all other had most speciall revelations of such things as should come to the Church, even from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last ende of the world, and to the general resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of the world, so was of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romans. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreover he sheweth Christ office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring ouerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer enuoyed his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will full loose this crosse to his Church until the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdom in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

a The captain of Ierusalem King of Iudah, b The King chaseth certaine young men of the Iewes: to leaue his lawe. c They haue the Kings word appointed, d But they abstaine from it.

IN the third yeere of the reigne of Ichoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lorde gaue Iehoiakim King of Iudah into his hand, with part of the vessels of his house of God, which he caried into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, & he brought the vessels into his gods treasure.

3 And the King spake vnto Ashpenaz the master of his Banquets, that he should bring certaine of the children of Israel of the Kings seede, and of the princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well favoured, and instructed in all wisdom, and well skene in knowledge, and able to viter knowledge, & such as were able to stand in the Kings palace, and whome they might teach the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them prouision eury day of a portion of the Kings meate, and of the wine, which hee dranke, so nourishing them three yeere, that at the end thereof, they might stand before the King.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Michael and Azariah, his liberallitie: yet in this he is worthy praise, that he refused leaueing, and knewe that it was a necessitie meane to gouerne by. That they might forget their owne religion, and conuince themselves, to serue him better by purpose: yet it is not to be thought by Daniel did leaue any knowledge of godly: in all points he refused the abuse of things and dissipation, whom he would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but way conuince leaue the knowledge of newall things. That by their good conuincement they might leaue to forget the medicinenesse of their owne people. To the intent that in this time they might both learne the manners of the Chaldeans, and their tongue, & aswell to situate at the table, as in other offices.

a Babel a King. b 2. 1. & 1. 2. 5. c Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their god, and it was taken for Babylon. d Who was a master of the wardes. e He calleth them Banquets whom the King nourished and brought up to be rulers of other countries afterward. f His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shewe himselfe victorious, & also by their good intertie and learning of their religion, they might shew rather him then the Iewes, and so to be able to force him to gouernement in their land: were they by this meane the Iewes might bee better kept in subjection, beinge otherwise prone to haue their owne lawe.

g Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their god, and it was taken for Babylon.

h The Lord is there.

7 Vnto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches gave other names: for he called Daniel, Belshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Michael, Methoch, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not defile himselfe with the portion of the Kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

9 (Nowe God hath brought Daniel into fa-uour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eu-nuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if these your faces worke liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lofe mine head vnto the King.

11 Then sayd Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Michael, and Azariah,

12 Proue thy seruants, I beseech thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy ser-uants.

14 So hee consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fayrer, and in better liking then all the children, which did eate the portion of the Kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse,

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning:
and wisdom: also he gaue Daniel vnderstand-ing of all visions and dreames.

18 Nowe when the time was expired, that the king had appointed to tryng them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the King communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Michael, and Azariah: therefore stode they before the King.

20 And in all matters of wisdom, and vnder-standing that the King enquired of them, hee found them twene times better then all the inchanterers and astrologians, that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto the first yeere of King Cyrus.

22 Daniel humbly bene wanne to the King and haue refused their owne meate, and drinke had beene accorded. 23 This bene feeding and the day of fasting when he fled from the court of Egypt, declineth that we must behold in God doth call vs vnto, seeing here will make it more profitable to them all: desirous for his blessing onely sufficeth. 24 The first phet and more of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophet. 25 Of the three yeeres above mentioned verily. 26 That is, he was in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that common wealth stode.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 2 The King commandeth of the wise men of Babylon to be slain because they could not interpret his dreame. 3 Daniel required them to solve the question. 4. Daniel is brought vnto the King and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 5. Of the dreadfull kingdom of Chyl.

And in the second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed dreames wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the King commanded to call the inchanterers, and the astrologians, and the forerers, and the Chaldeans for to shew the King his dreames: so they came and stode before the King.

3 And the King sayd vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and any spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Chaldeans to the King in the Aramites language, O King, thus for euer: shew thy seruants thy dreame, and we shall shew the interpretation.

5 And the King answered & said to the Cal-deans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be drawn in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iake.

6 But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayd, Let the King shew his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered, and sayd, I know certainly that ye would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore telle me the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Chaldeans answered before the King, and said, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor Prince nor Lord that asked such things at an inchanter, or astrologian or Chaldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angry and in great furie, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 And when sentence was giuen, the wife men were slaine: and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisdom to Arioch the Kings chiefe Steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 For hee answered and saide vnto Arioch the Kings captain, why is the sentence to haue from the King? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the King that he would giue him leave, and that he would shew the King the interpretation thereof.

17 That God would not haue his seruants joyed in the company of these for-erers, and astrologers, whose artes were wicked, and therefore is slaynought to day, though the King did it vpon a rage, and no zeale. 18 The captain of the garde said, I know of a truth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of Kings, and the revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

17 ¶ Then

28 So King made Daniela a great man, & gave him many & great gifts. He made him governor over the whole province of Babel, & chief of the rulers, and about all the wife men of Babel.

29 Then Daniel made request to the King, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego over the charge of the province of Babel: but Daniel was in the first gate of the King.

30 And these three men which were grievously oppressed in the fire, their captivities were reversed, then, lest he should offend this cruel King, which willfully sought to destroy them. He did not this for their private profit, but that the whole Church might see there in affliction, might have some release and ease, by his means. Meaning that either he was a judge, or that he had the whole authority that was could be admitted to the Kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The King setteth up a golden image. 2 Certain are accused because they despise the Kings commandment, and are put into a burning furnace. 3 By which in God they are delivered from the fire. 4 Nebuchad-nezzar confesse the power of God, for the sight of the miracle.

Nebuchad-nezzar the King made an image of gold, whose height was threecore cubites, and the breadth thereof fixe cubites: he set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the province of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the judges, the receivers, the counsellors, the officers, and all the governors of the provinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set up.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the judges, the receivers, the counsellors, the officers, and all the governors of the provinces were assembled unto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set up: & they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set up.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, Be it known to you, O people, nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King hath set up.

6 And whosoever shall not downe & worshippe, shall the same houre bee cast into the middes of an hote fire furnace.

7 Therefore all those as all the people heard the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set up.

8 By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grievously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and saide to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, pluse for ever.

10 Thou O King, hast made a decree, that every man that shall heare the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dul-cimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image, 11 And whosoever shall not downe, and worshippe, that he should be cast into the middes of an hote fire furnace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set over the charge of the province of Babel, O Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, have not regarded thy commandment, neither will they serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set up.

13 Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego to these men were brought before the King.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serve my god, nor worship the golden image that I have set up?

15 Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I have made: for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediately into the middes of an hote fire furnace: for who is that God, that can deliver you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego answered and said to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we are not careful to answer thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serve, is able to deliver vs from the hote fire furnace, and hee will deliver vs out of thine hand, O King.

18 But if not, bee it knowne to thee, O King, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship thy golden image which thou hast set up.

19 Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heate the furnace at once seven times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his army, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fire furnace.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fire furnace.

22 Therefore, because the Kings commandment was straite, that the furnace should bee exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fire furnace.

24 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was affrighted and rose vp in haste, and spake, and said vnto his Counsellors, Did not we cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered and said vnto the King, It is true, O King.

25 And he answered, and said, Lo, I see four men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they have no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the forme of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fire furnace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

It seemeth, that they were not Daniel because he was greatly in the Kings favour, thinking that their three had been destroyed, they might have had better comfort to secure Daniels, and thus declare that this policy of erecting this image was invented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, who they accused of rebellion and ingratitude. Signifying, that he would receive them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree. For they should have done more to God; if they should have doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are related to die for Gods cause. They ground on two points, first on the power, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of their true religion upon which they stood, and to make open confession, that they will not consent to idolatry. I thus despise that the most that I can say, and the more written, they show themselves in innocent things and cruel punishments, the more is God glorified by their patience and constancy to abide the cruel affliction punishment: for either he delivereth him, or he delivereth not, for this life is but a breath. For the Angels were called the Sonnes of God, because of their excellent character, the King called this Angel Michael. God first to command him in his great temptations, the Son of God.

O. the

This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this furnace, till the time was appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him forth. He was moued by the greatness of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to convert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned with out the which they can be no sayth.

¶ If his heathen King moued by Gods Spirit would not see blasphemie vpon himself, but rather a lawe and see a punishment, so such transgression, much more ought all they that profess religion, to take order that such impietie might not, lest according to their knowledge and charge is greater, to they suffer double punishment.

¶ Meaning, as far as his dominion extended, p. Reade Chap. 3. 44.

¶ Another draue of Nebuchadnezzar, which Daniel describeth. 29 The Prophet declareth how a proud King bee should become a beast. 31 After hee confisseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

¶ There was no trouble that might cause mee to dreame, and therefore it came only of God.

¶ This was another dreame besides that which he sawe of the foure empires: for Daniel both declared what that dreame was, and what it meant; and here he onely expoundeth the dreame.

¶ In that that he sent abroad to others, whose ignorance in times past he had experienced, and left Daniel which was euery day at hand, to declare the nature of the vngodly, which were seekes to the seruants of God but for very necessity, and then they spake no flatterings.

¶ This no doubt was a great griefe Daniel not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idol: which thing Nebuchadnezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God.

¶ Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be numbered among the forerunners and men whose practices were wicked and contrary to Gods word. 1 By the tree, is figured the dignitie of a king, whose God is contrary to be a defence for all kinde of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind.

the seruants of the hie God, goe forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego came forth of the middes of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counteilliers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchadnezzar spake and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, and yielded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, save their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, shall be drawn in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuet after this sort.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchadnezzar King vnto all people, nations & languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, which the hie God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signes and how mightie are his wonders! P his kingdom is an euersalting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

C H A P. IIII.

¶ Another draue of Nebuchadnezzar, which Daniel describeth. 29 The Prophet declareth how a proud King bee should become a beast. 31 After hee confisseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

¶ Nebuchadnezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

1 Saw a dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughts vpon my bedde, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

2 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

3 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Chaldeans & the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but they could not shew me the interpretation thereof,

4 Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

5 O Belteshazzar, chiefe of the inchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed, And behold, I saw a tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great.

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen dwelt in the bough thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head vpon my bedde, and behold, a watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cried aloud, and said thus, Hew down the tree, & breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruit, that the beasts may flee from vnder it, and the fowles from his branches.

12 Neuertheless, leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasie bnde it among the graffe of the field, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen; and let his portion be with the beasts among the graffe of the field.

13 Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seven times be passed ouer him.

14 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may know, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomsoever he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchadnezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wisemen of my kingdom are not able to shew me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) helde his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, tell me the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mighty, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire, & the fruit thereof much, & in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beasts of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the fowles of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O King, that art great and mighty: for thy greatnesse is grown, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Where as the King sawe a watchman, and an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and Gid, Hew downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasie bnde it among the graffe of the field, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, I tell seven times passe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King, 23 That they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heaven: and seven times shall passe over thee, till thou knowe, that the most High heareth rule over the kingdome of men, and geeth it to whomsoever he will.

23 Where as they saide, that one should leaue the stump of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heuens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee: and o breake off thy sinnes by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: loe, let there be a healing of thine error.

25 All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the King spake, and saide, Is not this great Babel that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiesty?

28 While the word was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grasse, as the oxen, and seven times shall passe over thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High heareth rule over the kingdome of men, and geeth it vnto whomsoever he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driven from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till his haire was grown as egles feathers, and his nailes like birds claws.

31 And at the end of seue dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I praised and honoured him, that lieth for euer, whose power is an everlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reured as nothing: and according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto me, and my counsellers: and my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar praise, and extoll & magnifie the King of heauen, whose works are all truth, & his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abate.

C H A P. V.

¶ Belshazzar King of Babel, with an abundance on the wall, 8. The justifying of the king, cannot expand the writing, as Daniel readeth, and interpreteth also. 30 The King is Babel. 31 Daniel interpreteth the kingdome.

King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar while he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and silver vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wives, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the King and his princes, his wives and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine and praised the gods of gold, and of silver, of brasie, of yron, of wood and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlestick vpon the plaister of the wal of the Kings palace, and the king law the palm of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other.

7 ¶ Wherefore the King cried loud, that they should bring the astrologians, the Chaldeans and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and said to the wise men of Babel, Who soeuer can read this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the Kings wife men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were affonied.

10 ¶ As the Queene by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and saide, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding, and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whom the king Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians, Chaldeans, and soothsayers.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and discolued doubts) were found in him, euen in Daniel, whome the King named Belshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake and saide vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whome my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

derstanding, and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise men and Astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they should reade this writing, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, and dissolue doubt: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shew mee the interpretation thereof; thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of gold about thy necke, & shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and said before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto Nebuchad nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom he would he set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed vp, and his minde hardened in pride, he was depofed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his bodie was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till he knewe, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoeuer he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belsazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things.

23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lorde of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wives and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and golde, and brasie, yron, wood & stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is, and all thy waies, him hast thou not glorified.

24 Then was the palme of the hande sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written, M E N E, M E N E, T A R E L V P H A R, S I N.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, M E N E, God hath numbered thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 T A R E L, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found tooo light.

28 V P H A R, thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commendement of Belsazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belsazzar the King of the Caldians slaine.

31 And Darius^b of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threefoore and two yeeres olde.

CHAP. VI.

^a Daniel made rule ouer the gouernours. ^b An ell against Daniel. ^c He is put into a denne of hyen: by the commendement of the King. ^d He is deliuered by Iesus in God. ^e The which accusers are put vnto the hyen. ^f Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

1 T pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome an hundredth and twenty gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome,

2 And oueribeth, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel^b was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for hee was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then saide these men, We shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and saide thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirde dayes faue of thee, O King, hee shall be cast into the denne of Lyons.

8 Nowe, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it bee not changed according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius^d sealed the writing and the decree.

10 Nowe when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praised his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, & found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, & spake vnto the King, concerning the kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree that euery man that shall make request to any God or man within thirde dayes, faue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of Lyons? The King answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the Law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered he, and said vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the King heard these wordes, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and he laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and saide vnto the King, Vnderstande, O King, that the Lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth,

1 Before he reade the writing, hee declares to the King his great ingratitudes toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderful worke toward his grandfather. & so to shew, that he doeth not faine of ignorance, but of malice.

20 After that God had to long time deliuered his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment. 21 This word is twise written for the certeinie of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed termes for all kingdomes, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise their selues against him. 22 Cyrus his sonne to followe gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

16 ¶ Then the King commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake and saide vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruett, now he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layd vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then ¶ king went vnto his palace, & remained fasting, neither were y instruments of musike brought before him, & his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the King arose early in the morning, & went in all haste vnto the denne of lions.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cried with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel: and the king spake, and sayd to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of y Iuiung God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruett) able to deliuer thee from y lions?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lions mouths, that they haue not hurt mee: for my iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done no hurt.

23 Then was the King exceeding glad for him, & commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: fo Daniel was brought our of the denne, and no manner of hurt was found vpon him, because he beleued in his God.

24 And by the commandement of the King the me which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the denne of lions, when they, their children, and their wives: and the lions had the mallice of them, & brake at their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

25 ¶ Afterward King Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that diuel in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdom, men tremble and feare before the God of Daniel. For he is the Iuiung God, & remaineth for euer: and his kingdom shall not perish, and his dominion shall euerlast.

27 He rescueth and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

¶ The first worshipping God might or els was comented: for then he would be deliuered all superstition and idolatrie, and not onely giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue him vp, and consell him to be honored according to his merit: but this was a cereinal confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderful miracle. ¶ Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but also is a continuall life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him

2 Daniel spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the four winds of the heauen stroue vpon the great sea:

3 And four great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a lion, & had egle wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a bear, & stood vpon the one side, and had three thier in his mouth between his teeth, & they said thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a leopard, which had vpon his backe i four wings of a fowle: the beast had also four heads, and dominion was giuen him.

7 After this I saw in the visions by night, and behold, the fourth beast was fearful and terrible and very strong. It had great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feete: and it was vlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had tenne hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another litle p horne, before whom there were three of the first hornes pluckt away: and behold, in his horne were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the thrones were set vp, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheelles as burning fire.

10 A fierie stream fire, and came soorth from before him: thousand thousands ministered vnto him, an d renne thousand a thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened.

¶ After his death, Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the leffe, Cossidandrus after him Antipater was King of Macedonia, and Ptolemee had Egypt. ¶ It was not of himselfe, nor of his owne power, that hee gaue all these countries: for his armie contained but thirtie thousand men, and hee ouercame in one battell Darius, which had renne hundred thousand, when hee was to beate with sleep that his eyes were scarce open, as the stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God. ¶ That is, the Romane empire which was as a monster & could not be compared to any beast, because the name of none was able to expresse it.

¶ Signifying the tyrannie and greedinesse of the Romanes, in that which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countries, they would giue it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the red velvet the fecte. ¶ That is, sundry and diuers provinces which were governed by the deputies and proconuls, whereof euerly one might be compared to a King. ¶ Which is meant of Julius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the content of the Senate, their power is compared to a litle horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernement: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them, and also in this prophesie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the fewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist. ¶ Meaning, a ceraine portion of the people horrid that is, apart from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of choosing the deputies to sende into the provinces, and tooke the gouernement of ceraine countries to himselfe. ¶ Their Romane Emperours at the first vied a ceraine humanitie and gentleness, and were content that others, as the Consuls, and Senate, should beare the name of dignitie, in that they might haue the profect, and therefore in elections and consells would be cause themselves according as did other Senators: yet against their enemies and tholet that would resist them, they were fierce and cruel, which is here meant by the proud mouth. ¶ Meaning, the places where G and his Angels shoud come to iudge the world, which iudgement shoud be done at the first coming of Christ. ¶ That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as magnanimitie is able to comprehend some portion of his glory. ¶ That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were realie to execute his commandement. ¶ This is meant of the first coming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly reuealed by his Goibel.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of it, and world and at sundry times.

c Meaning, the African and Caldean empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most famous come to their authority, as though they had had wings to flye: yet their wings were plucked by the Persians, and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans beate.

d Meaning, the Persians which were barbarous and cruel.

e They were first in the beginning and were first in their mountains and had no bruit.

f That is, desolates many kingdoms, and was insatiable.

g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this means possessed the ingratitude of the world.

h Meaning, Alexander the King of Macedonia.

i That is, his four chief captaines, which had the empire among them.

k This is meant of Julius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the content of the Senate, their power is compared to a litle horne.

l Meaning, a ceraine portion of the people horrid that is, apart from the whole estate was pluckt away.

m For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of choosing the deputies to sende into the provinces, and tooke the gouernement of ceraine countries to himselfe.

n Their Romane Emperours at the first vied a ceraine humanitie and gentleness, and were content that others, as the Consuls, and Senate, should beare the name of dignitie, in that they might haue the profect, and therefore in elections and consells would be cause themselves according as did other Senators.

o Meaning, the places where G and his Angels shoud come to iudge the world, which iudgement shoud be done at the first coming of Christ.

p That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as magnanimitie is able to comprehend some portion of his glory.

q That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were realie to execute his commandement.

r This is meant of the first coming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly reuealed by his Goibel.

CHAP. VII.

¶ A vision of four beasts shewed vnto Daniel. ¶ The ten hornes of the fourth beast. ¶ Of the euerslaping kingdoms of Christ.

IN the first yee of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bedde: ¶ then hee wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

¶ Daniel had declared, he sheweth that this rell that not be a deliriance but a revelation, and therefore encouraged them to looke for a confirmation of the Messiahs vnto & reuealed, by whom they should be brought to liuence, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should be assured in the dissolution of the Babylonish kingdom.

appeared toward the foure winds of the heauen.

And out of one of them came fourth a fire horne, which waied very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.

Yes, it grew vp vnto the p holie of heauen, and it cast downe some of the holie, and of the flares to the ground, and trode vpon them,

And extolled himselfe against the prince of the bolle from whom the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuary was cast downe.

And a time shall bee giuen him ouer the daily sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall cast downe the truth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the y armie vnder foot?

And he answered me, Vnto the evening and the morning, two thousand and three hundredth: then shall the Sanctuarie be cleansed.

Nowe when I Daniel had seene the vision, and fought for the meaning, beholde, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.

And I heard a mans voyce betweene the bankes of Vlai, which called, and said, Gabriel, make this man to vnderstand the vision.

So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraide, and fell vpon my face: but he said vnto me, vnderstand, O sonne of man, for d in the last time shall be the vision.

Nowe as he was speaking vnto me, I being asleepe fell o my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vpon my place,

And he saide, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last t wrath: for in the ende of the time appointed it shall come.

The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes are the Kings of the Medes and Persians.

And the goat is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is between his eyes, is the first King.

And that that is broken, and foure stoope vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength.

And in the end of their kingdom, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a King of fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.

And his power shalbe mightie, but not i in his strength: and hee shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mightie, and the holy people.

This horne shall polish for a time the doctrine, and fo the Kings of the Medes and Persians. A Meaning, that hee had a doe aske this vision of Christ, whom hee calleth a certaine one ora secret one, or a marvellous one. That is the lawes finnes, which were cause of this destruction. y That Antichrist should destroy God religion, and his people. x Christ answered me first of the Church. A This is, until to many natural dayes hee shall which shall be from moone to and an halfe daye is long vnder Antiochus was the temple profaned. B Which was Christ, who in this manner declareth himselfe to be the true God, who would be God manifested in flesh. C This power was Antiochus the Angel declared that he was God. D The effect of this vision shall be continued a long time after. E Meaning the great rage which An-tiochus had against the Church. F That is out of Grecia, G That they shall be overcome by had Alexander. H Noting that this Antiochus was impu-erious, and a little confound that he could not be deceived. I That is, not like A Antiochus himselfe. K Rehears the Gentiles that shall be against him, also the lawes.

And through his policie also, he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and hee shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand vp against the prince of princes, but hee shall be broken downe without hand.

And the vision of the evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many dayes.

And I Daniel was stricken and sicke se-uenteene dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the Kings business, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

Daniel desired to haue that performance of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their ba-lismment to Babylon. A A true confession, so Daniels prayer is heard. B Gabriel the Angel appeareth vnto him the vision of the fourty workers. C The annuie of Christ.
D The building againe of ierusalem. E The death of Christ.

In the first yeere of Darius the sonne of Aha-shueroh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the Realme of the Caldeans,

Even in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by books the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.

And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and I fought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, O Lord God which art great and fearful, & keepest covenant and mercy toward them which loue thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements,

We haue sinned and haue committed in-iquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

For we woulde not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

O Lord, thy righteousness belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs to open shame, as appeareth this day vnto every man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, yea vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

O Lord, vnto vs appertaineth open shame, to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

For compassion and forgiveness is in the Lorde our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.

For we haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde our God, to walke in his lawes, which hee had laid before vs by the ministration of his seruants the Prophets.

Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the Law of Moses

He doeth not excuse the Kings because of their authoritie, but prayeth chikly for them as the chiefe occasions of their great plagues. h He sheweth that the rebel against God, which ferue him not according to his commandement, is woe.

the servant of God, because wee have sinned against him.

12 And he hath confirmed his words, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that I judged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague:
for vnder the whole heaven hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the law of Moyses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth:
for we would not heare his voyce.

15 And now, O Lorde our God, thou hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renoume, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy righteousnes, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy city Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our finnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruants, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that I yeth waile for the Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare and heare:
open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the cite whereupon thy Name is called: for wee doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne righteousness, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lorde heare, O Lorde forgive, O Lorde confider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy city, and vpon thy people.

20 And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lorde my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God,

21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man Gabriel, whom I had scene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandment came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstande the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seventie weekes are determined vpon thy people, and vpon thine holy cite, to finish the wickednes, and to seale vp the finnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerslasting righteousnesse, and to seale vp the vision and pro-phcie, and to anoynt the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from the going forth of the commandment to bring againe the people, and to build Ieru-salem, vnto Messias the prince, shall be seven weekes, and thre score and two weekes, and the streets shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a troublesome time.

26 And after thre score & two weekes, shall Messias be slaine, and shall haue nothing, and the people of the prince that shall come, shall destroy the cite and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood: and vnto the end of the battell it shall be desolate by defolations.

27 And he shall confirme the couenant with many for one week: and in the mids of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the ouerpreiding of the abomi-nations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

28 And by the preaching of the Gospel he confirmed his promise, first, to the Iewes, and after to the Gentiles. b Christ accomplished this by his death & resurrection. c Meaning, that Ierusalem and the Sanctuary should be utterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolatry: vnto him reade, that the plagues I shalbe to great, that they shall all be allowed at the end.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linen, in which sheweth him wherefore he is a just.

IN the third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reueiled vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was long, and the vnder-standing of the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time I Daniel I was in heauens for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoynt my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, as I was by the side of that great ruiuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine golde of Ty-phaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, & his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feet were like in colour to polished brasse, & the voice of his words was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and Gave this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retined no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I slept on my face, and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands,

11 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when he had said this word vnto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for

1. She shall not agree to his wicked counsel, but shall love her husband as her dearer, and not seek his destruction.

2. The kingdom of Asia, Greece, and the Isles which are in the Sea called Mediterranean: for the Jews called all countries yles which were divided from them by Sea.

3. For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romans, and put their ambassadors to shame in all places, Antiochus the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and carried his shame to turne on his owne head.

4. By his wicked life and obeying of foolish counsellors.

5. For feare of the Romans he shall flee to his holdes.

6. For when as hee would have recovered the pretence of power he would have robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the country men flew him.

7. That is Seleucus that succeeded his father Antiochus.

8. Not by forraine enemies, or battell, but by treason.

9. Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death and was of a vile, cruel and flattering nature, and deluded his brothers house of the kingdom, and vnder the kingdom without the consent of the people.

10. Hee sheweth his great forraigne powers shall come to helping the young house of Seleucus against his uncle Antiochus, and yet shall bee overthrowen, a Meaning Ptolemies Philometor Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cousin germane, and is here called the prince of the covenant, because hee was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct.

11. For after the battell Philometor and his uncle Antiochus made a league. 1. For he came upon him at vassaries, and when hee helped his uncle Antiochus to winne, 2. Meaning, 1. Egypt. 2. He will content himselfe with the small holdes For a time, but euen labour by craft to attaine to the chiefe. 3. He shall be overcome with treason. 4. Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him. 5. Declaring that his soldiers shall break out and venture their life to slay and to be slaine for the loue of their prince. 6. The vncle and the nephew shall take treace, and banquet together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischief one against the other. 7. Signifying, that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to pass, but in the providence of God, who ruleth the Kings by a secret brittle, that they cannot doe what they list themselves. 8. Which he shall take of the lewies in spoiling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is told them before to moue them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods providence. 9. That is, the Romans power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the Ambassadors appointed him to depart in the Romans name, to which thing he obeyed, although with griefe, and as revenge his rage he came against the pretended God the Romeans.

12. Hee shall not stand on his side, neither be so him.

13. After this shall hee turne his face vnto the yles, & shall take many, but a prince shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beidie that he shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon himselfe.

14. For he shall turne his face toward the forts of his owne land: but he shall bee overthrowen and fall, and be no more found.

15. Then shall he stand vp in his place in the glorie of the kingdom, one that shall raise taxes: but after few dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in wrath, nor in battell.

16. And in his place shall stand vp a vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by flatteries.

17. And the armes shall be overthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the covenant.

18. And after the league made with him, hee shall worke deceitfully: for hee shall come vp, and overcome with a yll person.

19. He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall deuide among them the prairie and the spoile, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his deuites against the frogg holdes, euen for a time.

20. Also he shall stirre vp his power, & his courage against the King of the South with a great armie, and the King of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great & mightie armie: but hee shall not stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him.

21. Yea, they that feede of the portion of his meate, shall destroy him: & his armie shall overthrow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

22. And both these Kings heate shall to doe mischief, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auail: for yet the ende shall be at the time appointed.

23. Then shall hee return into his lande with great substance: for his heart shall be against the holy covenant: so shall hee doe and returne to his owne land.

24. At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

25. For the shippes of Chittim shall come against him: therefore hee shall forie and returne, and fret against the holy covenant: so shall hee doe, he shall contemne it and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy covenant.

26. And armes shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuary: of strength, and they shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.

27. And such as wickedly make covenant, shall hee cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that doe know their God, shall perseuer and prosper.

28. And they shall vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by sword, & by flame, by captiuitie & by spoile many dayes.

29. Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them & faidely.

30. And some of them of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

31. And the king shall doe what him list: hee shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, & he shall speake maruellous things against the God of gods, & shall prosper, till it be accomplished for the determination is made.

32. Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any God: for hee shall magnifie himselfe above all.

33. But in his place shall hee honour the god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not, shall hee honour with golde and with silver, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

34. Thus shall he do in the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom hee shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, & shall censure the land for gaue.

35. And at the end of time shall the King of the South put at him, & the King of the North shall come against him like a whirlwind & chares, and with horsemen, and w many ships, & hee shall enter into y countries, & shall overthrow & passe through.

36. He shall enter also into the pleasant land, and many countries shall be overthrowen: but they shall escape out of his hand, euen Idom & Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

37. He shall stretch forth his hands also vpon y countries, & the land of Egypt shall not escape.

38. But hee shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of silver, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the blacke Mores where hee shall passe.

39. To wit, of them that feare God, and will loke their life for the delect of sin religion, & signifying also that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey. 40. Because the Angels purpose into the whole course of the persecution of the Lewes into the coming of Christ, he neuer speakes of the Monarchie of the Romans which heatech by the name of a King, who were with our religion and countenanced our King, & so long the tyrants shall presume as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that this is but for a time. 41. The Romans shall observe no course forme of religion as other Nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and preferre themselves to their gods. 42. Signifying that they should be without all humillities: for the loue of women is taken for idolatry or great loue, 1. Sam. 12. 4. Yea, this is the god of power and riches that shall affirme their owne power aboue all their gods and worship it. 43. A water picture of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their cite with gold and precious jewells of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue done a nation for their power & riches. 44. Although in their hearts they had no relye, yet they should acknowledge the gods, & worshiped them in their temple, and they should bee bene depicied as Atheists: but this was to incite their hearts to rebuke and when they were any country, they made others the rulers thereof, that the profit came to the Romans. 45. That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romans, but they shall be overcome. 46. An Angel forwarne the Lewes that when they should see the Romans combe them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, then they should not be so long asore, and therefore he would still preferre them.

44 See the seedings out of the East & the North shall d trouble him: therefore he shall goe forth & w great wrath to destroy & r roote out many.
45 And he shall plant the tabernacles f of his palace between the seas in the glorious & holie mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

The Iudaeus shew this signified quilieth through all countries, and from sea to sea, that they shall destroy them.

CHAP. XII.

Of the deluance of the Church by Christ.
1 And at y time shall Michael stand vp, y great Prince, which standeth for the childre of Ithy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to bee a nation vnto y same time: & at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one y shall be fouid written in y booke.

2 And many o them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerslasting life and some to shame and perpetual contempt.

3 And they y be of wise, shall shine, as y brightnes of y firmament: & they y d turne many to righteousness, shall shine as the stars, for ener and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, e shut vp the words, & seale the booke: till the end of y time: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.
The Iudaeus shew this signified quilieth through all countries, and from sea to sea, that they shall destroy them.
5 Who have kept the true lawe of God and his religion, & the ministry of Gods word, and next all the faithful shall know the ignorant, & bring them to y true knowledge of God. e Though they shal depose this prophete, yet keepe thou it fire and eterne it as a remembrance. I Tell them that God hath appointed for the full revelation of his righte moun many shall run to and fro to search the knowledge of these mynistered things they obtaine now by the light of the Gospel.

HOSEA.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fall away from God by the wicked & subtil counsil of Tereboam the son of Rebeai, & in stead of burrow service commanded by his word, worshipped him according to their own fantasies and traditions of men, giving themselves to most vile idolatry and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse & worse, & still abused Gods benefites. Therefore now when their prosperity was at the height vnder Tereboam the son of Iudai, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiab and Micah to them of Iudai) to condemn them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselves to bee greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adultery: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdom, and give them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of twenty yeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednes, and derided the Prophet, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should nather be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselves by the sweetness of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall partes of the Law, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, by vnto threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices: and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, rather by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or els by threatnings of his iudgements to scare them from vice: and albeith that the whole Lawe containe these two poynts, yet the Prophet moreouer more particularly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

1 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Go, e take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the lande hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

The Prophet did this thing in affect, but he saw this in uision, and thus was commanded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the state of the Iugospe, and of the people her children.

5 The I Daniel looked, & beheld, there stood other two, y one on this side of y brinke of y river, & the other on y side of the brinke of y river.
6 And one sayde vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the river, When shall the end of these wonders?
7 And I heard the man clothed in linen which was vpon the waters of the river, v he held vp his right hand, and his left hand vnto heauen, & swore by him that liueth for euer, that the time shall be at time, two times & an halfe: and while he shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall finished.
8 The I heard it, ut I vnderstood it not the said I, O my Lord, what shall e y end of these things?
9 And he said, Go thy way Daniel: for y words are closed vp, and seale, till the end of the time.
10 Many shall be purified, made white, & tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.
11 And fro y time y the daily sacrifice shall be taken away, & y abominable desolatioi set vp, there m shall be a shoulde, two hundred & ninety daies.
12 Blessed e he that waiteth & cometh to y thousand, three hundredth & e five & thirty daies.
13 But go e thou thy way till y end be: for thou shalt rest & stand vp in thy lot, at y end of y daies.
14 And an halfe to the former number, signifying that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christs coming: but that they are belied that putte only shilde his appearing.
15 The Angel warreth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and yet againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

6 And one sayde vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the river, When shall the end of these wonders?

CHAP. VI.

2 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickedness of the people.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord, that he might call backe his plagues.

b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.

c You seeme to have a certaine holinesse and repentance, but it is vpon the fuddge, as a morning cloud.

d I haue still labored by my prayers, and as it were I am to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine, for my word was not meate to feed them, but a sword to slay them.

e My doctrine which I taught there, was much obscured.

f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the love of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.

g That is, like light and weake persons. h Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, & which should haue bene best instructed in any word. i That is, doth imitate this idolatry, & hath taken graces of thy uices.

Come, and let vs returne to the Lord: for he hath spoiled, and he will heale vs: hee hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will he reuiue vs, and in the third day will he raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, & endeavour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, & he shall come vnto vs as the raine, & as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I intreate thee? for your goodness is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dewe it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I cut downe by the Prophets: I haue flaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired mercy, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they s like men haue transgressed the covenant: there haue they transgressed against me.

8 Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theues wait for a man, so the company of Priests murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief.

10 I haue fence villenie in the house of Israel: there is y whoredom of Ephraim, Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a iplant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

CHAP. VII.

2 Of the vices and wickedness of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

When I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickedness of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsely: and the thiefe cometh in, and the robber spoyleth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, thus I remember all their wickednes: now their owne inventions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the King glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very euen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, and from kneading the dough vnill it be leauened.

5 This is the day of our King: the princes haue made him sick with flagons of wine: hee stretcheth out his hand to foreriers.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepe all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hore as an ouen, and haue denoured their iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath binde himselfe among the people, Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue denoured his strength, and be knoweth it not: yea, & gray haire are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testified to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a done deceived, without heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Asshur. 12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and drawe them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastise them as their congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shall be vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cried vnto mee with their hearts, when they howled vpon their beds: they assemble themselves for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischief against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me.

CHAP. VIII.

2 The destruction of Iudah & Israel, because of their idolatry. 5 The trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an eagle against the House of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my covenant, & trespassed against my Lawe.

1 Israel shall be cried vnto mee, My God, we know thee.

2 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

3 They haue set vp a King, but not by me: they haue made princes, & I knew it not: of their silver and their gold haue they made them idols: therefore shall they be destroyed.

4 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without innocencie! 5 For 6 For it came euen from Israel: the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they haue sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlwind: it hath no stalk: the bud shall bring forth no meale: if so be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath his red loers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorrow like, for the burden of the King & the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to thee the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of meate offerings, and eat it: but the Lord receiveth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Iſrael.

1 Ploieye not, O Iſrael for ioy ^a as other people: for thou haſt gone a whooring from thy God: thou haſt loued ^b a reward vpon euery come ſcore.

2 The ſtoore, and the wine preſſe ſhall not feede them, and the new wine ſhall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vicine things in Aſſur.

4 They ſhall not offer ^a wine to the Lorde, neither ſhall their ſacrifices bee pleaſant vnto him: for they ſhall be vnto him as the bread of mourning: all that eate thereof ſhall be polluted: for their bread ^b for their ſoules ſhall not come into the houſe of the Lord.

5 What will ye do ^a then in the ſolemne day, and in the day of the feaſt of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from a deſtruction: for Egypt ſhall gather them vp, and Memphis ſhall ſaye them: the nettle ſhall poſſeſſe the pleaſant places of their ſiluer, and the thorne ſhall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of viſitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Iſrael ſhall know it: ^a the Prophet is a ſoule: the ſpiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim ſhould be with my God: but the Prophet is the ſnare of a ſouler in his waies, ^b barred in the Houſe of his God.

9 They are deeply ſet: they are corrupt as in the daies of Gibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquitie, he will viſite their finnes.

10 I found Iſrael like ^a grapes in the wildernes: I ſee your fathers as the firſt ripe in the fig tree at her firſt time: but they went to Baal Peor, and bowed themſelues vnto that ſhame, and their ſonourations were according to ^b their louers.

11 Ephraim their glorie ſhall ſce away like ^a a bride: from the birth ^b and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will deſpise them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I ſawe, ^a is as a 27420 in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim ſhall bring forth his children to the murderer.

14 O Loue, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a P barren wombe and drie breiſts.

15 All their wickedneſſe is in ^a Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednes of their iniquities, I will call them out of mine Houſe: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rocks.

16 Ephraim is ſmitten, their roote is dried vp:

they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I lay euen the deareſt of their bodie.

17 My God will caſt them away, becauſe they did not obey him: and they ſhall wander among the nations.

CHAP. X.

1 Agaiſt Iſrael and bu ſiders. 14 His deſtruction for the ſame.

1 Iſrael is an ^a emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit vnto it ſelfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof hee hath increased the altars: according to the ^b goodneſſe of their land they have made faire images.

2 Their heart is ^a diuided: now ſhall they be found faultie: he ſhall brake downe their altars: he ſhall deſtroy their images.

3 For now they ſhall ſay, We haue no ^a King becauſe we feared not the Lord: and what ſhall a King do to vs?

4 They haue ſpoken wordes, ſwearing falſly in making ^a a covenat: thus ^b in iugement groweth as woe meadow in the ſunowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria ſhall ſcare becauſe of the calfe of Beth auen: for the people thereof ſhall mourne ouer it, and the ^b Chemarims thereof, that reioiced on it for the glorie thereof, becauſe it is departed from it.

6 It ſhall bee alſo brought to Aſſur, for a preſent vnto King Iareb: Ephraim ſhall reuice ſhame, and Iſrael ſhall bee aſhamed of his owne counſell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is deſtroyed, as the ſome vpon the water.

8 The high places alſo of ^a Auen ſhall be deſtroyed, when the ſinne of Iſrael: the thorne and the thistle ſhall growe vpon their altars, and they ſhall ſay to the mountaines, ^b Couer vs, and to the hills, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Iſrael, thou haſt ^a finned from the daies of Gibeah: there they ^b ſtoode the battell in Gibeah againſt the children of iniquitie did not touch them.

10 It is my deſire ^a that I ſhould chaſtiſe them, and the people ſhall bee gathered againſt them, when they ſhall gather themſelues in their two ^b ſunowes.

11 And Ephraim is ^a an heifer vied to deſire in P threshing: but I will paſſe by her ^b a ſure necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah ſhall plowe, and Iaakob ſhall breake his cloddes.

12 Sow to your ſeues in righteouſnes: reape after the meaſure of mercie: ^a breake vp your fellow ground: for is a time to ſeek the Lorde, till he come and raine righteouſnes vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickedneſſe: ye haue reaped iniquity: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: becauſe thou diſdeſt truſt in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy ſtrong men.

14 Therefore ſhall a tumult ariſe among thy people, and alſe thy munitions ſhall be deſtroyed, as ^a ſhalman deſtroyed Beth arbel in the day

4 Take vnto you words, & turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, b Take away all iniquity, and receiue us graciously: so will we render the calues of our clippes.

5 As hurt shall not sate vs, neither will we ride vpon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our hands, 7e are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

6 I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

7 I will be as the dewe vnto Israel: hee shall grow as the lilie and fasten his rootes, as the steeves of Lebanon.

8 His branches shall spread, and his beautie shall be as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

9 They that dwell vnder his shadow, shall returne: they shall reuiue as the come, and flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

10 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles? I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruit found.

11 Who is a wise, and he shall vnderstand these things? and prudent, and hee shall knowe them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

Declaring, that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithful can offer, even thanks and praise, Heb. 13. 15. d He will leave off all vnwise confidence and pride. e Hee declareth how ready God is to receive them that doe repent, f Whosoever ioyne themselves to this people, shall be blessed. g God beweth how prompt he is to heare him, when they repent, and to offer himselfe, as a protection, & safeguard vnto them, & a most sufficient fruit and profit. h Signifying, that the true wisdom & knowledge consisteth in this, even to trust vpon God.

IOEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

The Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine remaine still obstinate. Secondly he sheweth greater plagues, because they grow dayly to a more hardness of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceeds from the heart, because they had grievously offended God. And so doing, he promisseth that God will be merciful, & not forget his covenants that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophesie against the Jews. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting: for the miserie that was at hand.

He word of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O Elders, & hearken ye all inhabitants of the land, whether a such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children b tell to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of c palmer worme, hath the grasshopper eaten, and the residue of d grasshopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake ye e drunkards, and weep, & howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, f a nation cometh vpon my lande, mightie, & without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and hee hath the iawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, & pulleth off the barme of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth down g y^e branches thereof: are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgin girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth.

9 The meate offering, & the drinke offering is cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The field is wasted: the lande mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: g the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Beye afamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheat, and for the barley, because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree & the palme tree, and the apple tree, h even all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 i Girde your selues and lament, ye Priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord your God, and crie vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the j day of the Lord is at hand, and it cometh as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The feede is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne! the herds of cattell pine away, because they had no pasture, and the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured

All comfort and abundance for nourishment is taken away.

He sheweth that the onely meate to moue Gods wrath, and to haue all thing restored, is a sincere repentance.

We see by these great plagues that vnto destruction is at hand.

and have given the childre for the harlot, & sold come for wine, that they might drinke.

2 Yes, and what have you to doe with me, O Tyms and Zidon and all the coastes of Palestina? will ye render mee a recompence? and if ye recompence me, I will send you my goodly and pleasant things.

3 For ye have taken my silver and my golde, and have caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

4 The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem have you sold vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farr from their border.

5 Beholde, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head.

6 And I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hande of the children of Iudah, and they I shall sell them to the Sabaeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

7 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mighty men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come vp.

8 Breake your plowshares into swords, and your shoues into speares: let the weakke say, I am strong.

9 Assemble your selues, and come all ye heathen & gather your selues together rounde about: there shall the Lord cast downe the mighty men.

10 Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your fishes, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the winepresses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lords neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne and moone shall be darkened, and the starres shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vetter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then shall Ierusalem be holy, and there shall no stranger goe thorow her any more.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines I drop downe new wine, and the hills shall flowe with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall runne with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the Houle of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt shall be waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanse their blood, that I haue not cleand, and the Lord will dwel in Zion.

Thus he shal encourage Ierusalem while their wickednesse is full ripe to destroy one another, which he callis the valley of Gods iudgement.

God alsereth his against all troubles, that when he destroyeth his enemies his children shall be desired.

The fridges shall no more destroy his Church which if they doe, it is the people, which by their sinnes make the breach for the enemies.

He promised to his Church abundance of graces, made Ezek 47, 3. which should water & comfort the most barren places, Amos 9, 13.

The malicious enemies shall have no part of this gate.

He had suffered his Church hitherto to be in their sickness, but now he promised to cleanse them and make them pure unto him.

AMOS.

THE ARGUMENT.

Among many other Prophets that God raised up to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednes and idolatry, he stirred up Amos, who was an herdman or shepheard of a poore town, and gave him both knowledge & constancie to reprove all estates & degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible punishments against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had lived as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes yet punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfeigned repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfect deliuerance and saluation.

CHAP. I.

The time of the prophesie of Amos. 2 The word of the Lord against Damascus, 3 The Philistines, Tyre, Idumea and Amos.

He wordes of Amos, who was among the herdmen at Tecoa, which he saw vpon Israel, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel two yere before the earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and vetter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepherds shall perishe, and the top of Carmel shall wither.

3 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue threshed Gilead with three-ling instruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the 8 palaces of Benhadad.

5 I will breake also the harres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bileath-suen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Betheden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto Kir-sath the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they I caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the wallles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hande to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perishe, saith the Lord God.

9 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it.

The antiquitie of their building shall not auoid my indignement, saith the Lord.

Tigath Pithes led the Syrians captive, & brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.

They ioyed themselves with the Edomites, their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

Amos 1, 1-2

k For Edom (of whom came the Edomites) and Esau his brother: therefore they ought to have admonished them of their brotherly friendship, and not to have provoked them to hatred. He that corrects his compassions.
l Me was a continual enemie vnto him.

m He sought the great enemie of the Ammonites that spared not the women, but most tyrannously tormented them, and yet the Ammonites care that Lot who was of the household of Abraham.

it, because they that the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembered the brotherly covenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the wallies of Tyris, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, & for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, & did cast off all pittie, and his anger spoiled him euermore, and his wrath watched him alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue ripe vpon the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlewinde.

15 And their King shall go into captiuitie, he and his princes together, faith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Judah and Israel.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the bones of the King of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, faith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Judah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandments, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they sold the righteous for siluer, and the poore for a shoos.

7 They gaue ouer the head of the poore, in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a maide to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lye down vpon clothes laide to pledge by euery altar: and they drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oakes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboute, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vpon from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres thorow the wilderness, to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I rayed vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and I of your young men for Nazaries. Is it not euen thus, O yee children of Israel, faith the Lord?

12 But yee gaue the Nazaries wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophetic not.

13 Behold, I am k pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheues.

14 Therefore the slight thall perish from the swift, and the strong thall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie cue his life.

15 Nor he that handleth the bowe, thall stand, and he that is swift of foote, thall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And he that is of mightie courage among the strong men, thall flee away naked in that day, faith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

He reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude. ¶ For the which God will punish them.

Hear ye this word that the Lorde pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

1 You a only haue I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

2 Can two walke together except they bee agreed?

3 Will a lion roare in the forest, when he hath no pray? or will a Lyons whelp cry out of his den, if he haue taken nothing?

4 Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fowler is? or will he take vp the snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing as all?

5 Or shall a trumpet bee blown in the citie, and the people bee not afraid? or shall there be cuill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

6 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he a reueleth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

7 The Lyon hath roared: who will not bee afraid? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but prophesie?

8 Proclaime in the palaces at Ahdor, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, & say, Assemble you selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: to behold the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.

9 For they knowe not to doe right, faith the Lorde: they floure vp violence, and robbery in their palaces.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, An aduersarie shall come euen round about the countrey, and shall bring downe, his strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoiled.

11 Thus saith the Lorde, As the shepheard taketh^m out of the mouth of the Lyon two legges, or a peece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bedde, and in Damascus as in a couche.

12 Heare, and testifie in the house of Iakob, faith the Lord God, the God of hostes.

Strangers, as the Philistins and Egyptians to be witneses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their enuie and oppression. 1 The crime of their enuie & their oppression by their great riches, which they haue in their land.

2 When the Lyon hath facine his hunger, the shepheerd shall take a legge or a tippe of an eare to shewe that the sheepe hath bene wounded.

3 When they thought to haue had a sure holde, and to haue bene in safete.

a For the Moabites were so cruel against the King of Edom that they burnt his bones after that hee was dead, which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge them selues of the dead.

b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

c If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdom.

d They offered most vile bribes more then mens liues.

e When they haue spoiled him and thrown him to the ground, they gaue for his life.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that by sacrificing, and being offered mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickedness.

g They spoyled others and offer thereof vnto God, thinking that hee will dispense with them, when hee is made partaker of their iniquitie.

h The destruction of their enemies and his mercie toward them shoulde haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

i I haue easily chosen you in mine anger, and other people, and yet you haue taken me.
k Hereby the Prophet signifieth that hee prophesied of the fall of Samaria, but of Gilead and the north side, which is called the region betweene God and his people.
l Will God be angry by his Prophets, except they be free from offence?
m Can any thing come without Gods permission?
n Shall his decrees be in vain?
o Shall the Prophets therefore Gods iudgements and the people not be afraid?
p Does any sacrifice come without Gods appointment?
q God doth not desire that his people should be as heathen, as heathen people: for hee sayes warrent them before of his plagues by his Prophets.
r He saith the people saye they are commanded against the Prophets, but the word of the Lord Spirit manifesteth them to be false as they say.
s He collecteth the multitude of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their enuie and oppression.
t The crime of their enuie & their oppression by their great riches, which they haue in their land.
u When the Lyon hath facine his hunger, the shepheerd shall take a legge or a tippe of an eare to shewe that the sheepe hath bene wounded.
v When they thought to haue had a sure holde, and to haue bene in safete.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the winter house with the summer house, & the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shalbe consumed, saith y^e Lord.

CHAP. l. iiii.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

16 Here this worde, ye ^a King of Bathan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresseth the poore, and destroyeth the needie, and they say to their masters, Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord god hath sworne by his holinesse, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee will take you away with ^b thornes, and your posteritie with filth hookes.

3 And yee shall goe out at the breaches euery way forward: and ye shall call your felues out of the palace, sayth the Lord.

4 Come to ^c Beth-el, & transgresse: to Gilgal, & multiple transgression, & bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three ^d yeres.

5 And offer a thanksgiving ^e of leauen, publish and proclaim the free offerings: for this ^f liketh you, O ye children of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you ^g cleannes of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue you not returned vnto me, sayth the Lord.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there ^h were yet three ⁱ monthes to the harvest, & I caused it to raine vpon one cite, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another cite: one peece was rained vpon, and the peece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two ^j or three cities wandred vnto one cite to drinke water, but they were ^k not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, sayth the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting, & mildew: your great gardens and your vineyards, & your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worne deuour: yet haue yee not returned vnto me, sayth the Lord.

10 Perillence haue I sent among you, after the manner of ^l Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stickle of your tents to come vpon euen into your nostrils: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, sayth the Lord.

11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodom & Gomora: & ye were as ^m a firebrand plucked out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, sayth the Lord.

12 Therefore, this will I doe vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will do this vnto thee, prepare to ⁿ meete thy God, O Israel.

13 For loe, he that formeth the mountaynes, and createth the winde, & declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenes, and walketh vpon the high places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes is his Name.

CHAP. v.

A lamentation for the captivity of Israel.

14 Here ye this word, which I lift vp vpon you, heare a lamentation of the house of Israel.

15 The ^o virginie Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: she is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The city which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an ^p hundred: and that which went forth by an hundred, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Secke ye me, and ye shall liue.

5 But secke not Beth-el, nor enter into ^q Gilgal, and goe not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall goe into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Secke the Lord, and ye shall liue, least hee breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph, & deuoure it, & there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turne ^r iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off nightcousnesse in the earth.

8 He ^s maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and hee turneth the shadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse.

10 They haue hated him, ^t that rebuked in the gate: & they abhorred him ^u y^e speaketh vprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, & ye take fro him bunles of wheat, ye haue built houses of heuen stone, but yee shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mighty sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, & they oppress ^v the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore ^w the prudent that keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Secke good, and not euill, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shall be with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes the Lord saith thus, Mourning ^x shall be in all streets: and they shall say in all the high wayes, Alas, alas: & they shall cal the husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines ^y shall be lamentation: for I will passe through thee, saith the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you, that ^z desire the day of the Lorde: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lorde is darkenesse and not light.

19 Axiſa man did flee from Aſyon, & a beare met him: or went into the house, and leamed his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lorde be darkenes, and not light? euen darknes and no light in it?

21 I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solemne assemblies.

22 Though yee offer mee burnt offerings, and meate offerings, ^a I will not acceptee them: neither will I regarde the peace offerings of your beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy viols)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as ^b waters, and righteousness as a mighty river.

25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness foure yeres, O house of Israel?

b Meaning, haue the truth part should leaue be saved.

c In these places they worshipped new idoles, which sometime served for the true honoe of God: therefore he saith that therie shall not loue them.
d In these of iudgement: equitie they execute cruelitie and oppression.
e He describeth the power of God. Job 9. 9.

f They hate the Prophets, which reprove them in the open assemblies.

g Ye take both his money & also his fowde wherewith he should liue.

h God will so plague them, that they shall not suffer the godly one to open their mouths to admonish them of their faultes.

i So that all diuers shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.

k Thus he speaketh because the wicked and hypocrites haide they were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare. Ier. 39. 7. ier. 42. 11. zepl. 1. 15.

l Because ye haue corrupte my true service & remaine obstinate in your vice, I will not heare. Ier. 6. 10. Do you desire to God & to your neighbor: & ye shall seeke his grace plentifully, if you shew your abun- dant offerings according to Gods word.

bodies shall in every place: they shall cast them forth with silence.

4 Hear this, O ye that swallowe vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When will the newe moneth be gone, that we may sell come? and the Sabbath, that we may fet fourth wheate, and make the Ephah small, and the hekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needie for shooes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate.

7 The Lorde hath sworne by the excellencie of Iakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, & every one mourne, that dwelle therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, saith the Lorde God, I will euen cause the sunne to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleere day.

10 And I will turne your feales into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all ioyes, and baldnesse vpon every head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day.

11 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde God, that I will send a famine in the lande, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst of water, but of hearing the worde of the Lorde.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they run to and fro to seeke the worde of the Lorde, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the faire virgins and the yong men perish for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the sinne of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, lieth, and the manner of Beer-Sheba lieth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

CHAP. IX.

1 Theretoing: against the Temple, 2 And against Israel. 12 Theretoing: of the Church.

1 Sawe the Lorde standing vpon the altar, and hee saide, Smite the lintel of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the heads of them all, and I will lay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not see away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they digge into the hel, thence shall mine hand take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottom of the sea, thence will I command the serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they go into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I command the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will fet mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hostes shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, & all that dwell therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his spheres in the heauen, and hath laide the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lorde is his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians? vnto mee, O children of Israel, saith the Lorde? have not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistines from Caphtor, & Aram from Kir?

8 Beholde, the eyes of the Lorde God are vpon the finfull kingdoms, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth: Neuertheless I will not utterly destroy the house of Iakob, saith the Lorde.

9 For loe, I will command, and I will lift the house of Israel among all nations, like as some is hoisted in a sieue: yett shall not the least stone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs.

11 In that day will I raise vp the tabernacle of David; that is fallen downe, and close vp his breaches thereof, and I will raise vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of olde.

12 That they may possesse the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, saith the Lorde, that doeth this.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that the plowman shall touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall drop sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt.

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall build the waste cities and inhabit them, & they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more be pulled vp againe out of their lande, which I haue giuen them, saith the Lord thy God.

They are planted in his Church, out of the which they can neuer be pulled, although they are once assailed therein.

1 Hee sheweth that God will declare himselfe enemy vnto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures shall be enemies to destroy them.

2 He declares by the wonderful power of God by the making of the heauens and the elements, that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgements when he is possibled.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Idumeans which came of Esau, were most all enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Isaac, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundrie kindes of crueltie, but also burst vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were none in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp by Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had worse determined to destroy their adversaries, which did so fore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdom of Messiah, which he had promised.

desire, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the shippe was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afrade, and cryed every man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the ship into the sea to lighten it of them: but Iona was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and sayde vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they sayde every one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs cast lottes, that we may knowe, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lottes, and the lot fell vpon Iona.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? What is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afrayd, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them)

11 Then sayd they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I knowe that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they coule not: for the sea wrought and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as is pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Iona, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then y men feared the Lord exceedingly, & offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, & made vowes.

17 Nowe the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Iona: and Iona was in the belly of the fish three dayes, and three nights.

And hereby also confirmed him with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him with a charge which was inioyned him.

CHAP. II.

1 Jonah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 3 He is deliuered.

Then Iona prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly.

3 And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly of shell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou haddest cast me into the bottome in the middelt of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I sayde, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed mee rounde about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

And hereby also confirmed him with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him with a charge which was inioyned him.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her bayes was about me: for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembered the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that wait vpon lying & vanities, forsake their owne mercie.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thankesgiving, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Iona vpon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

1 Jonah is first against to Ninuech. 3 The repentance of the King of Ninuech.

And the word of the Lord came vnto Iona the second time, saying,

2 Arise, go vnto Ninuech that great citie, & preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Iona arose and went to Ninuech according to the word of the Lord: now Ninuech was a great & excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Iona began to enter into the citie a daies iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet forty dayes, and Ninuech shall be ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Ninuech beleueed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For worde came vnto the King of Ninuech, and he arose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth and faste in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed and said through Ninuech, (by the counsell of the king & his nobles) saying, Let neither man nor beast, bullock nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and cry mightily vnto God: yet leauey man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednes that is in their handes.

9 Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God sawe their workes that they turned from their euill wayes: and i God repented of the euill that hee had sayde that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

And hereby also confirmed him with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him with a charge which was inioyned him.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodness of God toward his creatures.

Therefore it displeased Iona exceedingly, and he was angrie.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and sayd, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto Tarshish: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, & mercifull slow to anger, and of great kindeesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore nowe O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life: for me is for it is better for me to die then to liue.

4 Then sayde the Lord, Dost thou well to might be blasphemed as though he set his prophesie forth to denounce his judgments in vaine.

5 Then said he, I feared me from the bill of the fish and all these dangers, as it were saving me from death to life.

6 They that depend vpon any thing but God alone.

7 They reioice their owne felicitie, and that goodnes which they should also receive of God.

8 This is a great declaration of Gods mercie, that he receiueth him againe suddenly, him that as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmities.

9 He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was converted.

10 For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce of his indignations against them, e not that the dumbe beasts had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be admonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.

11 He willed, that the men should exactly call vnto God for mercie.

12 For partly by the warning of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his owne conscience, he doubted whether God would shew them mercie.

13 That is, the finites of their repentance, which did proceede of faith which God had planted by the ministerie of his Prophet. 1 Reade Ierem. 18. 3.

14 Because hereby, by he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God, which he preached, should be blasphemed.

15 Reade Chap. 12.

16 Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing lest Gods Name by this forgerie should be blasphemed.

17 He

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the line of deceitfull weightes?

12 For the rich men thereof are full of cruelty, & the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in fasting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy finnes.

14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and thy casting downe shall be in the midst of thee, and thou shalt take holde, but shalt not deliuer:
and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the word.

15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt trayde the olives, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oyle, and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

16 For the statutes of Omri are kept, and all the manner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall heare the reproche of my people.

17 But as I haue shewed you great sorrow, and griefe, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 13.47.

CHAP. VII.

A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickedness of these times. 16 The prosperitie of the Church.

WO is me, for I am as the Summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage:
there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: b they all lie in waite for blood: eury man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince aske, and the iudgeudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is as a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the daye of thy watchmen and thy visitation cometh: then shall betheir confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counsellor: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: y daughter riseth vp against her mother, the daughter in lawe against her mother in lawe, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore I will looke vnto the Lorde:

and saye with one consent to doe euill. f They that are of most efficacye haue counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briars to thee. i Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours. g The Prophet sheweth howe ready the godly in desperate suile is to be vnto God for succour.

I will waite for God my Saviour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against me, h O mine enemies:
though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in dark-nesse, the Lord shall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lorde, because I haue sinned against him, vntill hee pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for mee: then will he bring mee forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.

10 Then shal that is mine enemy, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto mee, Where is the Lorde thy God? Mine eyes shall beholde her: now shall she be troden downe as the mire of the streetes.

11 This is the day that thy walles shall be built:
this day shall drine furre away the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Asshur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to moun-taine.

late because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruites of their inuentions.

14 Feede thy people with thy rod, the stocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the middes of Carmel: let them feede in Bassian and Gilead, as in olde time.

15 According to the dayes of thy coming out of the lande of Egypt, will I shewe vnto him maruclous things.

16 The nations shall see, and bee confounded for all their power: they shall pay their hande vpon their mouth: their eares shall be deafe.

17 They shall like the dust like a serpent:
they shall moue out of their holes like women:
they shall be afraide of the Lord our God, and shal feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! Hee receiveth not his wrath for euer, because mercie plea-seth him.

19 He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their finnes into the bottome of the sea.

20 Thou wilt perforce say truth to Iakob, and mercy to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

THE ARGVMENT.

As they of Nineueh turned themselves prompte and ready so receive the words of God as Ionah preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselves to worldly vanities to increase their d-mission, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and made wherein they had beguene, they cast off the care of religion, and so turned to their vices, and provoked Gods iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Merodach, baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad nazzar) enjoyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation, And as it seemeth, hee prophesied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manassah his sonne, as the Iewes write.

THE ARGUMENT.

Being the great rebell'n of the people, & that there was now no hope of auerement, bee denounced Sins great indignations of God, which was as hand, shewing that their countrie should be utterly destroyed, and they carried away captiue; by the Babylonians. Tei for the comfort of the faithfull be prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistines, Moabites, Assyrians, & others, to assure them that God had a continual care ouer them. And as the wicked should bee punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so be exhorted the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shewe them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should bee gathered into his Church, and conuered as his people and children.

Threatning against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their iniquities.

He word of the Lorde, which came vnto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of 5 Iosiah, 6 sonne of 7 Amon King of Iudah.

1 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

2 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the fowles of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, & I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the Priests.

4 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by Malcham.

5 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lorde, nor inquired for him.

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lorde, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghells.

8 And it shalbe in the day of 9 Lords sacrifice, that I will visit the princes & the kings children, and all such as are clothed with 10 strange apparel.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that dance vpon the threft old so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceite.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noise, and cry from the 11 fifth gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

12 Howle ye inhabitants of the lowe place: for the companye of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off.

13 And at that time will I searche Ierusalem with lightes, and visite the men that are frozen in their dregges, & say in their hearts, The Lorde will neither doe good nor doe euill.

14 Therefore their goods shalbe spoiled, and their houses waste: they shall also buldifie houses, but not inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.

15 The great day of 9 Lord is nere: it is nere, and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: the strong man shall cry bitterly.

16 That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darknesse, a day of cloudes and blacknesse.

17 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towres.

18 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shal walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shal be powdered out as dust, and their flesh as the downe.

19 Neither their siluer nor their gold shalbe able to deliuer them in the day of 9 Lords wrath, but the whole land shalbe deuoured by the fire of his ielousie: for hee shall make euen a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. III.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

And the Angel that talked with me, came againe and waked me; as a man that is raysted out of his sleepe.

And said vnto me, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and behold, a candlestick al of gold with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen pipes to the lampes which were vpon the top thereof.

And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

So I answered and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

Then he answered and spake vnto mee, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an armie nor strength, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hostes,

Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, and I he shall bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

The handes of Zerubbabel haue layed the foundation of this house: his handes shall also finish it, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

For who hath despised the day of the small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of I tittine in the hand of Zerubbabel: the seuen feare are the eyes of the Lord, which geue thow the whole world.

Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

And I spake moreover, and said vnto him, What bee these two oliue branches, which throwe the two golden pipes emptic themselves into the golde?

And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I sayde, No, my Lord.

Then said he, These are two oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

Then thought I, say this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the people shall reioyce, and praise vnto God that hee would continue his grace and fauour towards the Temple.

Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building and prefection of my spirituall Temple. b Signifying that al were discouraged at the small & beginning of the Temple. i Whereby he signifieth the plimmet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should go forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world bee against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye. k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continual providence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke. The vision of the flying bookes, signifying the ewe of sheuents, and such as abuse the Name of God. d In the vision of the ewe, there is signified the bringing of Iudaea's afflictions into Babylon.

Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and behold, a flying booke.

And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying a booke: the length thereof is twenty cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that is stealer, shall be cut off as well on this side, as on that: and euery one that is sweareth, shall be cut off as well on this side, as on that.

I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the thief, and into the house of him, that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and I shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

Then the Angel that talked with mee, went forth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

And I said, What is it? And hee sayde, This is an Ephah that goeth forth. Hee sayde moreover, This is the light of them through all the earth.

And beholde, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the middes of the Ephah.

And he said, This is wickednes, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a stork), and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

And he said vnto me, I To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place, as in the next verse. i Signifying, that Sennacherib should not haue such power to gaine the Jewes to tempt them, as hee had in times past, but that God would thus vp iniquitie in a measure as in prison. k Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the means of weak and infirme men: I To moue the iniquitie and afflictions that came let the same from Iudaea, to place it euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charres hee deserbeth the foure monarchies.

Again I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came foure charres out from betweene two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasie.

In the first charre were red horses, and in the second charre blacke horses,

And in the third charre white horses, and in the fourth charre, horses of diuers colours, and reddish.

Then I answered, and said vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What are these, my Lord?

And the Angel answered, and said vnto mee, These are the foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

That with the blacke horse went forth in the great cruelty & persecutions that the Church had endured vnder the Babylonians. d Signifying that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians. e These represented their state vnder the Persians which reuersed them in libertie. f Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest and pouer his plagues vpon their enemies, as hee did in destroying Ninus, and other their enemies. g Meaning all the actions and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his inchangeable counsell hee causeth to appeare through all the world.

8 And I will bring them, & they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem, & they shall be my people, & I will be their God in truth, & in righteousness.
9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Let your hands be strong, yee that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for man nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, every one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not increase the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the feede shall be prosperous: the vine shall give her fruit, and the ground shall give her increase, and the heavens shall give their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O House of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliver you, & ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers provoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe have I determined in these dayes to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall do. Speake ye every man the truth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly & vprightly in your gates.

17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, & loue no false othe:
foral these are the things which I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah joy and gladnesse, and prosperous feast: therefore loue the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall go to another, saying, Vp, let vs go & pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will go also.

22 Yea, great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, In these dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, We will goe with you:
for we haue heard, that God is with you.

The threatening of the Gentiles. 2 The coming of Christ.
1 He burthen of the worke of the Lord in the land of Hadrach: and Damascus shall be his rest: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border thereby:

Tyrus also and Sidon, though they be very wile.

3 For Tyrus did builde her self a strong hold, and heaped vp silver as the dust, and golde as the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and he will smite her: & power in the Sea, and she shall be de-uoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azah also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, & the king shall perish from Azah, & Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shall dwell in Aladod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and he shall be as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall be a lebanite.

8 And I will campe about mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressor shall come vpon them any more: for now I haue
I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly O daughter of Zion: shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King cometh vnto thee: he is iust and saved himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the chariots from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battel shall be broken, & he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, & his dominion shall be from Ierusalem to sea, & from the River to the end of the land.

11 Thou also shalt bee saved through the blood of the covenant. I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein was no water.

12 Turne you to the strong hold, yee prisoners of hope: euen to daye do I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a bowe for me:
Ephraim haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyant sword.

14 And the Lord shall becene ouer them and his arrow shall goe forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlewindes of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, & subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as thorow wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they

CHAP. X.

1 The vanities of idolatry. 2 The Lord promises to visit and comfort the house of Israel.

Ask you of y^e Lord raine in the time of the latter raine : so shall the lorde make white cloudes, and giue you shoures of raine, and to euery one graffe in the field.

23 Surely the^b idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the footefayers haue seene a lie, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing : they comfort in vaine:
therefore^c they went away as sheepe : they were troubled because there was no shepheard. 23

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepherdes, and I did visite the ^dgoates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as ^e his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out of him shall the corner come forth:
out of him the naile, out of him $\frac{v}{v}$ bowe of battell,

And they shalbe as the mightie men, which reade downe ~~this~~ their enemies in the myre of the frettes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lorde ~~is~~ will with them, and the riders on horses shalbe confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Judah, and I will preserve the ^b house of Ioseph, & I will bring them again, for I pitie them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will hear them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall bee as a gyant:
and their heart shall reioyce thorowe wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will ^{be} hille for them, and gather them: for I have redeemed them: and they shall increase, as they have increased.

9 And I will k sow them among the people, & E ty shall remember me in farre countreis: & they t all liue with their children and I turne againe.

So I will bring them also againe out of the land of Egypt, & gather them out of Asihur: and will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Le-non, and place shall nor be found for them.

And hee ^m shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shall dry vp: and the pride of Assur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of yee shall denary away.

And I will strengthen them in the Lorde, they shall walke in his Name, sayth the Lord.

O Pen thy doores, O Lebanon, and the fir shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Houle, ^b firre trees : for the cedar is fallen because al the mighty are destroyed: houle &c.

3 There is the voyce of the howling of the shepherdes: for their glorie is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of Lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus sayeth the Lord my God, Feed the sheepe of the ^e slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them & and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, & Blessed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepherds spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but loe, ^hI will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his ⁱking: and they shal smite the land, & out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me ¹ two staues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8^m Three shepherds also I cut off in one moment, and my soule loathed^a them, and their soules bhorred me.

9 Then sayd I, I will not feede you : that that ieth, let it die : and that that periseth, let it peth : and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh f his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, ~~even~~ Beautie, and take it, that I might disarul my couenant, which had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day : and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knewe that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I sayd vnto them, If ye thinke it good, the leue me my p wages : and if no, leaue off : so they highed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of em. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of filuer, and set them to the potter in the house of the Lorde.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, even the nds, that I might dissolue the brotherhood beeene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lorde sayd vnto me, Take to thee the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the d, which shall not looke for the thing that is t, nor seeke the tender lambs, nor heale that is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp : but t shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their ues in peeces.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the worde of the Lorde vpon Israel, sayth the Lord, which spred the heauens, and layd the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Beholde, I will make Ierusalem a ^c cuppe of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he be in ^y siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, sayeth the Lord, I will smite euery horde with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horde of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coales of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, as in Ierusalem.

7 The Lorde also shall preserue the tents of Iudah, as aforetime: therefore the glory of the house of David shall not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lorde defende the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as David: and the house of David shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lorde before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of David, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of grace & of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue pierced, and they shall lament for him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and be sorie for him as one is sory for his first borne.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the land shall haue euery familie apart, the familie of the house of David apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The familie of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of Shemci apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

1 N that day there shall be a fountaine opened to the house of David, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse.

2 And in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will cut off the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will cause the prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet a prophecie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lorde: and his father and his mother that begate him, shall thrust him through, when he prophesieth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets be ashamed euery one of his vision, when hee hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to decieue.

5 But hee shall say, I am no Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to be an husbandman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these woundes in thine handes? Then hee shall answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 Arise, O sword, vpon my shepheard, and vpon the man, as hee my fellow, sayth the Lord of hostes: smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the litle ones.

8 And in all the land, sayth the Lorde, two partes therein shall be cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, and will trie them as gold is tried: they that shall on my name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

10 They shall confesse their former iniquities, and be content to labour for their lining. 11 Merely for these things thought their parents and friends deale more gently with them, and set them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became a tale people, that the markes and signes should remaine for ever. 12 The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, they should see a horrible dissolution among the people: for their gentleness and piety should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheep: and the blessing applyeth thus to Christ, because he was the head of all Pilgrims, Mat. 23. 1. 13 The greatest part shall have no portion of these blessings, whye they shall enuie them, shall be tried with great afflictions, so that it shall be known that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preserue them.

a Of the doctrine that shall proceed out of the Church, and of the resurrection thereof.

Behold, the day of the Lorde cometh, and they spoyle shall be diuided in the mids of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to batell, and the cite shall be taken, and the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the cite shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from y^e cite.

3 Then the Lorde shall goe forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of batell.

4 And his feete shall stande in that day vpon the mount of oliurs, which is before Ierusalem on the Eastside, & the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the mids thereof: toward the East & toward the West there shall be a very great valley, & halfe power & care ouer his Church, and howe he will as it were by moue it. 2 So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall see Ierusalem as before hid with this mountain: and this be a remembrance of the spiritual Ierusalem Church.

f Ye receive all manner offerings for your own greediness, and do not exchange whether they be according to my Law or no.

g Not that they sayd thus, but by their doings they declared no less. h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that thicke is sufficient to serve God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans familiarity, & so come not to the pureness of religion, which hee requireth, and therefore in reproch hee sheweth them that a mortal man would be content to be so served.

i Hee denieth the Priests who have the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that their evil came upon the people.

k Will God consider your office and flut, seeing you are so cruelous and wicked? l Because the Levites who kept the doores, did not rele whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God witherth that they would rather that the doores, then to receive such as were not perfite.

m God theweth their ingratitude, and negled of his true service that was the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was under the Law framed his words to the capacity of the people, and by the alme and sacrifice he meaneth the spirituall service of God, which should be under the Gospel, when an ende should be made to all their legall ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice.

n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the lame as with the fatter: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, and so committed both impietie, and also showed their contempt of God, and contemtness.

o The Priests and people were both weary with serving God, and pallied not what manner of sacrifice and service they gave to God for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord. p That is, hath ability to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will serve him according to his covetous minde.

a He speaketh unto them chiefly, but under them beareth the people also. b To true meane according to my word.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefices. d Your service so ven that come to no profit.

e You boast of your holiness, & offices and feasts, but they shall turne to your shame and be as vile as dung.

f The Priests obiect against the Prophet that he could not reproove them, but must speake against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth, that the office is nothing flattered with, which villages and downe called by their own names.

7 Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine altar and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lord is not so beregarded.

8 And if ye offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not cuill: and if ye offer the lame and sick, it is not cuill: offer it now vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, sayth the Lord of hostes?

9 And now, I pray you, I pray before God, that he may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will he regard your persons, sayth the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euill among you, that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, sayth the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense (shalbe offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayth the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Yefayd also, Behold, as vsa weariness, and ye haue snuffed at it, faith the Lord of hostes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame and the sick: thus ye offered an offering: should I accept of your hand, sayth the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiver, which hath in his flock a male, & voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, faith the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

15 And this haue ye done againe, and reuered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

16 Yc ye say, f Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witness betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed: yet is thee thy companion, and the wife of thy youth.

17 And did not he make one yet had he abundance of spirite: and wherefore one? because he sought a godlie seed: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and let none trespass against the wife of his youth.

18 If thou hatest her, put her away, faith the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth: the iniurie vnder his garment. faith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and transgress not.

19 Yee haue d wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? Whence say, Euery one that doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delieth in them. Or where is the God of iudgement?

because that God doeth not regard their sacrifices, for that they leane to false fire in vaine. f This is another fault, whereof hee accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of marriage. t As the one halfe of their title. s That was ioyned to her by a solemn couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods name. x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh, and not many. y By his power and verue hee could haue made many women for one man.

Lord of hostes.

5 My covenant was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and he feared me, and was afraid before I my Name.

6 The law of truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lips: hee walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests lippes shoulde preferre knowledge, and they shoulde seeke the Law at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the couenant of Levi, sayth the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye keepe not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Lawe.

10 Haue we not all one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holiness of the Lord, which hee loued, and hath married the daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iacob, and him that q offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue ye done againe, and reuered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yc ye say, f Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witness betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed: yet is thee thy companion, and the wife of thy youth.

15 And did not he make one yet had he abundance of spirite: and wherefore one? because he sought a godlie seed: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and let none trespass against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, put her away, faith the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth: the iniurie vnder his garment. faith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and transgress not.

17 Yee haue d wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? Whence say, Euery one that doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delieth in them. Or where is the God of iudgement?

CHAP. III.

Of the ſuffering of the Lord, John Baptiſt, and of Chriſt after.

BEhold, I will ſend my ^a meſſenger, and he ſhall prepare the way before me: and ^b the Lord whom ye ſeck, ſhall ſpeedily come to his Temple: even the ^c meſſenger of ^d covenant who ye deſire: behold, he ſhall come, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

³ But who ^e may abide the day of his coming: and who ſhall endure, when he appeareth: for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers ſope.

⁴ And he ſhall fin downe to trie and hie the ſiluer: he ſhall enſue the ſonnes of ^f Leui and purifie them as golde and ſiluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteouſneſſe.

⁵ Then ſhall the offerings of Iudah and Ieruſalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time and in the yeres afore.

⁶ And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a ſuitor wiſe againſt the fourthſayers, and againſt the adulterers, and againſt falſe ſwearers, and againſt thoſe that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and ^g vex the widowe, and the fatherleſſe, and oppreſſe the ſtranger, and feare not me, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

⁹ Will a ^k man ſpoile his gods? yet haue yee ſpoiled me: but ye ſay, Wherein haue we ſpoiled thee? In ^l churches, and offerings.

¹⁰ Ye are curſed with a curſe: for ye haue ſpoiled me, euen this whole nation.

¹¹ Bring yee all the tithes into the ſtorehouſe that there may be meate in mine houſe, & proue me now herewith, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and poure you out a bleſſing ^m without measure.

¹² And I will rebuke the ⁿ deuourer for your ſakes, and hee ſhall not deſtroy the fruite of your ground, neither ſhall your vine bee barren in the field, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

¹³ And all nations ſhall call you bleſſed: for ye ſhall be a pleaſant land, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

¹⁴ Your words haue bene ſtout ^o againſt me, ſaith the Lord: yet ye ſay, What haue we ſpoken againſt thee?

¹⁵ Ye haue ſaide, It is in vaine to ſerue God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his commandments, and that we walked humbly before

¹⁶ Not hauing reſpect how much ye need, ſo that ye ſhall lacke place to put my bleſſing. ¹⁷ Meaning, the caterpillar, and whateuer deſtroyeth come and eat. ¹⁸ The Prophet condemneth them of double blaſphemy againſt God: ſaith he that God had no reſpect to them that ſerued him, and next ſaith he that were more in his ſauiour then the godly.

the Lord of hoſtes?

¹⁹ Therefore we count the proude bleſſed: euen they that worke wickedneſſe, are ſet vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are ^p deliuered.

²⁰ Then ſpake they that feared the Lord, eueny one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a ^q booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

²² Then ſhall you returne, and diſcerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that ſerueth God, and him that ſerueth him not.

²³ And alſo that this might be an example of Gods mercies to all penitent finners. ²⁴ When I ſhall reſtore my Church according to my promiſe, they ſhall be as mine owne piete goodde. ²⁵ That is, forgive their finnes, and gouerne them with my Spirit.

¶ The ende of the Prophets.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

These books that follow in order after the Prophets unto the New Testaments, are called Apocrypha, that is, books, which were not received by a common consent to be read and expounded publicly in the Church, neither yet served to prove any point of Christian religion, save in as much as they had the confirm of the other Scriptures called Canonically to confirm the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as books proceeding from godly men, were received to be read for the advancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly maner: which books declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not utterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, - and also witness that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both so threatened by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

I ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

1 Iudas appointeth Priests, & keepeth the Pasche. 2 Offerings for the Priests and the people. 3 The order of the Levites. 4 The upright life of Iudas. 5 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for time. 6 Teachers appointed King. 7 The destruction of Ierusalem.

And Iudas kept the * Pasche-over to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Pascheover in the foureteenth day of the first month,

2 And appoynted the Priests according to their daily courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Leuites the holy Ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lorde, to let the holy Arke of the Lorde in the House, which Salomon the sonne of King Da-uid had built,

4 And sayd, Ye shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: nowe therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid King of Israel, & according to the Maistie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Pascheover, and make ready the sacrifices for you brethren, and keepe the Pascheover after the Lords commandment giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iudas gaue to the people that was present, thirty thousand lambes and kids, with three thousand calues.

8 These were giue of the kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias & || Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priestes for the Pascheover two thousand fixe hundred sheepe, and three hundred calues.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and || Sabias and || Chielus, and || Iotam captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Pascheover five thousand sheepe, and seven hundred calues.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Leuites stood in order, hauing vn-leavened bread according to the tribes,

11 And after the order of the dignity of their fathers, before the people, to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the books of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Pascheover with fire as
* appertained, and they sodde their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots,

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselves, & for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priestes offered the fat vnto the Euening, and the Leuites did make ready for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, & Azarias, and || Eddinus, which was of the kings appointment.

16 And

[Exod. 12. 8.]

[Or, Iudithon]

16 And the porters were at every gate, so that it was not lawful, that any should passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Leuites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Pascheuer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandmentes of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Pascheuer and the feast of vnleavened bread seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a pascheuer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the Kings of Israel did not offer such a Pascheuer, as did Iosias, and the Priests, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remane in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosias was this Pascheuer kept.

23 The works of Iosias were vp-right before the Lord with a heart full of godlines.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, about euery nation & kingdome, and grieved him with euery sensible thing, so that the wordes of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

25 ¶ Now after all these actes of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaos King of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to do with thee, O King of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lorde God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and nowe the Lord is with me, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from mee, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he set himselfe in battell aray agaynst him in the field of Megiddo, & the Princes came downe to King Iosias.

30 And the King sayd to his seruantes, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by & by his seruantes brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gate vp on his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewayled, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kindred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the Kings of Iudea, and euery one of the actes that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the Law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things now rehearsed are requirid in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke Iosias the sonne of Iosias, and made him King in stead of his father Iosias, when he was three and twenty yere old.

35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three monethes: for the king of Egypt depozed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He taxed also the people of an hundred talents of silver, and one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Ioachim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And he bound Ioachaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zaracaz his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and five yere olde was Ioachim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, who when hee had bound him with a chaine of brasse, lead him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, and set them in his Temple at Babylon.

42 But all his acts, and his prophesation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings.

43 And Ioachim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made King, hee was eighteen yere olde.

44 And he reigned three monethes and tenne dayes in Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias King of Iudea and Ierusalem, when hee was one and twentie yere olde, and he reigned elcuen yeres.

47 And he did euill in the sight of the Lorde, neither did he feare the words spoken by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that he was swome to King Nabuchodonosor, he forswore himselfe by the Name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuerthelesse the God of their fathers sent his messengers to call them backe, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that hee being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednesse, commanded the Kings of the Caldeans to invade them.

53 These killed their yong men with sword rounde about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man, nor mayden, neither olde man, nor childe among them.

54 But he deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lorde, both great and small with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, & caried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the House of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof.

17 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Ieremias,

CHAP. II.

Cyrus goes leues to shoy leues to returne. 10 He sent the holy vessels. 12 The names of them that returned. 16 Tote ad. uerities did hit their bulding, and the Kings letters for the same.

IN * the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremias,

1 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, & he made proclamation through out all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

2 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most high Lord, hath made me king ouer the whole world,

3 And he hath commanded mee to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

4 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord be with him, and let him goe vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and builde the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

5 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with golde and siluer,

6 With gifts, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shall bee brought according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

7 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the Priests and Leuites, and all whose minde the Lord had moued to goe vp, and build and house to the Lord in Ierusalem.

8 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and gold, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose mindes were stirred vp.

9 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

10 Nowe when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, he deliuered them to Mishridates his treasurer, 11 By whome they were given to ¶ Abassar the gouernour of Iudea.

12 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, & a thousand siluer cups, basins of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twenty viols, of gold thirtie, and of siluer two thousand, foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

13 So all the vessels of golde and siluer, which they caried away, were five thousand, foure hundred, threecore and nine.

14 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem.

15 ¶ But * in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians ¶ Belemus, and Mishridates, & Tabelius, and Rathumus, and Beelrethmus, and ¶ Semellius the secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them, that dwelt in Iudea and Ierusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OUR LORD, 17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest of their counsell, and the iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowne to our lord the King, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and builde the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, & the walles be finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, we will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, goe forward, we thought it not meete to passe our such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the King, that if it bee thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the King, we declare it, that if this citie bee built and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beelrethmus, and to Semellius the secretarie, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that followe.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which you sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this citie hath alwayes practised against Kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and howe that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, and that it be taken heede that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretarie and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerxes had written, they moued their tents with speede to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray,

31 And began to let them which build, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians,

3 And when they had eaten and drunke; and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept, all be wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the gard, keepers of the kings body, said one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shall ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the King shall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victorie,

6 As to wear purple, & to drinke in gold, and to sleepe in gold, & a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tyre of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And hee shall sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shall be called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of King Darius;

9 And said, when the king rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the king and the three Princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victorie bee giuen as it was appoynted.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but with out command all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and he read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the capitaines, and licutenants, and the consuls,

15 And set him downe in the counsell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then hee said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And said on this manner, O yee men, howe strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bond man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorrowe, nor det.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by talents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no minde to loue eicher friends or brethren, and a little after they drawe out swordes, 23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O yee men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and hee beld his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women. 31 Of the strength of truth, which sentence is approved. 37 And his petition granted.

¶ Then the second which had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say,

2 O yee men are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they do all things which he commandeth them.

4 ¶ If hee bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if he send them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountains and walles and towers.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, as well the spoiles as all other things,

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battel, but til the earth: for when some haue sowne it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he be bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 ¶ If he bid, mite, they smite: if he bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if hee bid, Build, they build.

9 ¶ If hee bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he cateth, and drinketh and sleepeeth.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any tye go and doe his owne will, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O yee men, howe should not the king be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed! So he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the truth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O yee men, neither the mightie king, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them? or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the king and all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them, which planted the vines of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments & make men honorable, neither can men be without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together golde and silver, or any goodly thing, do they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Doe they not leaue all those things and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gaue, and gave vpon her, and all men desire her more then golde, or silver, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueh his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne country, and is ioynd with his wife.

21 And for y woman he ieopardeth his life, & neither remembreth father nor mother nor country.

22 Therefore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe ye not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And hee seeth a Lion and goeth in darkenesse, and when he hath stollen, rauished and spoiled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man leaueh his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yee, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

30 pounds.

27 Many also haue perished and haue cried & sinned for women.

28 Now therefore doe you not beleue me? is not the King great in his power? do not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Apame, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King.

30 And there tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: & if she laughed at him, he laughed: and if she were angry with him, he did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.

32 How then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they do this?

33 ¶ Then the King & the Princes looked one vpon another, & he began to speake of the truth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is high, and the sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the truth is greater & stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for truth, and the heauen blefseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no truth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But truth doeth abide, & is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but the doeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and there is the strength and the kingdom, and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blefseth be the God of truth.

41 So he ceased to speake, and then all the people cried and sayd, Truth is great and strongest.

42 Then the King sayde vnto him, Alce what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he sayd to the King, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdom, 44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vow to cut off Babylon, & vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And now, O lord the King, this is that which I desire & require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to do to the King of heauen.

47 Then King Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to al the stewards & licutenants, & captaines, & gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the licutenants in Coclosyria & Phoenice, & to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the citie with him.

49 And he wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdom vnto Iudea, concerning their liberty, if no Prince, nor licutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doores, 50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, & that the Idumeans should let go the villages of the Iewes which they held.

51 And that euery yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntill it were built.

52 And to mainteine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandment to offer seuentene) other ten talents euery yeere.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the city, should haue liberty, as well they as their posterity, and all the Priests that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges and the Priests garments, wherein they should minister.

55 And he wrote that they should giue the Levites their charges vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, & whatsoever Cyrus had commanded to do, he also commanded to do it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, ^{for Zorobabel.} he lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the King of heauen, 59 Saying, Of thee is the victorie, and of thee is wildome, & of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blefseth be thou which hast giuen mee wildome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So he tooke the letters and went our and came to Babylon, and telled all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedom and libertie.

63 To goe vp and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioy, seven dayes.

CHAPTER V.

¹ The number of them that returned from the captivity. ⁴² Their women and sacrifices. ⁵⁴ The Temple is begun to be built. ⁶⁰ Their enemies would craftily toyne with them.

AFTER these things, the chiefe of the houses of their fathers were chosen after their tribes, and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters, and their seruants, and their maydes, and their cattell.

2 And Darius sent with them a thousand horsemen, till they were restored to Ierusalem in safetie, and with muscical instruments, with tabrets and fures.

3 And all their brethren played: thus he caused them to go vp together with them.

4 ¶ And these are the names of the men that went vp after their families, by their tribes, and after the order of their dignitie.

37 Neither could they shewe their families nor their stocke how they were of Israel, the finnes of Ladan the sonne of Ban, the finnes of Necodan, fixe hundred fiftie and two.

38 And of the Priestis those which exercised the office of Priestes, and were not found, the finnes of Obdia, the finnes of Accos, the finnes of Addus, which had taken for wife Augia, one of the daughters of Berzelaius.

39 And was called after his name: and when the description of the kindred of these men had bene sought in the register, and could not be found, they were set apart from the office of Priestis.

40 For I Necemias and Atharias fynde to them, that they should not be partakers of holy things, til there arose an high Priest clothed with doctrine and truth.

41 So all they of Israel from them of twelue yeere olde and little children, were foure thousand besides men seruants and women seruants, two thousand, three hundred and sixtie.

42 Their seruants and handmaids were seuen thousand, three hundred, fourtie and seuen: the singing men and women, two hundred, fourtie and five.

43 Camels, foure hundred, thirtie and five: and horses, seuen hundred, thirtie and five: mules, two two hundred, fourtie and five: I beastes that bare the yoke, five thousand, five hundred, twentie and five.

44 And there were of the gouernours after their families, which when they were come to the Temple in Ierusalem, vowed to build the house in his owne place according to their power, 45 And to giue to the treasure of the works, a thousand pound in golde and five thousand pound in silver, and an hundred Priestly garments.

46 And the Priestes and the Leuites and the people dwelt in Ierusalem and in the country, and the holy fingers and the porters and all Israel in their villages.

47 ¶ But when the seventh moneth was neere, and when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were al gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosedece and his brethren the Priestes, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made ready the altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moyses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they distressed the altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and euening.

51 They kept also the feast of Tabernacles, as it is ordained in the Lawe, and offered sacrifices euery day, as was requisite, 52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbath and of the new moneths and of all holy feastes.

53 ¶ And all the people which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seventh moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workemen, and meate & drinke with gladnesse, 55 And chargets to the Sidonians and to those of Tyrs to bring cedar wood of Libanus, which should be brought by flotes to the haue of Ioppe according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.

56 And in the second yeere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedece, and their brethren, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Ierusalem, 57 And layde the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yeere after their returne into Iudea and Ierusalem.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twen-tye yeere old ouer the works of the Lord, and Iesus and his sonne, and his brethren, & his brother Cadmiel, & the sonnes of Madiabon with their sonnes, and brethren, & all the Leuites with one accord did followe after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priestes stood clothed with their long garments with muscical instruments and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymballes, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

61 And they sung with loud voyce songs to the prayse of the Lord, because his mercy and glory was for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cried with a loud voyce, praising the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priestes and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancientes which had seene the former house,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets, and ioy cried with loud voyce, 65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noyse of trumpets it was,

67 And they knewe that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families, said vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obey your Lord, as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of Asbafareth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

70 Then Zorobabel and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel said to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to builde an house to the Lord our God.

71 For we alone will builde it to the Lord God of Israel, as it becommeth vs, and as Cyrus the king of the Persians bade vs.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Iudea, and letted them to build the worke, and by their ambuscements and seditions and conspiracies hindered the finishing of the building, 73 All the time of king Cyruss life: so that they were let from the building two yeere, vntill the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Siffines would let them. 4 His Epistle to Darius. 5 The kings answer to the contrary.

¶ Vt in the second yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Ado the Prophets propheticd to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Iudea and Ierusalem, in the name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called vpon.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedece stood vp, and beganne to build the house of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Siffines the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan with his companions came vnto them,

4 And said vnto them, By whose commandement builde you this house and this building, and enterprife all these other things? and who are the builders that enterprife such things?

† Greke vpon.
Ierem.

5 But the Auncients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord after that he had visited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not lested to builde, vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answere was receiued.

7 The copy of the Epistle, which he did write and send to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, & Sathrabouzan, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute King Darius,

8 It may please the king our master plainly to vnderstand, that when we came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the cite of Ierusalem, wee founde in the cite of Ierusalem the Auncients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lord, great & new, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already layd vpon the walles.

10 And these works are done with great speed, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their handes, so that it will be finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then wee asked their Auncients, saying, By whose commandement builde you this house, and lay the foundation of these works?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, Wee are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created this heauen and the earth.

14 And * this house was built vp many yeeres agoe by a King of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lorde of Israel, whose is in heauen, * he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of golde and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house at Ierusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the King tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to * Sanabassar ruler.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should carry away those vessels, & put them in the Temple at Ierusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassar, being come hither, laid the foundations of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Nowe therefore if it please the King, let it bee sought vp in the Kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem hath bene done by the consent of King Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the lord our king, let him make vs answere concerning these things.

23 Then King Darius commanded to search in the kings Libraries, that were in Ba'ylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were laid vp for memorie.

24 In the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded the house of the Lorde at Ierusalem to bee builded, where they did sacrifice with the continual fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites with threerowes of hewen stones, and one rowe of newe wood of that countrey, and that the costes should bee payde out of the house of king Cyrus.

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, aswell those of gold as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Ierusalem, and brought into Babylon, should be restored to the house, which is in Ierusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also hee commanded that Sisinnies, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, & Sathrabouzan, and their companions, and those which were conuict captaines in Syria and Phenice, should take heede to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to builde it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished.

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice should bee diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lorde, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oyle continually euery yeere without faile, as the Priests, which are in Ierusalem shall testifie to bee spent euery day.

31 That offerings may bee made to the high God for the King, and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded that whosoever should transgresse any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should bee taken out of his possellion, and hee bee hanged thereon, and that his goods should bee the Kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose Name is there called vpon, destroy euery King and nation, which stretcheth out his hande to hinder or doe euill to that House of the Lorde which is in Ierusalem.

34 * I Darius the king haue ordained that it * should bee diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sisinnies and his companions follow the King, commandment, and hee the King to build the Temple, 5 The king that is in Media, to they keep the Passoure.

Then Sisinnies the * gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan, & their companions, obeying King Darius commandments,

2 Assisted diligently the holy works working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanabarie.

3 And the holy works prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophesied.

4 So they finished all things by the commandment

* 1. King, 6. 3.

* 2. King, 24. 1.

Wor, Sanabassar.

descent of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus, and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy House was finished in 7 three and twentieth day of the month Adar in the sixth yere of Darius King of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priests and the Levites, & the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyfes.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, four hundred lambs,

8 And twelve goats for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests, and the Levites stood according to their kinreds, clothed with long robes in the works of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyfes, and also the porters in every gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered the Passequer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Levites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie, were not sanctified together, but all the Levites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passequer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for the males.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vnleavened bread seven dayes, reioicing before the Lord, 15 Because hee had turned the counsell of the King of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their hands in the works of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Esdra cometh from Babylon to Ierusalem. 20 The copie of the commission, given by Artaxerxes. 29 Esdra giueth thanks to the Lord. 38 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confession.

And after these things, when Artaxerxes King of the Persians reigned, Esdras the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Ezerias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salum,

2 The sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Ezias, the sonne of Memeroth, the sonne of Zaraias, the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Boccas, the sonne of Abisum, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron was the high Priest.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a Scribe well taught in the law of Moyfes, given by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the king gaue him great honour, and he found grace in his sight in all his requests.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Levites, and of the holy fingers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem,

6 In the thuenth yere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the fifth moneth: this was the seuerth yere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speed in their iourney)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that he would let nothing passe that was in the law of the Lord, and in the commandements, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances & iudgements.

9 So the commission written by king Artaxerxes was giuen Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth, 10 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest, & reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 Forasmuch as I consider things with pitie, I haue commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priests and Levites which are in our kingdome, should goe with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my seuen friends the counsellors,

13 That they may visit the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord,

14 And carrie the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friends haue vowed: also all the golde and siluer, which shalbe found in the cuntry of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Ierusalem,

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, as well siluer as golde, for bulles, and rammes, and lambs, and things thereunto pertaining,

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lorde vpon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren will doe with the golde or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things soeuer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the Kings treasure.

20 And I also king Artaxerxes haue commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoever Esdras, the Priest and Reader of the Law of the highest God, shall send for, they should giue it him with all speed, euen to the summe of an hundred talents of siluer, 21 And likewise vnto an hundred cores of corne, and an hundred pieces of wine and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the highest God according to the Law of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the King and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priests or Levites, or holy fingers, or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor taxe be taken, nor that any haue power to take them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wisdom of God, ordeine Iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Law of God and the King, be diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penalty of money, or banishment.

36 ¶ Then Esdras the scribe sayd, Blessed be the only Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honoured me before the king and the counsellors, and all his friends, and gouernours.

*Ezra 8.1.

28 ¶ Therefore I was incouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to go vp with me, 29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the reign of Artaxerxes the King.

30 Of the sonnes of Phinees, Gersom, of the sonnes of Ithamar, Gamael, of the sonnes of Dauid, ¶ Letrus.

¶ Mr. Mattus.

31 Of the sonnes of Sechenias, of the sonnes of Phares, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundred and fiftie men.

¶ Mr. Pethah Moab

32 Of the sonnes of Salomon, Abeliacnias the sonne of Zacharias, & with him two hundred men.

¶ Mr. Trictel.

33 Of the sonnes of Zathoe, Sechenias the sonne of Iezelus, and with him three hundred men: of the sonnes of Adin, ¶ Obeth sonne of Ionathas, and with him two hundred and fiftie men.

¶ Mr. Isobed.

34 Of the sonnes of Elam, ¶ Iesias sonne of Getholias, and with him seuentie men.

¶ Mr. Isobed.

35 Of the sonnes of Saphatias, Zarias sonne of Michael, and with him seuentie men.

¶ Mr. Michael.

36 Of the sonnes of Ioab, ¶ Badias sonne of Iezelus, and with him two hundred and twelue men.

¶ Mr. Obadiash, sonne

38 Of the sonnes of Bahi, Zacharias sonne of Bebai, and with him twentie and eight men.

¶ Mr. Alkath, Iohab. sonne of Bece-thas.

39 Of the sonnes of ¶ Alstath, Iohannes sonne of Acatan, and with him an hundred and ten.

¶ Mr. Jebel.

40 Of the sonnes of Adonimac the last: and these are the names of them, Eliphalet, ¶ Ieouel and ¶ Maia, and with them seuentie men: of the sonnes of ¶ Bagouthi sonne of Isaacourus, and with him seuentie men.

¶ Mr. Iehoi.

¶ Mr. Iehoi.
¶ Mr. Bagot, ¶ Ithi, sonne of Isaacourus.

41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called ¶ Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbered them.

*Ezra 8.15.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites,

¶ Mr. Iehoi.

43 I sent to Eleazar, and beholde, there came ¶ Maasman, and Alnathan, and Samai, and ¶ Ioribon, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian, and Mosolamon the chiefe, and best learned.

¶ Mr. Maasman.

¶ Mr. Ioribon, Ennatan, Zacharian, and Mosolamon.

44 And I bade them to go to Daddus the captaine, which was in the place of the treasure, 45 With charge to bid Daddus and his brethren and the treasurers that were there, to find to vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

¶ Mr. Ioribon.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hand of our Lord, learned men of the sonnes of Moisi, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ¶ Cisebebran and his sonnes, and his brethren being eigheteene.

¶ Mr. Ioribon.

47 And Alesia, and ¶ Annon, and Osaian his brethren of the sonnes of ¶ Camaneus with his sonnes, twentie persons.

¶ Mr. Annon.

¶ Mr. Annon.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundred and twentie, of whome all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And there I proclaimed a fast for the young men before the Lord to aske of him a good journey both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the king footmen, or horsemen, or conduct for safelead against our enemies:

51 Because wee had sayd to the king, that the power of our Lord should bee with them that fought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore wee prayed our Lord againe, according to these things, who we found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, ¶ Elebrias and Afianias, and with them ten of their brethren.

¶ Mr. Ieremia.

54 And I weighed them the siluer & the golde, & the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them, fixe hundred and fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundred talents, and an hundred talents of golde, 56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of brasie, of fine brasie shining like golde.

57 And I sayd to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, & the golde, and the siluer is a vow to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch & keepe them, til that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the siluer and the golde, and the vessels, and carried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first month, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lord with vs; and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the House of our Lord to ¶ Maamoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri,

¶ Mr. Ieremia.

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iolabed the sonne of Iesius, and ¶ Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

¶ Mr. Ieremia.
sonne of Iesius.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same hour.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, enen twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes fourescore and sixteene, 65 Lambes threescore and twelue, twelue goats for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandements of the king to the kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelofria & Phenice who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priests, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites, & Chetites, and Pheresites, & Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy feede mixed mixed with the strange people of the land, and the powerfull and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednes from the beginning of the thing.

70 And asloone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire of mine head, and off my beard, and sate me downe for sorowfull and very sad.

71 Then also they that were moued with the word of the Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the evening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torn, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord,

73 And said, O * Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our sinnes are increased about our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers wee are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers we with our brether, with our kings & Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And nowe how great hath thy mercie bene, O Lord, that there should bee left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meat in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the kings of the Persians, that they shoulde giue vs meate,

80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shal we say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandments, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

82 * Because the land, which ye go to inherite, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the law, which haue filled it with their filthines, 83 Therefore nowe yee shall not ioine their daughters with your sonnes, nor giue your daughters to their sonnes,

84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that yee may bee made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked works, and for our great finnes: yet
Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes,

86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but wee againe haue turned back to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe vs with the vncleanness of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angrie with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs roote nor seede nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Beholde, wee are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can wee indure before thee for these things.

90 ¶ And * as Eldras prayed and confessed, and wept, & lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a verie great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and yong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Techonias the sonne of ¶ Ieel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, said, O Eldras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: wee haue taken in marriage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wines, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to al them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it appertaine, and wee are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Eldras arose, and made all the chief of the families of the Priests & Leuites of all Israel to swear, that they would doe thus: and they swore.

C H A P. IX.

¶ After Eldras had read the Law for the strange wines, so they promise to put them away.

¶ Then * Eldras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Ioannan the sonne of Eliasib, * Ex. 10. 8.

1 And being lodged there, he did eat no bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great in-iquities of the multitude.

2 And there was a proclamation in Iudea & Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem,

3 And that all they which shoulde not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, shoulde haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and be cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

4 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iu-da and Benjamin, came together within three dayes into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

5 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreame winter.

6 Then Eldras arose and said to them, Yee haue sinned: for yee haue married strange wines, so that ye haue augmented the finnes of Israel.

7 Nowe therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers.

8 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wines.

9 Then all the multitude cried out, and saide with a loud voice, We wil doe so as thou hast said.

10 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we cannot stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

11 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wines of our families, tarie:

12 And let the Priests and Iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

13 Then Ionathas Afaels sonne, and ¶ Ezecias sonne of ¶ Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam and Sabbateus did helpe them. | Or, Iahazim,
| Or, Tobecus.

14 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Eldras

16 Eſdras the Prieſt alſo choſe him certaine men,chiefe of their families, all by name: and they fate together in the firſt day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an end of the things pertaining to them that had married ſtrange wines in the firſt day of the firſt moneth.

18 And there were found of the Prieſts, which had married ſtrange wines, 19 Of the ſonnes of Ieſus, the ſonne of Iſedec, and of his brethren, ¶ Matheas, and Eleazar, and Ioribus, and ¶ Ionadan.

20 Who alſo gaue their hands to caſt out their wiues, and offered a ram for their reconciliation in their purgation.

21 And of the ſonnes of Emynt, ¶ Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Cane, and Sameus, and Hiercel, and Azarias;

22 And of the ſonnes of ¶ Phaiſu, Eliſonas, Maſſias, Elmaclius, and Nathaneel, and ¶ Ocideſus, and Talſas.

23 And of the Leuites, ¶ Iorabadus, and Semis, and Colius, who was called ¶ Calitas, and Patheus, and Ooudas, and Ionas.

24 Of the holy fingers, ¶ Eliazarus, Bacchurus, 25 Of the Porters, ¶ Sallumus, and Tolbanes.

26 Of them of Iſrael, of the ſonnes of Phorus, ¶ Hiermas, and Eddias, & Melchias, and Maclius, and Eleazar, and Abſias, and ¶ Banaias.

27 Of the ſonnes of ¶ Ela, Mathanias, Zacharias, and ¶ Hiericlas, and ¶ Hieremoth, and Aedias.

28 And of the ſonnes of ¶ Zamoth, Eliſdas, Eliſimus, Othonias, Iarimoth, & Sabarus, & Sardus.

29 Of the ſonnes of ¶ Ebeai, Ioannes, and Ananias, and ¶ Iofabad, and Ematheas.

30 Of the ſonnes of ¶ Maſi, Olamus, Mamuchus, Iedaſias, Taſitus, Iaſiel, and Jeremoth.

31 And of the ſonnes of ¶ Addi, Nanthus, Moofias, Laccunus, and Naidus, and Mathanias, and ¶ Seſchel, and Balnus, and Manaſſas.

32 And of the ſonnes of Amos, Eliſonas, and Aſſeus, and Melchias, and Sabbus, and Simon's Cholimite.

33 And of the ſonnes of ¶ Afom, A Itancus, and ¶ Matthias, and Banaias, Eliſphalar, and Manaſſes, and Semis.

34 And of the ſonnes of ¶ Maani, Ieremias, Moridis, Omairus, Inel, Mamai, and Paclias, and Amos, Carabaſion, and Euſſibus, and Mannimatanaius, Eliſſus, Vamut, Eliſai, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias, and of the ſonnes of Ozoras, Seſis, Eliſil, Azzailus, Samatas, Sambis, Iofiphus.

35 And of the ſonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Inel, Banaias.

36 All theſe married ſtrange wines, & put them away with their children.

37 And the Prieſts and the Leuites dwelt in Ieruſalem, and in the country, the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth, and the children of Iſrael in their owne houſes.

38 ¶ Then all the multitude aſſembled together with one conſent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the Eaſt, 39 And ſpake to Eſdras the Prieſt, and reader, that he ſhould bring the Law of Moyses, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

40 Then brought Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt, the Law to all the multitude, both man and woman, and to all the Prieſtes, that they might heare the Law the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth.

41 And he read in the firſt broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the law.

42 So Eſdras the Prieſt and reader of the Law, ſtood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there ſtood by him ¶ Margathias, Samus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezecias, Balaiamus at his right hand, 44 And at his left hand ¶ Phaldaius, and Sail, Melchias, Aothaſaphus, Nabarias.

45 Then Eſdras tooke the booke of the Law before the multitude (for hee ſate honourably before them all)

46 And they all ſtood vpright when hee expounded the Law, and Eſdras bleſſed the Lord the moſt high God, the moſt mighty God of hoſtes.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

48 Then Jeſus and ¶ Anus, and Saratias, and Adimut, and Iacobus, Sabatias, Autanias, Manianias, and Calitas, Azarias, and Ioazabudus, and Ananias, and Biatas the Leuites liſt vp their hands, and ſeld downe on the ground, and worſhipped the Lord, 49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and ſtood alſo earnestly vpon the reading.

50 Then ſaid ¶ Aſubharates to Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt and reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

51 Go therefore and eate the fat meates, and drinke the ſweet drinks, and ſend preſents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and be not ſorrie for the Lord God will gloriſie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all theſe things to the people, ſaying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not ſad.

54 Then they departed all to eate and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue preſents to them that had not, and to make good cheere.

55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherewith they were inſtructed, when they were aſſembled together.

8 Goe, and shewe my people their finnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against mee, that they may tell their childrens children.

9 For the finnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

10 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, & despised my counsels.

11 Pull thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are rebellious people.

12 How long shall I forbeare them, vnto whom I haue done so much good?

13 * Many Kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharao with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe.

14 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countreys Tyrus and Sydon, and haue slaine all their enemies.

15 Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, thus saith the Lord,

16 * I haue led you thorowe the Sea, and haue giuen you a sure way, since the beginning: * I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

17 * I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord,

18 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, The quailles were taken vnto you: I gaue you tents for safeguard, wherein ye murmured:

19 And ye triumphed not in my Name for y^e destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmure still.

20 Where are the benefites, that I haue done for you when yee were hungry in the wilderness, * did ye not cry vnto me?

21 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wilderness, to kill vs? It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this wilderness.

22 I had pitie vpon your mourning, and gaue you Manna to eate: * fo ye did eate Angels food.

23 * When ye were thirstie, did not I cleaue the stone, and waters did flow out to satisfie you: from the heate I couered you with y^e leaues of the trees, 24 And I gaue you far countreys: I cast out the Canaanites, the Phereisites, & Philistims before you: * what shall I do more for you saith the Lord?

25 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, * When ye were in the wilderness at the bitter waters, being athirst, and blaspheming my Name, 26 I gaue you not fire for the blasphemies, but cast a tree into the water, and made the river sweet.

27 What shall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob? thou * Iuda wouldst not obey: I will turne me to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my Lawes.

28 Seeing ye haue forsaken me, I will also forsake you: when ye aske mercy of mee, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

29 * When ye call vpon me, I will not heare you: for ye haue defiled your hands with blood, and your feet are swift to commit murder, 30 Although ye haue not forsaken me, but your owne felices, saith the Lord.

31 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her young babes,

32 That yee would be my people, as I am your God, and that ye would be my children, as I am your Father?

33 * I gathered you together as a henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what shall I doe vnto you? I will cast you out from my sight.

34 * When you bring gifts vnto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feast dayes, your newe moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

35 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets, whom yee haue taken and slaine, and come their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will reuenge, saith the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Your house shall be desolate: I will cast you out as the wilde doth the stubble.

37 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commandment, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

38 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall belecue me though they heare me not, and they, vnto whom I haue shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I command them.

39 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

40 * I will declare the grace that I will do for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleue the things that I say.

41 Nowe therefore I rother, behold what great glory, and see the people that come from the East.

42 Vnto whom I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Osee, Amos, Michas, Isai, Abdiash, Ionas, 43 Naum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias (which is called also the * messenger of the Lord.)

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are calied.

1 Thus saith the Lorde, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandments by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorowe and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lorde your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I nowe doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.

5 And thee, O father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant.

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoile, that their kinned bee not continued.

7 Let their names be scattered among the heathen: let them bee put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.

8 Woe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hidest the rightuous in thee: O wicked people, remember * what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorah,

9 Whose

* Mar. 13. 37.

* 2. 1. 15.

* Malac. 3. 2.

* Gen. 19. 24.

9 Whole land is mixed with cloudes of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ierusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get my glory by them, and giue them the everlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life, smelling of oymnt: they shall neither labour nor be wearie.

13 Goe ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witness: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that bee dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue known my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esay and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelve trees laden with diuers frutes, 19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and honie, and seven mightie mountaines, whereupon there growe roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blinde come into the light of my cleerenesse.

22 Keepe the olde and the yong that are within thy walles.

* 2nd. 2. 37, 18, 19.

23 * Whereouer thou findest the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse: stablish their feet.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse cometh, other shall weepe and be sorrowfull, but thou shalt be merry and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shall doe nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be ioyful, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shew mercie vnto them: For I am mercifull, saith the Lord almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shew mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I should go vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commandment of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O ye heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Wait for your shepherd, who shall giue you euerslating rest: for he is neere at hand, that shall come in the end of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdome: for the euerslating light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadow of this world: receiue the ioy of your glory: I testifie my Saviour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thanks vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise, and stand vp, and beholde the number of those that are sealed for the seate of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadow of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whome thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 * I Esdras saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.

43 And in the mids of them there was a young man hier in stature then them all, and vpon every one of their heads he set crowmes, and washier then the others, which I much maruelled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and saide, Who are these, my Lord?

45 Who answered, and said vnto me, These be they, that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crownel, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then saide I vnto the Angel, What young man is it, that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered and saide vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whome they haue confessed in the worlde. Then beganne I greatly to commend them, that stood so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel said vnto me, Go thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene,

CHAP. III.

* The wonderful works, which God did for the people, are recited.
* Esdras maruelled that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

1 In the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to my heart,

2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was fore moued, so that I began to speake fearefull wordes to the most High, and saide,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantest the earth, and gapest commandment vnto the people,

5 * And a body vnto Adam, without soule, * Genes. who.

who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that hee liueth before thee,

5 And ledst him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth brought forth.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to lone thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediately thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people and kindreds out of number.

9 * And euery people walked after their owne wil, and did wonderfull things before thee, and defiled thy commandements.

9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the worlde, and destroyed it them,

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by death to Adam, 11 Yet thou ledest one, vnto * Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiply, and the number of the children, people and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, * thou didst choose thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham.

14 Whom thou louedst, and to whom onely thou shewedst thy will,

15 And madest an euerlasting couenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seede.

16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Jacob and Esau, * and didst choose Isaac, and cast off Esau, and so Jacob became a great multitude.

17 And when thou ledest his seed out of Egypt, * thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina, 18 And enclinedst the heauens and bowelst downe the earth, and didst moue the ground, and cause the deptes to shake, and didst astonish the world.

19 And thy glorie went thorowe foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Jacob, and that which the generation of Israel shoulde diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Law might bring forth fruit in them.

21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenesse ioyned with the Lawe in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times pased away, and the yeeeres were brought to an end, * till thou didst raise thee vp a seruant called David,

24 * Whom thou commandedst to builde a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee, 26 Following the wayes of Adam & all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies, 28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and saw their wicked deeds without number (For this is the thirtieth yeeere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged, 30 For I sawe, howe thou sufferdest them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preferred thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue howe this cometh to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleueed thy testimonies, as Iacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, & their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone here & there thorowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednesse now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the worlde, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy commandments?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

The Angel reprehendeth Elisha, because hee seemed to enter into the profound indignations of God.

And the Angel that was sent vnto me, whose name was Vriel, answered,

2 And said, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the highest,

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and saide, I am sent to thee three wayes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way, that thou desirest to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I saide, Tell on my Lord. Then saide he vnto me, Goe thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winde, or cal me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and saide, What man is borne that can doe that, which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he saide vnto me, If I should aske thee howe deepe dwellings are in the middes of the sea, or howe great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or howe great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But nowe haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, & of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answer of them.

10 He saide moreover vnto mee, Thine owne things, and such as are grown vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 Howe shouldest thou be able to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, and nowe outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption, corruption, that is euill in my sight?

12. Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that we should liue i wicked-nesse, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

¶ Iudg. 9. 8.
9. Iudg. 25. 18.

13. And he answered me, and saide, "I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees held a counsell,

14. And saide, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that wee may make vs more woods.

15. Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell and said, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another country for vs.

16. But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17. Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sand stood vp and stopped them.

18. If thou were iudge betweene these two, whome wouldst thou iustifie? or whom wouldst thou condemne?

19. I answered & said, Verily it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, & the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20. Then answered he me, and saide, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudget thou not thy selfe also?

¶ 1/a. 35. 8. 9.
20/a. 3. 31.
23/a. 22. 14.

21. For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea for his floods, so they that dwell vpon earth can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are about the height of the heauens.

22. Then answered I, and saide, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23. For I did not purpose to inquire of thine hie things, but of such as wee daily meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations; & why the Law of our fathers is abolished, and the writen ceremonies are come to none effect.

24. Why wee are tossed to and fro through the worlde as the grasshoppers, and our life is a verie seare, and wee are not thought worthe to obtaine mercie.

25. But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26. Then answered he me, and saide, The more thou searcest, the more thou shalt maruel: for the world hasteth fast to passe away.

27. And cannot comprehend the things, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrighteousnesse and weaknesse.

28. But to declare thee the things wherof thou askest, the euill is sown, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29. If the euill now that is sown be not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euill is sown, passe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is sown with good.

30. For the corne of euill seed hath bene sown in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vn godlinesse hath hee brought vp vnto this time? and how much shall he bring forth vntil the harvest come?

31. Ponder with thy self, how much fruit of wickednesse the corne of euill seed bringeth forth,

32. And when the stalkes shall bee cut downe, which are without number, howe great an harvest must be prepared.

33. Then I answered, and saide, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34. And he answered mee, saying, Hastenot to bee about the most High: for thou labourst in vaine to be about him, though thou labour not for much.

35. Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when cometh the fruite of my barae and our wages?

36. And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and saide, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for he hath weighed the worlde in the balance.

37. The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be moued or shaken, till I measure therof by full.

38. Then answered I, and saide, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne,

39. And for our sake peraduenture the harvest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40. So he answered me, and saide, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when she hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41. Then said I, No, Lord, she cannot. And he saide vnto me, In the graue the places of foules are like the wombe.

42. For as she that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessity of the trauel, so doe these places haile to deliuer those things, that are committed vnto them.

43. That which thou desirest to see, shall be shewed thee from the beginning.

44. Then answered I, and saide, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meete therefore,

45. Shew me whether there bee more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46. What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47. And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48. So I stoode, and beholde, a hote burning ouen passed before mee: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beholde, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49. After this there passed before me a warrie cloude, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the droppes came after.

50. Then said hee vnto mee, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the droppes, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the droppes, and the smoke were much.

51. Then I prayed, and said, May I liue, thinkest thou vntill that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52. He answered mee, and saide, Of the tokens wherof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not fent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

¶ In the latter times trauel shall be hid. 10. Vnrighteousnesse shall all wickednesse shall all reign in the world. 25. If not a reuiled and God deliuereth her in. 35. God death all things in rage. Neuertheless.

NEuertheless concerning the tokens, beholde, the times that come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shall be taken in great number, and the way of truth shall be hidde, and the land shall be barren from faith,

2 And *iniquitie shall be increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past.

3 And it shall come to passe, that one shall see in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third sunne yet, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, & the moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall be moued.

6 And hee shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the foules shall change place.

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which n any shall not know, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.

8 There shall be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and menslious women shall beare monsters,

9 And salt waters shall be found in the sweete, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wihide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be fought of many, and yet not bee found: then shall vnrighteousnesse and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iudice gone thorowe thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weepe as now, and fast seven dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angell that was come to talke with me, held me, comforted me, and set me vp vpon my feet.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauy?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and care, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueh his flocke in the hardes of the cruell wolves.

19 Then sayd I vnto him, Got thy wayes from me, and come not nere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning & weeping, as Vriell the Angel had commanded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grieuous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe.

23 And sayd, O Lord, Lord: of euery forest of the earth, and of all trees thereof thou hast chosen there one onely vineyard.

24 And of all lands of the world thou hast chosen thee one fir, and of all the fountes of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lillie.

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuier, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, & of all the cattell that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people it is thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a Law, that is praised of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people cuer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine only people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstood thy promises, & beleue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou diddest so much hate thy people, they should haue bene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these words, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I said, Speake on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better then he doeth that made them?

34 And I said, No, Lord: ut of very sorow haue I spoken: for my reines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore is I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Jacob, and the griefe of the flocke of Israel.

36 And he said vnto me, Number vnto me the things that are not yet come, or gather mee the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flos res greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me forth the windes, that are shutt vp therein: shewe me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing that thou askest and labourst to knowe.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they do that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he said vnto me, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so there is no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and said, Couldst thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are now, & those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then

44 Then answered he mee, The creature, sayd hee, can not preuent the Creator, neyther can the world holde them at once, that shall bee created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hath sustented it, so might it now also containe all men at once.

46 And he said vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, & say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth tenne at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said hee vnto mee, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seede is sown vpon it.

49 For as a yong childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, & said, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceede to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast tolde me is yong, draweth the neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that traueileth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shall answer thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that ye are lesse of stature, then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then ye, as the creatures which nowe beginne to be olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whom doest thou gouerne thy workmanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foretold all things in his secret counsell, and it is without shewing, and hath wrought them for his children. 25 The silence of the age is come.

And he said vnto mee, In the beginning when the round world was made, & before the borders of the world was set, & before the windes blew one against another:

1 Before the noise of thunders founded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were layd:

2 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

3 Before the heights of the aire were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimnies in Sion were hote:

4 Before the present yeeres were sought out, and before the afflictions of them that now sinne, were turned away, and they that haue layde vp the treasure of faith, were sealed,

5 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me also they shalbe ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and sayd, What shalbe the diuision of times? or when shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And he said vnto me, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him,

* Jacobs hand held fast the heele of Esau.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, Esdras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, and sayd, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an end to shewe thy seruant thy tokens, whereof thou shewest me part the last night.

13 So he answered me, and sayd, Stand vp vpon thy feet, and heare a mighty founding voice.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be moued.

15 And therefore when he speaketh, be not afraid: for of the end shall be the word, and of the foundation of the earth shall it be vnderstood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my feet, and hearkened, and beholde, there was a voice that spake, and the sound of it was like the found of many waters:

18 And it saide, Beholde, the dayes come, that I will come and enquire of them that dwell vpon the earth,

19 And when I begin to inquire of them, who by their wrighteousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shalbe fulfilled,

20 And the world, that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the bookes shalbe opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yeere olde shall speake with their voyces: the women with child shall bring forth vtinely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall liue that are raised vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the fowen places appeare as the vnfowen, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sounde, and all they that heare it, shalbe suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies, and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Whosoever remaineth from all these things that I haue tolde thee, shalbe saved, and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall be changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shalbe quenched, 28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shall be overcome, and the truth which hath bene so long without fruite, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And when he talked with me, beholde, I looked a lile vpon him before whom I stood.

30 And these words said he vnto me, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen daies more, I will tell thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest: surely the mighty hath seene thy righteous dealing: hee hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth, 33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not.

34 And hath not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe and fasted seuen dayes in like manner, that I might fulfill the three weekes which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst that the heauen and the earth shoulde bee made, and the worke followed thy word.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darkness was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly ayre, and commaundedst it, that, going betwene, it should make a diuision betwene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commaundedst, that the waters shoulde be gathered together in the fourth part of the earth: sixe partes diddest thou drie, and kept them to the intent that of these there shoulde be that should serue thee, being sowne of God and tilled.

43 Alfoone as thy word went forth, the worke was inconitantly made.

44 For immediately great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, and flowers of vchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.

45 Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the starres.

46 And gauest them a charge, to doe seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saydest vnto the seuenth part, where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beastes, as foules and fishes: and it was so.

48 For the dum waters, & without life brought forth liuing things at the commaundment of God, that the nations might praise thy wonderous workes.

49 Then didst thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leviathan, 50 And diddest separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part, where the water was gathered, could not holde them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Leviathan thou gauest the seuenth part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the sixt day thou gauest commaundment vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beastes, cattell and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whom thou madest lord ouer all the workes, which thou hast created, of him come we all, and the people also whome thou hast chosen.

55 And this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessell.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy seruient lower) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue we not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation now can come to felicitie. 12 God sacrificeth all vs into time. 28 The coming and death of Christ. 31 The resurrection and last iudgement. 43 After the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All be in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercie and goodness of God.

And when I had made an ende of these wordes, there was sent vnto mee an Angel, which had bene sent downe to me the nights afore.

2 And he sayd vnto me, Vp Eldras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I sayd, Speake on, my God. Then sayd he vnto mee, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers.

5 Who could goe into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? if he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and set vpon a broad felde, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left.

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwene the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrowe, full of sorow and traouaile: they are but fewe, and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore-world were wide and sure, and brought immortall fruite.

14 If then they that are liuing labour not to enter by these straight, and brittle things, they can not attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, seeing thou hast ordered in thy Law, that the righteous should inherit these things, and that the vngodly should perishe, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffer straitnesse, shall not see the large things.
 19 Then hee sayde vnto me, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.
 20 For many perishe in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.
 21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue, to auoide punishment.
 22 Neuertheless, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselves by their wicked deedes, and denyed the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.
 24 But they despised his Lawe, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his workes.
 25 And therefore, Eldras, vnto the emptie are empty things, and to the full, full things.
 26 Beholde, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shall come to passe, and the bridle shall appeare, and the shal come forth, and be seene that is now vnder the earth.
 27 And whosoever shall escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.
 28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundred yeeres.
 29 After these same yeeres, shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.
 30 And the world shall be turned into the olde silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.
 31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die that is corrupt.
 32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the foules that were committed vnto them.
 33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an ende.
 34 Justice onely shall continue: the trueth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.
 35 The workes shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed: the good deedes shall be of force, and vnrighteousnesse shall beare no more rule.
